Burton Writes Article On Activities of Teachers

SAYS EXTRA-CURRICULAR DEMANDS ARE HEAVY

Writing on the subject "The Demands of Modern Society Upon Teachers' Time", Frank L. Burton, '20, principal of the Benjamin Frankin junior high school, New Castle, points out a number of interesting sidelights to the teaching profession in the November issue of the School Bulletin, P.S.E.A. publication.

"There was a time", Professor Burton says, "when a teacher satisfied the demands of the public if she did a good job of teaching in her classroom during the hours prescribed by law. That day has gone by. People not now actually connected with public school work in some way do not realize that teachers, in addition to teaching their regular classes, have many and varied calls from society for their services and time."

Professor Burton then goes on to indicate the scope of extra-curricular demands. Graduate work, faculty meetings, demonstrations, school surveys, group meetings, clubs, inter-school organization, Y. M. C. A. Y. W. C. A., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, parent-teacher organizations, plays, pageants, assemblies, athletic contests, and literary contests are only a few of the many activities which demands the time of teachers following class hours.

"There is no end to the work," Mr. Burton concludes, "and the teacher's share falls after school hours. Whether we believe in these activities or not, they are here, and the public in each community demands that its school keep pace with neighboring districts."

COLLEGE QUARTET SINGS AT SCHOOL

On Friday afternoon, December 18, the Westminster male quartet, aided by Edgar Schaffer and Paul McKnight, students in the music department, presented a musical program at the chapel service of the Union township high school, New Castle.

Prof. Alan B. Davis, director of the college conservatory, led the singing. The program of the afternoon included the following numbers:

"We Three Kings of the Orient Are", Quartet; "The Drum", Quartet; "The Flies", Quartet; Piano solo, "Venitiane", by Godard, Paul McKnight; "The Lost Chord", Quartet; Trumpet solo, "La Cauquataine" by Gabriel-Marie, Edgar Schaffer, Westminster student winner of a high school trumpet contest last year; "Swing Low Sweet Chariot", Quartet; "Sleep Kentucky Babe", Quartet; Trumpet solo, "Intermezzo", Edgar Schaffer; "The Big Brown Bear", Quartet; "The Story of the Tack", Quartet.

At the close of the program, the quartet led the students in the singing of the Christmas hymn, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

OMICRON MU GAMMA HOLDS DINNER DANCE

Omicron Mu. Gamma, Westminster Music sorority, entertained 38 guests at their annual dinner dance held in the New Castle Field Club on Friday evening, December 18.

The spacious club dining room was beautifully decorated in the seasons tones, and the tables were appointed in the same manner. After the dinner, dancing was enjoyed from 8:30 to 12:30, in the ball room resplendent with its Christmas ornaments.

Officers of the music sorority are Ruth Martin, president; Thelma Edwards, vice president; Carrie Schaffer, secretary, and Mary Jane Stunkard, treasurer. Miss Martin, president of the sorority, was in charge of the affair, and had as her committee, Thelma Edwards, Marian Ferver and Margaret Reese.

Special guests of the evening were Prof. and Mrs. E. R. Freeman, Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Skillen.

Monmouth Is Defeated 37-12

KOCHERAN IS LEADING SCORER AGAINST SCOTS

Monmouth college, United Presbyterian institution of Illinois, was no match for the Titan basketball team on the home floor January 1. The invading Scots were defeated by a 37-12 score.

Monmouth was limited to two field goals during the contest by the close guarding of the Lawthermen.

Captain Rice and Hamas featured in floor play, while Kocheran and Brownlee led in scoring.

Two complete teams were used by Coach Lawther.

PLAN WEEK OF SPECIAL CHAPELS

Dr. S. C. Gamble To Speak During February

Dr. S. C. Gamble, '01, Butler, will be the preacher for the annual week of special chapel services this year, Dr. Charles Freeman announces.

Dr. Gamble will probably start the special services on Monday, February 29.

Dr. Galbreath Is Second Grad To Be President

Of the seven men to direct Westminster since 1852, only one has been a graduate of the college. He was Dr. John Knox McClurkin, a graduate with the class of 1873. Dr. McClurkin was president from 1883 to 1884.

Dr. Galbreath, a graduate with the class of 1907, will be the second alumnus to lead the college. It is expected that Dr. Galbreath will assume office within a short time, possibly some time this month. Formal inauguration exercises are being planned for commencement.

PRIZE AWARDED FOR BEST-DRESSED DOLL AT DANCE

Miss Bessie Struck, a member of the freshman class, was awarded first prize for exhibiting the best-dressed doll at the Y. W. C. A. dance held in the gymnasium, Dec. 17.

A wall placque was awarded Miss Struck by the Y. W. C. A. Miss Struck's doll was beautiful in an elaborate party dress.

The Y. W. dance, at which 100 couples were present, was one of the most successful social events of the year. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated in red and white crepe paper. Music furnished by Les Daniels and his orchestra from Sharon.

Florence Groth was general chairman of the dance. Annabel Stevenson and Virgil Wettich were her aids.

FROSH-SOPH DEBATE PLANNED THIS WEEK

Capitalism Is Subject For Argument

Arguing on capitalism as a system of economic organization, teams representing the freshman and sophomore classes will probably meet in formal debate some time this week, Professor Ben Euwema states.

Sophomore team members are Eric Thompson, Philip Chambers, and Joseph Lockley. Members of the freshman team are Bernard Kaplan, Bill Nunn, Walter Shaw, and Doc Griffith.

ALUMNA'S POEM IS PUBLISHED

ELEANOR GRAHAM'S VERSE IN JANUARY MAGAZINE

Eleanor Graham, '30, now employed as a proof reader for the Akron Typesetting Co., Akron, O., has another of her poems in the current issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

Miss Graham spent last year at Northwestern University where she won her M. A. degree in journalism. Since graduating from Westminster, she has sold a number of poems to Good Housekeeping, some short sketches, and had an article in Psychology magazine last fall.

GRADUATE MANAGER RECOVERING FROM RECENT ILLNESS

Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald is rapidly recovering following illness of two weeks which has kept him confined to his home on Waugh avenue.

About two weeks ago, Andy complained of a sore throat. Withfn a short time a throat infection set in.

HOLCAD MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the Holcad staff in Room 214, Old Main Memorial, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Staff members please be present.

WHERRY GAVE WARNING OF OLD MAIN FIRE

Mr. Thomas Wherry, now employed as a ground supervisor of the Westminster campus and buildings, was the person who discovered and reported the fire in Old Main January 24, 1927. Mr. Wherry went into the building at 5:30 a. m. and saw the flames in Miss Mercer's office located on the east side of the building. He immediately turned in the alarm, but although the fire was small when discovered it spread quickly and the east wall fell at approximately 12:30 a. m. of the same day.

Aid was enlisted of the fire departments in surrounding towns and with their help the fire was soon put out. Three walls were left standing but were unsafe, and a watchman was on duty day and night until they were removed.

Work was started as soon as possible on the new building. It was finished and dedicated in 1929, being under construction for two years.

STUDENT TICKETS

The Athletic Council Announces that all seats in the gymnasium are reserved for the basketball season. Each student will receive a reserved seat ticket for the season, and must keep the same seat for each game. Season tickets for students will be given out before next Monday.

December Bulletin Mailed to Alumni

Publication Reviews Activities Since June

Three thousand copies of the October-December college bulletin were mailed to alumni, former students, and members of the board of trustees during the recess period.

The bulletin, 16 pages on coated paper with a blue cover, contains articles on commencement, alumni organization, faculty appointments, honor students, student enrollment for the first semester honorary degrees and Dr. W. Charles Wallace's administration as president of the college.

Photos of the Tower door, Chapel, Browne hall, and Dr. Wallace are published in the bulletin. The next issue of the quarterly publication of the college will be the catalog edition which comes off the press in February.

Dr. R. F. Galbreath Elected Eighth President of College

Dr. MacDonald New Moderator

Westminster Alumnus Succeds Dr. J. K. Montgomery

With the death of Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, president of Muskingum college and moderator of the United Presbyterian church, on December 30, the Rev. James A. MacDonald, Youngstown, O., became acting moderator of the general assembly.

Dr. MacDonald, pastor of the South United Presbyterian church, Youngstown, was elected as alternate to the moderator at last year's general assembly held in Youngstown.

Dr. MacDonald was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1898. He has been a member of the Westminster board of trustees for a number of years. Dr. MacDonald is president of the Youngstown Ministerial Association and program chairman, and is an active dry speaker.

MANY FUNCTIONS INTEREST CAMPUS

Two hundred and thirty-six college functions have provided entertainment for students and faculty members during the last five years, a survey shows.

Of this total, 32 have been recitals, and 29 have been lectures. Receptions, plays, dances, debates, and varied gatherings make the total.

February usually has the greatest number of functions. During the second month of the year, debates, plays, basketball games, lectures, and recitals all clamor for attention. January and May are second to February for number of activities.

Dr. Montgomery Muskingum Head Dies December 30

Dr. John Knox Montgomery, president of Muskingum College, New Concord, O., for the last 27 years, and moderator of the United Presbyterian church, died following an illness of two months on December 30.

Dr. Montgomery had been a minister of the church for a half century. He was in his 71st year. Muskingum, the United Presbyterian Church, and the whole field of education lost a vigorous, inspiring leader in Dr. Montgomery's passing.

His son, Dr. Robert N. Montgomery, is president of Tarkio college, another United Presbyterian school, and his other five children are all engaged in church and college work.

GRADS ATTEND BUTLER INSTITUTE

At the Butler county Teachers' Institute held in Butler in December, two people well-known to Westminster were speakers. They were Dr. Frank W. Wright, deputy commissioner of education, State of Massachusetts; and Dr. Paul F. Voelker, president of Battle Creek college, Michigan.

Alumni who attended the institute included: Ella Purvis, Eleanor Hervey, Ruth Helm, George Atwell, Clara Bartley, Ellis Love, Alice Douthett, Dorothy Wise, and Margaret Reed, all members of the Butler high school faculty; and Gladys Zeigler, Leland Cooper, Mary Lou Braham, and Blanche McGeary, from Butler county shools.

GROVE CITY TICKETS

A block of 200 seats have been reserved for Westminster students and faculty members at Grove City for Friday night's game. Tickets may be purchased at Jim Pitzer's store after tomorrow.

WILL ASSUME OFFICE WITHIN SHORT TIME

The Rev. Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church, was elected the eighth president of Westminster at a meeting of the board of trustees held in Pittsburgh on Dec. 21.

Dr. Galbreath was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1907, and from the Pittsburgh Theological seminary in 1910. He was pastor of the Romeo, Colorado, United Presbyterian church from 1910 to 1912; pastor of the Woodlawn United Presbyterian church, 1912-1915; pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, 1916-20; and has been pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church since 1920.

Honored in 1924

Dr. Galbreath was honored with the degree of doctor of divinity by Westminster in 1924. He is a member of the Pittsburgh Rotary club, and has been active in social and civic work.

Dr. Galbreath succeeds the Rev. Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president from 1916 to 1931. Dr. Wallace resigned last December, his resignation to take effect in June. A leave of absence was granted him in February, however, due to illness, and Dr. Charles Freeman, dean of men, has been acting president since last February.

Sons Are Students

Two of Dr. Galbreath's children are now students at Westminster. They are Robert F., Jr., and Dale. The other children are John, Mary Louise, and Ruth Elizabeth.

In all probability, Dr. Galbreath will not be formally inaugurated until commencement week early in June, but it is thought that he will assume office within the next month.

Is Eighth Prexy

The election of Dr. Galbreath as president of Westminster marks the eighth administration in 80 years.

Founded in 1852 as Westminster Collegiate Institute in New Wilmington, then a part of Mercer county, Westminster has had only seven presidents in its first 80 years.

The Rev. Dr. James Patterson was the first president elected, serving from 1853 until 1867. Dr. Robert Audley Browne became president in 1868 and served until 1871. The third leader was the Rev. Dr. Eliakim T. Jeffries, president from 1872 to 1883.

Long Administrations

John K. McClurkin, D.D. became president in 1883 and served until 1884. Dr. Robert G. Ferguson was the fifth leader, serving from 1884 until 1906. Dr. Robert M. Russell was president from 1906 until 1915.

Dr. W. Charles Wallace became president in 1916 and served until 1931, a period of 15 years. Dr. Ferguson's administration, lasting 22 years, was the longest of any of the seven presidents.

College Changed

When Dr. Galbreath assumes office as the eighth president of Westminster, he will find that the college and the town have grown considerably since 1907.

Dr. Galbreath entered Westminster as a student in 1903, and was graduated with the class of 1907. At that time the faculty numbered only from 12 to 14 people each year, and the student body was seldom over 200.

New Buildings

The buildings in the Westminster campus in 1907 included Old Main, the Hillside, the old Gymnasium, Science hall, and the Conservatory. Now there is a new gymnasium; Old Main Memorial stands where Old Main once stood; Robert Audley Browne hall, new men's dormitory, has been added; and additions and alterations have been made to Science hall, the Conservatory, and Hillside.

This year, in contrast with 1907, there are 36 members of the Westminster faculty, and the student body numbers 528 students, 100 more than were enrolled last year.

ROBERT FERGUSON GALBREATH

The Holcad, representing the attitude of the student body, welcomes Dr. R. F. Galbreath as the eighth president of Old Westminster. The Holcad sees in the election of Dr. Galbreath a friendly administration, one of adherence to the best of the Old Westminster traditions, one of untold possibilities.

With a record student body, a fine faculty, an optimisitic outlook, and with a man who knows and loves Westminster, its past, and its future possibilities, we cannot help but go far along the road to success. Co-operation of students, faculty, alumni, trustees, townspeople, and the church has been assured.

FROM PRESBYTERIAN BANNER

The members of the Bellevue Presbyterian church and Presbyterians in this city generally heard with regret and yet also with pride of the election last week of Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath to the presidency of Westminster college at New Wilmington in this state. Dr. Galbreath is a graduate of Westminster and will assume his new position at once. He succeeds Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president since 1916, who resigned in February because of ill health. Born at Cabot, Pa., Dr. Galbreath attended Cabot Institute and Westminster, and was graduated from Pittsburgh Seminary in 1910. His first charge was in the San Luis Valley, Colorado, where he remained until 1912. Later he was pastor of a church at Woodlawn and of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Side. In 1920 he was called to his present charge at Bellevue. He is a preacher of uncommon freshness and force, spirituality and fervency, and has an attractive personality. His qualifications especially fit him for the responsible position of a college president and his influence will tend to mold his students in true culture and religious character.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

At the meeting of the Westminster College board of directors in Pittsburgh yesterday, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church, was elected as president of the college, succeeding to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. W. Charles Wallace last June.

It is anticipated that Dr. Galbreath will assume his new duties as head of the United Presbyterian school in the very near future.

In the selection of Dr. Galbreath the directors have named a real son of Westminster to assume charge of the immediate destinies of the school. The newly elected president is a young man, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1907, and has been notably successful in his pastorates since graduation.

With his school memories of the Westminster of old, and with his realization of the wonderful strides that have been made by Westminster since that time, in the magnificent new buildings now housing the college and the student body of nearly 600, Dr. Galbreath can take hold of affairs at the local college with an enthusiasm that will be beneficial.

Taking up the work of advancement of Westminster where the reins were dropped by Dr. Wallace, the new president should have an administration that will mark continued progress in every way for Westminster College.

We foresee for the new president that pleasing measure of wholehearted co-operation from the college community and from the county and district at large that will enable him to successfully carry out any plans he may develop for the school.

Confidence of the board of directors in the selection of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath has not been misplaced, and he will prove an able director of the affairs at New Wilmington.

MUSKINGUM'S GREAT LOSS

News dispatches last week telling of the death of Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, president of Muskingum College for more than 27 years, brought sorrow to Westminster people as well as to the hosts of Muskingum alumni and students. The United Presbyterian church ,education, and the nation lost an outstanding leader in the death of the president of our brother college.

Muskingum will look far and will search long before finding a leader with the ability and capacity of Dr. Montgomery. Westminster joins with New Concord and the church and nation in mourning the loss of a brilliant, kindly, gifted leader.

READERS' FORUM

December 14, 1931

Editors, The Westminster Holcad:

It was with more than usual satisfaction that I read the editorial in last week's issue on "Holcad Aims". Such an article as this deserves favorable comment from all who believe in yesterday's Westminster as well as those who have high hopes for tomorrow's Westminster.

The College does possess a soul. And it is a lack of consciousness of this very fact that has caused all too many alumni to fail to cooperate, especially in Westminster's crises, and that which has caused others of the alumni considerable apprehension for the lifeless spirit of a large sector of the student body.

I was much pleased, also, with the statement that while the Holcad is "a student organ", and must express an opinion, "student opinion regarding those vital points and aims and purposes of the college have no place in the paper." These indeed have been tried and stand for the best.

The sweeping criticism of so many of the tested ideals of college life, and the apparently concerted effort of certain extremely secular enthusiasts to throw aside the grand and noble principles and the cherished customs of years, have had no small part in deadening the college spirit, and that has caused no small degree of concern on the part of those who look back with admiration to the real soul-producers of other years and with satisfaction to the times that were. We shall look with high hopes to the future.

Yours for an "old-fashioned Westminster,"

also changed very much since 1907. What were dirt, or, more often, mud roads and streets in 1907 are now paved and bricked. The old wooden sidewalks have long since given way to cement walks. The town owns its own lighting plant, water supply system, and disposal plant. All streets are well lighted, and the "white way" lighting system extends almost the length of Market street and from the middle of Neshannock avenue at the old hotel site to the Methodist church.

The business manager wishes to thank the merchants for their co-operation and assistance in publshing this special edition of the Holcad featuring the announcement of Dr. R. F. Galbreath becoming the eighth president of Westminster College.

Twenty-eight Games Listed For Tri-State Conference

Twenty-eight basketball games will be played this Winter in the Tri-State Conference.

Westminster, title holders for the past two seasons, will be on hand with a veteran team. Coach John Lawther has lost only two regulars, Fisher and Douglass, from the 1931 quintet. Geneva and Thiel are expected to have strong teams in the race since they have their last year's squads almost intact. Bethany and Waynesburg can be depended upon to furnish plenty of opposition to all contenders.

Grove City, the newest addition to the conference, will make its first bid for a championship by presenting the finest array of stars in years. Grove City had been gathering up players from state championship high school teams for the last several years and are drilling them into shape for collegiate competition.

The schedule for the season is as follows:

Jan. 8—Westminster at Grove City
Jan. 12—Waynesburg at Geneva
Jan. 19—Geneva at Westminster
Jan. 21—Geneva at Waynesburg
Jan. 22—Westminster at Thiel
Jan. 23—Bethany at Geneva
Jan. 29—Thiel at Geneva
Jan. 30—Westminster at Waynesburg
Feb. 2—Waynesburg at Thiel
Feb. 4—Grove City at Geneva; Bethany at Waynesburg
Feb. 6—Waynesburg at Westminster; Grove City at Thiel
Feb. 9—Waynesburg at Grove City Bethany at Thiel
Feb. 12—Thiel at Grove City
Feb. 15—Geneva at Bethany
Feb. 16—Westminster at Bethany
Feb. 19—Grove City at Waynesburg
Feb. 20—Thiel at Westminster
Feb. 22—Westminster at Geneva
Feb. 26—Thiel at Bethany; Geneva at Grove City.
Mar. 1—Geneva at Thiel
Mar. 2—Waynesburg at Bethany
Mar. 5—Thiel at Weynesburgh; Bethany at Westminster
Mar. 8—Grove City at Westminster

Titans Topple Goodyears 31-22

Westminster surprised the All-Star Goodyear team Dec. 29, defeating the Akron team by a 31-22 score. The Pennsylvania collegians took the lead at the state of the game, led by 18-5 at the half and won out handily.

Brownlee with 12 points and Kocheran with eight points were leading scorers. The Westminster club limited the Goodyears to one field goal in the first half.

Previous to last night the Goodyears had lost only to Pitt by one point and had defeated a number of Ohio and Pennsylvania colleges.

"Ted Donaldson, Grid Candidate Dies In Sharon

"Ted" Donaldson, candidate for the Westminster football squad of the past season, died at his home in Sharon during the holiday season. Donaldson was one of the most promising men on the Titan squad, but was forced to withdraw from camp with a leg injury.

He was rated as one of the greatest guards in Sharon High history, graduating from that school in '26. Entering W. & J., he was hailed as a second "Fats" Henry, but married at the end of the school year, Ted did not return to that institution. Last fall, he reported to Coach John Lawther at Westminster.

Students who met the big fellow at training camp remember him as a real football player, a real sport, and a real man. We were proud to know "Ted" Donaldson.

Is Speaker

Dr. A. B. (Butch) Stewart, former Sharpsville High and Westminster college grid player, was toastmaster at the annual banquet of the Sharpsville Varsity "S" Club, held on Wednesday, December 30.

Speakers of the evening were Coach Marcus Rankin, Sup't Harry Pebley, and Principal John Cutler, Westminster graduate of the Class of '26. The main speech was made by Prof. R. X. Graham, track coach and publicity director at Westminster.

Varsity Guard?

TED BLANER

Ted Blaner, Sharon, is one of the men on the Titan squad who is showing form at guard and who may win the post vacated by Marsh Fisher.

HARRY BROWNLEE

Harry "Bud" Brownlee, playing his fourth year on the Titan quintet, continues to be one of the leading scorers of the district.

Grove City Planning to Setback Titans on Friday

One of the strongest aspirants for the guard position left vacant by Marsh Fisher is Ted Blaner, second string man of last season.

Westminster crosses the Neshannock Friday evening to invade the stronghold of Grove City, latest addition to the Tri-State Conference.

Both teams are primed to the belt for this struggle, always a classic attraction, but more intense interest has been aroused since the Crimson entered the race for conference honors.

Grove City will have such stars as Koma, Laycock, Staonitsky, Fegley, Hamilton, Toskin, Tomko, Deims and Ruckel.

The Titans will have the famous "Towering Ten," comprised of Brownlee, Rice, Kocheran, Siljander, Hamas, Blaner, Newton, Williams, Wilhelm, and Young.

"Tuss" McLaughry, Brown U. Coach, May Succeed Wittmer

Rumors originating from Princeton have it that "Tuss" McLaughry, former Westminster football star, and present head coach of that sport at Brown University will succeed Al Wittmer, another Westminster player, who resigned from the coaching staff at Princeton.

McLaughry placed football at the Providence school on a par with other eastern schools in 1926 when he directed his famous "Iron Men" through an undefeated season. During his entire regime at Brown, McLaughry has turned in a very enviable record, being credited with 39 wins, 4 tie games and 16 defeats.

The eyes of the entire Eastern football world have been turned upon Princeton, waiting for their choice of football mentors.

Like Titans

Members of the Marietta college basketball team watched Westminster in action against Ohio U. at Athens. They rate the Titans as the best quintet in the entire district, even though they saw them defeated on the Ohio court.

Eight Games On '32 Grid Card

FOUR GOOD GRID GAMES BOOKED HERE

Eight games have been scheduled for the 1932 football season, with but one date remaining open for a fray away from home.

Included among the eight opponents already listed are Muskingum and St. Bonaventures. Both schools will be met on their own stamping grounds. Muskingum replaces Allegheny and the Olean school fills in the place of Edinboro.

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, JAN. 10, 1932. — No. 7

Reorganize Campus Committee; New By-Laws Are Announced

To Co-operate With Authorities In Enforcement Of All College Rules

The Campus Committee of Westminster college was reorganized several weeks ago. This action was necessary since the rules and by-laws of the former committee were lost last year in the fire which destroyed the Chi Omega house. The purpose of this organization is to discipline women students not conforming to the rules of the school.

Present members of the Campus Committee are Elizabeth Curtis, Chairman; Dorothy Bigham, Secretary: Virginia Welch, Marian Johnston, Ruth Weller, Olive Mills, Jean Miller, Evelyn Judson, Jane Black, Jean Mankedick, Ruth Russell, Lillian Baird, Helen Snyder, Thelma Dunmire, Lucile Nevin, and Dorothy Johnston.

The By-Laws of the Campus Committee are: 1. The Campus Committee shall be composed of women students residing in college dormitories and shall be in a ratio of six Senior women, five Junior women, three Sophomore women, and two Freshman women. Members shall be elected by vote of their respective classes.

2. Meetings shall be held on the first and third Mondays in every month. After three unexcused absences during one year, a member automatically forfeits her membership.

3. A progressive system of membership shall be in use by which each member, when elected, serves for two consecutive years, and no more unless re-elected.

4. Any member of the Campus Committee being put on limits for the violation of school rules shall be automatically dropped from the committee.

The Campus Committee will co-operate with the college authorities for the enforcement of all college rules. For any violation reported, the Committee will take action, inflict terms of punishment deemed justified, and will notify the offender by written statement of her sentence. Only in cases of suspension from school will the parents of the student be notified by the Committee.

H. R. Patton, '16 Is Appointed College Business Manager

H. R. Patton has been made business manager of Westminster, the board of trustees announces. Mr. Patton, who succeeds Baldwin Sears, resigned, took over his new duties on January 3.

Patton was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1916, receiving the bachelor of arts degree. In 1926 he passed the examinations and became a certified public accountant under the state code of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Patton comes to Westminster from Wheeling, W. Va., were he was manager of that district for Ernst and Ernst, public accountants and auditors. He and his family reside at 135 North Market street, New Wilmington.

Two Bonds Donated To College During Month of December

Two bonds donations, each of $1,000 cash value, have been given Westminster College, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president, announces.

Attorney John M. McLane, New York City, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1899, gave one $1,000 college bond. Dr. J. C. Kelso, Canonsburg, gave a $1,000 bond to the college in memory of Mrs. Kelso. Dr. Kelso's son, John, is a sophomore at Westminster.

SCOUT ORGANIZATION AWARDS HIGH HONOR TO MILDRED RALSTON

The highest honors known to Boy and Girl Scout organizations have been conferred on a brother and sister, Robert and Mildred Ralston, of Freeport, Pa.

At a joint meeting of the Freeport Girl Scout committee of awards and the Freeport Boy Scout court of honor, the Golden Eaglet, highest award for Girl Scouts, was presented Miss Ralston, a sophomore at Westminster college, and the Eagle Badge, corresponding award of the Boy Scouts, was presented her brother, a senior in Freeport high school.

Miss Isabel Rupert of Verona, made the Girl Scout award, and A. V. Crouch, vice president of the Butler-Armstrong area council, presented the Eagle Badge. In the Ralston family, the father and mother are both active in Scout work.

Galbreath Delivers Series Of Addresses At Church In Buffalo

Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, will fill five speaking engagements during the second week of the new year. Two of these will be delivered before local congregations, while the others will necessitate trips as far distant as Pittsburgh and Buffalo, New York.

On January 9, he spoke in Farrell, at the Farrell M. E. Brotherhood. Tuesday, January 10, he will give an address in the Munhall High school, Pittsburgh, and the following evening he will address the congregation of the West View United Presbyterian church. Pittsburgh. On January 12, Dr. Galbreath is scheduled to speak at the United Presbyterian Church, Mercer. He will spend three days, January 15 to 18, as the guest of Rev. T. E. H. Smith, pastor of the Riverside U. P. Church, Buffalo, N. Y., where he will deliver a series of addresses.

Lofgren Tells Of Byrd Polar Expedition

"Tom Pratt," Labrador Husky, Personally Introduced To Audience

Faculty members, students and visitors were delighted last Thursday evening, January 5, with C. C. Lofgren's illustrated lecture on "The Human Side of the Byrd Expedition." Before showing the pictures, Lofgren told of the time and effort necessary to launch such an undertaking. Byrd was three years in preparation. A special ice boat, the City of New York, was brought from Norway. Airplanes had to be tested, houses suitable for housing 42 men for 15 months, four of which would be spent in total darkness, must be built. More important than this, however, was the selection of the personnel. This was made up from more than 5000 applications and included men from all walks of life. Dr. Poole from the University of Michigan was in charge of the geographical research; Dr. Colman, Johns Hopkins, was dietition; and Tappy Davis, McCune University, physician. The youngest but one of the most important members of the party was Paul Sypole, a young Pennsylvanian, chosen to represent the Boy Scouts of America.

Byrd went first to Panama, then across the Pacific to New Zealand and from there into the ice-bound regions of the Antartic. Dogs as well as men were seasick, and there were 95 sled dogs in the party! Once ashore in Little America the work of building winter quarters began. Aeroplanes and food were stored in

VARIED FRENCH PROGRAM GIVEN BY MLLE. MERCAT

Taught French Conversation At Westminster During Year 1930-31

For its first open meeting of the year, held January 6 in the Little Theatre, the French Club secured the services of Mlle. Monique Lussan Mercat, of Paris, who presented a program of readings and songs before a small, but appreciative, audience. The opening number was a story "Les Vieux" ("The Old People") by Daudet; other readings included "Fables de la Fontaine", a series of short poems by Paul Geraldi, and a longer poem, "Les Elfes", by Leconte de Lisle.

Among the musical selections were two numbers from "Carmen", "The Clock", "The Enchanted Flute", and several others less familiar to Americans. Miss Dorothy Kirkbride was the accompanist.

Mlle. Mercat is well-known in Westminster College, having taught here for a semester during the year 1930-31. She is at present on the faculty of Abbot Academy at Andover, Mass. Mlle Mercat is an Officier d'Academie, a title indicating decoration by the Academy, Paris; this honor was awarded for outstanding work in music.

SPEAKER

DR. J. A. SWINDLER

Swindler Speaker At Science Club Meeting, Jan. 12

Principal Electrical Rays Demonstrated And Discussed

Dr. James A. Swindler, head of the physics department, will deliver a lecture before the meeting of the Westminster Science club in the physics lecture room at seven o'clock Thursday evening January 12, on the topic "Electrical Discharges Through Gases."

Dr. Swindler will give a number of demonstrations of the three principal kinds of radiations. These will include demonstration of what we speak of as cathode rays which are streams of electrons, canal rays which are positively charged ions, and X-Rays.

Together with these demonstrations, Dr. Sindler will discuss the ralationship of these radiations to the theories of atomic structure.

WEALTH OF OUR LIBRARY SUBJECT OF CHAPEL SPEECH BY AILMAN

"The true university is a collection of books" said Carlyle and re-iterated Miss Ailman, librarian, in her talk on the "Wealth of Our Library" before last Friday's student chapel. Miss Ailman followed Professors Euwema and Brennan as the third faculty speaker in the college program, to introduce the teacher and his subject to the student and his needs.

Miss Ailman's talk was sparkling with quotations and with simplicity. After first suggesting that our library looks like a second hand bookstore she went on to maintain that an old book store is quite a paradise, Westminster has some rare books and magazines dating back as far as 1710. But despite this, the true wealth of a library depends on its stock of books that are of use to the average person.

There are two purposes for reading: to gain information and for pleasure. The college student generally pursues the former purpose although reading for pleasure is valuable and should be indulged in. As for what to read Miss Ailman offered Emerson's reading formula: the book should be a year old, a book of fame, and a book the reader likes. Miss Ailman recommended the classics for reading if one could enjoy them; at any rate, the student should now learn to read the books that he will read later.

There is a method to everything and in the field of literature one should read one book as a nucleus for study, using complementary books and texts in addition.

New Course In Modern Social Trends To Be Added To Curriculum

A change in courses in the business department is being planned for next semester.

Mr. Kirkbride, assistant professor of business and economics, announces that a course in modern social trends will be added to the curriculum.

In most cases the new subject will be substituted for advertising, although the latter course will remain for those who wish to take it.

Varsity Debate Team Plans Thirteen Contests; To Take Eastern Trip During March

Problem Of International Debts To Be Debate Subject Of Opposing Teams

Thirteen contests are tentatively arranged for the Westminster debate team, Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, secretary of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity, announces.

The Westminster team expects to use the two-man team system and to employ "critic judges". The questions for the forensic platform battles will be, Resolved: That all intergovernmental war debts including reparations should be cancelled.

Members of the varsity squad include: Herbert Smith, New Castle; Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh; Alan Van Harper, Zelienople; Forrest Eakin, New Castle; Byron Elder, New Castle; John Gerstner, Philadelphia; Thomas Rogers, New Wilmington; Otto Manse, Braddock; Fred Luderer, Punxsutawney, Wayne Rush, New Alexandria; William Patterson, New Wilmington.

The schedule of contests: Feb. 13, at Grove City; Feb. 15, Grove City at home; Feb. 21, Waynesburg at home; Feb. 23, at Waynesburg; Feb. 28, Allegheny at home; March 1, at Geneva; March 9, Geneva at hone; March 15, at St. Francis; March 16, at Dickinson; March 17, at Swarthmore; March 18, at Villanova; March 20, at Rutgers; April 5, St. Francis at home.

The annual freshman-sophomore debate will be held in the Little Theatre on January 17. The question will be the same as the varsity subject. Members of the freshman team are: John Gerstner, Philadelphia; Wayne Rush (alternate), New Alexandria; Thomas Rogers, New Wilmington; Otto Manse, Braddock. Herbert Smith, New Castle, is coach of the first-year team.

The sophomore team, coached by Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, will have Fred Luderer, Punxsutawner; Byron Elder, New Castle; and William Patterson, New Wilmington, as competitors.

Judges for this inter-class contest are: Dr. E. B. Russell; Professor Ronald Jones; and Professor A. T. Cordray.

Dr. B. E. Quick Given High Science Honor

Dr. B. E. Quick, head of the department of biology at Westminster, has been signally honored by having a new species of marine plant life named for him.

Mr. Robert Magelstein, Mineola, Long Island, the foremost American authority on Diatoms, is publishing a monograph of his finding for the New York Botanical Garden, and the new species has been named "Quickii" in honor of Dr. Quick.

The particular plant was found in a collection of material made in Porto Rico, at Miramar, during 1925 and 1926 when Dr. Quick made a botanical study in Porto Rico in company with Mr. Hagelstein. The plant is a species of Nitzchia new to science.

Art Students Design Own Christmas Cards

Under the direction of Professor Harold J. Brennan, head of the art department, 17 Westminster college students designed their own Christmas greeting cards this year. The designs, in black and white, were made into engravings, and from 50 to 100 cards were printed for each student. All cards designed and lettered by the students were well done, the recipients praising the greetings as the most interestin/ received during the holidays.

Those persons who designed cards are: Elizabeth McCrory, Mary Forbes, Lola Sewall, Eleanor Dunmire, Otto Pearsall, Thelma Dunmire, Helen Louise Taylor, Robert V. Jones, Elaine Chapman, Berdelle Keller, Jean Mankedick, Theresa Burgoon, Virginia Kerins, Catherine Parrish, and Katherine Goedell.

Mr. Brennan designed his cards also.

Alumna Wins New York Guild Award; Begins Work In Light Opera

Miss Rebekah Crawford, a graduate of Westminster with the Class of '20, has just won the Guild Award of New York for singing. This award is only given to the most accomplished and finished singer following a very keen and critical competition with hundreds of aspiring vocalists. This award carries with it a large sum of money together with an immediate engagement for opera work. Miss Crawfard studied here under W. W. Campbell.

Miss Crawford has been filling concert and broadcasting engagements for the past few years in New York City. She will make her debut soon in Light Opera in Carnegie Hall, New York. This is the usual stepping stone in grand opera.

BUSINESS FACULTY ATTEND ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE

The entire staff of the busness department will attend a round table discussion on "Views on Administration of Business Departments" to be held at Grove City college, Thursday afternoon, January 12, at 2:30 p. m.

Representatives of district colleges will be present. A cimilar meeting was held last year and proved to be quite profitable.

Members of the business department who plan to attend the meeting are: Prof. C. W. McKee, Mr. Ross Ellis, Mr. Arthur Kirkbride, Mr. Ronald Jones, Mrs. Bertha Bay, and Miss Margaret Reed.

CATALOGUE BOOKS

Work of cataloging the books in the Elliott library will be undertaken this week by Miss Reed and Miss Ailman. They plan to have this work completed by spring.

GRAHAM PREPARES STUDENT CANVASS ADVERTISEMENTS

Another intensive advertising campaign for prospective 1933-34 students is being launched by Westminster authorities under the special supervision of Mr. W. A. Johns, ably assisted by Prof. R. X. Graham.

A feature of this student canvass program is a plan of advertising through a series of booklets, folders, bulletins, posters, and information sheets which are distributed to prospective high school students throughout the United States.

Prof. Graham is doing excellent work along this line. He has already completed the first four pieces in this student canvass plan of advertising, namely, a large, three-colored poster for high school bulletinboards; two mailing folders with return cards; and a small booklet.

The compilation of this advertising material shows the result of much effort and ingenuity.

"STUDENTS GO JIG-SAW", COLLEGE HOLDS PARTY FEATURED BY GAMES

Westminster doesn't seem to be lacking in jig-saw puzzle enthusiasts for nothing less than a real picture puzzle party is scheduled to take place in Browne Hall on Saturday evening, January 14, beginning at eight o'clock.

The college is sponsoring the party to which all college students are invited as guests.

THEY ALL PLAY CRICKET

It is because of this fact of more general interest and participation in sports that the ancient "Rah-Rah" spirit has disappeared from the campus, a disappearance looked upon by many of the old guard as simultaneous with the death of double-fisted, hairy-chesty collegiate virility. There was a time when a group of large-boned, strong-muscled students represented the college on the playing fields. These were the college athletes, the respected and adored. The rest of the students were on the sidelines, yelling themselves hoarse,...cheering, as the only form of athletic exercise they felt capable of performing. If they cheered loudly enough and worshiped the football captain with the proper reverence, they were fine-spirited college men. They didn't have to know how to play. ...They are not on the side lines now because they are out playing their own games. The crowded golf course on any afternoon of a baseball game is sufficient evidence. Their attitude seems reasonably healthy —"Let the varsity team play its game because the players enjoy the game, but let us play our own games on the courts and the links." They are not always in their rooms, browsing over an æsthetically bound volume of decadent verse, as some gloomy souls seem to think.—The Williams Alumni Review.

CONFLICTING AIMS

At least three groups of students, with fundamentally different aims and interests, are found in the undergraduate body of any liberal-arts school of sufficient size. These include, first, those who intend to stay in college only a year or two. College training is a terminal course for them. Secondly, there are those pursuing liberal subjects with a pre-professional purpose. They wish to select out of the liberal arts and sciences such subjects as represent the liberal learning most closely associated with their future professions. Thirdly, there are those who intend to go on, through the graduate school, to high degrees in the liberal-arts field. They expresses their desire for great mastery through more intense specialization.

These groups constitute three or four distinct processions moving through our colleges. Yet an attempt is still being made to agree upon some compromise which will cover all the groups, each one of which represents a different background. The results of such compromise are predestined to be unfortunate.

When large colleges segrgegate the student groups in the liberal-science school according to their special interests, and the small colleges exclude all but a single group, colleges will be on the path toward an intellectual renaissance.—The Michigan Daily.

CABBAGES AND KINGS

From the Russian Viewpoint

We were talking to one of sons of Soviet Russia the other day....he is one of three at the Carnegie Institute of Technology .... and we asked him if it were true that the Russians experience a great deal of trouble in handling the many machines which have been imported into the country since the beginning of the Five Year Plan. (We had heard that the Russians seem unable to cope with the intricacies of modern machinery.) His answer was to the effect that while the Russians do have such trouble, there is a logical reason for it, and then went on to explain that it is an almost impossible task for a country which was largely agricultural before the revolution to change itself overnight into an industrial nation. In short, it is rather difficult to convert a large group of farmers, who have had no industrial background whatever, into a group of mechanics in five or six years. Perhaps it would be better to wait fifty or a hundred years before we attempt to judge the success or failure of the Russian plan.

NEW NOTE IN PANHANDLING

On our way home for the Xmas holiday, we had to wait several minutes in the New Castle station, and as we were staring vacantly at various advertisements posted on the walls, we were approached by a novel type of panhandler. He wanted to work, to carry our bags or something. After the donation of a dime, however, he lost interest in the work and began to harangue us upon the injustice of his fate. It seems that he once was prosperous, but that his partner did him dirt, whereupon he, Joe, our panhandler, gave said partner a terrific physical beating and then walked out into a life devoid of beer and skittles.

During the process of thetalk, Joe dwelt at length upon our extreme youth, warned us to lead the straight and narrow path, to fear God, for as he said, "You can't get away from God" And then, as our train rolled into view, Joe bade us goodbye, nearly knocking us over with a gust of gin-laden breath, and balled off up the street, headed, no doubt, for the nearest speak-easy. We watched him go, and our thoughts turned to a society that produces human wrecks like Joe.

THE BI-WEEKLY POETRY LESSON

FROST
"Mending Wall"

Robert Frost, premier poet of New England, gives us a little philosophy in the first poem of the book entitled North of Boston. "Mending Wall" illustrates Frost's power of character and symbolism; it portrays struggle....nationalism vs. internationalism, blind following of tradition against questioning iconoclasm:

Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That sends the frozen ground swell under it,
And spills the upper boulders in the sun;
And makes gaps even two can pass abreast.
The work of hunters is another thing:
I have come after them and made repair
Where they have left not one stone on a stone,
But they would have the rabbit out of hiding,
To please the yelping dogs. The gaps I mean,
No one has seen them made or heard them made,
But at spring mending-time we find them there.
I let my neighbor know beyond the hill;
And on a day we meet and walk the line
And set the wall between us once again.
We keep the wall between us as we go.
To each the boulders that have fallen to each.
And some are loaves and some are so nearly balls
We have to use a spell to make them balance:
"Stay where you are until our backs are turned!"
We wear our fingers rough with handling them.
Oh, just another kind of outdoor game,
One on a side. It comes to little more:
There where it is we do not need a wall:
He is all pine and I am all apple-orchard.
My apple trees will never get across
And eat the cones under his pines, I tell him.
He only says, "Good fences make good neighbors."
Spring is the mischief in me, and I wonder
If I could put a notion in his head:
"Why do they make good neghbors? Isn't it
Where there are cows? But here there are no cows.
Before I built a wall I'd ask to know
What I was walling in or walling out,
And to whom I was like to give offense.
Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That wants it down!" I could say "elves" to him,
But it's not elves exactly, and I'd rather
He said it for himself. I see him there,
Bringing a stone grasped firmly by the top
In each hand, like an old- stone savage armed.
He moves in darkness, as it seems to me,
Not of woods only and the shade of trees.
He will not go beyond his father's saying,
And he likes having thought of it so well
He says again, "Good fences make good neighbors."

huge ice rooms under the snow. Kennels, too for the dogs were made from ice, and portable houses set up 200 feet apart. These were connected by an underground tunnels. Three radio towers kept the base in touch with exploring and survey parties, and the outside word. Radio programs coming in from KDKA every Saturday night were eagerly anticipated by the men tucked in their winter sleeping bags. The temperature ranged between 50 and 72 degrees below zero when one could hear his own breath freeze. Aside from the radio there were moving pictures every Sunday night and plenty of home entertainment.

A new mountain range was discovered and called the Rockerfellow mountains. Gold and sandstone were found there, the former showing that the Antartic was once a temperate climate; the latter that the mountains were not volcanic. The new land sited was named Marie Byrd for Mrs. Byrd. Byrd carried the American flag to the south pole, 1500 miles further south than it had ever been before. There Byrd flew into "tomorrow" and back into "yesterday" all in three minutes time.

Before leaving the platform, the speaker introduced the audience to "Tom Pratt' one of the Eskimo puppies born in the Antartic. The Labrador husky is three and one-half years old, weighs 85 pounds, and does not object to being petted. His food consists of bones, raw meat and Eskimo pies.

Art Department Announces Plans

The Department of Art is the infant course in Westminster's curriculum; it was newly instituted this year. However a Department of Art flourished at Westminster in other years; for during the greater part of Westminster's history couses in Art and Appreciation were regularly given; the subject is not a new one for the school.

The course was re-instated this year in order to offer to students the liberalizing and creative opportunities that courses in art afford. With this point in view, it is intended that the work and influences of the Department of Art will so extend as to touch the interest of every student in the school. Courses offered will be so designed as to attract beginners; giving those whose taste leads them to a liking for this sort of work an opportunity to expand their interests. The course in History and Appreciation of Art will attempt to present the panorama of art through the ages, and is offered for the benefit of those who feel they should have a knowing acquaintance with the worlds' masterpieces. Frequent exhibitions arranged for the benefit of the entire student body will round out the program for the Department.

This year courses are being offered in Drawing, Painting, Elementary Design, Crafts and History and Appreciation of Art. Next year it is hoped that courses in Home Decoration, Pottery, Costume Design and Jewelry and Metalwork can be added. The courses will be designed to take their place in the curriculum of a liberal arts college, it is not planned that work offered will be specialized or vocational in any sense, but only intended to offer a means of activity that stimulates the imagination and cultivates the taste.

Of general interest will be the exhibitions planned, by the Department of Art for this year. Westminster will have the privilege of seeing a show of pottery, executed by students at Carnegie Institute of Technology, that recently was displayed at the Carnegie Museum galleries in Pittsburgh. Later a fine collection of Japanese Prints will be exhibited, and an opportunity extended for students to see this superlative form of Oriental Art. Other exhibitions, arranged through the facilities of the American Federation of Arts, of which Westminster is a member, will be shown from time to time during the remainder of the year. Attempts are being made to bring for exhibition some books from the collection of Alexander Hostellow, and a show of the hand bound volumes of Mrs. Roy Hunt. In addition to these showings, work done by students in the department will frequently be displayed.

It is to be hoped that the influences of the Department of Art will be felt on Westminster's campus; that many students may feel an inclination to participate in the work offered, and through these courses find an activity that will bring them not only pleasure but a larger insight into a new scheme of values that adds richness, purpose and distinction to life. Unlike most studies Art is not factual; idea and feeling are more highly prized. Thus courses in Art expand the mind by objectifying an idea, or a feeling; the personality in art, unlike other activities, does not draw in facts, but amplifies an idea. The movement is not in toward the personality, but outward from the personality to the world.

Acting Class Presents Three One-Act Plays; Cottrell Is Director

Under the direction of Miss Ellen Cottrell, with the assistance of Wilson Miller, three one-act plays will be presented by the members of the acting class in the Little Theatre the latter part of next week. These plays will be given by the members during the class period as a substitute for final examinations.

The plays include; "The Sprightly Widow Vartlett," a comedy in costume. Its cast includes: John Hodge, Dorothy Cowden, Helen McClaughry, Gilbert Dindinger, and Joe Lockley.

A drama, "For Distinguished Service," will be presented by: Lillian Gaines, Kathryn Lynch, and Jane Chester.

"The Telegram," a modern comedy, will be given by the following cast: John Hodge, Helen Farnsworth, Margie Beachler, Robert Douglass, and Heles Lapish.

These plays may be presented to the public later as a part of the Little Theatre Play Course.

Y. M. AND Y. W. TO SPONSOR CONTEST

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of Westminster college are making plans to sponsor a contest for original college songs and yells, open to any student who wishes to compete.

Helen Weingartner and Wilbur Christy have been named to direct the contest. A committee consisting of Chester Miller and Robert Averill have been appointed to make rules for the competition. Other aids are to be appointed.

Dr. Galbreath has announced that the school will provide prizes for the best entries.

Up to the present, no definite date has been set for the contest.

Titans Take Duquesne By 25-23 Score

Lawthermen Tackle Grove City Friday Night

Locals Win Over Five Outfits; Drop One

Edinboro Springs Surprise Win Over Lawthermen, 32-28

Recovering from a first game upset at the hands of Edinboro, the Titan quintet came to life and wiped out a severe revenge on Youngstown, Indiana and Case to make a pre-season record of three wide margin victories to one close loss.

Coach Lawther was well nipping from the Edinboro quintet and then was confined to bed while the five was redeeming itself by smothering up their Christmas week opponents. Ken Delahunty coached the Indiana game; Jack Hulme ruled the bench against Youngstown and Case.

Billy Douglass was the scoring star for the quintet of pre-season games totaling 43 points an average of 10¾ points per game.

Bennett, the freshman center was next with 34 points for an average of 8½ points per game. Jerry Newton, of the Newton, Douglass team, tabbed 28 points for an average of 7 points per game. Whitey Siljander and Johnny Wilhelm though specializing in defensive work found time to break in for an occasional two pointer or a free shot; Whitey gained 19 points to Johnny's 7.

Sweeney, Healy, Hutchison, Monihan, Patt and Leyshock found employment in three games; Southard and Hilliard in two. Sweeney coming in as a sub in the Youngstown game rolled up five field goals and a foul for scoring honors.

Edinboro Rallies To Win

Though trailing 14-8 at half-time the Edinboro boys rallied in the evening half to disappoint their Westminster visitors 32-28. Palmquist, the Normal guard led the victors with six field goals and a foul while the forwards under the careful guarding of Siljander, Wilhelm and Healy could only muster five points between them. Jerry Newton made the board to coincide with the basket four times from the field and twice from the free line for ten markers.

Sweeney Stars Against Youngstown

The Youngstown Y. M. C. A. College fought hard but a revived Westminster basketball team plus Ray Sweeney, was too much and they received the miniature end of a 47-15 tabulation. Sweeney came in as a sub to play the stellar role before his hometowners. Ray played a flashy game at forward sinking five baskets and a foul for eleven points, two more than Billy Douglass, center. Cole led the Youngstowners with four points.

Win First Home Game

Indiana State Teachers College took the honor of being the first team to bow before this year's Titan five, on her own court. With little in the way of opposition the Delahunty-coached boys swept over the Teachers 22-5 at the half and 42-18 as the game ended. The two features of the game were Billy Douglass' phenominal shooting and scoring and Indiana's midget forward, who though lacking in field goals provided considerable comedy for the sparse local crowd. Douglass was harmonizing with the loop from all angles of the floor. Newton, pivoting, took the center of attack and fed passes to Billy who made most good. Bennett had little trouble dropping baskets when he managed to elude Indiana's Davis.

Westminster 46, Case 9

And Case went the way of Youngstown and Indiana as the consistently improving Westminstermen reached pre-season heights. The Titans working together in promising style mowed down their Cleveland visitors before New Wilmington's New Year's Eve celebration, 46-9. Despite the score's story, Case presented a fast moving and passing team which was unfortunately seldom able to get a basket shot. Bennett sunk six field goals for scoring leadership. Siljander thrilled with several side court field goals, but Patt, the substitute center stole the limelight with two beautiful overhead two-pointers near theclose of the game.

Crimson Out To Setback Titans In Conference Opener at Grove City

Locals Due For Defeat Unless Better Play Is Evident

Ragged Play Against Teachers Douses Hopes For Win Friday Night

Coach John Lawther's Westminster basketball team opens its Tri-tate Conference campaign this week, meeting Bob Thorn's strong Grove City team at Grove City on Friday night.

This contest, annually one of the best drawing cards in the district, will find the Grovers with a veteran outfit opposing a sluggish Titan outfit.

In Laycock, Stavnitsky, Fegley, Minick, Soich, and Deems, Bob Thorn has as fine an array of talent as any district school. All these men played on great high school quintets, and they will give Westminster its hardest game of the entire campaign in the opinion of Coach Lawther.

The Titans were rather lucky against Duquesne, catching the great Duke outfit in an over-confident mood. The Grovers defeated Westminster in the opening Tri-State game last season, and the Crimson is stronger this year than it was then while the Titans are—well, you call it. We're sleepy.

Varsity "Flops", Subs Take Floor To Save Edinboro Fray, 31-17

Westminster College basketball team, though defeated by Edinboro 32-28 several weeks ago, completely outplayed the Edinboro team the last half to win 31-17, on the local college floor.

During the first half the Titans were unable to "find" the basket. Fortunately the "Teachers" had the same difficulty. A record showed that the Titans had 24 tries at the basket without scoring. The score at the half 13-6, Westminster.

Patt was the best player on the floor, his ten points and fine passing aiding in the Westminster victory. Douglass, Newton and Leyshock played well for the Titans. Cohen was outstanding for the visitors.

Newton and Douglass Lead Titans To "Sweetest Victory"

If one remembers history as it was taught back in the grade school days, Julius Caesar yodeled "Veni, vidi, vici" as he crossed the Rubicon. Not being versed in Latin, the Westminster Titans chanted a modern version of the famous quotation by yodeling, "We're gonna lick the Dukes!" And they did! The date of the game now history was Tuesday, Jan. 3, and the score was 25-23.

TO MERELY MENTION THE fact that the boys were victorious would be doing an injustice. Rated by even the most enthusiastic Titan fan as the underdog with nary a chance to win, the Westminster lads crashed through with one of the best brands of basketball seen on any Pittsburgh district floor in years.

USING A ZONE DEFENSE THAT completely baffled the Bluffites and being able to penetrate the man-for-man defense often enough to keep a step ahead of the long distance shooting Dukes, the Titans emerged at half time with a two point margin, 14-12.

NEWTON

DOUGLASS

Douglass, Newton Star

SIX TIMES DURING THE FRAY the score was deadlocked at 2, 4, 8, 17, 19, and 21. Then "Shufflin' Bill" Douglass stepped up to the foul line on four different occasions to drop in four free throws. Feldman dropped in a long shot just before the game ended to give the Dukes the 23 points shown in the final scoring column.

NEWTON BECAME A SHOOTING wizard, counting two points almost every time he got the ball in his hands. He was able to sidestep and fake around the highly touted Marty Reiter like an Austin snakes through a ten acre parking space. Several times, with quick pivots, Reiter would be left yards behind by the sharp shooting Gerry. Reiter had three personal fouls chalked against before the first ten minutes of play had elapsed and was replaced by Paul Birch who played a nice floor game.

AFTER TEN MINUTES HAD passed by in the second stanza, Wilhelm was ousted from the game via the personal foul route and was replaced by "Pete" Leyshock, a newcomer in the ranks of basketball. Leyshock handled himself like a veteran and showed much promise of developing into a first rate guard before he leaves the tutelage of Coach John Lawther.

Hail Titans!

INTRA-MURAL NOTES

by AL VAN HARPER

Intramural basketball will open with a "double-decker" on Friday of this week. The fraternity teams have been training hard for the tournament, and an interesting and exciting season is expected by the spectators.

The T. U. O's and the Eps start the season at three thirty Friday afternoon. Following this game the Kaps and the Phi Pis will match their skill. Both games shoul be interesting and a large number of students are expected to cheer their favorite teams to victory.

An intramural referee always has a pretty tough job. With the new rules in basketball he is going to have his ability taxed to the upmost. Jack Hulme, in charge of all intramural sports, has arranged to have John Brown, Glen Rehfus, "Jinx" Hamas, and Hugh McCall alternate as referees. It is quite probable that they will work in pairs, as it has always been difficult to keep the games from getting too rough. Each of these officials is well acquainted with the rules of the game, having played on the fraternity teams himself, and the officiating should be well taken care off.

Each team will have at least one practice period in the same week, and preceding their game. As before the teams will find the schedule posted on the gymnasium bulletin board. Any team not reporting for a scheduled game will forfeit to the opponents.

It is quite probable that later on in the season a "scrub" team league will be started. Any fraternity member who has not played on the varsity team will be eligible to play in this loop. He may advance to the first team if his ability warrants. Jack has always planned the intramural sport program with the "athletics for all" plan in view, and with

Prominent Member of Board Of Trustees Dies In Butler

Attorney Galbreath Served Westminster College Many Years

Attorney James M. Galbreath, 81, former president judge of Butler county, widely known law authority, and an active member of the Board of Trustees of Westminster college, died at his home on the Boulevard, Butler, on Wednesday afternoon, December 14, twenty minutes after he had suffered a heart attack.

Judge Galbreath served 11 years as judge of the common pleas court, being elected in 1903, serving his last year by appointment of Governor John K. Tener on the death of Judge R. Henninger in 1928. He served more than a year, until the election of the late Judge James O. Campbell.

He was a member of the U. P. church for more than 50 years, superintendent of the Sunday school for 25 years, and active as a Bible teacher for half a century.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbreath observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage last May 19.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Sarah E. Galbreath; a son, John Galbreath; two daughters, Mrs. Irene Ivory of Sewickley and Miss Edith B. Galbreath of Butler, associated with her father in the practice of law.

Judge Galbreath served as a member of the Westminster Board of Trustees for 32 years.

FORMER HOLCAD EDITOR ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Harriett Boobyer, Dormont, has announced the engagment of her daughter, Katherine, to the Rev. Herman W. King, Argyle, New York. No definite date has been announced for the wedding.

Miss Boobyer, a graduate of the

KATHERINE BOOBYER

Class of 1930, was prominent in student activities while in college, serving as editor of the Holcad, assistant editor of the Argo, president of Psi Nu, honorary journalistic sorority, and president of Tau Kappa Alpha, debating fraternity. She is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Mr. King is a member of the Class of 1928. A graduate of the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, he is now pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Argyle, New York. He is a member of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity.

Colonel McQuiston Honored By County Military Reserves

Colonel Dan A. McQuiston, New Wilmington, has been elected president of the Shenango Valley chapter of the Reserve Officers Association.

Other officers elected during the dinner conference meeting in the Castleton hotel were: Captain John B. Brettell, New Castle, first vice president; Captain Donald Donley, '20, Sharon, second vice president; Captain Ralph L. Montag, Butler, third vice president; and Lieutenant D. Dennis, secretary-treasurer.

Colonel McQuiston is also a member of a committee to arrange for a public meeting for the discussion of the question of military preparedness.

Colonel McQuiston is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1915. During the summer months Mr. McQuiston took additional military training at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and at Camp Meade.

SHARON PHYSICIAN IS GUEST SPEAKER FOR A. A. U. W. MEETING

Dr. Mildred Rogers, New Castle, was program chairman for the January meeting of the New Wilmington branch of the A. A. U. W., held in Browne Hall, Saturday afternoon, January 7.

A very interesting address on "Health—How can we keep well?" was given by Dr. Lois Merkel, Sharon, who is State Health Chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Association.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by the social committee, headed by Miss Letitia Elliott, New Wilmington.

More definite plans were announced concerning the Study Group on Child Guidance, which is sponsored by the A. A. U. W. Members of the study group will meet once a month to discuss interesting problems of child guidance.

The first of the series of meetings will be held Thursday evening, January 12, in Brown Hall Lounge. Mrs. Herbert L. Davis will lead the discussion on Obedience, taking the place of Mrs. E. B. Russell, as formerly scheduled.

Ernest Griggs Weds Pittsburgh Girl

Mr. and Mrs. George O. Adams, of Sheridan avenue, Pittsburgh, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Ruth Adams, to Ernest A. Griggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Griggs, of Perry Highway, which was solemnized on December 3 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tudor Lewis, of Farrell, Pa. Officiating were the Rev. P. B. Logan and Rev. C. W. Hapler.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were the only attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Griggs are at home in Sheridan avenue, Pittsburgh.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Westminster college and is a member of Phi Pi Phi.

FUTURE STUDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Haldy announce the birth of a daughter, Joanne, Sunday, December 18.

Mr. Haldy, a graduate of the Class of 1931, has for two years been teacher of mathematics and coach of athletics in East Brady high school.

The Rev. and Mrs. Dwight O. Nichol, Ratnagiri, India, announce the birth of a son, John Stewart Nichol, November 15, 1932. Mrs. Nichol, the former Charlotte Miller, is a graduate of the class of 1926.

For the past three years Rev. and Mrs. Nichol have been engaged in mission work in the Western India Mission of the Presbyterian Church.

Student Volunteers Are Guests Of College

To a small group of Westminster men and women, a handful of visiting student volunteers, last Saturday evening, introduced their organization and presented their cause. Westminster has responded by seriously considering the possible mobilization of all men and women interested in christian missions as a part of the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia Student Volunteers.

Two men and two women from Waynesburg college, an Asbury college woman graduate, and a Xenia Theological seminary student told the group of the history of the student volunteers movement, it's work in Waynesburg, and the need of Christian missionaries in foreign and home lands. The meeting ended with an informal fellowship gathering.

The possibility that such an organization on the campus might interfere with the work of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. was suggested. The matter will be considered and the college may join this spreading movement.

ALUMNA TEACHES IN TENNESSEE SCHOOL

Mrs. R. L. Thompson, formerly Miss Hazel Thompson, of the Class of 1928, is now teaching in the Houston Valley school, Houston Valley, Tennessee.

Mr. Thompson is a member of the U. S. Navy.

EWARD BROWN NOW TEACHING IN TITUSVILLE

Edward N. Brown, New Wilmington, has secured a position as teacher of science in the Titusville high school. He began work in the new position Tuesday, January 3.

Mr. Brown, a graduate of the Class of '27, held a position as chemist with an industrial plant for two years following his graduation. In 1930 he did post-graduate work in science at Westminster. He was granted a graduate scholarship by Oberlin College in 1931, for study on his Master's degree.

Mr. Brown is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

DR. R. T. CAMPBELL RESIGNS POSITION

The Rev. Ross T. Campbell, D.D. resigned his position as president of Sterling college, Kansas, Tuesday, December 6. The resignation will take effect at the end of the college year.

Dr. Campbell has served as president of Sterling college for 23 years. He is a Westminster graduate, of the Class of 1886.

Society

CHI OMEGA

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, patroness of Chi Omega sorority, entertained members of the sorority at a Christmas party in her home Thursday evening, December 15.

Miss Ruth McConnell and Mrs. C. W. McKee were associate hostesses for the affair.

Chi Omega alumnae attended a sorority luncheon held in the Keystone Club, Pittsburgh, Wednesday, December 28. Mrs. Merle Burke headed the committee in charge.

Members of the active chapter were present as special guests.

SIGMA KAPPA

Mrs. R. X. Graham, sorority patroness entertained members of Sigma Kappa at a Christmas party in her home Wednesday evening, December 14.

Initiation services for Thelma Dunmire, Kittanning, were held Wednesday, December 14, in the sorority suite, Hillside.

Alumnae members of Sigma attended a musical tea at Heinz House, Pittsburgh, Thursday December 29. Special features of the program were musical selections by Claire Gross, and and readings by Katherine Boobyer.

PHI PI PHI

David Findley, '32, Ben Avon, was a week end visitor at the Phi Pi Phi house.

David Wallace, '30, has completed the work of re-decorating the fraternity house, and has left for New York City.

CAMERON RALSTON INTERESTS GROUP IN VITAL PROBLEM

Ten minutes of powerful speaking, as much time again for a very satisfactorily conducted student forum, and a final appeal to youth, marked the dynamic prohibition program of Cameron Ralston. Mr. Ralston, a member of the National Reform Association, addressed the chapel last Friday, December 2, 1932.

Having traveled considerably throughout the United States, Mr. Ralston became interested in the cause of prohibition especially as dealing with America's youth. A reporter's experience on a great Chicago daily gave him a vast and firsthand knowledge of political and economical conditions.

Mr. Ralston began his address with the challenge, "Think it out for yourself." He bewailed the great number of Americans who were being "mind conditioned" by agencies such as advertising and persons such as politicians, merely because they refused to think about it for themselves.

Refutes Repeal Argument

The main substance of the delivery was a presentation of four major repealist arguments and their refutes. The four arguments, that, repeal will bring prosperity, prohibition is sending youth "merrily on its way to hell", prohibition has brought about the greatest crime wave the country has ever had, repeal is strongly advocated by influential men.

Mr. Ralston pointed out that England, Germany, and France, without prohibition are in a worse financial condition than the United States. In answer to the second argument that the prohibition of youth has sent it revolting and degenerating, Mr. Ralston stated that from his knowledge of youth the rank and file is still good. As for prohibition's effect on crime, Alphonse Capone, interviewed by Mr. Ralston, stated that over 20% of his revenue was from prohibition. Capone favors repeal. Such men as Pashot and Dun Pont who are spending millions advocating repeal, admitted on examination that they well realized that if prohibition were repealed, the working man would pay the liquor tax and relieve the millionaire of his taxes.

Holds Student Forum

Following through his plea, "Think for yourself", Mr. Ralston opened the topic to discussion. Numerous questions including the following, were asked by the men as the women kept quiet and received the appeal and the jests of the speaker unresponsively.

Q. How much time is required to repeal the eighteenth admendment?

A. Five to seven years, President's signature necessary Modification is possible in 14 days, but the President's signature is necessary.

Q. Will the present Congress modify?

A. I think that Congress will bring back two and three-fourths per cent beer within the week.

Q. How is the farmer affected by prohibition?

A. Gustave Babts, president of the Brewers Association of the United States, states that brewers use only three-fourths of one per cent of all the grain in the United States.

Q. What do you think of Canada's system?

A. The Canadian system gives the bootlegger what he needs, a provider and a customer. The United States would not do good to adopt this system.

With the final appeal, "You are at the period of character development, what are you going to do with it?" Mr. Ralston closed.

A Brief Survey of Mathematics

The field of mathematics presents many paradoxes, two of which we will mention—it is at once older than Aristotle, and as young as Einstein; it involves reasoning of the most abstract character, and applications of the most practical kind.

Mathematics and its old friend. Astronomy, furnish excellent examples of the truth that the newest is not always the most valuable or the most interesting. The first known mathematical congress, which was also astronomical and religious, was held in Central America (3000 B. C.?). The oldest known handbook of mathematics is the Rhind Papyrns, copied about 1650 B. C. by the Egyptian scribe Ahmes, either from older works or from knowledge transmitted verbally. From these early days the subject has been studied with varying intensity down to the present.

Pure mathematics is abstract; it exists, and much of it has been developed, entirely apart from its application. It is this quality which led Bertrand Russell to formulate his striking definition "Mathematics is the science in which we never know what we are talking about nor whether what we say is true." This abstractness has closely allied the subject with philosophy and logic. It is probably this characteristic which gives the average man the feeling that higher mathematics is remote from life. Let us examine this notion.

The structure of mathematics as it now stands has been built by the interactions of theory and application. Our arithmetic was largely developed by the Italian merchants of the fourteenth and later centuries. Trigonomtry was given its impetus by surveyors and navigators. Calculus owes much to the engineers and the physicists, and in turn has become their almost indispensable tool.

In 1872 Dr. Morgan wrote "During the last two centuries and a half, physical knowledge has been gradually made to rest upon a basis which it had not before. It has become mathematical." Thesixty years since his time have emphasized this even more strikingly. The trend at present seems to indicate an increasing application of mathematics to the natural and social sciences—a trend begun by the statistical work of Karl Pearson.

VOL. 49 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, JAN. 12, 1932. — NO. 14

Galbreath Sees Opportunity For Service in Small College

NEITHER REFORMER NOR REVOLUTIONARY IS AIM

Not often does a minister leave the pulpit with pleasant anticipation akin to that of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church.

Interviewed on his attitude toword liberal arts colleges and Westminster in particular, Dr. Galbreath recently stated that faith in the small college and an opportunity to work with and help young people have made him anxious to begin his work as president of Westminster.

"In accepting the call," he said, "I am actuated largely by my faith in the small college and my conviction that it emphasizes a religious philosophy of life that is an essential in education.

"The opportunity to come into close and constant contact with students and to help form policies that will guide them through their college years is one that must appeal to any person interested in life.

"College years have such a profound influence upon mental and moral and even physical life of students that they challenge one's best thought.

"One need not enter the field either as a reformer or as a revolutionary, but primarily to help youths prepare in the best possible way to live a full life and to meet pressing issues they will surely inherit from the present generation."

PLAYGROUNDS COURSE TO BE OFFERED IN SECOND SEMESTER

Miss Nandeen Love, physical instructor is offering a new course called "Playgrounds" at the beginning of the second semester. It is open to all girls, and the credit counts toward a major or minor. It is a two-hour course and consists of theory and practice. Games appropriate for all ages will be discussed one hour and played the next hour.

Other courses Miss Love intends to offer in the future are gymnastics, folk-dancing, clog, and tap dancing.

LECTURER DISCUSSES THE PROBLEMS OF EDUCATIONAL WORK

Yesterday evening at 7:45 Dr. Veach spoke to the Louise Scott Missionary Society in the Sabbath school room of the United Presbyterian church.

Dr. Robert Wells Veach '96 of Ridgewood, New Jersey used as his subject the "Educational Tragedies and Triumphs of the Orient." Dr. Veach is a well-known lecturer.

ADD THREE PROGRAMS TO ARTISTS' COURSE

Three artists will appear before Westminster audiences as part of the Artist Course during the months of January and February, Professor Alan B. Davis, head of the College of Music announces.

The artists who will give concerts during the next two months are John Stein, baritone; Hila Vandon Bosch, pianist of Chicago; and Phil Reep, baritone of New York City. Mr. Reep is an alumnus of Westminster and visited the college earlier in the year.

Exact dates for these concerts have not been set, but Mr. Davis states that they will all be given during the months of January and February. The Roxy Male Quartet will also give a concert some time during the month of March, Mr. Davis announces.

In addition to these four concerts, Mr. Gordon Balch Nevin, Professor of Organ, will continue his series of organ recitals. Mr. Nevin will give at least three more recitals in conjunction with the Artist Course of the college.

There will be no issue of the Westminster Holcad two weeks from today—Jan. 26, due to the fact that the semester examinations begin on Monday, Jan. 25.

Dr. Galbreath Active During Student Days

NEW PRESIDENT TOOK PART IN VARIED ACTIVITIES

Advocates of extra-curricular activities as part of a well-balanced college education might well justify their point by citing the student life, on this campus, of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, '07, newly elected president.

Membership in the Adelphic Literary Society, and in the McAuley Club took the place, for him, of present-day fraternity affiliations, since the latter had not at that time made their appearance. Dr. Galbreath also served his class in the capacity of business manager of the 1907 Argo.

During his third and fourth years he acted as president of the Y. M. C. A., and was also a member of the Lecture Course Committee. His senior year likewise found Dr. Galbreath in the post of class president.

Aside from the benefit of these activities to him as a student, Dr. Galbreath received from them literary, business, executive, and social experience which has, doubtless, been of value to him in attaining the position he holds today.

PROFESSOR McKEE PLANS CATALOGUE FOR DEPARTMENT

Prof. C. W. McKee has announced the completion of a new catalogue by the department of Economics and Business Administration.

This catalogue gives a detailed outline of the necessary collegiate training in economics and business administration leading to a secretarial certificate and a degree in bachelor o fbusiness administration which is offered by Westminster college.

A special feature of the book is the attention given to the teaching staff of the department. Individual write-ups of each professor are listed with reference to present position, economic and business specialties, academic training, formal training in economics and business administration, experience, and certification.

Features of the department, such as, The Harvard Case System, Executive approach, Departmental library, Laboratory method, Supervised study, Coordinated work and study, Teacher prepartion, Two year secretarial course, Trips to business plants and organizations, Class talks by business men, Four year unit course, Personnel study, Extra curricular activities, Comprehensive Examination at the end of four years, Degree in Bachelor of Business Administration, and Graduate placement are emphasized throughout the manual.

Special effort has been exerted by the faculty of the college business department to make this new bulletin a decided improvement over the former edition.

CHOIR. QUARTET TO SING SABBATH IN YOUNGSTOWN

Under the direction of Professor Alan B. Davis the chapel choir and the varsity quartet will sing at the Sabbath service in the Westminster Presbyterian church, Youngstown, O., Jan. 17.

Dr. James A. MacDonald, moderator of the United Presbyterian church, and an alumnus of Westminster will preach.

The varsity quartet includes Homer Dishong, first tenor; Thomas Grenfell, second tenor; William McMunn, baritone; William Frack, bass; and Paul McKnight, accompanist.

Thirty Students in Cast Of "Escape" Thursday Night

THREE-ACT DRAMA TO BE GIVEN IN COMMUNITY HOUSE

Twenty-eight students and two faculty members will take part in the next little Theatre production, "Escape" by John Galsworthy, to be given in the Community Hall on Thursday night, January 14.

The plot of the play centers around Matt Denant, World War veteran and captain in the British army. Through no particular fault of his own, Denant manages to become involved in in a scrape which results in the death of a plain-clothes man. As a result, he is sent to prison for a term of four years. Unable to stand the brutality of the prison environment, he escapes. The scene of his escape, his get-away, his meetings with the old gentleman, the shopkeeper, the parson, and the villiage constable, are the most outstanding incidents in the play.

KILDOO

THOMAS

While not a comedy, the spirit of the thing is very light, and the humor is apparent.

Paul Gamble, as Matt Denant, plays the leading role. Other characters are: The Girl of the Town, Betty Griffith; the Plain Clothes Man, Clem Lansberg; The Policeman, William White; The Fellow Convict, William Neely; The Wardens, Harry Dobkin, Jack Hulme, and A. T. Cordray; The Lady in Pajamas, Gretchen Welch; The Maid, Ruth Hayes; The Old Gentleman, Charles McCormick; The Shopkeeper, Harry Dobkin; His wife, Charlotte Bartlett; His Sister, Pearl McClimans; The Captain, Otto Pearsall; The Man in Plus Fours, Bernard Kaplan; His wife, Helen Thomas; The Village Constable, Wilson Miller; The Laborers, Richard Fuller, Thomas Herriott; The Farmer, David Hunter; The Little Girl, Marian Johnston; The Two Maiden Ladies, Ellen Cottrell and Isabelle Kildoo; The Parson, Howard Bay; The Bellringer, Perry Klumph.

There are 10 scenes in the play, necessitating many intermissions and frequent changes of scenery. All scenery for the production has been designed and made by members of the class in stagecraft. Mr. A. T. Cordray, as director of the performance, will be aided by Thomas Herriot, stage manager; Helen Baerman, property mistress; Dorothy McGeoch, prompter; and Robert Gibson and Oscar Emerich, stage electricians.

Westminster Has Trained Seventeen College Leaders

McGinness Is Again National Pres. of T.U.O.

ALUMNUS RE-ELECTED FOR THREE-YEAR TERM

Attorney Samuel Wilson McGinness, '01, has recently been re-elected national president of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity for a three-year term.

Attorney McGinness has held the highest office in T. U. Q. since 1928, and his re-election is a high honor both for Westminster and for the Lambda Alpha chapter here, of which he is a member.

Attorney McGinness was re-elected at the national convocation of the fraternity, held in Atlantic City, N. J. recently. Representatives of the local chapter at the convocation were Fred Blaha and Raymond Black.

T. U. O. now has 16 active chapters, and two petitioning fraternities.

Library To Be Open Saturday Afternoons

For the convenience of busy students, Miss Mildred Ailman, college librarian, has arranged to have the library reading room open on Saturday afternoons from 2 to 4:30 o'clock, until the end of the semester.

Miss Ailman states, too, that the Pittsburgh library has donated many duplicate copies of books dealing with various phases of education which should be useful to those seniors complying with teaching requirements.

New President Was Wounded In World War

SERVED IN RAINBOW DIVISION IN FRANCE

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, Westminster's new president, served with the Rainbow and Seventy-Seventh N. Y. divisions in France during the World War.

He was gassed in 1918, but returned to the scene of action after a few months at a base hospital.

A leader in college activities while at Westminster, a successful member of the clergy, a World War veteran, a leader in Rotary activities, Dr. Galbreath will bring to Westminster a varied experience of association with people which will fit him admirably for his new office.

Y. P. C. U. IN CHARGE OF PRAYER SERVICE

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, the college Y. P. C. U. will be in charge of the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting, held in the Sabbath school room of the United Presbyterian church. Dorothy Sellar and Wilbur Christy will lead in the discussion of the topic "The Church and the Young People." Virginia Boyd, Jean Miller, Elliott Sellar and Willis McGill will treat the two phases of the question, "What the Church Owes the Young People", and "What the Young People Owe the Church." Special music has been planned.

The Wednesday evening meetings of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will not be held, in order that all may take part in the Y. P. C. U. service.

MANY GRADUATES ENTER THE MINISTRY

Interesting in the connection with the election of an alumnus as president of Westminster College is the fact that Westminster has trained 17 college presidents ince 1852. Dr. Robert Galbreath, newly elected president, then, is one of the many alumni who have been given the leadership of colleges both at home and abroad.

Westminster graduates have been presidents of Monmouth college, Sterling college, Tulsa University, North China Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, Campinas, Brazil, Theological Seminary, Michigan Agricultural college, Gordon college, Ingleside Seminary, Sayre college, and Gujranwala, India, Theological Seminary.

In addition Westminster has sent into the world 515 ministers, 146 attorneys, 122 doctors, 72 college professors, 24 bankers, 16 judges, two of which are U. S. district judges, 15 editors, 6 journalists, 5 senators, and congressmen.

Westminster has welcomed back three graduates as presidents including Dr. Galbreath '07, John Knox McClurkin '73, Robert McWatty Russell '80.

MACHINES ADDED TO COMMERCIAL OFFICE EQUIPMENT

Negotiations have recently been completed for the installation of a Monroe electric autmatic calculating machine, a dictaphone, and a transcribing machine in the commercial rooms of the department of economics and business administration.

Six new typewriters and 10 line-a-times were also added to the office equipment of the commercial department during the holidays.

Together with the equipment listed above, other machines most necessary and adapted to the students' needs are to be added in February. The department has order an electric automatic typewriting machine, an Ediphone, and a Marchant bookkeeping and calculating machine, delivery of which is being held up, pending, production of newly patented devices.

Westminster will soon be able to offer her students the use of one of the most modern and complete sets of office equipment in the State.

PROF. FREEMAN GIVES RECITAL JANUARY 21

Professor Edward H. Freeman, Professor of piano, will present a piano recital on the evening of January 21, Professor Allan B. Davis, director of the Conservatory announces. The recital will probably be held in the Sabbath school room of the United Presbyterian church.

Professor Freeman announces that the program for the recital will be:

Fantasia in A Minor, Mendelssohn; Maestroso, Franch (Transcribed for recital use by Mr. Freeman); Four Nationalistic Dances, a. Veecio Minuetto (Italian) Sgamba, b. Lerne (Brazilian) Milhaud, c. Serandea Spanish) Granados, d. Hofak (Russian) Moussorgsky; Berceuse, Chopin; Polonaise in A Op. 53, Chopin; Gondoliera (From Italian Year of Pilgrimage) Liszt; Hungarian Rhapsody No. 11, Liszt.

SOPHOMORES WILL HOLD CLASS DANCE ON FEBRUARY 13

On Saturday, February 13, the Sophomore class will hold a dance in the college gymnasium. The committee in charge are: Cromwell Ketterer, chairman; Paul McMinn, Charles Deabler, Ruth Hays, Jane Baker and Gretchen Welch. Cornwall Tregessar's orchestra from Pittsburgh will furnish the music. This function will be an all-college dance.

THIS GENERATION

Two statements by university officials last week are interesting in connection with the perennial assertion that the younger generation is bound for perdition.

In each case, the statements made to the newspapers were unsolicited. One, by the president of Harvard, gives the attitude toward young men; and the other, by a dean of women, shows the attitude toward young ladies.

Says President Lowell of Harvard: "Our college students as a whole appear more mature than a generation ago, not only in scholarship, but also in their outside interests and in the sense of proportionate values which is the flower of maturity. And this in spite of—perhaps to some extent because of—the extent that they enter a year younger than they did in the early '90s.

Maturity is by no means wholly a matter of years. It depends much more on environment, and above all on responsibility. A youth who enters college at 19 and is treated like a schoolboy matures less rapidly than one who enters at 17 and is treated like a man. To enter at the appropriate age and be expected to be rather above than below his maturity is the best way to develop manly character.

Although undergraduates have less freedom in the choice of electives and are more rigidly held to higher standard of work, they are induced to feel more responsibility than in the past for their own education and for the well-being of the college to which they have the honor to belong.

Mrs. Geo. S. Goodspeed, white-haired matron of Ida Noyes hall for women at the University of Chicago, is not a product of the "jazz" era but she thinks there is nothing bad about the modern college girl. She says:

"Every year the girls become more charming, more practical, more efficient and more wonderful," she declared.

Mrs. Goodspeed first came to the Midway in 1892 as the wife of a professor in religion and ancient history. Her husband died in 1905. In 1916 she was made matron of the girl's home.

"People who say there is anything bad about the modern girl are just looking for trouble," Mrs. Goodspeed continued. "Here, we've enjoyed letting the girls' feel we can trust them. (In spite of its dignity and adherence to what the girls call 'Gothic manner' we've tried to keep Iva Noyes hall more like home for them.)

"For example, I see no objection to a girl's smoking. If she wants to, she has as much right as a man. About two years ago we discussed the matter and I put it up to the girls.

"We then designated two rooms on the second floor and two on the third in which girls may smoke."

Mrs. Goodspeed likes the present code much better, she said. There was a time when drums were not allowed in a dance orchestra because they were too rough. Card playing was taboo at the university for eight years prior to 1924.

"Why, in the early days," she added, "a girl could not cross the campus with her shirt-waist sleeve rolled up."

FROM POST-GAZETTE

The action of the trustees of Westminster college at New Wilmington in selecting the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church, as the next president of the institution marks the second time within a week that a notable foundation has come to this community for an executive. Rutgers University has just named Robert F. Clothier, Dean of Men at the University of Pittsburgh, as its future head. These selections must be accepted as commendations of the quality of the clerical and educational leaders of this district.

It is not the first time that Westminster has raised a clergyman of metropolitan Pittsburgh to its highest post. The Rev. Dr. W. Charles Wallace, who last February resigned from the office which he held since 1916, went to New Wilmington from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church of Braddock. Dr. Galbreath is a graduate of Westminster and will place that institution among the colleges which are able to claim an alumnus as leader.

AMERICAN LITERATURE

Geography And The Nature Of Native Writing

One of the most important factors which has determined the nature of American Literature is the geography of the country. While European Literature has been greatly influenced by ethnological boundaries, our own literature has, with few exceptions, been molded according to the physical characteristics of the terrain. To point out a definite local-color movement is to localize too much, for the predominating note in all American novels and short-stories, even in the present day, is a local interest and traditions.

In politics, it is true, there have been chronic splurges of nationalistic feeling, but they have been artificially engendered and of short duration. Nationalism, wherever it has arisen, has usually been intimately connected with some warlike or commercial conquest, and the literature produced in such a bellicose mood has rarely transcended the quality of its causes. There is always something oratorical, pompous, and decidedly unreflective about odes and sonnets and novels written to celebrate wholesale slaughter or wholesale selling of goods. Man, except when he undergoes the strange metamorphosis of becoming a politician or an evangelist, is not addicted to hands across the sea or even across the county line.

Even today, in spite of increased communication and travel, large horizons are journalistic, and the average soul expands no further in sympathies and understanding than its own backyard or the adjacent neighborhood. It is not difficult to foresee that when television becomes widely accepted, and after the first hearty greetings have been exchanged, the instruments will be largely used for lodge greetings and for making faces at each other.

Nationalism and internationalism find little expression in good literature. They are logical fictions, useful in college debates and to zealous clergymen, but too all-inclusive, too negligent of environmental and climatic conditions to have any artistic significance.

American literature has always been decidedly sectional. First, there were the Eastern states, bounded on one side by the Appalachain chain (beyond which the plumbing used to be desecrable) and on the other Balkan Mountains (beyond which the nobility rarely combed their hair). Then there were the New England States, completely surrounded by barbarians with no conception of Kultur. There were the Southern States bounded on the North particularly, by William Lloyd Garrison, and by a general absence of good manners. And finally, there was the Great West, until recently an almost unrecognizable symphony, through which have run the polyphonic themes of Baptist revivals, train robberies, camp meetings, grange meetings, Rotary meetings, and the wails of perpetually indebted farmers.

This was the section of the Great Plains—the National Dairy—perpetually developed and milked since the time of Hall and Harriman—the National magic grab-bag, from which we have taken enormous food supplies, and in which we have deposited neat stacks of beautifully engraved bonds.

It is no wonder that in this welter of enterprise and political chicanery, represented by the farming states, there is a wealth of literary subject matter. Of course, in the best novels and stories concerning the rural sections of the West, it is not possible to find the ringing notes of national feeling or the pride of commercial progress which politians and enthusiastic historians have found. These elements are derivative and non-literary. Rather the most accurate and most interesting depictions of the early pioneers and of the generations which has succeeded them present the old themes of human desire, noble and ignoble passions, and conflicting ideals against the background of "the struggle with the soil."

This "struggle with the soil", which has been variously treated by writers like Willa Cather, Bess Streeter Aldrich, and Glenway Wescott is certainly not a new literary subject, but its nature, in America, has been unique, and it is in a description of its particular characteristics that we will find substantiation of an earlier statement that there is a literature, conditioned by prenatal influences and later environment, which is truly "American".

There are two main differences between rural life in America and in Europe, insofar as it has inspired creative writing. The first is purely academic, and the second, dependent upon historical development, is social.

CHIMES HELP

The main difference between the Campanile tower and the "Old Main Memorial" tower is that the Campanile tower boasts of a fine set of chimes. These chimes peal forth their music over the campus of Stetson University. Westminster needs chimes.

Grove City Ekes Out Thrilling 23-22 Victory

Inability To Register Fouls Causes Titan Downfall

KOCHERAN, SILJANDER AND RICE LEAD LOCALS

Westminster took their first defeat in eight games from Grove City, Friday evening, by the heart-breaking score of 23-22, on the Crimson floor. The defeat handed the local aggregation was the first suffered at the hands of the Thorne outfit since 1928.

To suffer defeat at the Wolf Creek floor Friday, however, was no disgrace. The Crimson was a raging, fighting band of clever players that absolutely would not be beaten. And they weren't!

Poor Foul Shooting

Inability to register from the free throw line led to the Titan downfall. Making a scant fifty per cent of the fouls called showed the Titans their Waterloo. Grove City, on the other hand, registered a perfect mark by tossing in seven out of seven from the foul marker.

First Half

Rice was fouled shortly after the opening whistle but missed. Siljander blew two free tosses and Brownlee failed on his charity heave after being fouled by Stavnisky. Rice called time out and the officials changed into blue shirts. Stavnisky dropped in the first tally of the fracas from the side. Laycock fouled Siljander who registered. Stavnisky dribbled in to score his second marker. Hamilton was fouled by Siljander and he swelled the score to 5-1. Hamas held Laycock and he marked up a free toss. Kocheran blew his foul after being roughed by Stavnisky. Brownlee tossed in a pretty overhead shot and Stavnisky counted from the long range mark, making the score 8-3, Grove City. Westminster called time out.

Kocheran registered on the prettiest play of the evening on a pass from Brownlee. Rice dropped in a free throw after being fouled by Fegley. Hamas scored on a sleeper to tie the ball game up at 8-8. Grove City called time. Kocheran took a pass from Rice to put the Titans ahead for the first time in the game. Fegley ruffled the nets from the side of the floor to deadlock the score at 10-10 as the half ended.

Second Half

Rice was fouled by Stavnisky as the whistle blew and he counted. Laycock dropped one in from the center of the floor. Deems marked from the foul line after Hamas fouled him. Kocheran fouled Laycock and he registered. Laycock scored under the basket totaling the score to 16-11, Grove City. Deems fouled Rice, but he blew. Kocheran counted again fro munder the basket. Laycock tossed in a free throw, Rice chalked up a gratis heave. Score: 17-14, Grove City. Siljander tossed in a one handed shot from the side. Grove City called time out. Score: 17-16, Grove City. Fegley marked from under the basket and Stavnisky dribbled in to score. Hamilton counted from the free throw line and the score stood 22-16, Grove City, Laycock fouled Kocheran who counted. Laycock ended Grove City's scoring by a free throw. Score: 23-17. Newton and Blaner were injected into the Titan lineup for Kocheran and Hamas. Stavnisky was removed from the fray on personals after he fouled Newton. Koma entered the game for the Crimson. Newton counted from the charity mark. Brownlee registered from the free throw line. Kocheran re-entered the fray. Rice went to center, Newton to guard and Brownlee left the fracas. Fegley held. Blaner who counted. Siljander made a two-pointer from the side to bring the score to 23-22, Grove City. In the last minute of play, Kocheran was fouled in the act of shooting by Koma. He missed both heaves. Blaner took a long shot which hit the rafters shortly before the final whistle.

Titans Have Fine Record

FIVE TITLES GARNERED IN LAST FIVE YEARS

Westminster with its band of "Towering Titans" has piled up a most enviable record in the Tri-State Conference by winning a total of 91 games and dropping but 13 in the last five years.

During the five year period, the Titans have amassed 2,433 points to their opponents 1,478. The largest score tallied was the 62-18 verdict gained over Thiel last year.

Westminster's record for the last five years reads:

1927—Won 15; lost 5. Second place in Tri-State Conference.

1928—Won 19; lost 3. Tri-State and Western Penn champs.

1929—Won 21; lost 2. Western Penn Champs. Runners up in Tri-State.

1930—Won 21; lost 2. Tri-State champs.

1931—Won 15; lost 1. Tri-State champs.

WITH BROWN

"Tuss" McLaughry, former Westminster athlete, will remain at Brown University as head coach. It was rumored that he would succeed Al Wittmer at Princeton, but announcements from the East state that he has signed a five year contract at the Providence school.

All games are between 4 and 6 in the afternoon. Volley ball season ends January 21, and girls' basketball begins the first of the new semester.

Reserves Trip St. Mary's 21-19

BLANER, YOUNG, AND WILHELM LOOK BEST

The St. Mary's varsity floor team of New Castle was nosed out 21 to 19 in a game at St. Mary's floor last Monday night by the Westminster Reserve quintet. The game was close and hard fought in every period with the collegians, led by Blaner and Wilhelm, taking the lead in the final minute of play.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 9 to 5 in favor of the Westminster team. The Saints failed to get their scoring caps on in the second period and failed to tally a point, the first half ending 11 to 5.

It was in the final half of the game that the scoring started. The collegians stuck to their lead by a point or two, and then Blaner and Wilhelm made it sure with long shots as the time grew slimmer.

Coach Lawther wanted a test for the Reserves to see how they would act under fire a whole game and it was a good game. The Saints gave the Titan reserves plenty in the way of competition. For the Reserves the work of Blaner, Young and Wilhelm featured.

Hugh Gamble Holds Position As Director Of Sharon's Buhl Club

Hugh Gamble, former Westminster basketball man, has been recently named director of the F. H. Buhl Club, a young men's recreational center, of Sharon.

Gamble, while at the local institution, captained the Titan basketball team, holding down the center berth.

In his new position, it's Gamble's task to operate the organization profitably and to arrange schedules of activities such as bowling matches, basketball games, pool tournaments, for the club members.

While at Westminster, Mr. Gamble was a member of Kappa Phi Lambda social fraternity and he graduated with high honors.

TITANS ALL

Westminster cagers average 6 feet 2 inches in height. "Bill" Williams, Sharon, is the tallest man, reaching 6 feet 6 inches, while Jinx Hamas, Wallingford, N. J., plays the midget role, being only 5 feet, 6½ inches.

The second extra contest will be played February 4 at Youngstown when the Big Y team is met in a return contest.

Titans Have Two Home Games on Card This Week

ST. FRANCIS TO BE MET TONIGHT; Y ON FRIDAY

Westminster will make an attempt to start off on the right foot this evening when the St. Francis team will be met on the local court.

The Saints are on an invasion of district college strongholds and are fortified with the determination to keep the Titans from starting a win streak at their expense.

Coach John Lawther will probably use the same lineup that started the Crimson fracas last Friday.

This fracas is the first game between the two schools since 1928 when the Titans took two games from the Loretta outfit.

The Youngstown BIG Y team, composed of former college stars, will furnish the home opposition on Friday night.

This team, cmposed of the McDonald brothers, Meinkardt, Welch, Sebastian, and Johnson, will give the Titans plenty of opposition.

A return game with the Big Y team will be played at Youngstown, February 4.

3-Sport Man

MAUNO SILJANDER

"Whitey" Siljander, former Schenley High, Pittsburgh, star, is one of the most versatile athletes in the history of the school. Besides participating in football, basketball, and track, "Whitey" holds down a life guard job during the summer months.

EDEBURN-BENSON BETROTHAL MADE KNOWN

Announcement was made last Thursday evening of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Edeburn, daughter of Elmer E. Edeburn, Sharon, to Charles Oren Benson of Greenville, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Benson, Dayton, O.

The engagement was announced when Miss Edeburn entertained a group of friends in her home at bridge.

Following the card games, refreshments were served at the small tables prettily appointed in pink and white color tones. Pink rosebuds were arranged at the place of each guest as a favor. Bouquets of roses were used attractively in decorating the home.

Miss Edeburn, a popular and charming young woman, is well-known in social circles in Sharon. She is a graduate of Sharon high school and Westminster, Class of '29, and a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. For the past year she has been a member of the faculty at the Junior high school.

Mr. Benson, a graduate and former athlete of Dayton Stivers high school and the University of Illinois, is head coach of athletics at Thiel college, Greenville, Pa.

Miss Edeburn was a member of Psi Nu, the honorary journalistic sorority. During her sophomore and junior years she was a reporter n the Holcad staff. She was, also, one the Argo editors and on the Westminstrel board.

MRS. JOHN FAHNLINE ON FOUR MONTH TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. John Fahnline (Helene Stewart '27), and daughter Nancy, of Sharon, left January 7, from New York on the Hamburg-American liner Resolute on a cruise around the world. The trip will continue over a period of about four months. They plan to visit 30 countries. Mrs. John Fahnline is a member of the Chi Omega sorority.

F. P. GRAHAM IS MERCER COUNTY ENGINEER

On the list of official appointments made by the new board of county commissioners of Mercer county is the name of F. P. Graham, of Grove City, who has again been appointed as Mercer county engineer.

Mr. Graham at one time lived in New Wilmington, and he is a former student of Westminster college.

DR. RALPH M. CHRISTIE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Dr. Ralph McDonald Christie, Connoquenessing, Class of '14 was forced off the highway on January 10 while driving his automobile. The car struck a telephone pole and Dr. Christie suffered a fracture of two ribs and severe head injuries when he was thrown against the side of the car and rendered unconscious. He is being treated in the Mercy Hospital.

EPSILON THETA PI HOLDS HOUSE PARTY

Member of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity entertained pledges and guests at their first house party of the season, given on Saturday night, January 9. Dancing and cards were the features of the evening.

VOL. 49 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, JAN. 19, 1932. — No. 15

Economics Dept. Certificated by State of Penna.

HONOR PLACES COLLEGE IN SELECT GROUP

On the condition that a supervisor of teacher training is provided, the State Council of Education has placed Westminster on the approved list for certification of commercial teachers in Pennsylvania. Westminster is the twenty-fifth institution to reiceive such recognition. The list includes 15 colleges and universities in Pennsylvania and 10 outside the State.

Dr. Charles Freeman and Professor C. W. McKee appeared before the State Council of Education at Harrisburg, some weeks ago, and requested certification by the State department. On January 6, an inspection of Westminster's commercial department was made by the following three members of the State Council of Education: Dr. Charles E. Dickey, County Superintendent of Allegheny County; Dr. Miller, Head of Commercial Education in Pittsburgh; and Dr. H. Klonower of the Teachers Bureau.

Certification was granted on the grounds of faculty personnel, equipment, curriculum, and demand for teachers in the commercial field.

The approval places Westminster on a par with such schools as Harvard University, Columbia University, Carnegie Institute of Technology, New York University, and the University of Pennsylvania.

With the liberal arts subjects certificated by the State for a number of years, and with the College of Music also on the approved list of the State, this latest honor places Westminster among the leaders in teacher training.

TWO-SEMESTER COURSE OPEN TO NEW STUDENTS

Under a new system of courses to be offered at Westminster next Semester, incoming Freshmen may complete a full year's work in any of the following subjects in one semester: namely, chemistry, 8 hrs.; English, 6 hrs.; mathematics, 6 hrs.; history, 6 hrs.; advertising, 4 hrs.; Bible, 2 hrs.; and atsronomy, 2 hrs.

Students entering school under the new system are not going to be permitted to carry more than 16 hours. This necessitates that if a student carries an eight or six hour course, he must meet that class every day in the week.

LANGUAGE CLASS HAS EXHIBIT THURS.

Posters, charts, maps and other types of realia will feature the exhibit to be given by the Modern Language department in the offices of Miss Elizabeth Stewart, head of the department this week.

This presentation will be thrown open for inspection by all students and faculty members from Thursday, Jan. 21, after chapel, until Friday evening, and is being sponsored by the French 13 group, a class in method of teaching the language.

The exhibition is being given for the purpose of showing a phase of the work of this department, as well as to give to anyone who visits it interesting and unusual facts about the countries whose languages are studied. Contributions are being made by French, German, and Spanish classes.

PIANO INSTRUCTOR IN RECITAL THURS.

Mr. Edward H. Freeman, professor of piano in the College of Music, is presenting a program on Thursday evening at 8:15 in the Sabbath school room of the United Presbyterian church. There will be no charge. Students and faculty members are invited.

LOST

PROM AND PLAY VOTED UPON AT JUNIOR MEETING

Class Dance To Be Held Early In Spring

At a meeting of the Junior class held in the chapel at 11:15 last Wednesday morning, it was voted that the class would present a play sometime during the next semester.

The Junior class plans to cooperate fully with Prof. A. T. Cordray, who will direct the production.

Gerald Newton, class president, also appointed a committee to complete plans for a Junior prom. The date will be set for sometime in early spring.

Virginia Kerins was appointed chairman of the prom, with Elizabeth Schofield, Gordon Nevin, and Herbert Smith on the general committee.

Fear is Nightmare To Buying Public Speaker Declares

BETTER SELLING AND MERCHANDISING DISCUSSED

"Fear is a night-mare the buying public has today", declared Louis H. Buisch, representing the Merchants Service Bureau division of National Cash Register Company in an address before the students of the department of business administration on Thursday morning. "Better Methods of Selling and Merchandising" was discussed at length by Mr. Buisch.

In a speech full of enthusiasm about the future, Mr. Buisch with the aid of charts, pointed out to the listeners the common errors of our present-day merchants and their retailing methods. The speaker contended that three-fourths of the mistakes man makes are made because he does not really know the things he thinks he knows. The difference between success and failure are knowing and guessing. He then asked that everybody present imagine themselves to be store owners and that he would list some of the most common errors and faults of the present day business.

Remembering that our problems are inside our own stores and not in our neighbor's, he presented four of the most important effects on profit, which is the thing sought by anyone in business: margin, sales, expenses, and personnel. These affect the profit of the business most. By comparison charts, he showed the effect on margin by declining prices. This fact alone has put more business to the wall in the past year than any other one factor, Likewise, he treated the other less important effects by actual examples.

With the words of profit or loss on the lips of all men of the street

HOLCAD ENTERED IN '32 NATIONAL N. S. P. A. CONTEST

Weekly To Be Judged By Minnesota Staff

Copies of the Holcad and a renewal membership in the National Scholastic Press Association have been sent to the national office of the organization at the University of Minnesota. The Holcad is entered in the 1932 contest, and will be judged by the staff at Minnesota augmented by two newspaper editors and two University of Wisconsin graduates.

Early in March, a score book will be sent, showing how the Holcad rates in makeup, and content with other college newspapers in institutions of less than 900 enrollment.

Last year the Holcad was given second class rating. The fact that the Argo, junior class annual, has won first prize for four years in succession in this same contest has made Holcad staff workers eager to produce a better paper so that it will get a higher rating this year.

Argo Editors Follow Varied Professions After Graduation

YEARBOOK HAS BEEN PUBLISHED 28 YEARS

Starting, in a very humble way, in 1904, the Argo, Westminster yearbook, has steadily improved through its 28 years of history. Then, as now, its aim was to present a true picture of student life, and student achievements in scholarship, art, literature, and athletics have always been featured on its pages.

The first publication was in the hands of the senior class, but the next year, the task of editing the year book was delegated to the Juniors, a tradition which has been followed since that time.

To Leigh Alexander, of the class of 1904, fell the task of editing the first Argo. Besides ranking high in his class, Mr. Alexander was prominent in student activities, such as the Adelphic literary society, the Tennis association, Glee Club, Quartette, and baseball. Mr. Alexander taught for some years in Assuit, Egypt, and is now professor in Oberlin college.

Ross S. McCown was editor of the next Argo, edited by the class of 1906. Mr. McCown is now a minister, at Beatrice, Nebraska. James Frank Shrader directed the publication of the 1907 Argo. He is now an attorney-at-law. Practicing in Law was also the profession chosen by James Bell, editor of the 1908 Argo, who is now an attorney at Greensburg.

Peculiar difficulties were faced by John C. Heinrich, Argo editor in 1909. Despite the financial panic, and a change of staff at a late date, Mr. Heinrich and his assistants put out a very attractive yearbook. Mr. Heinrich is a missionary in the Punjab, India, and is now on furlough in this country.

Architecture was the career chosen by Frankin Sturgeon, of the 1910 Argo, who is now a builder, in Aspinwall, Pa. The profession of medicine seemed more attractive to Adam C. Williamson, editor of the year 1911. Dr. Williamson is now a prominent Pittsburgh physician.

Lester H. Conway, of the class of 1912, chose the teaching profession, and is now superintendent of schools in Sewickley. J. R. Turnbull, editor of the 1913 yearbook, is president of the Turnbull-Russell Co., located in Oklahoma City. As editor of the 1924 Argo, William C. Moore became interested in journalism, and is now a journalist at Hickory, Pa.

Daniel McQuiston, editor in the year 1915, has had a varied career. A major in the army, he has served as instructor in military camps, has been director of athletics at Westminster, and has been in the manufacturing business. Mr. McQuiston is now employed as Lawrence county auditor.

Satiric Book Published in 1867 is Found

PARODY CATALOG HAS MODERN TONE

"Ballyhoo", the most talked about magazine of the year, doesn't have a thing on a "Parody Catalogue of the Officers and Students of Westminster College", which was published by the Westminster "Divines" in 1867 and 1868. A copy of the old satire was unearthed here recently. The Catalogue was probably one of the first periodicals to lampoon advertisements, shooting barbs at the school, students, and officers.

If you think that "Ballyhoo" and "Hooey" should be hidden beneath the cushions of the davenport from the peering eyes of youngsters, take a peep at some of the following extracts from the old Catalogue:

"The village of New Wilmington is situated about nine miles North and about the same distance South. Access is free and easy. The location is remarkably healthy. The tannery, numerous pig pens, et cetera, impregnate the air with a delightful perfume which is not only pleasant but also conducive to health."

"Good board at the college can be obtained at from $3 to $6, according to the quality. The fare

Hugh Lambie, 06' Is Featured in Press Cartoonist Story

An interesting cartoon in a recent edition of the Pittsburgh Press carried a picture of Hugh Lambie, a graduate of Westminster in '06. Lambie is now coach of basketball and track at Peabody High of Pittsburgh, rounding out his seventh year at that institution. Previous to taking the coaching reigns at Peabody, Lambie served for five years at South Hills in the same capacity.

He started his athletic career in 1896, representing the Sharpsburg and Etna Y. M. C. A. in track. At one meet he walked off with thirteen prizes, including five diamond studs.

Entering Westminster in '02, Lambie starred in football, basketball and track. While at the local school, he took part in the Pan-American Exposition, representing the Pennsylvania Athletic Association in 1904 ran the sprints in the Olympic games held in St. Louis.

Lambie graduated from Westminster, but continued his work at the University of Pittsburgh. Feeling the spirit of righteousness, he then studied for the ministry at the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. After five years as pastor of a little church in Gladden, Pa., Lambie could no longer resist the urge of the cinder track. Leaving the pulpit, he signed up at South Hills, where he met with much success and later took on his present job at Peabody.

Critic Declares "Escape" Best Production of Year

LIGHTING EFFECTS AND SCENES AID

"Escape" by John Galsworthy, as presented at the Community hall, last Thursday evening under the direction of Professor A. T. Cordray, was one of the outstanding numbers of the play course.

The story concerns Captain Denant, a well-educated Englishman of the world. He kills a plain clothes man who is attempting to arrest a girl in the park for accosting Matt. Denant is sent to Dartmoor with a five-year sentence, but escapes after two years. After some amazing encounters and close calls, he gives himself up in the home of a parish priest.

The play is given in episodes. Each episode tells of one of his efforts to evade capture.

Paul Gamble, who took the part of Matt Denant, played it with a fineness seldom found outside professional ranks.

Other outstanding players were: Betty Griffith, as the girl in the park; William Neely, a fellow convict, whose Cockney was a treat; Charles McCormick, a refreshing old gentleman who cleverly detects Matt's identity; Harry Dobkin, Charlotte Barlett, Bernard Kaplan, David Hunter, Ellen Cottrell, Isabelle Kildoo, Howard Bay, and Jack Hulme.

The many episodes necesitated quick changes in scenery. This was done effectively and without the least confusion. The lighting effects, too, were exceptionally good and helped greatly in producing the desired effect.

A large number of people saw the play, and, to judge by the comments, enjoyed it greatly.

STUDENT CANVASS AUGMENTED BY NEW PAMPHLET

With a few minor changes, a small advertising booklet similar to the one compiled last year, is being mailed to prospective Westminster students by Wm. A. Johns, personnel director.

This pamphlet designates the many more specialized programs of study offered by Westminster than are found in the average liberal arts college. Brief discussions on entrance requirements, student aid, college expenses, required chapel, and entertainment are included in the booklet.

Added features are the college calendar, and basketball and football schedules for the present school year.

After receipt of one of these pamphlets, any interested high school student desiring further information may receive upon request the additional printed publications: General Catalog covering all departments, View-book—"Westminster Pictured Through the Year", Department of Economics and Business Administration Catalog, and Robert Audley Browne Men's Dormitory Booklet.

Four Concerts, Three Recitals Are Scheduled

NEXT COURSE NUMBER WILL BE ON FEB. 15

Four concerts and three organ recitals are yet to be presented on the Westminster Artist Course, between February and March. Mr. Alan B. Davis, head of the college of Music, is expecting to present Hila Vanden Bosch, pianist of Chicago on Monday, February 15 at the Community House.

No definite date has been set for the John Stein or Phil Reep, baritone recitals. Mr. Davis made the comment that he had heard Mr. Stein sing at Akron, O., and that he believed he had a very artistic voice. Mr. Reep has visited the campus once this past fall. He is an alumnus of Westminster.

The presentation of Roxy's Male Quartet some night during the week of March 14, will close the Artist's course.

Mr. Gordon Balch Nevin will give three more recitals. The next one will be on a Thursday evening in February in the college chapel. The exact date is not yet set.

Due to conflicts and the fact that most of the artists lined up are on tours caused the delay in setting difinite dates for the program.

FUNERAL HELD FOR REV. LEWIS, '79, IN CLAIRTON

Funeral services for Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Lewis, 75, who died last week in the home of his daughter, Mrs. O. H. Neilson, 430 Carnegie avenue, Clairton, were held in the Wilson Presbyterian Church, Clairton. Rev. Dr. John M. Gaston of Pittsburgh conducted the services. Burial was made in Evans City.

Born September 19, 1856, in West Middlesex, Dr. Lewis was graduated from Westminster college, in 1879. Three years later he graduated from the Western Theological Seminary and entered the home mission field of the Presbyterian Church at Shelby, Ia. Pastorates followed at Beloit, Kan., Evans City, Etna Second Pine Church and Dravosburg.

From 1922 to 1929 he was president of Scotia Women's College, Concord, N. C. For the past two years he has been pastor of the Greenville Avenue Presbyterian Church. In 1885 he was married to Eleanor Reed of New Wilmington, who died three years ago.

Dr. Lewis leaves besides his daughter, Mrs. Neilson, two sons, Reed M. Lewis of East Chicago, Ind., and Paul R. Lewis of Philadelphia; two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Duff of Aspinwall and Miss Minnie Lewis of Glenshaw.

Rupert Howard To Give Magic Talk Tomorrow

WILL DEMONSTRATE TRICKS OF ALL AGES

Rupert Howard, British magician and lecturer, will present "Magic Through the Ages" at the New Wilmington community hall tomorrow night at 8:15. This function is a number of the college lecture course.

Mr. Howard's lecture here will be illustrated with some of the most amazing demonstartions of historical feats of magic from many countries of the world. Beginning with the magic of Egypt he will continue with the magic of Greece and of Rome.

His very interesting program will consist of: Magic and Superstition; Magic in Greece and Rome; Magic in the Middle Ages; Early English magic; Continental conjurers of the 18th Century; and Modern Magic.

Mr. Howard's demonstrations will include: The Ethereal Wand, an Early Card Feat, Cagliostro's prestidigitation Fast and Loose, Houdini's Flying Cards, the Phoenix, and The Divining Daggers.

KETTERER ENGAGES TRAGESSER'S BAND FOR SOPHOMORE HOP

Cornwell Tragesser's orchestra of Pittsburgh will furnish music for the sophomore dance to be held in the college gymnasium on Saturday, February 13.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell and Prof. and Mrs. R. X. Graham will chaperon the dance.

Cromwell Ketterer is chairman of the general committee. Other members are Paul McMinn, Charles Deabler, Ruth Hayes, Jane Baker, and Gretchen Welch.

The dance will be informal at the special admission price of $1 per couple. The entire school is invited to attend.

Titans Meet Geneva Tonight On Home Floor

GENEVA GUARDS LEAD IN SCORING TO DATE

Geneva, the outfit which spoiled Westminster's perfect record last year, will appear on the local court this evening. Knowing that by comparative scoring against the Goodyear quintet of Akron that the Titans appear to be much better, the Covenanters are fired with the determination to set back the locals and to show that doping scores is "the bunk" after all.

Doping scores on the other hand shows that the Geneva outfit cannot be taken too lightly. Westminster was nosed out by a one-point margin at Grove City. Allegheny gave the Crimson a setback by handing them a 32-23 defeat. Allegheny continued its destructive work by handing the Beaver Falls lads a 27-21 licking. By logarithms, it is found that the Geneva team is about three points better than the Titans. But that is more dope. The question will be settled tonight.

Geneva started out in Tri-State circles correctly by defeating Waynesburg in a very handsome manner, 41-25. The strongest men offensively on the Covenanter aggregation are Montgomery and Aultman who have amassed 114 and 102 points respectively. Both men hold down the guard positions and will give the Titans a lot to worry about. Manning, a forward, is close on the heels of the two leaders with a total of 87 to his credit.

Lawther will undoubtedly use Kocheran and Hamas at the forwards, Brownlee at the center, Rice and Siljander on the guards. Blaney, Newton, Leyshock, Young and Southard will be on hand, waiting for the call to action.

BUT A FOOLISH GENERATION

Last week's issue of the Holcad carried an editorial entitled "This Generation.' It was refreshing to find two university officials with perspective enough to see through modern youth and to find the essence, at least, of promise for the future.

Whatever the outward appearance, and whatever impression is given, young people today are as good at heart as young people have been in any age.

True, many succumb to rather than overcome the environment of leisure, fun and frolic. It is true also that others sit in the scorner's seat and are thought "queer" by their fellows.

There are two ways in which to react to college environment which is steeper with slogans, movie stars, slang of the day, front-page people, and "smart living."

One way is to yield to the pressure of the age. Accepting its inconsistency with the Christian life, one may adapt himself to standards of which his conscience never can approve. That is the common worldliness of the present age, surrendering character to social pressure. It is moral cowardice and religious treason.

The other thing to do is to run away from the age. That is what thousands of the choicest souls have done throughout history. They have thought it impossible to live a sober, righteous, and godly life under the prevailing conditons of their own time; and so they have fled from its influence, hiding themselves in monasteries and peopling the desert with caves.

If, then, the sober, righteous and godly student is not to yield himself to the present age, and is not to flee from it, what is he to do? Why, he is to use it,—to take it just as it is, as the material out of which the Christian character fit for the present time is to be wrought.

It is true that many young people, finding the two usual alternatives bad, have chosen to take and use life and still be true to their better selves. Girls have found self-respect regained better than an hour's loafing and the cheapening influence of a cigarette.

Here on the Westminster campus as elsewhere, co-eds have lately found that popularity does not thrive in the haze of smoke and small talk. They have been foolish, but have become wise. This generation is as good as any. It is sometimes very foolish. But it learns, in time.

FULLY CERTIFIED

The announcement that the State Department of Public Instruction has added the Westminster department of economics and business administration to its approved list gives Westminster a complete certification for its graduates.

Founded as a liberal arts college, Westminster must keep uppermost in its mind the arts and the sciences. But to have liberal arts, music, and business all certificated is certainly an accomplishment which again proves our slogan true: "A Modern Liberal Arts College."

But the mere fact that Westminster graduates may be certificated for teaching in every field is no reason for every senior to look forward to a career in a field already crowded. There is still plenty of room at the top in the professions and in business. Teaching should not be used merely as a "stepping stone" not as a "time filler" before a career or marriage.

CHEER LEADERS NEEDED

For a real leader who is willing to work for the sake of helping, a job awaits the right man at Westminster. This job, varsity cheer leading, is open only to someone who has the mind to be of service.

There will be no crowd clamoring for the job, because it is not a political pork barrell and gold medals will not be awarded nor lollypops at the end of the year.

But it is an important job—more important than personal ambitions and pet peeves. It is a real job for a real man. A varsity cheer leader!

"THE STORY OF THE AMERICAN FARM"

A high type of civilization is usually characterized by the state of consciousness of the average individual who lives in it. One often hears that a cultured person does certain things "unconsciously." The meaning of this phrase is clear and beyond criticism, but the adverb is misleading for the bane and at the same time the value of intelligence and understanding is that it makes one completely conscious, or better, unconsciously aware of the more than proximate ends of existence.

The apparently uncontrollable variety of types of the genus homo and its consequential class struggle are not modern phenomena. By observing differences we do not breed them, any more than they would cease to exist, if we ignored them. It is only the shock of understanding which disconcerts us.

The constitution which first tied together the original thirteen states was idealistic, as all historic documents written on parchment should be, for the niggardly appears unsuitable to a frame. The signators, all potential Torfes, undoubtedly bore this in mind, but the efflorescent oratory which has claimed a doubtful relation to the original, has obscured the worldliness beneath the scroll.

When our country was in the early stages of expansion, Political and Spiritual liberty seemed attainable, because the hampered soul could always find, toward the West, an uninhabitated hill top, from which to shout its defiance, or an open plain, where independence was at the same time necessary and possible. The Zeitgeist of the pioneer days was escape from rather than conflict with environmental factors. Thus democracy survived as an ideal because it was ignored. Here again the importance of geography is evident, for the size of the country prevented those living west the Alleghenies from becoming conscious of class problems. Of course, the Pacific Coast had a little civilization of its own, but the great farming states, with which we are here concerned, remained for many years immune to urbanity. Only in recent years have those living in the rural districts become conscious of the forces on their periphery—forces which have been active in Europe since the fifteenth century

In the minds of the more articulate inhabitants of the Mid-West this consciousness of external complexity has induced a local self-consciousness. Of only secondary importance is the attitude of these rustic literati toward the great world: Mark Twain's burlesques of the Continent are amusing, but there is more literary value in "Life on The Mississippi." The adoration of the bathtub combined with the epitomizing of a life close to nature are traditional attitudes which may be recognized and passed over in favor of more positive and significant expressions.

Rural life in America is too closely intertwined with recent historical and material development to have as yet attained a separate literary state of being. It is a panorama in which all the color shading and light effects are not yet clearly seen. To thousands of people living today, the farm in Wisconsin or Iowa or Missouri is still a biographical fact. It is a subject for retrospect rather than for reflection. Its dramatic possibilities are sublimated because it is commonplace and sentimental.

The sincere artist is not interested in the effect which an environment may have upon the writers of text books, or upon the fortunes of individual opportunists. He is more cncerned with what ever influence certain conditions of life have in the molding of character and temperament. He seeks, by an evaluation and dramatization of the particular, to approach the universal. Obviously, if a writer is to do this, he must not be too close to his object in time nor too distant in sympathy and understanding.

The European writer who is interested in depicting farm life and the "struggle with the soil" is bound by the requirements already mentioned, but his problems are less difficult. The "farm" in Europe is an old literary tradition. There, town and country have long existed side by side. On the farm lived the peasant and in the town lived the merchant or artisan. For hundreds of years the peasant did not work for himself but some noble. His vistas were limited and the most he could hope to do was eke out a miserable existence, receive Supreme Unction, if any, at old age, and return to the soil, with which, he can hardly be said to have struggled. It was a losing battle in which only the nobles and the Church treasury won. Since the peasant up until the present day received little education he rarely interpreted the nature of his earthly life. The Church kept him ignorant and interested only in another sort of life after he died. Thus it remained for those who lived in the towns and the great cultural centers to portray the attitude and emotional life of the peasant. He became therefore a literary figure, a symbol to which could be applied human values for artistic purposes. He did not pioneer because pioneering was done in castles and palaces. The importance of the farm in European history is largely economical; in America the farm has been an economical and social factor.

European novelists have the advantage of belonging to a civilization which has been conscious of itself for centuries, but when they speak of the soil and of the farmer, they have only wooden figures to manipulate against the background of a painted set.

GROVE CITY SCRIBE PRAISES LAWTHER

Buck Fever, Grove City, in a story of the Titan-Crimson fracas at Grove City, says "Coach Lawther dons his poker face when his Titans take the floor, and appears to be unshaken by developments, no matter what. However, he doesn't miss a trick, and when George Stavnitsky was banished on the personal foul route, he was the first on the floor to meet and congratulate the retiring Grover. It was a fine bit of sportsmanship, and George deserved the tribute in view of his excellent game."

"Bob" Jones, sophomore, has charge of the locker rooms of the Buhl Club of Sharon. Bob looks after the towels and lockers every evening after he finishes his studies at Westminster.

Harris Rogner, freshmen, was rated as one of the best players to graduate from Brookfield High. Rogner will probably enter West Point at the beginning of the next school year.

Titans Wallop St. Francis and Youngstown

Locals Hit Stride In 56-12 Win Over Y Outfit

BY "CHUCK" TREVASKIS

Returning to their old form, the Westminster cage team defeated the Youngstown Big Y team, Friday night, on the Titan's own floor, by the overwhelming score of 56-12. "Bud"Brownlee was leading scorer for the home team with a total of 30 points, while Minehart was high point man of the Youngstown team with 5 points.

Coach Lawther took advantage of the score piled up by the regulars to give his reserves some experience. All twelve members of the varsity squad saw action in Friday's contest.

First Half

"Bud" Brownlee started the scoring by sinking a basket during the first minute of play. Minehart of Youngstown quickly tied the score. Brownlee then made two successive baskets and Boye counted for one. MacDonald fouled Siljander who made his free throw count. Brownlee made one of two charity throws good after being fouled by Minehart. Johnston tossed in a pretty overhand shot to make the score 8-6 in favor of the home team. Two more buckets were registered by Brownlee. Griffin replaced MacDonald in the Youngstown lineup. Brownlee scored on a fast play, and Sebastian fouled Kocheran, who made good. Youngstown called time out. Score: 15-6, Westminster. Soon after play was resumed, Brownlee scored his seventh basket. Sweeney went in for Siljander and soon scored. Newton took Kocheran's place at forward. Brownlee made two baskets and was then fouled by Minehart, but made only one of his two free throws count. Wilhelm went in for Rice at guard, and Healy took Blaner's place at the other guard post. Sweeney sank two more baskets and Youngstown called time out. Score. 28-6. Southard was injected into the Westminster lineup for Brownlee and soon registered. Newton scored, and Southard fouled Griffin, who blew his free toss. Minehart counted from the foul line after being roughed by Wilhelm. Young replaced Newton at forward. Minehart fouled Healy, but only one of the two free throws was good, bringing the score to 33-7 as the half ended.

Second Half

The original lineup started the second half for Westminster. Griffin tossed one in from the foul line after being fouled by Brownlee. Capt. Rice scored for his first time during the game and Brownlee quickly equaled it. Johnston fouled Rice and the try was good. Kocheran registered on a difficult shot, and Sweeney replaced Siljander at forward. Brownlee sank his eleventh shot, making the score 42-8. Newton went into the game for Kocheran. Rice was fouled by Johnston and missed, but Brownlee pushed it in. Rice made two points from the foul line after being fouled by Griffin. Wilhelm replaced Blaner and was soon fouled by Boye; the shot counted. Brownlee was good for two more baskets before being replaced by Southard. Capt. Rice made good after being fouled by Johnston. Fitzgerald took Griffin's place at guard for the "Y" team. Healy replaced Capt. Rice. Boye counted for Youngstown, bringing the score up to 52-10. Sweeney made good after being fouled by Johnston. Johnson was out on fouls, and his position at forward was taken by Grinnin. Minehart counted for Youngstown's final score. Sweeney fouled Fitzgerald, but he missed. Boye fouled Healy, who registered. Williams replaced Sweeney at forward. Southard ended Westminster's scoring with a basket, and although Grinnin was fouled by Southard, he blew as the final gun sounded.

"Bud" Brownlee is High Scorer In Tri-State Race

"Bud" Brownlee, Titan ace, tops the scoring list of the Tri-State Conference to date, having amassed a total of 124 points. Aultman, Geneva, ranks second with a net total of 114 units.

Brownlee has seen service in nine contests and has located the hoop 50 times from the field. To this amount he has added 24 points from the gift line.

Aultman has seen service for the Convenanters in 12 frays and has scored 46 field goals and 19 fouls for the total of 114 points.

Siljander, Kocheran, and Rice stand in fifth, sixth, and seventh, places in the scoring list of the conference.

Herschel Rickard, sophomore, toots a mean sax in a Sharon orchestra. He is also rated as one of the best guards in Class B. ball in the Sharon district. A southpaw, Richard ranks among the leaders in the scoring column of Freddies Five, Mercer County Class B champs last year.

GETS INVITE!

Coach John Lawther has been invited to attend the testimonial dinner to be given Saturday night, for Coach Kerr Thompson of Slippery Rock, who for 15 years has directed athletic activities of the school.

Lawther, however, will be unable to attend as the Titans are scheduled to invade John Carroll at Cleveland on Saturday.

GOING UP!

Steve Hamas, brother of "Jinx" Hamas, midget forward on the Titan team, advanced to the front rank of heavyweights last Friday night by defeating Tommy Loughran at Madison Square Garden, New York City.

Hamas, by virtue of his knockout over the Philadelphia mixer, is now eligible for consideration in attempting to match men against Max Schmelling, heavyweight champion.

Titans Have Two Games Abroad on Card This Week

TO PLAY THIEL FRIDAY MEET JOHN CARROLL SATURDAY

Westminster cagers hit the road Friday, playing Thiel college at Greenville and then journeying to Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday to oppose the John Carroll University quintet.

Thiel, recently defeated by Allegheny, are gunning for Titan blood and a hectic battle is in store for fans.

John Carroll has been having a very mediocre season having dropped the majority of their frays. However, this is no indication that the Titans will have a snap in the Ohio City.

Kenneth Mehl, sophomore, is a member of the Traxler cage team of Sharon. Mehl, a forward, is one of the best independent cage players in the Sharon district.

Siljander and Brownlee Lead in 42-25 Win

BY "MISH"

After having a lead of only one point at the half time the Westminster Titans pulled ahead and ended with a seventeen point margin in a game with the St. Francis quintet last Tuesday night. The Lawthermen seemed to be unable to get under way the first part of the game but after the St. Francis five had scored eight points in the first four minutes of play, Coach Lawther substituted two of the regulars, Brownlee and Kocheran, whom he had been holding in reserve for Williams and Wilhelm. After this the home aggregation picked up speed and confidence and with six minutes of the first half the lead St. Francis had set up had been cut down to one point. Just before the gun for the half Brownlee put in a field goal giving the Titans the lead at 18-17.

The beginning of the second half found the Westminster team playing a better and faster game. Siljander, Brownlee, and Blaner put in many field goals and increased the Titan lead.

Having but four minutes left to play, the St. Francis team could only use four men as one of their players had been disqualified as a result of making four personal fouls and none of the others could be substituted as they had been in the game once before during the half. Coach Lawther, as an act of courtesy, substituted his second and third string men and at the end of the game the Titan team consisted of Young, Southard, Healey, Leyshock and Simpson.

Four Games In Tri-State Race

Four games will be played this week in the Tri-State Conference basketball race and when the schedule is over, fans will have some idea as to which team will win the title.

Westminster, defending champions, swing into action twice, playing Geneva tonight and Thiel on Friday. The Titans, with a defeat at the hands of Grove City hanging on them, will have to step out in these frays to keep in the running.

Norman W. Igo, 1909, was instumental in organizing a Men's Chorus Choir in the Tabernacle U. P. church, during the past few weeks.

Mrs. Donald W. Haworth of Akron, O., (Jane Sowash 1919) is slowly recovering from a serious illness in the Akron City Hospital.

Mrs. C. V. Wasser, Charlotte Ewing ex'16, is a member of the hospitality committee of the Women's College Club of Youngstown, O. for the year 1932.

Mrs. Norman Igo, (Mary Armstrong 1909), is on the Board of Directors of the Women's College Club of Youngstown, O.

SWISSVALE ALUMNI

Five Westminster Alumni are on the teaching staff in the Swissvale Public Schools.

They are Miss Elizabeth Whitmarsh '17 teaching English, Miss Mary Tea '30 teaching English, Mr. Daniel Kelso '28 who teaches History, Mr. Thomas Patterson '27 who teaches Biology and Mr. Joseph Dennison '28, teacher of Mathematics.

Robt. Zimmerman did his practice teaching in Swissvale lastmonth.

Kenneth Miller is going to the University of Pittsburgh.

Ted Bair is going to Pittsburgh Law school.

Joe Uram of Turtle Creek is going to University of Delaware the second semester.

Emmett Tweedy is teaching science near Johnstown.

BOLLER-O'DONOVAN ENGAGEMENT MADE KNOWN LAST WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Boller of Freeport, L. I., have recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eloise Boller to C. Glenn O'Donovan of Pittsburgh.

A graduate of the Freeport high school, class of 1927, Miss Boller studied in a secretarial school for a year, following which she accepted the position of secretary to the principal of Freeport high school and has been acting in that capacity ever since.

While a student at Westminster Mr. O. Donovan was prominent in basketball. In 1930 he was chosen captain of the Westminster squad and All-American basketball forward. Following the resignation of Sol. W. Wolf, Mr. O'Donovan was appointed the basketball coach at the Freeport high school last November.

The Phi Pi Phi fraternity held a party at their house on Waugh avenue Saturday evening Jan. 16. About 30 couples were present and an enjoyable time was had in various entertainments. Refreshments were served by the committee, composed of Edward Smith, John Tucker and Charles Deabler.

The affair was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis.

Helen Davidson '27 visited Chi Omega at the Prather House on Sunday. She spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McKee.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Rhodes, Jr., of Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Rhodes, to Donald Laird Hankey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hankey, New Kensington.

Miss Rhodes is a graduate of the Birmington School for Girls and her fiance is a graduate of Westminster college '25 and the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

No date has been chosen for the wedding.

Library Aides Choose Variety Of Professions

Many alumni when they were students at Westminster worked in the library helping Miss Mildred Ailman. A few continued in that field after graduation, but the majority are teaching.

John B. Cutler, '26, is now the principal of a high school in Sharpsville. Harry Newell '27, is teaching in Sharon, Irma Sutton, '28, in Alliquippa, Ruth Campbell '26, in Greensburg, Sara Patterson, '28, in New Castle.

MRS. ARTHUR FRENCH

One of the few girls to continue with library work was Lorena Garloch who graduated from the school of Librarianship at the University of Michigan. Last year she was in the American Library in Paris. This year Miss Garloch holds the position of refernce librarian at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Arthur E. French, '28, (Evelyn Winger) is now on the Island of Hainan where she is doing Chinese missionary work.

Aneatha Hughest, a former student who transferred to the school of librarianship at Carnegie Institute, is now the children's librarian at the Sewickley Public Library.

Robert Ferguson, '27, graduated last spring from the Harvard Law School and is practicing law in Pittsburgh. Roy Vance, '29, is a chemist working for the Miller Rubber Company in Akron, Ohio.

Margaret Reed

Herman King, '28, completed his work in the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary last year. James Chambers '30, has attended the Harvard Law School for two years. William Turnbull'30, is now attending the Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary. Only one entered the political field, namely, Paul Quinby, '31, who is the County Auditor for Mercer County.

Lois Davenport, '31, is now working in Offutts Department Store in New Castle. Elizabeth McKee transfered last year to Western Reserve where she is now a senior. Lucille McConaghy, '28, (Mrs. Irving Mansell) taught in New Castle for several years.

Jane MaCrum,'30, Margaret Smith, '31, Margaret Reed, '30, Ruth Brown, '30, and Etta Walker, '31, all hold teaching positions.

Eddie Flynn, freshman, was a member of the Farrell High team last year which won the Northwestern Pennsylvania basketball title.

DR. H. M. HART ELECTED OFFICER OF COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

During the week at the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Medical Society, Dr. Hugh M. Hart '19 was elected second vice president for the year.

Other officers chosen were, Dr. John Foster as president who functioned in that capacity thirty-two years ago; Dr. W. D. Wallace, first vice president; as treasurer, Dr. W. C. Burchfield and Dr. W. A. Homer as secretary.

ALUMNI ITEMS

Mr. Henry Kraufman, the husband of Hazel Brush Kraufman, '28, a Sigma Kappa, was killed last week in an automobile accident.

Miss Mary Alice Neill and Miss Catherine Elder were visitors at the Sigma Kappa house Thursday evening.

Kathryn Johnston, an Omicron Mu Gamma member, spent last week in New Castle and visited a couple of days on the campus.

Miss Mary Purvis visited the Alpha Gamma Delta house Wednesday evening.

Miss Mettie Round, an Alpha Gamma Delta, was at the play, "Escape," Friday.

Miss Jane Rex of Pittsburgh was the guest of the Alpha Gamma Delta's for the week end.

FEAR IS NIGHTMARE SPEAKER DECLARES

today, a carefully outlined point was presented. That one must departmentize his store and each of its functions, to show the really producing or losing departments was the speakers next point. The old guessing method be likened to that of the ox-cart as to progress of the country.

On the question of sales and sales people, Mr. Buisch stated that sales are often lost because wanted merchandise is not in stock, that there are thin assortments, broken lots, obsolete styles, wrong prices, and last of all that there are too many different salespeople.

He added that no sale is complete without a suggestion from the salesman as to the better quality, larger quantity, new merchandise and bargains that his store is offering. With these suggestions from the salesman, the possibility of an increase of wages for him would be obvious, due to the increased sales he would make.

Closing his talk with a brief summary of these points, Mr. Buisch asked that everybody have faith in the future as to the business outlook. Improvement of business will come only when we settle down and do the work by actual hard pushing, and not by buying it through our Congress.

ARGO EDITORS FOLLOW VARIED PROFESSIONS

William Ira Grundish, of the class of 1916, also chose journalism as a career, and has been for some years political editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. Ralph McClurg, editor of the 1917 publication, foresaw the future that lay in the life insurance statistics, and is now a consulting actuary in Little Rock, Arkansas. A staff-member of both Holcad and Argo while in college, Allen Dickson, of the Class of 1918, is now employed as Executive Secretary of the Akron Builder's Exchange.

War-time publication proved a hard task for George Martin and Ruth Steele, editors in 1919 and 1920, respectively. Publications were high, many of the students were in the war, or engaged in relief work, and under such circumstances, little cooperation was received from the students. All members of the 1920 Argo staff were girls, and although the faculty was reluctant to let them have entire charge of publication, the war memorial edition of 1920 is one of the best year books ever published. Mr. George Martin, editor in the year 1919, is now a minister in Langeloth; and Ruth Steele, '20, is now Mrs. Howard T. Wise, of Pittsburgh.

J. Irvine Reaney, of the Class of 1921, is now an instructor in the Sharon high school. Walter Cheers, editor of the 1923 year book, is an attorney in McNinnville, Tennessee. The career of James Courtney, 24, is unknown.

Joe McFate, popular student of the Class of '26, is now practicing law in New Castle. Robert D. Ferguson, '27, has also chosen law as his profession. Halden Williams, editor of 1928, is now employed as commercial engineer for the Bell Telephone Company, in Pittsburgh. James McQuiston, honor student and athlete of the Class of '29, is now an executive in the Kellogg Factories, in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Eric Groezinger, editor of the winning yearbook of 1930, is doing post-graduate work in psychology. Kenneth Baird, and Louis Hazen editors of the 1930 and 1931 publications, kept up the precedent set by Eric Groezinger, and have succeeded in winning first place for the Westminster Argo in national year book ratings.

ranges from mutton chop to the finest quality of mule or bull beef, corn cob pudding, and onion pie, garlic and skunk cabbage, bull frog steak and tadpole soup, lizard jelly and raccoon hash. Those desiring to forego the expenses of these luxuries can rent a pig-pen on reasonable terms and board themselves at about one-half the cost."

"Necking" at that time was called "twisting" and, according to the Catalogue, the twisting department was complete and thorough in every particular, and was proud of the fact that it had attained a degree of perfection hitherto unknown.

Members of the various classes were listed in the book as:

"Debklnorsspwtin Bidjkerlgwnlske Graham of Soapfat, Pa.; derived his name from the noble exploit of killing a cockroach single-handed.

Jejune Mushhead Mehard of Mudhole; sadly lacking in common sense and is a candidate for the Crack-brained Asylum.

Julius Ceasor White of Crabrown, Pa.; O, horror, what a stench. Utterly abhors soap and water.

Poor Dull George of Ignoranceville, Pa., too insignificant to notice."

The Catalogue's regulations for the students were as follows:

1. No student shall call upon the ladies more than 7 nights a week without special permission from the President.

2. Young ladies and gentlemen shall not stand on their heads or wrestle during Chapel. Leap frog shall be prohibited in the Chapel and recitation rooms.

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, JAN. 31, 1932. — No. 8

Second Semester Registration For Upper Classes Starts Today

Frosh Registered Monday; Classes Will Start Tomorrow At Eight

New Courses Provide For Mid-Year High School Graduates

Second semester registration of freshmen students started yesterday morning at Westminster and continued in the afternoon. Upper class students register this morning and afternoon. Second semester classes will start tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Graduates of mid-year high school classes may enroll as freshmen as late as February 10, Dr. J. A. Swindler, registrar, announces. Upper class registration is confined to the early part of this week unless special permission is given for late enrollment.

With more than 600 students registered for the first semester, and with 40 or more new students enrolling for the second semester, the net enrollment for the year at Westminster will be almost 100 higher than at any other time. A few casualties of the first semester final examinations will be dropped, and a few seniors have completed graduation requirements, but the student roll will probably contain about 625 names for the second semester.

A number of new courses have been added to provide for freshmen entering at the start of the second semester. Advanced courses for upper class students have also been added to the curriculum.

NEW COURSES

Many New Courses were added to the curriculum at Westminster for the second semester. Some of these courses are to accomodate the large number of new students who enrolled at the start of the second semester yesterday, and some are for the convenience of upper class students.

In the art department, Professor H. J. Brennan announces a course in still life painting, another course in advanced design, and a continuation of the history of art courses now offered. In the advanced design course, Professor Brennan will teach the application of design principles to problems in leatherwork, batik, stenciling, tie-and-tye, and gesso.

A comprehensive English course for outstanding freshman students in English has been planned by Professor Ben Euwema. Other advanced English courses to be offered are: short story study and writing technique, taught by Professor R. X. Graham; the English novel, taught by Professor Euwema.

The department of economics and business administration is adding a new course in modern social trends. This may be taken in lieu of the advertising course prescribed for majors in the department.

A course in folk dancing has been added to the physical education courses for women, Miss Love announces.

Recent developments in physical science, an advanced course in physics which deal with radioactivity, atomic structures, ions, and ionizing potentials, will be offered for advanced students, Dr. J. A. Swindler and Dr. J. G. Moorhead announced.

Solid analytic geometry has been added to the courses available in mathematics, Dr. Harold L. Black announces. This course will be taught by Foster B. Stulen.

MEMBERSHIP IN BOOK CLUB URGED

New students, old students, and people of the town are again reminded of the opportunity of joining the Book Club, Miss Ailman announces.

Several new books were added to the Book Club shelves before Christmas, and Miss Ailman plans to send another order soon. Among the newest books, one will find such books as: Irish Beauties, by Ethel Barrington; A Tale of Troy, by Masefield; Thrills of a Naturalist's Quest, by Ditmar; We Begin, by Carlisle; and The Gods Arrive, by Edith Wharton.

The usual membership fee is $1.00 per semester.

W. NELSON AXE WILL ADDRESS SCIENCE CLUB

Discussion Will Cover Poducts Found In And Derived From Coal Tar

W. Nelson Axe, '31, will address the next meeting of the Westminster Science club at seven o'clock Thursday evening, February 2, in the chemistry lecture room, on the topic "What Comes From Coal Tar-"

The discussion will cover products found in and derived from coal tar. These include a wide range of dyestuffs, medicinals, and solvents. Coal tar is the Pandora's box from whence comes the multitude of products for the destruction and for the healing of mankind.

After graduating from Westminster with the class of '31, Mr. Axe spent a year in graduate study at Western Reserve university. He is now doing research work in organic chemistry with Dr. Charles Freeman.

PHOTOGRAPHIC THEME WILL BE FEATURE OF 1934 YEAR BOOK

Paul McMinn, editor-in-chief of the 1934 Argo, has announced that the yearbook will follow a photographic theme. It will be something unique in yearbook work. The Argo staff plans to make every page appear as a surprise to the peruser.

All student pictures have not as yet been taken. The photographer representing the White Studios, N. Y., will probably return to New Wilmington for the last time the latter part of this week or the first of next and students who have not already done so are asked to cooperate in having photographs taken.

The Indianapolis Engraving Co., Indianapolis, Indiana, and the Zeigler Printing Co., Butler, are in charge of all engraving, art work, and printing for the 1934 yearbook.

ARTIST COURSE WILL FEATURE MABEL KING AND EARL MITCHELL

Prof Nevin And Women's Trio Scheduled For Later In Semester

Mabel King, Pittsburgh contralto, will be another feature of the Westminster artist course when she appears in a concert at the college chapel on Thursday, February 23. Miss King, alumna of Westminster in the class of '13, will be accompanied by Earl Mitchell at the piano.

Gordon Balch Nevin, professor of pipe organ, will present two more recitals during the second semester. Definite dates have not been announced.

A woman's vocal trio directed by Harvey Gaul, Pittsburgh critic, will present a program at Westminster sometime during the month of March. Miss Jean McCrory Newman, former Westminster student, is a member of this group.

Lecture Course Features Talk By African Explorer

Jim Wilson, notable figure of the American lecture platform, will deliver an address before a Westminster audience in the college chapel Wednesday evening, February 8, on the subject entitled "Africans Are People."

Mr. Wilson and a companion are advertized as having been the first white men ever to cross Africa from coast to coast, north of Lake Tchad. Without guides, porters, interpreters, or even firearms, they wended their way through jungle and desert for six months, traversing a 1200-mile stretch of territory never before visited by an American explorer. Mr. Wilson then returned home and within a year became popular as lecturer.

One of the interesting features of Mr. Wilson's lecture will be his exhibit of African arts and crafts, and picture slides illustrating the topics of his discussion.

Farrell Girl Is Elected Westminster May Queen

Miss Louise Johnston, Farrell, Pa., was elected May Queen at Westminster by a ballot of senior women, Jan. 5. Miss Johnston, a junior, will be crowned queen in ceremonies in conjunction with the traditional "Senior Sing" during the commencement week activities early in June.

Miss Johnston, a blonde, is treasurer of Sigma Kappa sorority, won the sorority pledge scholarship cup in her freshman year, is a member of the Upper Class Tribunal, and has been a member of musical organizations. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Johnston, Farrell, and is a graduate of Farrell high school. She will be honored first by leading the grand march at the junior prom in May.

Rushing Dates Pending; Pan-Hellenic Group To Vote Regulations

Pan-Hellenic Council plans to have rushing begin this week or early next week. The council will have a meeting today to vote on the rushing rules made up by the committee composed of Ruth Rowse, Dorothy Wilder, and Grace Kelly.

Before rushing begins, Mrs. McConagha, faculty advisor of Pan-Hellenic council, will speak to the freshman women and explain Pan-Hellenic rules and traditions.

SENIOR CADET TEACHING PLANS INCOMPLETE SHOTT ANNOUNCES

Prof. Shott announces that definite plans for practice teaching have not been made with the school authorities in the New Castle and Sharon schools. He will try to arrange the dates so that practice teaching will end before spring vacation.

Prof. Shott will confer with the school superintendents and principals this week. Meetings with the seniors will also be held to arrange for practice teaching.

Students In 1872 Had Small Choice of Collegiate Studies

Would Take 25 Years To Take All Courses Now Given

Even though he enjoyed college at a tuition cost of but $25 a year and had to pay but $2.75 a week for room and board, the college student of 1872 had little choice of studies, an investigation reveals.

At Westminster 60 years ago, when there were but 188 students enrolled, which figure included many in the preparatory department, there were but 48 different courses offered and only a few of these are not now in high school curricula everywhere.

Today, with 630 students enrolled there are 215 different courses offered, so that if a student were to take 15 credits each semester, the regular load, and continued unti lhe had taken all courses now offered, it would take him 51 semesters or 25½ years, provided he never "flunked" a course!

The expansion of college curricula is illustrated very well by a study of 20-year periods at Westminster.

In 1892, when there were 292 students enrolled in the college and the preparatory department, 64 different courses wer offered. In 1912, there were 102 courses to choose from. Now there are 215 courses, with more being added each semester.

In 1872, one could, by paying four years' tuition in advance, go through college for a tuition charge of $80. If the tuition were paid each year, the cost was $25 a year. The tuition rate had increased to $60 plus a number of fees by 1912. Today the tuition is $250.

But, granted all these economic advantages, the student of 1872 could not have chosen to study modern chemistry, psychology, education, economics and business administration, advertising, journalism, dramatic art, radio and modern electricity, micrchemical studies, home decoration, pipe organ, pottery, and many other courses now offered. The student of 1872 could take either a classical of a scientific course, and many high schools now offer the equivalent of the content of the early college course.

LATE REGISTRATION PLANS ARRANGED FOR NEW STUDENTS

"Casulty" List Increases; Low Grades And Graduation Claim Many

Dr. J. A. Swindler announces that there will be a late registration for second semester students. New students will be accepted as late as Friday, February 10.

The reason for this innovation is that a number of high school commencements will not be held until the latter part of this week.

A number of mid-year high school graduates are scheduled to register here Friday, Saturday, and Monday.

It is believed that the number of new students enrolled will be larger than those graduating and leaving school for academic reasons at the end of the first semester.

The "casualty" list included more than 40 names.

Arrangements are not complete for the Men's Freshman-Sophomore debate. The tentative date scheduled is Friday, February 3.

The freshman team will consist of John Engle, Thomas Rogers, John Gerstner, Gerald Kloss, Otto Manse, and Wayne Rush.

The following three members of the sophomore team have already been chosen: Fred Luderer, Byron Elder, and William Patterson. Other members of the team will be selected today.

Acting Class Will Present Two Plays Before Sharon Club

"Telegram" and "For Distinguished Service" are the two plays to be presented by the Westminster acting class before a meeting of the Sharon College Club and at a luncheon given by the Rebekah Missionary Society of the First United Presbyterian church, New Castle, on Saturday, February 11.

Jane Chester and Katherine Lynch are the characters in "For Distinguished". The cast for "Telegram" is not definite.

Both plays have been produced by members of the acting class as work substituting for written final examinations.

The next number to be scheduled on the play course is "You and I" by Phillip Barry. It will be given sometime during the second semester together with a group of one-act plays and another three-act production.

Chapter of Association of University Professors Is Organized At Westminster

Fifteen members of the Westminster faculty who petitioned for a chapter of the American Association of University Professors, highest professional association of college and university teachers, have been accepted by the association, word from national headquarters in Washington, D. C. states.

The organization meeting will be held February 1 in the Little Theatre at Westminster at which time officers will be elected for the year.

Most of the 15 charter members of the Westminster chapter are active members, while a few are designated as junior members, since four years' teaching experience in a college or university is on requisite for membership.

Rebekah Crawford Makes Debut At Carnegie Hall

Westminster Alumna Soloist With New York Light Opera Guild

Miss Rebekah Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Crawford of New Wilmington and Westminster alumna of the class of '20, made her debut at Carnegie Hall, New York, Monday, January 30, as a "debut Soloist" with the New York Light Opera Guild in a Victor Herbert Festival.

Other great artists who have appeared in Carnegie Hall under the direction of the New York Light Opera Guild are: Lawrence Tibbett, Rudolph Ganz, Elizabeth Rethberg, Lily Pons, Tito Schipa, Mrs. Alma Gluck-Zimbalist, Percy Grainger, Harold Bauer, Mrs. Goeta Ljungberg, Giovanno Martinelli, and many other famous musicians.

Other young singers who made their debut with Miss Crawford were: Marguerite Hawkins, soprano; Robert Cloy, tenor; and Charles Van Tassell, baritone.

Miss Crawford recently won the New York Light Opera Guild prize in competition with a large number of contraltos.

Miss Crawford received her training at Westminster under the direction of William Wilson Campbell and in New York under the late Oscar Saenger.

Faculty Group Holds Annual Group Banquet

"Amateur" Entertainers Of Faculty Amuse With Speeches

Members of the Westminster faculty club held their annual banquet on Saturday evening, Jan. 14, in Wyatt's Lodge with 65 present.

During the course of the excellent dinner, a program of entertainment was provided by "amateur" entertainers of the faculty, as they were introduced. Dr. John Moorhead, president of the club, made the introductory remarks. President R. F. Galbreath offered the blessing.

Dr. Harold Black acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the various speakers and reading a number of humorous poems. Dr. B. E. Quick, with a roast chicken as a "specimen", carved and explained the anatomy and physiology of the fowl, stating that the neck was the important part of the bird from the experience of hotel and restaurant owners, and explaining the two questions: "Which Came First, the Chicken of the Egg? and "Why Does a Chicken Cross the Road?"

Ronald Jones' talk might well have been named "What is Right and Wrong With the World, and How", as he offered a new theory of thinking tanks into which faculty members could think a few hours each day to keep the students going for two or three semesters.

Dr. H. L. Davis explained the chemistry of the meal, pointing out that what we eat is just "so much coal for the furnace." Dr. Gilbert Taylor was highly amuzing with a talk on "The History of "Eating", elaborating at length upon ancient feasts, and one dinner party in particular mentioned in a Latin play.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements included Dr. Moorhead, Mrs. McConagha, Miss Florence Thomas, Leon Marshall, Ross Ellis.

Following the dinner, games and further entertainment and music were provided for the members.

IN THE HANDS OF THE PRINTER

Prof. Ben Euwema was in charge of compiling Westminster's new 1933-34 catalogue which has just been sent to the Zeigler Printing Co., Butler, and is expected to be ready for distribution by the last of this month.

Features of the book will be its new typography and format. It will be illustrated with pen and ink sketches by Professor Harold Brennan, also an artistic map showing the layout of the college. The cover design for the catalogue will be of black and silver.

SERVING THE PUBLIC

The fickle public is hard to satisfy. This is, of course, a well-known observation. It is, however, no better illustrated than in the case of the Westminster basketball public both in town and in the surrounding towns.

When the Titans, blessed with material, won games by overwhelming scores, the cry was that 60 or 70 points should have been scored, or that the games were too one-sided and that too high a score had been made. Oh, folks said, for a team that would win out in the last minute! Or, Oh, for a team that would score 100 points in one game!

Now, with less material than in former years, and with other rivals boasting much stronger teams, the cry seems to be that larger scores should be run up! The games now are too exciting to be comfortable for the same fans who did not like the 50 to 8 variety of play!

All of which goes to prove that the public doesn't know what it wants, and when it gets it, it is sometimes in bewilderment as to whether it was wanted!

ADVERTISING TRUTH

College advertising, in the wild scramble to attract students, has taken on some odd twists. Colleges are famous for their inability to catch up with the times, so that a year or two after a depression hits the country some are still offering to prospective students training which will make them millionaries over night.

Westminster's recent booklet, stating that the real value of an investment in education is the widened horizon is, of course, a radical thing. It attempts to tell the truth to young people who are contemplating college! It states that college education should prepare one to make a living, but that making a living is not the end of education nor one of the chief ends.

A sad old world, awakening after placing its faith in bonds, coupons, dividends, and bank balances, had had to look inside itself to find consolation and entertainment and contentment. It has found that looking into a bankbook does not satisfy. It is learning that unless there is something within a man by way of enjoyment of the arts, of contemplation, of imagining, of dreaming, of aspiring, the figures in a book mean nothing. And the lack of figures in a book even less if there is a spiritual and mental background upon which to fall back.

To the incoming students, then, we say: Welcome to the opportunity to equip yourselves with resources which do not vanish with the fates of Wall street. Yours in a chance to find ideas, inspirations, truths, knowledge, which, even the most practical minds will admit, are after all better than rubies.

GOOD BAND

Professor Cameron and members of the College Band are to be congratulated on the pep and enthusiasm they have lent to home basketball games. The band has played well under capable leadership.

Two things suggest themselves as we think of the band: (1)Westminster needs four or five good original songs. (2) The student body needs more enthusiasm in its cheering at home games.

The first point might be taken care of easily since many on the conservatory faculty are capable of writing music. Students or faculty members should be able to write the words.

The second point suggests that Students cheer better only when the team is in a hard game. Hard games would be easier if students pepped up the team at the start of each contest and kept the players inspired as the game progressed.

NEW REGISTRATION

College officials, the faculty, and the registrar are to be congratulated on the new first semester examination and second semester registration system.

Formerly, students, faculty, and the office force were rushed in their work, with little or no chance to get a "breathing spell" between semesters. Now, with two days of recess, all concerned are better able to start the second semester with enthusiasm.

On recommendation the Holcad would offer for registration: Each student should be given a certificate or card or receipt upon registering so that he would have something official to show that he is enrolled. His status—regular student, special student, or graduate student—should be designated on the card or receipt.

LOST—RUSHING!

Where and when is sorority rushing? The Pan-Hellenic council does not know. Sororities have no knowledge of it. College officials do not know when rushing is to start.

Rushing was to start this week since seniors would be away later for practice teaching. Now teaching will not start until spring recess.

Sororities better get together with college officials and plan just when this important activity starts. It looks like a case of the organizations failing to get the matter settled in time.

Universities are not repositories of the dead. They are more alive than the marketplace; their eyes are not only on the present, but on the past and on the future. And life within their walls is always young and acquisitive. To place your name, by gift or bequest, in the keeping of an active university is to be sure that the name and the project with which it is associated will continue down the centuries to quicken the minds and hearts of youth, and thus make a permanent contrbution to the welfare of humanity.

—Calvin Coolidge

The American college should not merely sum up the prevailing culture and transmit it to the next generation. It should critically examine our civilization and contribute to its re-design and refinement. Our modern life halts in its progress, not only from inability to see clearly, but from a palsy of will and purpose, and a lack of spirit of adventure which leads men to undertake significant changes in the social order.—Antioch Notes.

"To educate the reason without educating the desire is like placing a repeating rifle in the hands of a savage."—Herbert Spencer.

To educate a man in mind and not in morals is to educate a menace to society."—Theodore Roosevelt.

"Education is the chief defense of nations."
—Edmund Burke.

"I will study and get ready and maybe my chance will come."—Abraham Lincoln.

"History is a race between education and disaster."—H. G. Wells.

"I believe that education is the fundamental method of social progress and reform."—John Dewey.

"Exclude religion from education and you have not foundation upon which to build moral character."—Eliot.

"Christianity has been the mother of all modern education."—James McCosh.

HOLCADABRA

Shakespeare it was who named the seven ages of man. The seven ages of woman would, therefore, be: (1) babe, (2) child, (3) little girl, (4) young woman, (5) young woman, (6) young woman, (7) young woman.

Now the newspapers are making it TechKNOCKracy!

We stifle an erg (technocratic) to propose Collegocracy.

The faculty cut up a bit in its annual feed-fest, pantomined the classroom, whooped it up a bit, and then went home to make out the stiffest first semester final examinations that have hit the campus.

That's carrying a joke a little too far.

Oh, little flunk-out, don't you cry; you'll be a flunknocrat bye and bye!

Other sad cases in history: The Thiel player who tried to clip Wilhelm out under the basket.

Recommended for primary grade teaching aspirants: the Book-of-the-Three-D a y-Away-From-t h e-Elliott-Library Club rules. Don't hurt the nice itty booksie wooksies.

Well, a lot of the boys and girls, after picking themselves up from the first semester finals, decide it isn't going to be such a snappy New Year.

It is rumored that the Browne hall rogues' galleries in certain rooms look like the athletic section in the Argo.

The electric light over the west basket in the gym may merely be winking at the Browne hall quartet of inspiration in the front row.

Minute mysteries: What three students tried to hand in the same notebook and were caught at it?

Don't get excited, folks, all that scurrying was only the start of sorority rushing: Some sororities rushing around trying to line up new members, and some trying to keep some of their old members in school!

If winter comes, that open-air commuter job from New Castle cannot be far behind.

* * *

It will be a second sum-ester to some.

Titans Drop In Tri-State Conference Standing

BEAT THIEL

BEAT THE DUKES

Thiel And Duquesne Meet Locals This Week

Grove City, Geneva Down Locals; Waynesburg's Jackets And Allegheny are Defeated

Tied For Third Place With Waynesburg; Geneva Undefeated, Grovers Second

Westminster, playing the poorest brand of ball seen in many moons, emerged from three Tri-State Conference frays by dropping two and was victorious in a non-league fray with the Allegheny college quintet.

The Titans barely nosed out the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets on Jan. 17, 27-26 on the local floor and then traveled to Beaver Falls on Jan. 19 to be humbled at the hands of a Geneva College outfit of average ability by a 34-20 tally.

The Waynesburg fray was a nip and tuck affair from start to finish. The Titans made four of their sixteen shots at the basket to garner a total of twelve points while the Jackets rolled up sixteen. In the second half the locals were able to find the hoop with more consistency. In the closing minutes of play, Ray Sweeney tied up the ball game at 25-all. A field goal by Siljander with Avery adding a foul to the Waynesburg score ended the game with a 27-26 tally.

With prospects of a mighty good ball game, the Titans floundered helplessly against Geneva to go down to a 34-20 defeat. The ball game was in the hands of Cliff Aultman and his mates from the opening whistle and they made sure that no Westminster victory would go down on the books that night. The Titans were unable to locate the basket making only eight out a thirty-nine shots at the bucket, the majority from a set-up range. In the last half they spurted through the work of Bill Douglass and Pete Leyshock, but Aultman called his men together to immediately take matters in hand. The nearest that the locals could get to the Covenanters was a 26-20 score, after which the hopes of the Lawthermen died as the Geneva boys started a sure-fire offense which ran the score to 34 points.

Starting early by piling up a 22-7 lead at half time, the Titans were able to walk off the Allegheny college floor with a 39-28 decision on January 21. Newton and Bennett were the Titans big scoring threats with Douglass closely trailing. The Titans were still off the basket in their shooting range making but 14 out of a possible 65 shots.

Grove City defeated the Westminster eagers in a wild battle after two overtime periods were fought through. The final score showed the locals on the small end of a 24-22 tally.

The score was deadlocked when Deems dropped a long shot through the hoops just before the closing whistle. Laycock then looped the winning marker through the hoops in the second overtime period to put the game on ice.

The Westminster basketball team had to rally in the second half to stop Jack Stoeber's sharpshooting Thiel College five here Saturday night, Jan. 28, the Titans winning out by a 36-29 score.

Thiel took the lead with 12 minutes of the first half gone. Westminster was out in front by a 10-5 count. In five minutes the score stood 12-11. Then Harter looped one in to put the Lutherans out ahead 13-12, and at half time Thiel held a 20-16 advantage.

Harter lead the first-half attack of the Lutherans with four field goals and two fouls, while Strimer, Thiel forward, scored three baskets and one foul in the first half.

With the start of the second half, Coach Lawther replaced Leyshock, Patt, Southard, and Sweeney, with Newton, Siljander, Hunneke, and Wilhelm, and the Titans took on new life. In four minutes the Titans, lead by Newton and Douglass, changed the score 20-18, 20-19, 21-20, and 23-20 before Thiel score a point. Thus out in front, the Titans continued to hold the lead and add more points.

Douglass lead the second-half rally with three field goals and two fouls, while Newton scored two field goals and two fouls. Thiel was held to three field goals during the second half.

Of the nine men Coach John Lawther used in the game six figured in the scoring. Patt, Sweeney, and Southard did not score. Of the seven Thiel players in the game, four scored. Ruehle, Beil, and Miller did not count.

"No Track Or Tennis Teams This Spring"--Stranahan

Intra-Mural Program to Supplant Varsity Sports; Awards Given to High Scorers

Varsity track and tennis have been suspended for this spring at Westminster, Attorney James A. Stranahan, president of the athletic council, announces. The two sports will, in all probability, be taken up next year or the year following. The step was necessary in order that the budget be balanced for the year.

Both track and tennis will be run this year on an intra-mural basis. Suitable awards to fraternity and class teams will be made in each sport, and individual trophies may also be given to the outstanding performer of each sport.

An inter-fraternity relay and an inter-class relay will feature the track activities. Another feature of the sports program will be a decathlon contest in track open to all men students. A tennis tournament for men students as well as intra-mural tennis will provide for courtmen.

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

Ping Pong Table

Miss Nandeen Love and members of W. A. A. express their appreciation to Dean Mary E. Turner for the donation of a ping-pong table which completes the furnishing of the W. A. A. activity room in Hillside basement. The room is now remodeled with new furniture, rugs, penants, pictures, and newly plastered and painted walls.

Girls other than members are invited to play ping-pong at the room if accompanied by a W. A. A. member.

Enthusiasm over the game has grown to such an extent that plans are being made for a tournament in the near future.

Basketball Begins

Girls' intra-mural basketball practice will begin Thursday, February 2. Practices will be held every week on Monday and Thursday afternoons from three until six o'clock with an opportunity for every girl interested to participate.

An intra-mural or color tournament will close the season.

Honorary Teams

The next issue of the Holcad will announce names of girls who are to be chosen as members of the honorary volleyball teams. Selections will be made on a basis of ability in the sport, scholastic standing, and moral conduct.

Girls chosen on the honorary teams, who have not already become A. A. members, will be eligible for membership.

Physical Exams

Required physical examinations for women students enrolling second semester are scheduled to place at the college gymnasium on Wednesday afternoon, February 1, from 3 until 5 o'clock and on Friday afternoon February 3 from 1:30 until 4 o'clock.

Dr. Elizabeth Veach of Overlook sanitarium will be the physician in charge.

This examination is required of all girls not having had a previous examination at Westminster.

A six-team volleyball tournament for Westminster coeds started yesterday afternoon, Miss Nandeen Love, director, announces. The captains of the six teams in the tourney are: Nancy Litman, Verona; Ethel Sanderson, Oakdale; Jean Miller, Bradford; Harriett Gray, Youngstown, O.; Emily Parker, New Castle; Virginia Luckhardt, Dormont.

Games in the tournament will be played on Monday and Thursday afternoons in the gymnasium. The final games in the elimination are scheduled for January 19.

W. A. A., coed athletic association, will meet Tuesday evening at which time the association room in the basement of Hillside will be decorated with pictures, pillows, and other gifts donated by individual members.

Upperclass girls defeated freshman girls in the closing game of the volley ball season, Monday, Jan. 23, by the score 42-35.

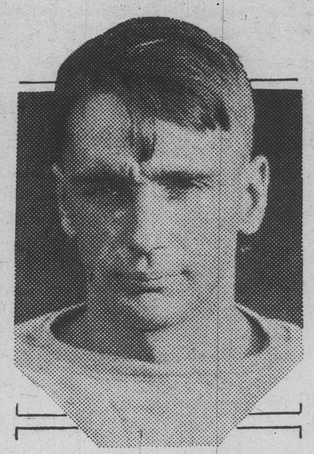
Lineups were as follows:

Freshmen: Catherine Hittner, Jane Holland, Marjorie Scott, Altha McCartney, Virginia Luckhart, Helen Simison, Mary Louise Patterson, Allene Somerlade, Ruth Lysinger, Dorothy Covert, Harriette Jackson, Ethel Sanderson and Dorothy Young.

Upperclass: Stellarose McKean, Fern Fox, Patricia Jones, Annabel Stevenson, Lillian Gaines, Helen McLaughry, Dorothy Isahoe, Mildred Ralston, Alice Pope, Mary Blackwood, Evelyn Judson, Lola Sewall, and Vergil Wettich.

Locals Slated To Drop Both Frays On Week's Schedule

Coach John Lawther Has Won Five District And Tri-State Championships



JOHN D. LAWTHER

A protege of DeOrmond "Tuss" McLaughry, John D. Lawther, has made an enviable record as basketball coach at Westminster. Lawther, who played football, basketball and baseball at Westminster when McLaughry was head coach, has won the Tri-State Conference and the Pittsburgh district championship for the last five years in succession.

Lawther became basketball coach in 1926. His first move, upon taking over the coaching job in the middle of the season, was to fire the entire varsity and select from the student body a new squad of players. This done, the Titans did not win a game until the final contest.

During the next season, in 1927, Lawther's team won 15 and lost five to place second in the conference race. Since then the Westminster Titans have clinched the championship five times in succession and have been regarded in the Pittsburgh district as one of the strongest court teams in the east.

No team has succeeded in defeating Westminster twice in one season since 1926, while the Titans have defeated the best class B and class A teams in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. In fourteen games last year, Westminster scored 45 or more points, the largest scores tallied being 76-29, 70-13, 63-26, 62-23, 58-26, 53-27, 51-18. The greatest fete of the Titans was a 50-8 victory scored in 1928 over a Conference rival. The score at half time was 26-8, and at the end of the game was 60-8.

In the last six seasons, 11 Westminster players have been given All-Conference or All-District recognition by newspapers of the district.

Lawther, assistant professor of psychology, is director of athletics. Since 1931 he has been head football coach. He has his master's degree from Columbia University, and has completed most of the work for the Ph. D. degree at New York University. Lawther has also taken graduate work at University of Pittsburgh and at the University of Chicago.

Student tickets for second semester home games will be given out in Room 212 Thursday and Friday.

Both Outfits Are Gunning For Revenge for Setbacks At Hands of Titans

Westminster's basketball team starts the second semester campaign this week with two hard contests, playing Thiel at Greenville on Wednesday night, and meeting the great Duquesne team at Beaver Falls on Saturday night.

The Lutherans are bound to be hard to beat on their home floor, especially with the flashy attack built up by Coach Jack Stober. Duquesne will hardly be caught napping again as they were on January 3 when the Titans surprised with a verdict over the Davies outfit in the Pitt pavilion.

Robert Arrowsmith, Erie, halfback and quarterback on the football team last fall, has reported for the team at the start of the second semester; and Bill Williams, 6 foot 6 inch lad from Sharon, has again reported for the squad. The addition of these two men will give the Titans a little more squad strength.

In the Thiel game, Douglass will probably start at center, with Newton, Sweeney, Patt, or Arrowsmith playing the forwards. Siljander, Leyshock, or Wilhelm will start at guard. Other players available are: Young, Hunneke, and Williams, guards; Bennett, center; and Monaghan, forward.

In the Duquesne game, Williams or Bennett will be at center; Douglass and Newton at forward; and Wilhelm and Siljander at guard.

Following these two hard games this week, Coach John Lawther's men will play four home games in succession, meeting Bethany, Allegheny, Geneva, and Glenville on Feb. 6, Feb. 10, Feb. 14, and Feb. 17. Then there are six contests away from home, four of which will be played on a New York trip, and the season will close against Grove City at home on March 7.

New Wilmington Attorney Active in State Legislature

New Method Of Assessment For Real Estate Proposed

Attorney William E. McElwee, representative from the second district, Lawrence county, is rapidly gaining prominence in the State Legislature. Three new bills have been introduced into the House of Representatives by Mr. McElwee, one concerning the use of local labor on public works, another concerning the use of labor which would otherwise be supported by the poor district, and the third, a revolutionary tax measure revising the method of assessment for real estate.

The first bill states that towns letting contracts for public improvements may specify that local labor be used, provided qualified workmen may be found.

According to the second measure, poor districts may make improvements for the district, using labor which would otherwise be supported by the poor district, as a charity. They may also do work in other cities for pay, provided that the poor district is not co-extensive with the municipality for which the work is being done.

The market value of real estate within the county is now the basis for county rates and levies, as fixed by assessors. This value is used as the basis for town and township assessments. The last of the three measures introduced by Mr. Elwee would establish a new basis, on the potential income of the real estate, were it to be used for the best purpose available. "This may seem hard to do when there is no income," he says, but it is no harder than to fix the market value when there is no market."

This new measure is intended to discourage speculative holding of real estate, and would make the non-resident owner of real estate just as liable to taxation as the property of the resident owner, since the non-resident has as much potential income from his land as has the resident owner. The bill also provides for an annual actual income, similar to income tax, which is not intended for the relief of any one class in particular, but for the fieneral good of all. According to its provisions, there would be no exemptions, and no possibility for double tavation.

As a result of the appointments made by the Speakers of the House, Mr. McElwee is chairman of the Judiciary Appointment Committee, and a member of various committees, as: State Government, Highways, Judiciary, General, Counties and townships, and the Building and Loan Committee.

Mr. McElwee is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1897.

College Young People Sponsor Church Service

Members of the college and high school Y. P. C. U. societies will be in charge of the evening service held in the United Presbyterian Church, Sabbath, February 5. Following the program prepared by Dr. J. Ralph Neale, chairman of the Committee of Directors of Young People's Work, the central theme of the service will be, "Youth Within the Church—Guests of God."

Brief talks will be given by the young people on the topics "Guests of God, in Character, in Conversation, in Brotherliness, and in self-forgetful Service. Dr. Galbreath will give an address, "Christ's Call to Consecration". Special music, and antiphonal responses will be given by the choir, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Rose.

This program, as originally planned, was to be given by young people all over the country on Sabbath evening, January 29, the beginning of Young People's Week. In view of the absence of so many members of the college society at that time, the service was postponed a week.

Matthew Gilliland, chairman of arrangements, wishes to interest as many of the college young people in this project as possible and the co-operation of all will be needed to make it a complete success.

A Brief Survey of Mathematics

The field of mathematics presents many paradoxes, two of which we will mention—it is at once older than Aristotle, and as young as Einstein; it involves reasoning of the most abstract character, and applications of the most practical kind.

Mathematics and its old friend. Astronomy, furnish excellent examples of the truth that the newest is not always the most valuable or the most interesting. The first known mathematical congress, which was also astronomical and religious, was held in Central America (3000 B. C.?). The oldest known handbook of mathematics is the Rhind Papyrns, copied about 1650 B. C. by the Egyptian scribe Ahmes, either from older works or from knowledge transmitted verbally. From these early days the subject has been studied with varying intensity down to the present.

Pure mathematics is abstract; it exists, and much of it has been developed, entirely apart from its application. It is this quality which led Bertrand Russell to formulate his striking definition "Mathematics is the science in which we never know what we are talking about nor whether what we say is true." This abstractness has closely allied the subject with philosophy and logic. It is probably this characteristic which gives the average man the feeling that higher mathematics is remote from life. Let us examine this notion.

The structure of mathematics as it now stands has been built by the interactions of theory and application. Our arithmetic was largely developed by the Italian merchants of the fourteenth and later centuries. Trigonomtry was given its impetus by surveyors and navigators. Calculus owes much to the engineers and the physicists, and in turn has become their almost indispensable tool.

In 1872 Dr. Morgan wrote "During the last two centuries and a half, physical knowledge has been gradually made to rest upon a basis which it had not before. It has become mathematical." Thesixty years since his time have emphasized this even more strikingly. The trend at present seems to indicate an increasing application of mathematics to the natural and social sciences—a trend begun by the statistical work of Karl Pearson.

Alumni Honor Dr. Galbreath At Testimonial Luncheon

ENTHUSIASM MARKS DINNER TO NEW LEADER

The testimonial luncheon championed by a committe of men chosen from alumni of Pittsburgh in honor of our incoming president, Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath, at the Keystone Aathletic club, Wednesday noon, January 27, proved to be a very enjoyable and successful hour of fellowship.

The luncheon gave the alumni of that city and community occasion to meet President Galbreath.

After the repast, Dr. H. H. Donalson, president of the board of trustees, introduced Dr. James M. Ferguson, '97, as toastmaster for the hour.

Dr. Ferguson took a few minutes to review his associations of the past ten years or more with Dr. Galbreath, and told how Westminster's new president has endeared himself to him, to his parishioners, and to the Pittsburgh public at large.

After Dr. Ferguson's felicitous remarks, he introduced President Galbreath to the alumni present. The body arose in honor of Dr. Galbreath, and gave him a warm applause.

Dr. Galbreath replied to his cordial introduction with a 15 minute expose of what was in his mind for Westminster—what he hoped might be accomplished, concluding with the prayer that without the loyal support of the alumni and friends of the college, all efforts on his part would be in vain.

Colleges live and prosper through the loyalty of student bodies, the loyalty and superior ability of faculty members, and the loyalty, influence, and support of the alumni and friends of the institution.

Dr. Galbreath's brief remarks were to the point, and established him in the hearts and minds of all present.

After the formal program; which ended with Dr. Galbreath's remarks, some time was spent in fellowship and in individual assurances to the new president of full cooperation and support.

Every man at the luncheon left the dining hall confident that at last Westminster's board had made a wise selection of a president in Dr. Galbreath.

About 150 men attended this testimonial luncheon. The Womens' Club of Pittsburgh plans soon to have an evening dinner complimentary to President Galbreath at which all alumni and friends of the college will be welcomed.

DR. C. W. FREEMAN ATTENDS PRESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION MEETING

As a representative of Westminster college, Dr. Charles Freeman attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania Presidents' association in Harrisburg Friday, January 29.

Dr. Wier C. Kettler of Grove City college was elected president pro tem of the convention and later president for the coming year to replace President Matheson of Drexel Institute in Philadelphia. President Matheson has died since the meeting of the association last October. President Omwake of Ursinus college was re-elected secretary of the Presidents' association.

The principal issues to be presented for discussion by President Hetzel of Penn State college and President Ellis of Juniata college were the value of the Junior collgees and teacher training.

Prof. Allan B. Davis, head of the department of music at Westminster, accompanied Dr. Freeman to Harrisburg and visited the state department of education.

HOLCAD REPORTERS

Competitors for positions on the editorial staff of the Holcad are asked to report at 2:30 in the News Bureau office Thursday afternoon. New competitors are encouraged to come out at this time. Positions on news and sports are open.

RECEPTION PLANNED BY WESTMINSTER FOR DR. R. F. GALBREATH

Plans are being arranged for a reception to be given by Westminster college in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath.

The reception is to take place at Hillside sometime in early March. College students, faculty, resident members of the college board, and friends will honor the new president and family at this reception.

MANY WESTMINSTER GRADUATES TEACH IN NEW CASTLE SCHOOLS

Twenty-seven Westminster graduates are employed as teachers and school officials by the City of New Castle. Of this number two are teaching in grade school, twenty-three are teaching in junior and senior high schools, one in trade school, and one is serving as a principal.

May Richards, '27, and Genevieve Houston, '16, are teachers in Lincoln-Garfield grade school on Long avenue.

The George Washington junior high school has six Westminster graduates as teachers. They are as follows: Virginia Duff, '31; Harriet Ewing, '27; Elizabeth Glover, '28; Graham Patterson, '31; Sara Patterson, '28; and Helen Sankey, '28.

Hazel Bergland, '31; Gertrude Chapin, '26; Margaret Guy, '30; Ruth Lewis, '30; Anna M. Montgomery, '29; Margaret Reeher, '24; Ethel Rose, '23; Mae Sands, '27; Ina Tucker, '25; Harold Vance, '25; Mrs. R. X. Graham, '28; Agnes Webster, '28; and Margaret Young, '29, are teachers at Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

Those belonging to the faculty of the senior high school are Sara Dinsmore, '69; Clara Elliott, '04; Emily Johnston, '16; and Helen McConaghy, '27.

Albert W. Dodds, '29, is a teacher in the Trade school on East Lutton street.

Mr. F. L. Burton, '20, is principal of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

VENVILLA CLUB HOLDS COLLEGE FUNCTION AT CHATTERBOX

Members of the Venvilla club, newly organized social society and guests attended the dance at Stambaugh Auditorium, Youngstown, Ohio, Saturday evening. "Ted" Rosenberg and his orchestra provided many special request numbers for the Westminster gathering.

Those present included Kathryn McClure, Virginia Kerins, Helen Thomas, Charlotte Bartlett, Ebba Sizer, Bessie Struck, Ann De Mar, Stellarose McKean, Margaret Thomas, and the following club members: Leonard Baird, James Bloker, Harrison Kennedy, James Hilban, Elmeider, Harold Polonus, Arthur Evans, David Kay, and Charles Pharmer.

The next social affair of the Venvilla Club will probably be held the last of February.

SECOND SEMESTER ENROLLMENT LEADS FIRST SEMESTER'S

Indications were, late last night, that enrollment for the second semester would surpass that of first semester.

Although a number of students were dropped because of academic standing, a number of old students returned and some graduates of mid-year high school classes registered.

FATHER OF FRESHMAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Dr. William G. Morrow, father of Mary Morrow, a member of the freshman class, was killed Monday near West Hickory when his car skidded and crashed into a tree.

Dr. Morrow had brought his daughter here to register for the second semester, and was returning to his home when the accident happened.

McElwee Is Candidate For Re-election

ALUMNUS IS BOOSTER OF HIS ALMA MATER

The Hon William McElwee, Jr., representative of the second disrict of Lawrence county in the House of Representatives, has announced himself as a candidate for re-election, subject to the action of the Spring primary, which will be held on the 26th of April. Mr. McElwee's work in the regular and special sessions of the legislature in the year just passed certainly entitles him—according to the established custom of this district—to a second term, and we predict for him a return to the legislature.

Attorney McElwee, a graduate of Westminster with the Class of 1897, has always been a Westminster booster. His many friends among the townspeople, alumni, and faculty believe he will be re-elected by a large vote.

PASTORS HONOR DR. GALBREATH

Pittsburgh Ministers At Testimonial Dinner January 18

Ninety-two Pittsburgh ministers of various denominations honored Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, Westminster's new president, at a testimonial luncheon in the Keystone Athletic club, Pittsburgh, on January 18.

Rev. Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside Presbyterian church, was toastmaster; and Rev. Dr. Murray C. Reiter, pastor of Bethel Presbyterian church, presided.

A number of Pittsburgh ministers were speakers, and all paid tribute to the personality and ability of the new president.

Y. P. C. U. BANQUET PLANNED FOR NEXT MONDAY EVENING

Walker Brownlee, chairman of Banquet Activities, announces that plans have been formulated for the third annual Y. P.C. U. banquet of Mercer Presbytery, to be held in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church, on Monday evening, February 8, at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Edwin Anderson, '30, will be the toastmaster of the evening, and Herbert Smith, president of the college Y.P. C. U., will give the address of welcome. Rev. William L. Wishart, of Sharon, has been secured as the principal speaker; and Prof. Alan B. Davis will be in charge of the group singing. Other attractive features have been planned, such as special music by the Westminster College quartet, and violin solos by Prof. Eldon Murray, with Doris Shawkey as accompanist.

Walker Brownlee, presbyterial director of banquet activities, is in charge of all arrangements, and guarantees an evening of fun and good fellowship. In his plans for the evening's program he has been aided by Ruth Wagoner, Dorothy Sellar, Matthew Gilliland, and Herbert Smith.

DR. GALBREATH PREACHES AT MONONGOHELA CHURCH

Dr. R. F. Galbreath was the speaker at one of a series of special prayer services in the First Presbyterian church in Monongahela, Pa., from January 11 to January 16.

Women To Form Branch of U. W. Here February 6

ORGANIZATION MEETING PLANNED FOR FEB. 6

A branch of the American association of University Women, an organization open to former students and graduates of accredited colleges and universities, will be organized at a meeting to be held here Saturday, February 6, at 3 o'clock.

The meeting at which organization will be effected will be held in the Conservatory of Music building on Market street. Mrs. Lucille Nevin McKelvey, former president of the Pittsburgh chapter, A.A.U.W., will be the speaker.

Graduates and former students of approved colleges who now reside in New Castle, New Wilmington, Sharan, Mercer, and Youngstown, O., are eligible to become members of the new branch of the organization, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women at Westminster and a member of the committee in charge, states.

DR. MOORHEAD HAS ARTICLE PRINTED IN SCIENCE REVIEW

Dr. John Moorhead, assistant professor of physics, has an article on "Near infrared Absorption Spectrum of Methane", in the January issue of the Physical Review, the official research publication of the American Physical Society. A second article will appear in the same publication in an early issue.

Dr. Moorhead is a member of the American Physical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Indiana Academy of Science. He is also a member of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity.

At the present time, Dr. Moorhead has charge of the courses in heat, mechanics, and thermodynamics as well as the lecture and laboratory classes in physics I.

"R. U. R." WILL BE PRODUCED HERE THIS SEMESTER

Professor A. T. Cordray plans to present "R.U.R.—Rossum's Universal Robots" by Karl Capek for the first Little Theatre production this semester. The play deals with the manufacture o fartificial workers who resemble people. The scene is laid about 1950 or 1960, when the secret of creating "people" is discovered. Try-outs for parts will be announced later and all students are eligible to trp for a part.

In the class in acting drama work in radio plays will be done. If this is successful, the class will have a chance to broadcast their plays from Youngstown station WKBN.

SOPHOMORE DANCE COMMITTEE PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Plans are nearing completion for the dance to be given under the auspices of the Sophomore class on Saturday evening, February 13.

Cornwell Tragesser's band from Beaver Valley has been engaged by chairman, Cromwell Ketterer.

The dance committee composed of Jane Baker, Ruth Hayes, Gretchen Welch, Charles Deabler, and Paul McMinn have been working to make the affair a Sophomore success.

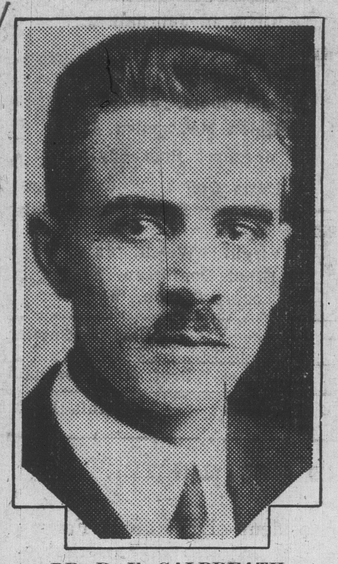
"Old Main" Fire Occured Five Years Ago, Jan. 24

TAKES OFFICE



DR. R. F. GALBREATH

DR. GALBREATH TO ASSUME OFFICE OF PRESIDENT TODAY

The Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, '07, pastor of the Bellvue Presbyterian church, assumes office as the eighth president of Westminster with the start of the second semester tomorrow.

Dr. Galbreath enters his new office with the enthusiastic support of students, faculty, alumni, trustees, and townspeople.

Dr. Galbreath takes the office filled by Dr. Charles Freeman, acting president. Dr. Freeman, a member of the Westminster faculty for the last 37 years, dean of the college for 20 years, and twice acting as president, has been a loyal, successful, understanding leader. As he recomes back to his alma mater at an will continue to be Westminster's "grand old man", though perennially young.

Dr. Galbreath, alumnus, pastor, chaplain in the World War, leader in civic and social organizations, comes bacg to his alma mater at an opportune time. Enthusiasm is high, enrollment is high, the finances of the college are encouraging, equipment and facilities are excellent.

Westminster will go forward to heights undreamed with the cooperation of church, alumni, students, and faculty members, and under the inspiration of the eighth president, Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

FACULTY MEMBER PLANS UNIQUE MAIL SYSTEM

With 16 Washingtons heard from, and with letters from 12 more cities and towns named Washington now in the mails, P. R. Smaltz, Jr., Pittston, Pa., will have what he believes to be a unique collection of the new bi-centennial postage stamps, recently issued in honor of Washington's 200th birthday.

The stamps and letters are being sent Mr. Smaltz by his cousin, Prof. R. X. Graham of the Westminster faculty. Prof. Graham merely mailed the letters to the postmasters of 28 towns and cities named Washington, and asked that they be stamped and sent on the Smaltz. Most of the letters are air mail or special delivery, and range from the dark brown ½-cent to the orange 10-cent. They represent 12 different Washington portraits.

INITIAL CALL MADE FOR GIRLS' CAGE TEAMS

Miss Nandeen Love has issued notice of the girls' basketball practices scheduled to take place every Monday and Thursday afternoons throughout February.

Practices will begin on Thursday, February 4, with non-sorority girls and all Freshmen reporting between 3 and 4:30 p. m., and sorority girls from 4:30 until 5.

There will be an intersorority basketball tournament sometime in early March, and a color tournament composed of teams from the Freshman class.

BUILDING DESTROYED COMPLETELY BY FLAMES

Five years ago, on the first morning of first semester final examinations, January 24, 1927, Old Main, main structure of Westminster was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin.

The fire was discover early in the morning by Thomas Wherry, night watchman. Fire engines from Sharon and New Castle were called, but the old building was the prey of flames before help could arrive.

Only the faculty members and a few seniors who dropped out of school a year and returned of the college group remember the disastrous fire of that early January morning in 1927. The college family was noticeably discouraged as the old building was devoured.

A special meeting of students and faculty was held in the local United Presbyterian church later in the morning. Following this, a special meeting of the faculty was held. Plans were made to go head with semester final examinations. A. A. McDonald was dispatched to Pittsburgh to get examination paper.

Late that afternoon, another faculty meeting was held in the Conservatory building. Here an examination schedule was drawn up, classrooms were arranged for in the United Presbyterian church, the gymnasium, and the New Wilmington Club rooms.

Semester examinations started the following morning. College offices were moved to the Conservatory building, and although records were in a safe buried in the debris, college business went on as usual.

As if to encourage the faculty and board, student enrollment for the second semester and for the following fall term increased. Improvised classrooms were used for two years while the new main building was under construction.

Old Main Memorial, new building, was used for the first time for final examinations at the end of the 1928-1929 year. In September, 1929, the building was occupied for the first time.

QUARTET GIVES SACRED RECITAL

Sing at Freedom Methodist Church On January 24

A sacred concert was presented by the Westminster varsity quartet in the Freedom Methodist Episcopal church, Sabbath evening, January 24.

The program included nine numbers consisting of solo numbers and group singing.

The quartet is composed of Homer Dishong, first tenor; Thomas Grenfell, second tenor; William McMunn, baritone; and William Frack, bass. Paul McKnight was accompanist. Prof. Alan B. Davis directed the quartet and sang one solo number.

Y. W. C. A. TO HOLD BENEFIT TEA NEXT SATURDAY AT THREE

Dorothy Tinker chairman, announces the completion of the plans for a Japanese Tea to be held in the Hillside parlors on Saturday afternoon, January 6.

Tea will be served from three until five, and a program of music will be presented. Twenty-five cents admission will be charged, and the proceeds will be given to the Unemployment Relief Fund. Members of Miss Tinker's committee are conducting a house-to-house canvass during the week, and townspeople and students are being urged to cooperate with the Y. W. C. A. to insure its success.

DR. GALBREATH IS HONORED BY ALUMNI, BOARD

A luncheon in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath was held in the Keystone Athletic Club, Pittsburgh, on January 27.

The luncheon was tendered by the Pittsburgh alumni and the board of trustees of the college.

DR. GALBREATH AND WESTMINSTER

Hail to Westminster's eighth president—Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath! All Westminster joins in expressing confidence in the new leader, assurance of whole-hearted cooperation, enthusiasm for the future.

As head oarsman of the ship—if we are to use the Greek meaning of "minister"—Dr. Galbreath will fill the office admirably. The oarsman is distinguished from the mate in that one pulls on the oars while the other merely watches. Dr. Galbreath, as student, pastor, chaplain, and civic leader, has always "pulled on the oar."

Such a leader exemplifies several principles of conduct. In the first place, leaders of Dr. Galbreath's type accept the test of efficiency. Those who are not too proud to work give evidence of enlarged efficiency and sense of capacity.

A further condition to efficiency of a college president is that of cooperation. It will not be enough that students and faculty members, alumni and trustees, each pull on their own oars. They must all PULL TOGETHER to help the head oarsman. The final test of officiency is, after all, the ability to keep stroke.

Keeping stroke means discipline. If one be rowing by himself, and for his own amusement, he may be as careless as he please. It is as reasonable for him to drift as it is to pull. But students, professors, alumni, trustees—all are enlisted as members of the crew, and each must accept discipline and go into training. Each one's efficiency will depend on the patience and intelligence of his loyalty to the new leader.

Dr. Galbreath,—we are confident that you will pull your oar, will stroke the boat We must here make promise that we will pull with you.

Bon Voyage and God Speed, Westminster!

DR. FREEMAN

Westminster's grand old man, Dr. Charles Freeman, again resumes his duties as teacher and dean after acting as president in the interim between the administrations of Dr. W. Charles Wallace and Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

To Dr. Freeman it must be a source of real joy to realize that graduates of Old Westminster for 37 years know him, revere him, and look to him as a great teacher and a true gentleman.

Merely to have survived through 37 years, through four administrations, to have been acting president twice, to have been dean for 20 years would in itself be something. But to have survived so admirably, to have "worn so well" with all the generations of Westminster students ,and to have kept the love and esteem of alumni and friends of the college through the years, and to have grown with the college—that indeed is a rare accomplishment.

BUSINESS VS. VISION

That which gives to any country its stability and strength is not the immediate prosperity which it has gained, but the national ideals which pervade its life. Has it any vision for the future? That, finally, is the question.

Rome, with its youthful vision of robust and conquering manhood, had the world at her feet; Rome, in the maturity of self-centered power and indulgence, even in her greatest prosperity, was doomed to decline.

Greece, persuaded by the vision of ideal beauty, became the teacher of the world; Greece, without a vision, the idolater of sensual beauty, became the warning of the world.

America, the victim of her own prosperity, commercialism, and forgetfulness, blinded by the very brightness of her real possessons so that she could not see her ideal interests,—this America was brought to her senses, or should have been, in 1931.

If we have vision in 1932, we will not again suffer a mental, spiritual, and moral depression. "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

PRESS REPORTERS VISIT THE CAMPUS

Lester Biederman, sports reporter, and Ray Gallivan, photographer, of the Pittsburgh Press staff visited the campus yesterday and took photos of the Titan basketball players, Coach Lawther, and the squad.

Beiderman plans to run a special feature story on the Titans in an issue of the Press this week. This recognition of Coach Lawther and his team on the part of a Pittsburgh paper is evidence of the high standing of Westminster in the eyes of district fans.

DEAN AGAIN

DR. CHARLES FREEMAN

Dr. Charles Freeman, for the last 37 years a member of the faculty, again becomes dean and head of the chemistry department after acting as president since last spring.

Dr. Freeman has been dean for 20 years. He has served through four administrations, and has been acting president twice.

WELCOME,

Dr.

Galbreath

Westminster Swamps Carroll At Cleveland By 62-24

BROWNLEE TALLIES TOTAL OF 29 POINTS IN CONTEST

In one of the most finished performances seen on a Cleveland collegiate basketballl court in many seasons, Westminster defeated John Carroll University by the almost unbelievable score of 62 to 23 Saturday night, Jan. 23.

The Titans, who previously during the week had run up 52-30 and 58-26 scores on Geneva and Thiel colleges, set a compartively sedate pace in the first half to lead by 29-12. During the second half the visitors seemed obsessed with the idea that they were trailing instead of leading, so they opened up a steady barrage on the baskets that netted 33 points.

Harry Brownlee, lanky center, alone scored enough points to defeat John Carroll, tallying 13 field goals and three fouls for a total of 29. Kocheran and Siljander, the visiting forwards, together tallied 10 field goals and five fouls, or 25 points, two more than the Cleveland team.

The large crowd which witnessed this sterling exhibition of court play on the part of the Pennsylvania outfit marveled from beginning to end at the precision with which the visitors garnered points, staved off Carroll rallies, and acted as if they were masters of the situation every minute.

The lineups:

Titan Captain

PHIL RICE
Guard

Phil Rice, for the second year the captain of the Titan basketball team has been playing stellar ball as usual at guard. Rice will lead his mates against Waynesburg on the home court Saturday night.

The Man On the Chapel Steps Sez . . .

The return of Bill Douglass to the Westminster campus and basketball squad has increased the assets of athletics here considerably. Westminster reserve material is not just as strong as it might be for the strenuous Tri-State campaign just ahead, and Bill's return to the cause will be readily appreciated as the season progresses. Welcome, Bill!

Much of the confusion at the doors of the gym might be eliminated if the turnstile was removed. The aparatus might be valuable to the athletic department as a checker of admissions to the games, but from the standpoint of a person attempting to enter the gym in the mob that is clamoring for admission, such a system can be called the "bunk." At the recent Geneva game, the writer dolled himself up in his Sunday overalls but he had to play a juvenile football game in order to enter the sacred portals of the gymnasium. Such a condition is not necessary, if the ticket takers are on the alert for "gate crashers."

Prof. Graham was taken for a buggy ride by "Tommy" Gibbons, Sharon News-Telegraph sports writer recently, because of a story sent out concerning the Titan basketball team. 'Sall right, Tommy, but we like it. At least, it shows that you are interested enough in Westminster to read the news sent out, even if you do kid us about it.

Traxler Clotheires, classy basketball team of Sharon, has asked the writer if any frat teams would like to engage in a series of home and home battles. Games can be arranged with Ken Mehl. a member of the sophomore class and forward on the Sharon outfit.

Who was the Westminster student who left his overcoat at the "Cottage", Masury, Ohio, the other evening. We wonder!

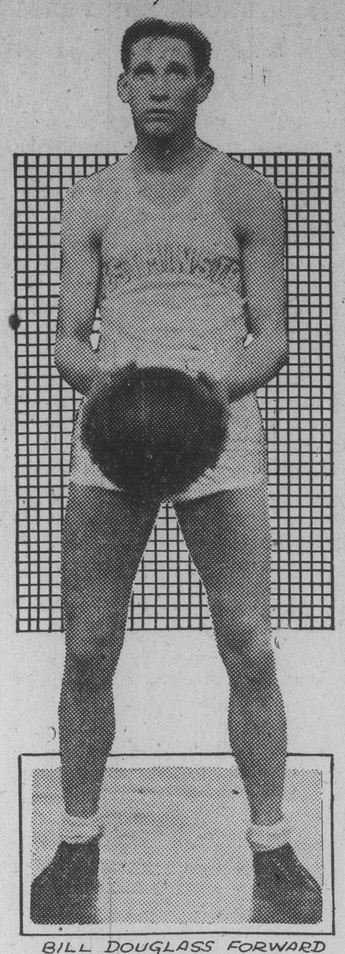
And look what the cat dragged in from Meadville. It is very amusing both from the standpoint of news and veracity.

RETURNS



BILL DOUGLASS FORWARD

Bill Dougless, star frosh forward on last year's championship basketball team, returned to college yesterday to enrol for the second semester. Douglass spent the first semester in Iowa City, Iowa. He reported for basketball Monday night.

A prediction that other small colleges of western Pennsylvania would follow the lead of Allegheny in removing professionalism from sports was made last night by President William E. Tolley of Allegheny.

He said four other schools, Thiel, Grove City, Geneva and Westminster are laboring under a huge expenditure for sports, each fearing the consequence, but, that when they see Allegheny successfully change its system next year, they soon will follow the lead.

Geo. Washington U. Added To Titan Football Card

TWO NEW OPPONENTS ADDED TO GRID SCHEDULE

Following negotiations with two new opponents, the Athletic Council announces that the 1932 football schedule, previously released, has been revised. The card now contains nine games, four of which are at home.

Adrian College, previously carded for the home field on October 1, has been dropped, and George Washington University, Washington, D. C. has been given the date for a contest to be played at Washington. The open date, October 8, has been filled by St. Francis who will play the first of a two-year game series at New Wilmington on that date this fall.

Other new opponents on the card, replacing Allegheny college and Edinboro State of last year's schedule, are St. Bonaventures, to be played at Olean, N. Y. on Oct. 22; and Muskingum college, to be played at New Concord, O., on Nov. 12.

The complete schedule:
Sept. 24, Slippery Rock college
Oct. 1, at George Washington Uni.
Oct. 8 St. Francis
Oct. 15, at Grove City
Oct. 22, at St. Bonaventures
Oct. 29, Waynesburg
Nov. 5, Thiel
Nov 12, at Muskingum
Nov. 19, at Geneva

Vincent Named Track-Coach

Slippery Rock State Teachers College will have a track team this spring, according to an announcement made public last week. Arthur P. Vincent, one of the finest track stars ever developed at Westminster, will be the coach of the new sport.

For several years Slippery Rock has felt the need of track as a varsity sport. This is true largely because of the health education course where so many graduates are called upon to teach and coach track and field athletes in connection with their gymnasium work. The placing of the sport on the varsity list has been delayed to a great extent by the fact that no field was available. With the rebuilding of the athletic field, a suitable tracks was placed at the disposal of Vincent and his squad.

Vincent, a graduate of Westminster in 1916, is now a teacher at Slippery Rock. While at Westminster, Vincent was interested in all varsity sports, and was a member of the various squads.

INTRA-MURAL COURT CARD

Titan Cagers To Play Three Games This Week

TWO YOUNGSTOWN TEAM AND CONFERENCE TILT LISTED

Westminster will swing into action in three games this week, two being played in Ohio, and the third on the local court. Wednesday evening, the Titans tackle the Struthers O'Brien Almer Billiards in a big charity game in Struthers for the benefit of the needy school children of that community. Thursday, the Youngstown Big "Y" team will be met at the Rayen-Wood gymnasium as a prelim to the Fesler-Youngstown All Stars fracas.

Saturday evening, Waynesburg will be met in a conference battle on the local court. The Titans do not expect to have much difficulty with the Jackets here, as they were taken over easily on the Waynesburg court last Saturday evening. However, the game can not be taken too lightly as the conference race is at the present time, very hotly contested. A loss at this stage of the game, after having been defeated at Grove City, means the fadeout of Westminster's hopes for a conference title for the third consecutive year.

Lawthermen Have Little Trouble In Three Tri State Wins

GENEVA, THIEL, AND WAYNESBURG ARE TROUNCED

Keeping time with the merry pace set in the Geneva fray, Westminster administered a 58-26 lacing to Thiel on the Greenville court. Westminster held a 27-7 lead at the half and piled up the points at will. Brownlee, Kocheran, and Blaner led the Titans in the scoring department, while Thomas and Harter headed the Lutherans.

Captain Phil Rice was injured in the melee under the hoop in the last half and was forced to leave the fray.

Lineups:

Westminster	G.	F.	P.
Kocheran, F	5	2-3	14
Siljander, F	1	2-4	4
Brownlee, C	9	1-4	19
Rice, G	4	1-2	9

Clarke, F	1	0-0	2
Totals	7	12-18	26

Showing that punch and power that has corraled a Tri-State flag for the past two seasons, Westminster had little difficulty in setting back Geneva in a league fray, to the tune of a 52-30 score.

Mike Kocheran, playing the best game of his entire college career led the Titans on to victory with his stellar floor work and marvelous basket making. Shooting from almost every known position, Mike could not miss. His floor work on the defense was the smoothest displayed by any Titan this season.

Bud Brownlee again led the scoring with 16 markers, with Kocheran and Siljander following close behind with 15 and 10 poins respectively.

Westminster	G.	F.	P.
Kocheran, F	7	1-1	15

Totals	10	10-12	30

Led again by the tall, lanky, "Bud" Brownlee, the Westminster Titan basketball team handed the Waynesburg Yellow Jackers a neat 53 to 27 lacing Saturday night. This was another victory chalked up by the Lawthermen in the Tri-State Conference. Incidently the Westminster team maintained their "50 points or better" average.

At the end of the first half the Westminsterites held a 29 to 9 lead. Coach Lawther used many of his substitutes in the latter part of the fracas.

Crimson Cagers Are Ineligible

Grove City college's basketball chances were given a severe setback, Friday, when it was announced that "Bill" Hamilton, stellar center, and Joe Toskin, sub guard, were ineligible for the remainder of the cage season.

Hamilton had been filling the pivot post in good style and was rated as one of the best defensive men in the entire district.

Westminster fans regreat this deeply as they had expected to see a real battle between real centers when Grove City comes here for a return game on March 8. Hamilton held Brownlee, Titan ace, to one lone count and an interesting battle was predicted in the return fracas.

Engagement of J. A. Hunter Announced In Schenectady

Of interest to Westminster folk is the following announcement published recently in The Schenectady Gazette, Schenectady, New York:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Davis Harnden, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothea Davis Harnden, to the Reverend John A. Hunter, Jr., of Donora, Pennsylvania, at a formal dinner given New Year's Eve.

"Miss Harnden is a senior in the College of Fine Arts at Syracuse university, and is a member of the social fraternity, Pi Beta Phi; the national honorary musical fraternity, Sigma Alpha Iota; the senior honorary activities society, Phi Kappa Phi and the national honorary scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa."

The Rev. Mr. Hunter is a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hunter, Sr., of West Middlesex, Pennsylvania. He was graduated from Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, in 1924 and Princeton Theological seminary in 1930, spending the past year in graduate study in Edinburgh university, Scotland. Since September, 1931, the Rev. Mr. Hunter has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Donora.

ALUMNUS IS PRAISED FOR WORK AS SECRETARY

HUGH GAMBLE

Hugh Gamble, valedictorian of the Class of 1927, captain of the basketball team, All-Conference center, and winner of the Tri-State Conference medal, comes in for praise in a recent report of the Sharon Buhl Club. An article appearing in the Sharon Herald last week follows:

"One of the most successful years in recent history of the F. H. Buhl Club is being enjoyed, reports given by the various committees at a recent meeting of the board of directors showed.

"Before Hugh Gamble was named secretary, last summer, directors considered closing the institution for a period of at least one year because of lack of funds. Finally, it was voted to open the club and Mr. Gamble was placed in charge. Under his capable direction, most of the outstanding bills have been paid and a reduction has been made on other debts. William F. Whitla, William Armstrong and Elmer Bieber, of the finance committee, reported the institution in better financial condition now than in many years.

"This progress has been made with no sacrifice to the activities which have been increased in every department during the year."

DR. ANDERSON, '88, MISSIONARY TO INDIA, IS DEAD

The Rev. Dr. William Thompson Anderson, well-known United Presbyterian missionary to India, died on Thursday, January 21, at the home of his daughter. Mrs. Robert Foster, of Sialkot, India. Because of illness, Dr. Anderson had recently retired, preparatory to a return to this country.

A Westminster graduate of the Class of 1888, Dr. Anderson was one of the veteran missionaries in the Indian field. Graduating from Pittsburgh Seminary in 1891, Dr. Anderson sailed that same year for India, where he spent the remainder of his life in missionary service. Not only was he engaged in missionary work himself, but he has had the satisfaction of seeing four of his children at work in mission fields.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Anderson '03, and seven children, all of whom are graduates of Westminster. They are: Mrs. Wendell Duff, '17, Moga, India; Mrs. Robert Foster, '20, Sialkot, India; Rev. J. Lowrie Anderson, '22, United Presbyterian missionary to the Sudan; Rev. Maurice Anderson, '25, India; Wilbur Anderson, '21, contractor, New Wilmington; Miss Elizabeth Anderson, '28, student in Margaret Morrison Institute, Pittsburgh; and Theodore Anderson, 31, now attending the White Bible School, New York City.

MARY EMMA MEHARD, CLASS OF '77, IS DEAD

Miss Mary Emma Mehard, former resident of Pittsburgh, and daughter of the late Rev. Dr. William A. Mehard and Martha J. Mehard, died two weeks ago in her home in Los Angeles, Calif. Miss Mehard was a graduate of Westminster, Class of 1877, where her father was a professor.

She leaves two brothers, William R. Mehard, of Glendale, Calif., and Attorney Charles E. Mehard, of Pittsburgh. Funeral services were held from the Wee Kirk of the Heather in Los Angeles. Burial was in Forest Lawn cemetery, Calif.

OLD COPIES OF HOLCAD WANTED FOR OFFICE FILE

The management of the Westminster Holcad would like to have the Alumni of Westminster college look in their attics and out-of-the-way places, and see how many of the early copies of the Holcad that they can find.

The Holcad files that the College Office had before the fire in 1927 were lost. As it is the policy of every newspaper to keep a record of every paper that it publishes, it is the desire of the Holcad to begin to collect such a file. However, we cannot do this without the complete support of our alumni friends.

We trust that you will all look for some previous issues, and simply mail them to The Holcad.

From time to time, a list will be given of the copies received. At preasent, the only copies that are on hands are those of the years 1929-1930, 1930-1931, and 1931-1932.

One or two have been turned in from the year 1912, and 1913, but even those years are not as yet complete.

We are most anxious to receive a copy of every issue from the first issue, which was published some time in 1884.

Will you help us, Alumni, and friends of Westminster college?

We will have a list in next week's issue, telling of the copies we have received because of this article. We want you all to do your little share, in building up a complete file of our Westminster Holcad, which is soon to be in its fiftieth year of publication.

ALUMNI ON REFORM DIRECTORS BOARD

Two Westminster alumni are members of the board of directors of The National Reform Association, with headquarters in Pittsburgh.

They are S. K. Cunningham, '07, and the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, '89, both of Pittsburgh. Attorney Cunningham is a member of the Westminster board of trustees, and Dr. Robinson is a former member of the board.

ALUMNUS REVIEWS BOOKS FOR PRESS

Wilson Botsford Makes Good As Newspaper Writer

Wilson P. Botsford, '30, a reporter on the staff of the Pittsburgh Press, has been reviewing books for the book review section for a number of weeks. Signed reviews by Botsford have been given top-page space on a number of occasions.

Botsford is attached to the city desk on the daily Press. He covers Bellevue, Ben Avon, and other suburban towns.

While in college, Botsford was manager of basketball, editor of the Holcad, o nthe staff of the Argo, editor of Westminstrel, editor of the handbook, assistant cheer leader, a member of the track team, and a varsity debater. He is a member of Kappa Phi Lambda, Tau Gamma Delta, and Tau Kappa Alpha.

FRANK BURTON, '20, TELLS OF TRADE SCHOOL

Alumnus Is Principal Of Franklin Junior High School

Frank L. Burton, '20, principal of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle, contributes an article on The Trade School to the "Know Your Schools" series of educational bulletins recently published by the school district.

Mr. Burton's article tells of the location, equipment, scope, and aim of the New Castle trade shcool in his article.

In citing reasons for having a trade school, Mr. Burton says:

"By nature, some pupils succeed best in the field of education where hand work has a prominent part.

"While this is an industrial town, the old apprenticeship type of trade training has almost disappeared.

"Boys who are compelled to leave school as soon as they are 16 years old and enter industrial life can be better fitted for that life."

A. W. DICKSON, '18, WRITES ARTICLE FOR MAGAZINE

December's issue of the Cleveland Contractor, trade jorunal for builders throughout Ohio, carried an interesting article, entitled "Getting Back to Sanity," by A. W. Dickson, '18, executive secretary of the Akron Builders Exchange.

The writer of the article says in part, "In order to attempt to forecast probable conditions in the construction industry for the next twelve months, we must take into consideration many more factors than usual. Some facts seem to controvert others and that of itself makes the task a decidedly difficult one."

Dickson points out that construction during the past two years has been considerably below the average for a post war period. However, at the signing of the Armistice back in 1918, the country experienced a boom which resulted in the 'headache' that we are now experiencing. Slowly we are emerging from this ecomic illness with a much better understanding of the fundamental principles of the construction industry.

"If one is inclined to believe in the theory of evolution, it becomes apparent that there will emerge from the ashes of the past few years a new race of men whose souls have been tried in the fires of adversity and whose minds have been set on building a better industry, one that will never again allow itself to be dragged to the depths it reached in the past few years.

TRI-STATE CONFERENCE SCORING LEADERS

"Bud" Brownlee, Titan pivot ace ranks with the scoring leaders of the East. "Bud" has garnered a total of 222 points to date, making 92 baskets from the field and adding 28 free throws.

Playing only part of the majority of the frays, Brownlee has scored heavily while in action and then retires from the fracas to watch a substitue perform.

His record of point scoring is as follows:

Dr. Galbreath Presented at First Chapel Wednesday

STUDENTS GIVE NEW PRESIDENT OVATION

Dr. R. F. Galbreath was given an ovation by students and faculty members at the first chapel assembly of the second semester, last Wednesday morning. It was Dr. Galbreath's first appearance before the student body as president.

Dr. Charles Freeman, acting president since last spring, opened the service. He introduced Dr. Galbreath by saying, "Young ladies and getlemen—the president of Westminster College."

Dr. Galbreath thanked the assembly for its enthusiastic ovation. He said, "I feel somewhat like some of your freshmen who are entering college for the first time. But I am taking a post-graduate course. I want to learn to know all of you."

The new president continued by saying that our tomorrows depend upon today, and concluded by saying, "I shall, I know, enjoy working with all of you."

Paul's letter to the Ephesians, 6: 10, was read by Dr. Galbreath as the scripture lesson. The new president then led in prayer.

Dr. Freeman made a number of announcements, and the first chapel service of the new semester was ended by the singing of a psalm.

FACULTY HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF SEMESTER

President R. F. Galbreath presided at the first faculty meeting of the second semester last Thursday afternoon in the Little Theatre.

Dr. Charles Freeman opened the meeting, and then turned the business of the day over to President Galbreath.

Dr. Galbreath gave a short talk in which he said that Westminster will go far with the cooperation of faculty members, students, and alumni.

In addition to usual routine business, a petition from sororities asking for second semester initiation of study rooms for commuters, and of pledges, consideration of study rooms for commuters, and discussion of lrst semester academic casualties made an enthusiastic meeting which lasted from 4:30 until 6.

DEMONSTRATE NEW CALCULATOR TO BUSINESS CLASS

On Friday, February 5, Mr. Hegbert from Youngstown demonstrated the Marchant Electric Calculator to business classes of the college. This machine with its new improvements enable one to save from 25 to 40 percent of the time usually spent in figuring.

Mr. Hegbert demonstrated how one could multiply and divide automatically; add and subtract with automatic stopcontrol; check keyboard set up; space the carriage electrically in either direction; and clear all figures instantly by touching a button.

FIVE GRADUATE STUDENTS TAKE SPECIAL COURSES

Five graduate students are enrolled in the college this semester, Dr. J. A. Swindler announces.

They are George McDonald, a graduate of Westminster; Olga Gojdics, a graduate of Carnegie Tech; Mona Sowash, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland and Carnegie Tech; Margaret Sage; James Wible, music.

Students transferring from othed schools are: William P. Douglass, Iowa University; William H. Gillespie, Temple University; Katherine Jane McCrea, Wilson; Franklin Webb, Carnegie Tech; Raymond Hodge, Ohio State; and James Coleman, Duke University.

New students entering include: Dorothy Cowder, Youngstown, O.; Thelma Merrilees, New Castle; Letitia Oster, Swissvale; Frank Baldwin, New Castle; Edwin Rae, New Castle; N. Sidney Strauss, Cleveland Heights, O.; Ethel Francis Thomas, Youngstown, O.; and Mary Carlton Wright, Youngstown, O.

Y. W. C. A. SPONSORS BENEFIT TEA IN HILLSIDE PARLORS

Dorothy Tinker Heads General Committee

Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, Mrs. Charles Freeman, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, Virginia Boyd, and Dorothy Tinker composed the receiving line at the charity tea which was held in Hillside parlors last Saturday afternoon, February 6, from 2 until 3 o'clock.

It has been decided that the funds derived from the tea, which were formerly intended for the benefit of the unemployed in New Castle, are to be used for the relief of needy families in New Wilmington.

Mrs. J. W. Swindler, Mrs. E. B. Russell, Mrs. J. A. Orr, Miss Elizabeth Ailman, and Miss Florence White poured.

General chairman, Dorothy Tinker, was assisted by Ruth Weller, Virgil Wettich, Ruth Rouse, Marion Johnston, Dorothy Grant, Virginia Kerins, Clara Sherwin, Janet White, Annabel Stevenson, Anne Thomas, Betty Greer, Jane Gilmore, Anna Ruth Martin, Katherine Jane McCrea, Elaine Nagel, Martha Beedle, Lucille Litman, Eugene Thomas, Elizabeth Curtis, Betty Griffith, and Florence Groth.

Patronesses of the charity function were, namely: Mrs. A. T. Cordray, Mrs. E. B. Russell, Mrs. Bertha A. Bay, Mrs. Kathryn Fulton, Miss Florence White, Miss Mildred Ailman, Miss Corinne Mercer, Miss Grace Lawrence, Miss Isabel Ramsey, and Miss Dorothy Kirkbride.

Heads of the committees were as follows: Dorothy McGeoch, advertising; Isabel Kildoo, decorations; Virginia Fleming, refreshments; Ruth Wagoner, tickets; and Mary and Martha Morrow.

Several musical selections featured the program of the tea. Those taking part were Prof. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis, Edgar Shaffer, and the Phi Pi Phi trio.

All sororities and fraternities made liberal contributions to the benefit fund.

OLD GRADUATE OF WINONA LAKE DIES SUDDENLY

Rev. J. S. Hill, retired, of Winona Lake, Indiana, died at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. C. W. Boucher, New Kensington, Pa., Saturday morning, January 23, of angina pectoris. The funeral service was held on Tuesday, January 26, in charge of the pastor of the Parnassus United Presbyterian church, Rev. F. M. Black. He was in his 70th year at the time of his death.

Mr. Hill was born near Freeport, Pa., graduated from Westminster College in 1887 and from Pittsburgh Thelogical Seminary in 1890.

Among the pulpits which he has occupied are New Florence and West Fairfield, Pa.; Latrobe, Pa.; Martins Ferry, Ohio; Richmond, Indiana; Second Chicago, Illinois; Hooperston, Illinois, and Tird Rock Island, Illinois. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Caroline PorterHi ll, and three children, Mary Porter, John M. and James S., Jr. Rev. Hill was formerly one of the members of the Pittsburgh Seminary Faculty.

ROTARY CLUB PLANS DINNER IN HONOR OF DR. GALBREATH

The New Wilmington Rotary Club will have a dinner in honor of Dr. R. F. Galbreath next Monday evening in the Wyatt Lodge at 6:30.

A number of guests, including men of the faculty, have been invited.

Dr. Galbreath was formerly a member of the Pittsburgh Rotary Club but has had his membership changed to the local club.

GRADUATE COURSES FOR TEACHERS ARE BEING OFFERED

Professors Shott And Euwema Teach New Classes

Graduate courses for school teachers started last Saturday morning with Professor J. A. Shott and Professor Ben Euwema in charge.

Professor Euwema met a number of teechers interested in graduate work in English, and organized a class in The Romantic Movement in England.

Professor Shott met a group of people interested in educational sociology.

Both these classes will start work this Saturday morning, and teachers interested may register this week, Professor Shott states.

These courses are accepted by the State Department of Public Instruction, and count toward certification in the State. Arrangements will be made to offer extension courses in these subjects to suit the convenience of teachers.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SOPHOMORE DANCE SATURDAY

USE VALENTINE SCHEME FOR DECORATIONS

An effective lighting system is to be a feature of the Valentine color scheme to be used in decorating the college gymnasium for the Sophomore Jamboree to be held there this coming Saturday evening, February 13. The decoration committee consists of Clara Sherwin, Miriam Davison, Elaine Nagel, Evelyn Judson, Jane Black, Betty Newell, and Jean Miller, chairman.

KETTERER

Other members of the general committee are Jane Baker, Gretchen Welch, Ruth Hayes, Charles Deabler, and Paul McMinn.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell and Prof. and Mrs. R. X. Graham have been asked to be chaperons of the Sophomore dance.

Cornwell Tragesser's band from Beaver Valley has been engaged for the occasion.

Hours of dancing will be from 8 to 11:30 p. m. and the admission price is $1 per couple.

SORORITIES GET SECOND SEMESTER INITIATION GRANT

Faculty Passes Favorably on Petition Of Co-ed Groups

Passing favorably upon a petition submitted to the faculty by the heads of the various sororities on the campus, professors granted second semester initiation privileges to the co-ed groups at the meeting of the faculty held last Thursday.

According to the existing rule, sororities were allowed to pledge freshman girls during the first semester, but were not given permission to initiate until the sophomore year.

By the new arrangement, pledges of the sororities may be initiated by the various chapters during the second semester, although there is no compulsion in the matter.

National groups have varied rulings regarding initiations, but all make provision for those who do not wish to be initiated until the sophomore year.

Of the seven sororities on the campus, five are national. The sororities are: Chi Omega, Sigma Kappa, Omicron Mu Gamma, Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Alpha Alpha, and Theta Upsilon.

MRS. C. B. ROBERTSON ORGANIZES BRANCH CHAPTER OF A.A.U.W.

Plans were completed for the organization of a chapter of the American Association of University Women in New Wilmington at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, February 6.

Graduates of accredited colleges who now reside in New Castle, Sharon, Mercer, or Youngstown are eligible for membership. Mrs. J. N. Swan and Mrs. Charles Freeman assisted Mrs. C. B. Robertson in effecting organization.

FIRST NUMBER OF ALUMNI BULLETIN ISSUED LAST WEEK

The first issue of the Westminster Alumni Bulletin, dated February, was sent to alumni and former students last week.

Copy for the bulletin was written by a number of alumni, and the issue was edited by Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Alumni Association.

The cover for the publication is attractively printed in blue ink, depicting the Old Main Memorial Mr. Jones.

Articles in the bulletin concern President R. F. Galbreath; Dr. Charles Freeman; "Westminster, Old and New," by Dr. J. N. Swan; the Alumni Association; and Westminster's Presidents.

There are illustrations of the buildings and pictures of Dr. Galbreath, Dr. Freeman, and all presidents of Westminster up to 1932.

Dr. Elliott Makes Another Gift to Economic Department

BRINGS HIS TOTAL GIFTS BEYOND $10,000

Dr. Samuel Elliott, local benefactor of the college, donor of the beautiful pipe organ in the college chapel, and the man after whom the library of the Department of Economics and Business Administration has been named, has made another contribution of $1,500 to the Economics department, as announced by Professor C. W. McKee.

This latest gift is for additional equipment and expenditures for the department in order that it will have all the facilities and equipment of the best departments in the coountry. The gift brings the total of Dr. Elliott's benevolences to the department of Economics and Business Administration at Westminster to more than $10,000, including cash, books, and equipment.

Dr. Elliott is to be congratulated on his interest in and his splendid liberality toward Westminster and toward the department of Economics and Business Administration in particular.

Y. M. C. A. Gives Intra-Mutral Basketball Loving Cups

NOTICE

Students are asked to be on hand early tonight for the Allegheny game. Almost all seats were reserved this morning, and late arrivals at the gymnasium tonight may find it hard to get in.

TWO SPEAKERS ON ARTIST COURSE FOR FEBRUARY PROGRAM

An illustrated lecture by Major James Sawders on "The Wonderland of Mexico" will be given at the Community House at 8:15 p. m. on Wednesday, February 17.

Students will be admitted upon presentation of season tickets. Others interested in the lecture will be admitted for fifty cents.

"What America Means To Me" will be the appropriate theme of a lecture to be delivered by the renowned Welch humorist, Evans, in the college chapel on Monday morning, February 22.

No admission will be charged for this public lecture to be given as part of the college chapel program on the bicentennial anniversary of Washington's birthday.

JUNIOR PROM PLANS ARE PROGRESSING

Plans for the Junior Prom, to be held some time next month, are progressing, Virginia Kerins, chairman, announces. Permission has been received to hold the dance on a Friday evening. A list of chaperons and patrons will be announced soon.

STUDENT CANVASS WORK FOR NEXT YEAR PROGRESSES

Under direction of William A. Johns, new personnel director, work on student canvass for next year is progressing rapidly.

A special illustrated letter to be used in correspondence, a two-color bulletin for high schools, a small catalog brief, and other printed pieces have been prepared by Professors Ben Euwema and R. X. Graham for Mr. Johns.

Later in the year, a number of professors will be sent to high schools to speak at assemblies as was done last year.

A number of applications for admission have been received from high school seniors already, and, in response to the first letters sent out by Mr. John's office, a large number of high school students have written the College asking for catalogs and further information.

ORGANIZATION UPHOLDS PHYSICAL WELL BEING

The Y. M. C. A. of Westminster has donated a silver loving cup to be offered the winner of the intramural basketball league, Charles Fulton, president of the "Y", announces.

Standing for development of the physical and mental as well as the moral well-being of student men, the "Y" has, by this donation, encouraged one of the most enthusiastic activities of the physical education department.

Westminster's Y. M. C. A., always a purposeful organization on the campus, has, in past years, backed the freshman handbook project, the annual "Who's Who", intra-mural sports, freshman scholarship, the annual week of special religious services, and the Christian Associations sermon at commencement.

The local "Y" sponsored boxing and wrestling bouts in the gymnasium three years ago.

YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD PRESBYTERIAL HERE ON MONDAY NIGHT

Rev. William L. Wishart, pastor of the Sharon Presbyterian church, was the main speaker at the third annual banquet of the Mercer Presbyterial Young People's Christian Union, which was held Monday evening, February 8, in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church.

The banquet was served at 7 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of the New Wilmington church. The Westminster College Quartet, composed of Scott McMunn, William Frack, Thomas Grenfell and Homer Dishong, with Paul McKnight accompanist entertained with songs during the meal and on the program. Prof. B. Davis, Westminster College, led the assembly in group singing and cheers during the evening. Prof. Eldon C. Murray, Westminster College, entertained on the violin, accompanied by Miss Doris Shawkey.

The program complete is as follows:

Star Spangled Banner—Audience standing.

Invocation—Rev. Oscar T. Person, pastor Sharon U. P. church.

Toastmaster—Edwin Anderson, New Wilmington Y. P. C. U.

Greetings—Herbert Smith, New Wilmington Y. P. C. U.

Response—Miss Alice Headley, New Bedford Y. P. C. U.

Address—Rev. William L. Wishart, pastor Sharon Presbyterian church.

Remarks and business—Rev. Henry Ostermeier, secretary of Y. P. C. U. Christian Works; Alice Headley, Mary E. McElheny, Mercer Y. P. C. U.

Benediction—Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor New Wilmington U. P. church.

FACULTY PLANS DINNER PARTY

Will Honor Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath At Informal Party

At a meeting of the Westminster Faculty Club, held Thursday after chapel,, plans were considered for an informal dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath. The dinner will be managed by a committee composed of Dr. B. F. Quick, Prof. A. T. Cordray, Mrs. Ben Euwema, and Miss Florence White. The dinner will be held soon, and probably in New Wilmington.

ENROLL 25 NEW STUDENTS FOR SECOND SEMESTER

Twenty-five new students have entered college at the beginning of the second semester, college officials announce. Almost all are freshmen, most of whom were graduated from mid-year high school classes.

Registrations of students will be accepted up to Thursday, Feb. 11.

The net enrollment is now almost 550, a considerable increase over that of last year.

OUR TOMORROWS

President R. F. Galbreath's quiet, unassuming talk at the first chapel assembly won the students and faculty to him immediately. But it will not be amiss to repeat here what Dr. Galbreath said.

The new president was pleading for perspective in a world which has, at times, "gone modern," cubistic, or impressionistic.

In his second letter to Timothy, Paul says, "A workman that needeth not to be ashamed." He is writing to a young man and telling him that as architect of life, as artist, as artisan, he should work now so that he will not need to be ashamed of the results of his work later.

The Apostle asks young Timothy not to draw his plan of life without the true proportion of small things to great, without a true perspective through its details to its real issues.

The difficulty with many young people, Paul seems to infer, is not that they cannot distinguish between what is true and what is false; but that they do not see the relative dimensions of truth.

The same thing is true in the world of duty . Most of the mistakes of students regarding duties to their clubs and societies, to their lessons and activities, to their religious and social groups, come, not from defiance of their consciences, but from consciences without a sense of proportion. The great duty made small, and the little duty made great—that is the story of many a fretful, worried, over-burdened ,fussy life.

How difficult and puzzling life often grows to a conscience that has lost its sense of proportion. It tries to do right, and still neglects its duty. It borrows much trouble from the future, and wastes the opportunity that is in its hands. It dreams of coming battles, and wakes to find them past.

Using our todays so that we shall have happy tomorrows—the suggestion offered by Dr. Galbreath involves perspective and proportion. It is not enough that we keep busy, that we accomplish things. We must place first things first.

DR. ELLIOTT

Announcement that Dr. Samuel Elliott has again made a gift of $1,500 to the Economics department of the College suggests that the donor is one of Westminster's leading benefactors.

DR SAMUEL ELLIOTT

The library of the department of Business was named in Dr. Elliott's honor two years ago. But he did not cease his interest in the college with this recognition.

Books from his own fine library, cash, and equipment given by Dr. Elliott represent more than $10,000 invested in Westminster. The beautiful pipe organ is another of Dr. Elliott's gifts.

With such a generous succession of gifts to his credit, Dr. Elliott should be the toast of every Westminster student and alumnus. There should also be a sense of pride on the part of the college in that Dr. Elliott keeps in daily touch with the college and its activities, and has found Old Westminster worthy of his generosity.

THE Y.M.C.A. IS STRONG

Donation of a silver loving cup to be awarded the winner of the intramural basketball league by the Westminster Y. M. C. A. is but another indication of the interest the "Y" takes in the varied phases of campus life.

The "Y" fills a need on the campus, has long been a force for good, and should receive the enthusiastic support of all men students in its various activities.

"MOURNING BECOMES ELECTRA"

One often hears mature people, who have lived an active life, comment upon the ambiguity of existence as a whole, upon the utter futility of striving for and achieving ends which at first seem noble, but which ultimately exhibit an exasperating vacuity. One can immediately understand and a catalogue the 'weltschmeitz' of the satiated sensualist in his dotage. It is the same sort of reward which awaits the sanctimonious prude and the fake idealist. The sufferings of these types can be ignored for they are boresome, but what haunts the intelligent man of whatever profession is the realization, as he grows older, that his most intricate plans, his most clever diplomacy, and the keenest edge to which he has developed his culture rarely serve to present him with the slightest aspect of reality, rarely serve to strengthen him in a faith which is pragmatically tenable. The intelligent and sensitive man dies like the most common organism. An obituary appears, a desk is cleared out, and one complete set of bones lies rotting in the shadows of the skyscrapers, libraries, and mansions which for a few short years seemed ends in themselves. No amount of optimistic cheering or pious incantations can dim the awareness of this picture Logical systems of philosophy and the rationization of beliefs add only to the confusion. The salvation of the dull-witted is that they gradually grow numb to everything but the wearisome round of daily toil. A few, by enthroning their emotions, sentimentally disown everything but their immediate small circle of existence.

In every age and in every branch of human endeavor, there has been a small number of men who, intuitively understanding the mingled beauty and pathos of life, have sought, through self-expression, to transcend a fool's reality, and lend a less tenuous quality to the vicariousness of experience. These are the artists.

One of the most popular forms of artistic expression is the drama. In seeking a general reason for its popularity, we immediately come upon a serious fallacy in much dramatic criticism. Whitehead in "Process and Reality" says that a true philosophy works from the particular to the general—that it is futile and unnecessary to assume a proposition and tailor the data of actual experience.

Of equal futility is the attempt of dramatic critics to villify or even to praise a play accordingly as it fits in with some pre-conceived notion of their own. For the play, the particularized occurences in a little rectangle of light before the audience, points, by its very immediacy to important and significant generalities, elucidating them, enlarging their scope, and in rare cases, creating them.

An interesting example of the assistance which drama lends to an inductive approach to reality is found in the tragedy. If tragedy were merely written for its own sake, Aeschylus, Sophocles and Shakespere would appear horribly misanthropic. But that is not the case. The tragedy is only a form, a general background against which is set possible though not entirely normal human experience. This experience in turn directs our attention to the less formal and more valuable generalities of everyday life.

"Mourning Becomes Electra" by Eugene O'Neill is an excellent illustration of the value of good tragedy. Borrowing his idea from an old Greek plot, O'Neill has written a tragedy which easily ranks in effect and formal perfection with any written by the Greeks or Shakespeare.

Those who have eyes and see not, and ears and hear not, will of course go on insisting that O'Neill is still dipping his pen in the flesh-pots. It is barely possible that "Strange Interlude" contained some lines which but "Mourning Becomes Electra" would substantiate this opinion; transcends such stupid objections and makes them seem more irrelevant than ever.

Everyone will agree that there is nothing artistic about incest, or murder or suicide. Neither is there anything artistic about the shrieking and booming in Wagnerian Opera, the aberrations from form in Tchaikowsky's symphonies, or the distorted planes in Renascence painting if such elements are arbitrarily isolated. Some composition is always necessary, but it is the effect which ci important. In O'Neill's play the fortunes of the Manon family are indeed quite unusual. But over and above this supporting theme, there is an immensely human story. One sees the shocking and immoral results of fanatical prudery, the ravages of thwarted desire, and the pettiness of human edicts in the face of universality. It is a case of the unnatural proving the natural, and like Shaw, O'Neill starles us into listening to him.

The dramatist, who, in this age, has a message, cannot make use of satire, because satire is too commonplace; nor con he make use of humor because the modern has little sense of humor. Tragedy is thus not only effectual, but also expedient.

TITANS-ALLEGHENY MEET IN CRUCIAL

Delts Down Kaps, T. U. O.s Defeat Phi Pi Phis

TEST TONIGHT FOR DISTRICT HONORS

Undefeated 'Gator Team Expected to Pack Gym In Struggle With Titans

METHODISTS PRESENT STRONG QUINTET IN BATTLE TONIGHT

The roads in all directions will glitter in the glare of headlights pointed in the direction Titan town, the mecca of ace high basketball tonight.

The reason: Allegheny, undefeated, and Westminster, the Holmans of collegiate basketball will clash in the first of a two game series.

Four Year Team

Allegheny has been racing along their victory path, sweeping aside twelve opponents to date and are determined to blast the hopes of the Titans for a repeat in copping the district cage flag. The aggregation from Meadville has had the experience of playing together for four years, taking the bumps together and still smoothing off the rough spots in their now smooth efficient cage machine.

Titan Win Necessary

Westminster, too, is determined that the fast moving 'Gator squad shall not chalk up a victory at their expense and are out for a win. A win is absolutely necessary for the Titans if they are to remain in the running for the district championship, having been set back by Grove City in a conference fray early in the season.

Nice Array of Stars

Allegheny boasts of such stars as Garbark, Berger, Dennison, Conn, and Ralston, who are out to stop the "50 points or better" average score which the Titans have used in winning the majority of their cage tilts. Whether they will or not, remains to be seen.

Probable Lineups:

Allegheny		Westminster
Ralston	F.	Kocheran
Dennison	F.	Siljander
Conn	F.	Brownlee
Garbark	G.	Rice
Berger	G.	Blaner

Newton Leads Locals to 46-13 Win over Jackets

ENCOUNTER LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN CONFERENCE TILT

Westminster added another Tri-State victory to her collection by trouncing the Waynesburg "Yellow Jackets" on the local floor Saturday evening to the music of a 46-13 score.

Jerry Newton, former New Wilmington star, led the Titans with his stellar floor work and remarkable shooting. Breaking up the Waynesburg offense, time and time again, Newton either counted or was credited with an assist which resulted in a score.

Holding the Jackets to one lone field goal during the entire first half, and chalking up eleven to the Titan credit, the regulars withdrew from the fracas and watched the "subs" do battle.

Brownlee led the scoring with a total of 19 points, with Newton closely trailing with 16 to his credit.

Titans Defeat Two Ohio Court Aggregations

LOCALS MAINTAIN HIGH SCORING AVERAGE IN TWO GAMES

The Westminster varsity basketball team defeated the O'Brien-Almers of Struthers in a one-sided battle Wednesday. The game, a benefit to buy shoes for the needy Struthers school children, drew a capacity crowd.

Westminster was leading at the end of the first quarter with a 20-7 margin. The first half ended with a 32-15 edge. Brownlee was the principal performer for the Titans while Lindsey led the Struthers team.

The Big "Y" quintet of Youngstown was defeated to the tune of 52-31 at the Rayen-Wood Auditorium Thursday night. This game marked the second game played with the Ohio teams within the last week.

"Bud" Brownlee was the leading scorer with 16 points to his credit. Kocheran and Siljander were close on his trail with ten points each. Peterson was the leading scorer for for the home team with a total of seven points to his credit. Peterson, of Big "Y", and Rice, of Westminster, were ousted from the game via the personal foul route.

Westminster Ranks High in Cage Circles

With 99 victories and only 15 defeats since the start of the 1927 season, Westminster College has one of the best records in basketball of any team in the country.

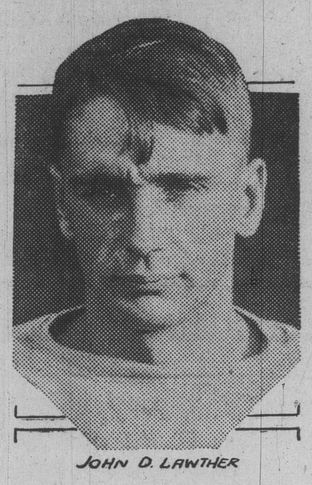
In the five seasons since 1927, Westminster has defeated Duquesne five out of eight, Geneva six out of 10, Allegheny nine out of 10, Bethany eight in 10, Thiel 10 times and Grove City seven out of eight.

At the beginning of the second semester of the college year 1925-1926, Prof. John D. Lawther, then principal of the New Wilmington High School and a part-time instructor in psychology at Westminster, took over the job of coaching the basketball team.

The team had, up to this point in the campaign, lost all its games. After looking over the varsity lettermen, Lawther dropped the whole outfit from the squad, recruited raw candidates from the student body, and started to build a team which, at the end of the season, won a number of games.

In 1927, the first year Lawther was in complete charge, Westminster won 15 out of 20, to place second in the Tri-State Conference race to Duquesne. The 1928 season saw the Titans win 19 and lose three, to clinch both the Tri-State Conference and the class B championships.

COACH



JOHN D. LAWTHER

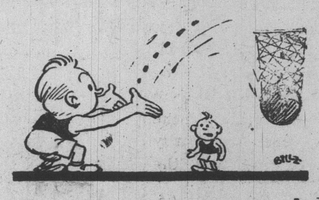
In 1929, Westminster won 21 games and lost two, but had to be content with second place in the conference, although the district class B championship was won. Again in 1930, Lawther's outfit won 21 games and lost two, both the Tri-State Conference and the class B championships being won.

Lawther spent 1931 as coach of football and basketball at the Freeport, L. I., High School. In his absence, Lawrence "Pops" Harrison coached the Titans to another conference championship with 15 victories and one defeat.

During these years, Lawther has had such stars as Hugh Gamble, center, of Sharon; John Connor, forward and center; Tudor Lewis, guard, of Farrell; Charles Ayers, guard; Glenn O'Donovan, forward; Kenneth Delahunty, forward; William Crowell, center, of Sharon; Marshall Fisher, guard, all of whom have been first or second team selections.

So, with three conference championships, four district championships, and the runner-up post in the conference the two seasons that they were not champions, Westminster has become an outstanding factor in collegiate basketball, not only in Western Pennsylvania but throughout the East.

TITAN ANTICS



This affair with Allegheny tonight promises to be a "thriller" from start to finish. We look for the Titans to come through with a victory but have decided to wisely keep our capital of three cents in our jeans. The "Gators" are tough and "tuff enuff" if one looks over their impressive record for the current cage year. Twelve consecutive victories over teams which rate among the leaders of the section, might not mean anything in poker or blackjack, but in the old hoop game, it gives plenty of room for grave consideration.

The gang from Meadville town has been nursed along from the cradle of freshmen days and is a very powerful and smooth working machine. This aggregation cannot be taken too lightly, for to our way of thinking, it can be anybody's ball game.

Playing the best game of his college career Saturday night, Jerry Newton, local boy, must be congratulated. Breaking up the offense displayed by Waynesburg, Jerry managed to hit the hoop or pass in to Brownlee who counted consistently. Jerry has been a candidate for the cage team since he entered college, but never seemed to make the grade. Now in his third year, Jerry crashed through with the nicest bit of playing seen in any game on the local court this year.

NEWTON

Next year, Jerry should be plenty of "headache" for rival teams to contend with.

This season has found Westminster College and Duquesne University among the stand outs in collegiate ranks. The Dukes have about sewed up Pittsburgh honors by a win in the only game against Pitt and their victory over Tech, while Westminster bids well to become chief in Tri-State Conference.

Now there is talk of the two schools getting together and matching their ball clubs in a big game at Pitt Stadium. The fray, if booked, will see charity benefitting.

It is said Duquesne favors the move but will not entertain thoughts of the game unless Westminster stamps itself as the best in the Conference and B circles.

That means the Titans will have to dispose of the fast moving Allegheny club, unbeaten to this day, when they clash next Tuesday at Westminster, as well as Geneva, Grove City and the Methodists in frays which follow.

Thus, the two schools which had such a fuss last year over their basketball dates and finally broke relations, may get together again.

Duquesne University has a mighty classy basketball team, yet the Dukes aren't deserving of any more credit than are the Titans or Allegheny. Their record shows a nice string of wins but against teams which have been taken before. It's too early even now to predict this and that and basketball is too uncertain to start crowing, as have the Dukes.

It is announced that Ralph H. Hogan, basketball coach at Carnegie Tech, will be named football coach at Waynesburg College.

Hogan would succeed Wolf as head coach. Wolf was promoted to head of the athletic department after the resignation of James Miller. The changes become effective at the end of this school year.

Featuring the Waynesburg game last Saturday night was the manner in which the turnstile handled the crowd of three people who witnessed the struggle. Perhaps we should take back the comments made in the last issue about this wonderful machine, but we will wait until we see how it functions tonight when we entertain the largest crowd of the season.

And speaking of the crowds attending the games, we are wondering if Westminster has too much basketball ability for the fans. Thiel, Grove City, and Geneva seem to be able to draw capacity crowds at home, but that is not the case here in Titantown. The only time the gym is packed is when some team travels here with a wonderful reputation. Then, when the Titans send them home, with a defeat hanging on their shoulders, the crowd drops off. Do the fans like a consistent winner? We are wondering.

Tommy Gibbons, sports editor of the Sharon News-Telegraph, says: Local cage enthusiasts who rate Westminster and Grove City as the "one-two" college teams of the Tri-State district, apparently are overlooking a good bet for the ranking position in Allegheny College of Meadville. In case you haven't been following the doings of Coach Baker and his hardwood experts, the Alligator passers have captured exactly 11 consecutive victories and stand out as the only undefeated quint in the entire district.

Allegheny recently wound up a five-day trip into New York territory, and tripped Hobart 27-19 for the fifth straight win since taking the rails. St. Bonaventure, Ithaca, Alfred and Colgate were other victims of the Methodists on the strenuous trip.

T. C. COCHRAN, 'oi, SEEKS REELECTION AS CONGRESSMAN

Congressman Thomas C. Cochran of Mercer, last week made formal announcement of his candidacy for reelection as representative from the 20th congressional district, the office he has so capably filled for two terms.

During his incumbency, Congressman Cochran has occupied many important posts. He has been placed on some of the more influential committees in the House and on two occasions was a member of the government commission which visited Europe for a study of post-war economic conditions.

His work in behalf of his district and his general popularity among the electors will go far toward returning him to office.

Commenting on his announcement, the Sharon Herald said last week: "His statement is characteristically terse and direct. It indulges in no self-praise, parades no claims, and is, without pose or pretense, a simple straightforward declaration attended by the sole pledge of unremitting effort to continue to merit the twice publicly expressed confidence of his constituency."

Congressman Cochran was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1901.

DR. W .D. CLELAND MADE PHYSICIAN OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

Alumnus Appointed To New Duties Last Week

Deadlock over the appointment of a Lawrence county physician was broken when county commissioners elected Dr. W. D. Cleland to the position.

The duties of the county physician are to take care of cases at the county jail, the county home, and other cases of persons who are receiving financial aid from the county. Work in this branch has increased greatly during the past year.

Dr. W. D. Cleland, who has been appointed to the position, is the son of the late Dr. D. T. Cleland of Harlansburg. Dr. Cleland has been practicing in New Castle for some years, and is among the best known physicians of the county.

There was some question about when the new county physician would enter upon the discharge of his duties. Dr. F. E. Eakin, incumbent, however, announced that he would prefer to retire at once, so that Dr. Cleland will immediately assume charge.

Dr. Cleland was graduated from Westminster with the Class of 1905. He is a member of various athletic teams and was a star tackle and captain in football

CRIMSON DROPS FRAY TO GENEVA, 32-29

Grove City College released leadership in the Tri-State Conference cage race, when they fell 32-29 before Geneva in a game at Beaver Falls. The victory placed Geneva out in front with Westminster in second and Grove City third.

It was a typical Crimson-Geneva fracas. The Loffler men topped 18-15 at half time and the last 20 minutes were filled with exciting plays.

Grove City led 22-21 in the early second but Geneva came back 24-23. Fegley scored but Geneva again took the lead and at one time was on top 30-26. Laycock came through with a foul and a goal but Graham's basket put the fray on ice.

Waynesburg College downed Bethany, of West Virginia, in a snappy basketball game, 46-22.

Waynesburg pulled up with a 19-11 lead at the close of the first half and never was headed.

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, FEB. 14, 1932. — No. 9

New Rushing Rules Made By Sororities

Ruth Rowse Appointed Chairman Of Pan-Hellenic Rush Committee

Pan-Hellenic council of Westminster college announces that rushing of freshman girls will begin Saturday, February 18 and will last eight days, ending Sunday evening, February 26.

A new system of rushing has been worked out by a rushing committee made up of one girl from each sorority. The new plan is known as the "date system." Each sorority sends out cards, through Pan-Hellenic council, to prospective rushees. The freshman receiving a date card has the privilege of signing four dates with the sorority that sent the card. Rushing rules prohibit spending money or "treating" freshman while filling dates.

Periods for week-day dates are from one to two p. m., from four to six p. m., and from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. No rushing is permitted during class time except in the case of freshmen commuters.

On Sundays, sorority girls may take the freshmen to religious services and may fill dates from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.

Each sorority is permitted one rushing party, during the week. Parties for the rushees are scheduled as follows: Alpha Gamma Delta, Monday, February 20; Kappa Alpha Alpha, Tuesday, February 21; Kappa Delta, Wednesday, February 22; Sigma Kappa and Omicron Mu Gamma, Thursday, February 23; Theta Upsilon, Friday, February 24; Chi Omega, Saturday, February 25.

Representatives on the committee in charge of rushing are: Ruth Rowse, Sigma Kappa; Dorothy Sellar, Kappa Delta; Ruth Russell, Alpha Gamma Delta; Marian Ferver, Theta Upsilon; Dorothy Hopwood, Omicron Mu Gamma; Jean Miller, Chi Omega; and Elaine Allshouse, Kappa Alpha Alpha.

Rules have been carefully made and must be strictly adhered to by each sorority, to insure a successful rush week.

Faculty Members Are On Education Group Committees

A number of Westminster professors are on important committees for the midwestern convention district of the Pennsylvania State Education Association which meets in New Castle on February 17-18.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, head of the modern language department, is chairman of the modern language section. Miss Stewart will preside at this section meeting over a program which she has arranged.

Dr. J. A. Shott, head of the department of education and psychology, is vice-president of the college teachers department and is a member of the constitution committee. Dr. Shott is on the program of speakers at the directors' meeting.

Professor Alan B. Davis, director of the Westminster conservatory, is vice-chairman of the music section. William Thomas a graduate of Westminster now on the faculty at Farrell high school, is secretary of the social science studies section. Professor Arthur P. Vincent, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1916 and now on the faculty at Slippery Rock State, is chairman of the health education section.

GRADUATE COURSE GIVEN TO TEACHERS BY DR. J. A. SHOTT

A graduate course for high school and junior high school teachers is offered again this semester on Saturday morning at Westminster, Dr. J. A. Shott, head of the department of education, announces.

Professor Ben Euwema, head of the English department, is teaching the class which meets Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock. The first meeting of the class was held in Room 212 Saturday, February 4.

Credits received for this work are accepted toward permanent teaching certificates by the State Department of Public Instruction.

THIRTY-TWO NEW STUDENTS ENROLL AT MID-SEMESTER

Thirty-two new enrollments at Westminster at the start of the second semester give the college a net enrollment of 650 for the year, an increase of 100 over the highest previous enrollment in any year. This list includes 17 freshmen, seven old students who re-entered, and eight transfers from other institutions.

The freshmen students are: Pauline Baumgart, Cleveland Heights, O.; Harry Beringer, Fredonia; Virginia Booth, Cleveland, O.; Elizabeth Dietz, Pittsburgh; Ruth L. Galbraith, New Castle; Samuel P. Gaston, New Castle; Howard Hover, New Wilmington; Mary Louise Jenkins, Dormont; Grace Kriess, Butler; Isabel Loch, Sharon; Wathena Ornduff, New Wilmington; George S. Monks, Jr., Mt. Lebanon; Catherine Mary Wiegel, Pittsburgh; Jane McGouran, Pittsburgh; Ruth Johnson, Pittsburgh; Ruth Joshua, New Castle; Charles H. Beckwith, New Castle.

Transfers from other institutions are: Vivian C. Gearhart, sophomore, Altoona, from Indiana State; Clyde C. Patterson, freshman, Leetonia, O., transfer from Ohio State; Josephine Rymer, Junior, Huntingdon, transfer from Juniata; Velma Elizabeth Stevenson, Monongahela, transfer from Indiana State; Walter Bieberich, New Castle, transfer from Colgate; Charles A. Bowles, Pittsburgh, transfer from Pitt; Grace Carolyn Struck, Farrell, transfer from Penn State; Bernard Kaplan, New Castle, re-entering after one semester at University of Virginia.

Dr. Parsons Praises Spiritual Attitude Of College Students

"We have a marvelous spiritual atmosphere around Westminster and for that we are fortunate. But no matter where we are, we can always enter that school of Jesus Christ and learn to pray." So stated Dr. William Parsons, Pulaski Presbyterian preacher at Chapel on Friday, February 3. Prayer as an achievement was his subject, and the veteran speaker gave the solution to learning to pray in the words: "If you want this achievement I suggest that you go to Jesus as His disciples did, asking, 'Lord, teach us to pray.'"

According to Dr. Parsons, if one wants to rise above the material life in which he lieves, if he hopes to enter into the presence of the Eternal God, he must learn to ask in prayer. And not only must he ask but he should have an assurance that he will get what he asks for or something better.

"Either your praying will stop your sinning, or your sinning will stop your praying", quoted the tall, white-haired teacher. He left realms of the spirit to deal with a more earthly problem. By praying, one solves the question of sin, he finds forgiveness, he holds communion with God, cleansed of and untroubled by the presence of man's great failing. He is humble yet unafraid—that is the man who prays.

LAW COURSE GIVEN TO PRE-LEGAL AND ECONOMICS STUDENTS

Legal principles of the law, a guidance course for pre-legal and economics students, has been added to the curriculum at Westminster, Dr. Galbreath, president, announces. This course, taught by Attorney Robert White, New Castle, is given on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Attorney White, a former instructor in mathematics at Geneva College, is well trained for his duties at Westminster. Dr. E. B. Russell, head of the department of history, has a number of history majors taking the course; while Professor C. W. McKee, head of the department of economics and business administration, has recommended that seniors in his department enroll.

Debate Card For Men Has 14 Contests

The Westminster varsity debate team opened its schedule last evening, February 13, when it opposed Grove City College at Grove City.

The Westminster team, coached by Professor Leon S. Marshall of the history department, debated the negative of the question, Resolved: That the intergovernmental war debts, including reparations, should be cancelled.

Westminster's team as selected by Professor Marshall included Herbert Smith, New Castle, a member of the senior class; and John Gerstner, Philadelphia, a member of the freshman class.

In a return debate at New Wilmington on Wednesday, February 15, the Westminster team, composed of Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, and William Patterson, New Castle, will debate the affirmative of the same question against a negative Grove City team. Both debates will be judge's decisions.

Other debates on the varsity schedule for the Westminster team are: Waynesburg, Feb. 21, at home; Waynesburg, Feb. 23, at Waynesburg; Allegheny, Feb. 28, at home; Geneva, March 1, at Beaver Falls; Bethany, March 7, at home; Geneva, March 9, at home; Bethany, March 10, at Bethany; St. Francis, March 15, at Loretta; Juniata, March 16, at Huntingdon; Villanova, March 18, at Villanova; Rutgers, March 20, at New Brunswick, N. J.; St. Francis, April 15, at home.

Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debating fraternity, is cooperating with Professor Marshall and members of the squad on the extensive debate schedule this season.

PROF. HAROLD BLACK ELECTED PRESIDENT OF A. A. U. P. CHAPTER

A chapter of the American Association of University Professors was organized here Feb. 1 with 14 active and three junior members. Officers elected include: Dr. Harold Black, president; Miss Elizabeth Stewart, secretary; and Prof. A. T. Cordray, treasurer.

The Westminster chapter is the newest one in the national organizations which has groups in the leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

COLLEGE ART DEPT. GIVEN ASS'N CHARTER

The department of fine arts at Westminster has been given membership in the American Federation of Arts, Professor H. J. Brennan has learned. The Federation is composed of the prominent art schools and societies, and sponsors and directs many phases of art activity.

SPEAKER

4 CHAUNCEY GOODCHILD 4

GOODCHILD TALKS TO SCIENCE GROUP ABOUT THE BLOOD

The next meeting of the Science Club will be held Thursday, February 16, 1933 at 7:00 p. m. in the Biology Lecture Room. At that time Mr. Chauncey G. Goodchild will discuss "The Biology and Chemistry of the Blood."

A great deal of work is constantly being done in the effort to discover how the blood is made up, how it functions normally, and what changes various diseases produce in its composition and action. Mr. Goodchild will report some of the present knowledge of these questions and will illustrate the discussion with microscopic slides showing the parts of the blood and the differences between human blood and that of other animals.

The meetings of the Science club have proven interesting and profitable as is attested by the continued large attendance. For the information of new students, it is stated that membership in the club and attendance at its meetings are open to all. The talks are of a general nature and are designed for comprehension by people of little or no scientific training. All those interested in any of the subjects discussed or in the general achievements of Science are invited to the meetings.

JUNIORS SET DATE FOR SPRING FORMAL; COMMITTEES NAMED

Committees for the formal junior promenade at Westminster have been appointed by Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh, president of the junior class. The prom will be held in the gymnasium on Friday evening, April 21, Mr. Meider announces.

Jane Baker, Pittsburgh, is chairman of the orchestra committee. Members of this committee are: Leonard Baird, West Middlesex; Alton Kloss, Sharon; and Cromwell Ketterer, Rochester.

Hugh McCall, Youngstown, O., is chairman of the decorations committee. Other members of this group are: Jane Black, Butler, Jane Chester, Sharon; James McGeorge, New Castle; Esther Caughey, Ben Avon; Alan Van Harper, Zelienople; James Bloker, Sandusky, O.; Betty Newell, Ambridge; and Evelyn Judson, Rural Valley.

Harold Polonus, Sharon, is chairman of the publicity committee. He will be assisted by Paul McMinn, Brocton, N. Y., and Ebba Sizer, Sharon.

The ticket committee will have James Jacobsen, Girard, as chairman. Other members of this group are: Kenneth Mehl, Sharon; and Thomas McClure, Blairsville.

Miss Jean Miller, Bradford, is chairman of the program committee. Her assistants are: Marjorie Glass, Oil City, and Richard Shane, Carrollton, O.

DR. GALBREATH SPEAKS BEFORE SCOUTING GROUP

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster, was one of the chief speakers at the gathering of Boy Scout workers of Lawrence, Beaver, and Allegheny counties in the Pittsburgh Schenley high school, Feb. 11.

Practice Teaching Period To Be From Feb. 27 to Mar. 24

Fifty-two Students Are Assigned To New Castle, Sharon, And Farrell Schools

Professor J. A. Shott, head of the department of psychology, announces tnat Westminster seniors, seeking the college provisional certificate, will act as cadet teachers in New Castle, Sharon, and Farrell, from February 27 to March 24, inclusive.

The total number doing their practice teaching is 52. Of these, 39 will work in New Castle; eight in Sharon; and four in Farrell.

Gerald Newton will begin his practice teaching one week later than the others, in order that he may accompany the Westminster cage team on its eastern trip the last of the month.

Most of the seniors will be certified in three subjects, while a few have the necessary 18 semester hours in four different fields.

Thirty-five students will be certified in English; 31, in history; 21 in social studies; 13, in mathematics; 13, in French; nine, in physical sciences; six, in physics; six, in Spanish; five, in chemistry; five in German; four, in Latin; three, in speech; and two, in biology. Those certified in social studies are also certified in history; those certified in physical sciences are prepared to teach both chemistry and physics.

Those who will teach English are Elaine Allshouse, Robert Frack, Helen Lapish, Katherine McKay, Pearl McClimans, Helen McCormick, Margaret McMains, Wilson Miller, Olive Mills, Edward Rea, Annabelle Stevenson, Marian Way, and Edwin Swartz.

Those who will teach social studies and history are: Eugene Douglas, Forrest Eakin, Thomas Herriott, Virginia Kerins, Samuel Merriman, Allene Miller, Gordon Nevin, Otto Pearsall, Louise Studebaker, John Tucker, and Bryce Yourd.

Those practice teaching in Mathematics will be Dorothy Grant, Catherine McClintock, Kathryn McClure, Gerald Newton, Stuart Rankin, William Rea, Ruth Rowse, Elizabeth Schofield, Dorothy Wilder, and Howard Hoover.

French students who will teach are Martha Beadel, Elizabeth Boal, Elizabeth Curtis, Harriette Robinson, and Ruth Wagoner.

Ralph Dresch will do his teaching in physical science, while Charles Cochran will do his work in physics.

Cadet teachers in Spanish will be Mary Elizabeth Boland and Grace Hickok.

Those preparing for certification in German, are: Grace Hickok, Sara Elizabeth Long, Harriette Robinson, Dorothy Sellar and Ruth Wagoner.

Students doing practice teaching in Latin are Caroline Deverio, Dorothy Sellar, Virginia Welch, and Sara Elizabeth Long.

Thomas Herriott, Clarence Tiers, and Edwin Swartz will do work in speech. Jack Gojdics and Chauncey Goodchild have chosen biology.

Most cadet teachers plan to do observation work in subjects, other than their majors, for which they are seeking certification.

REV. J. R. McCRORY CONDUCTS WEEK OF SPECIAL SERVICES

Religious Organizations Assist In Arranging Programs For Prayer Week

The Rev. J. Reade McCrory, pastor of the Cambridge, O., United Presbyterian church and a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1907, is conducting the week of special religious services at the college which started last night at 7:15.

The special services at which Dr. McCrory is preaching are part of the annual religious week activities of the college. The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets will co-operate with Dr. McCrory during the week, President Robert F. Galbreath announces.

Dr. McCrory will speak each evening at 7:15 at a special chapel service, and will also speak briefly at the regular chapel service each morning at 10:45. Dr. McCrory will be the guest of fraternities and of the dormitories during dinner hour.

Special preparatory meetings will be held in dormitories and fraternity houses each evening, probably at 7 o'clock.

Pottery And Jewelry Are In Exhibit

An exhibit of hand-made pottery and hand-wrought jewelry is being shown by the department of art in the Tower Room of Old Main Memorial, Professor Harold J. Brennan announces.

The pieces in the exhibit were loaned by Carnegie Institute of Technology and are the work of students in the department of crafts at Tech, under the direction of Professor F. C. Clayter, one of the most promient teachers in this field.

Asked what pieces in the exhibit were outstanding Professor Brennan said, "There are several. One, a fine pendant in silver, is set in lapis lazuli with a decoration of leaf forms and monkeys. A second is a fine teapot, with an underglaze decoration over which a transparent crackle glaze has been placed to give the piece a very subtle and charming quality."

When questioned about the processes involved in making such objects by hand, Professor Brennan said, "The pottery is made by the coil method, the most primitive method used by man, and by throwing on the potter's wheel. Throwing vase shapes is almost a lost art due to the great production of machine methods.

"As for the jewelry, it is made by the same process that Benvenuto Cellini, the Renaissance goldsmith, used. Methods of producing handwrought jewelry have changed little."

Future exhibits of the art department will feature work by Westminster students; an exhibit of old books, owned by Westminster; a collection of Japanese prints; a collection of fine reprints of works by masters; and some exhibits loaned by the American Federation of Arts, of which Westminster is a member.

DECISION GIVEN TO SOPHOMORES IN FROSH-SOPH DEBATE

The freshman-sophomore debate, held in the Little Theatre on Tuesday afternoon, February 7, resulted in a decision for the sophomores.

The subject of the debate, Resolved: That the intergovernmental war debts be cancelled," found the sophomores upholding the affirmative and the freshmen debating the negative.

The sophomore team included Fred Luderer, Byron Elder, and William Patterson. The freshman team consisted of Thomas Rogers, Wallace Heiges, and John Gerstner.

Professor Ross Ellis presided at the debate. The judges were Dr. Harold Black, Mr. Lynn McCuskey, and Mr. Arthur Kirkbride.

SHARON GIRL STARS IN PLAYS PRESENTED FOR COLLEGE CLUB

Westminster students presented one-act plays in Sharon and New Castle on Saturday, Feb. 11, under Professor A. T. Cordray, director of the Little Theatre.

At the Sharon College club meeting Saturday at 2:30, the college thespians presented "The Wasp" and "For Distinguished Service". The cast of "The Wasp" included: Jane Chester, Sharon; Willis McGill, New Wilmington; and Bruce Bower, McKeesport. Those in "For Distinguished Service" were: Jane Chester, Sharon; Lillian Gaines, KewGardens, N. Y.; and Katherine Lynch, Monongahela.

Another play, "The Telegram", was presented at the meeting of the Rebecca Missionary Society, First United Presbyterian Church, New Castle, on Saturday afternoon. The cast for this play included: John Hodge, New Castle; Helen Weingartner, New Castle; Charlotte Bartlett, New Castle; Dorothy Rieber, Oil City; and Robert Douglass, Wilkinsburg.

PREPARING TEACHERS

The Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Pennsylvania, meeting in Meadville on February 2, once more asserted the conviction that Liberal Arts colleges are best prepared and equipped to provide high school teachers.

The point of view of the Association, as expressed in four recommendations, is one worthy of mention here. Every student at a Liberal Arts college and every member of the faculty should be jealous of what we alone are prepared to offer and to accomplish over against what State Teachers' Colleges are fitted to give:

"1. Our conviction that the best preparation for secondary teaching in the academic field in the public school is from the four year liberal arts college course followed by a year of graduate professional training.

"2. Our conviction that the State Teachers Colleges should withdraw from this field.

3. Our conviction that pattern making experimentation in the academic field can best be conducted in the graduate school of the state supported universities, but that if it is necessary to have some of this work done in a State Teachers College that it should be limited to one institution especially adapted to that purpose.

"4. Our hearty recognition of the peculiar field and functions of the State Teachers Colleges in training elementary school teachers through a four year course, and in the training of secondary school teachers in special fields such as home economics, industrial arts, physical education, etc.

"These recommendations represent the unanimous judgment of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania, to the fulfillment of which it is now committed".

Masefield

Perhaps one of the best examples of the use of word sounds to express an idea or to create a mood is to be found in the following bit of verse by John Masefield, the writer of ships and the sea:

Cargoes

Quinquireme of Nineveh from distant Ophir,
Rowing home to haven in sunny Palestine,
With a cargo of ivory,
And apes and peacooks,
Sandalwood, cedarwood, and sweet white wine.

Stately Spanish galleon coming from the Isthmus,
Dipping through the Tropics by the palm-green shores,
With a cargo of diamonds,
Emeralds, amethysts,
Topazes, and cinnamon, and gold moidores.

Dirty British coaster with a salt-caked smokestack,
Butting through the Channel in the mad March days,
Wit a cargo of Tyne coal,
Road-rails, pig-lead,
Firewood, iron-ware, and cheap tin trays.

In the first two stanzas Masefield builds up an atmosphere of old empires, of adventurous days when to sail beyond uncharted seas was the passion of strong hearts. Then, in direct contrast to the beauty of romance portrayed in those verses, he gives us a picture of squalor, of unimaginative business, breed of the machine age. Touching the past with a golden brush? Perhaps. But effectively, as only a master of words can touch the past.

SETTLING TECHNOCRACY'S HASH

For those of our readers who are a trifle bored with the rantings of the technocrats, we suggest the following questions to be used on the next ranter: After he has given you his song and dance, turn on him in a polite manner and say, "O.K., buddy. Now tell me this....when you've scaled all the rust off the present economic machinery, as you say you will, and after you've placed a lot of engineers in command of the mechanical and physical resources of this country and of the world, who's going to tell them what to do with the product? Who's going to determine the policy in the new-born state? What means are they going to employ for discovering whether the governed are content or not? How is public opinion to be informed of the whys and wherefores of the Delphic decisions made by your engineers? Who is going to settle (and how will he do it) the conflicts between consumers and producers of a given product? What procedures are to be developed for selecting those who shall work at the few but inevitably remaining disagree and monotonous jobs, and those who shall enjoy the pleasures of "creative activity?"

Just ask him all that, and we venture to wager that he likes the Greeks of old, will fold up his tents and steal away.

DEPRESSIONISTIC REJOICING

We, for one, while we regret the loss of personal revenue brought on by the depression, can see a glimmering of hope, a touch of optimism, rising rampant from the wreckages. In days gone by, when every hand on the section gang had his Ford and every college student graduated from college with a millionaire's desires and the firm belief that he had but to hold out his hand to achieve that million and satisfy that taste, few, very few, of our youth turned toward the field of diplomacy as a life work. There was too little opportunity for rolling up personal wealth in that field.

With visions of easy money gone, some of our worthy graduates have utilized the sour grapes defense and have decided that after all money is not everything, that perhaps it were better to get into some safe, stable business which is sure to provide three meals a day, As a result of this unprecedented thinking, more of our college men are turning to diplomatic service as the answer to their problem. Last year saw a good many of them go from college into the Government training school for would-be diplomats.

We have often wondered at the seeming lack of foresight displayed by the government in not making the diplomatic field more attractive to young intellectuals. Other countries take youngsters from the cradle, almost, and put them through a rigorous course of ten years or so of training and then turn them loose as consuls, vice-ambassadors, etc. In fact, some of the Japanese, German, Italian, and English students in our college are already in the diplomatic services of their respective countries. But what does the United States do? It usually chooses some nice, old, respectably wealthy gentleman like Andrew Mellon, gives him a portfolio of official seals, and sends him off with a prayer and a blessing. Is it any wonder that foreign diplomats usually 'talk the pants off' those we send out? It's an acknowledged fact in diplomatic circles that American ambassadors are good economists, but ....well...not exactly wily diplomats.

And so we say, "vive la depression" if it will serve as a means to start some of our smooth-tongued campus politicians on the path to international glory, there to argue other nations into the belief that the United States is the chosen nation, that they shouldn't feel so bitterly toward us, that we've meant well all along but just haven't been able to express it.—Q. E. D.

HOLCADABRA

LOVE LETTERS OF A CAMPUS JOURNALIST

College Office. Dear Office: Perhaps you do not know how disconcerting and confusing it is, but last-minute changes in the official calendar have had us guessing all year. By the time we started to get set for first semester final examinations, they were upon us because the dates had been advanced. The dates for the presidential inauguration and for two or three other events were also changed. They are rumors now that the date for Mothers' day has been changed. Why not omit the calendar from the catalog or else set the dates and keep them?

Professor Cameron. Dear Professor: Thank you very much for exploding the myth that a musician must always be painfully classical. Your peppy band music at the basketball games made a hit. As. W. W. says, "An orchid to you and to the band."

Student Body. Dear Students: With two important basketball games scheduled for this week, the suggestion might be made that you sit in the seat assigned you. An official usher will be useful if the gym is crowded, but with all seats on sale except those assigned to students and those season ticket seats, you can see that there will be some embarrassment on your part if you are forced to change seats.

Kappa Phi Lambda. Dear Kaps: Now that Brownlee and Hamas are through, perhaps your telephone line will not always be busy. Perhaps you will be able to accept telegrams sent collect and C.O.D. packages without fear. Then again, perhaps you won't.

A mad wag suggests that the reason they call it the "Penthouse" is that there is but one good pair of trou in the collective wardrobe.

The electric light over the west basket in the gym has been repaired, and the quartet from Browne hall has been moved from the front-row seats. The Titans should be able to score at that end of the floor now.

Ask Hulme why he calls it the "Intra-Mule" league.

One of the art students suggested that "Intra-Mural" had reference to the pictures left on the walls by the fraternity team subs.

Come to think of it, "Intra-Mule" is all wrong. There's good playing and little horsing around in the court league.

Suggested Holcad headlines: W. A.A. to Play A.A.U.P. before A.A.U. W. Meeting. It's the initial cost, not the upkeep! —Olga.

Dr. M. G. Kyle Addresses Chapel Assembly, Feb. 8

Dr. M. G. Kyle, of the Pittsburgh Xenia Seminary spoke during the chapel period Wednesday, February 8. His opening thought was the question "Why should a christian college wish an archeologist to come and speak there?" He spoke briefly on the skepticism among the students of today but added that the one difference between the student of yesterday and the student of today is that the latter will not subside.

"Archeologists", he said, "are seeking the story of the Bible in the solid rock of history by making the Bible fit facts or the gem fit the matrix." He told how exploration parties to Soden and Gomora, to Egypt, and to Jericho found that the historical facts and the Biblical facts coincided and were found to be true.

In answer to the question, "What do archeologists find?" he replied, "We find many things that can be put into museums; we find history of culture and history of civilization through the ages. The finest thing that we have discovered is that the relations of the various ages of history, one to another and the way they comply with biblical history, is perfect."

Glenville Teachers Offer Stiff Opposition Friday

DOUGLASS

CONFERENCE RATING AT STAKE IN FRAY WITH COVENANTERS

Facing two championship teams in one week, Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team has about as hard a job as any team in the entire district.

The Titans meet the great Geneva five on the home court tonight, and meet Glenville at home on Friday night. Geneva leads the Tri-State Conference with a clean slate and looks to be the probable winner of the Conference championship. Glenville, a yearly championship contender in West Virginia, has another strong club.

Westminster lost to Geneva at Beaver Falls on January 19, suffering the worst defeat that a Titan team has had in seven seasons. Whether or not the Titans can turn the tables on Coach Loffer's strong Covenanters tonight is a question, but the Beaver Falls crew is favored to repeat.

Glenville is appearing on a Titan court card for the first time, and with such stars as Hines, Vass, and Burke should present as classy a team as home fans have seen all season.

Aultman and Grahame of Geneva are, of course, considered by the Titans as two of the best all-round opponents in every sport. Ginsberg and Manning have also proved themselves against Westminster teams. What combination Lawther will elect to start against the league leaders is not known.

Following these two home games, Westminster takes two road trips, playing two contests on the first trip and meeting four opponents on the second trip. On Feb. 21 and 22 Bethany and Waynesburg will be played away from home. Then on February 28, Westminster will be in Scranton, Pa., to play St. Thomas College. The next night the Titans will be at Freeport, L. I. where Babe O'Donovan, former Titan star from Pittsburgh, will marshall the Long Island Coaches against the Titans in an exhibition game.

On March 2, John Marshall College will be played at Jersey City, N. J.; and on March 3, the strong St. Johns College five will be met in Brooklyn, N. Y. The Titans end the season against Grove City on the home court on March 7.

FAMOUS ARCHEOLOGIST GIVES LECTURE TO STUDENT BODY

Dr. Melvin G. Kyle, archeologist and professor at the Pittsburgh-Xenia theological seminary, spoke in the Westminster chapel Tuesday night, Feb. 7, on recent excavations in Palestine. Dr. Kyle illustrated his address with pictures taken by himself.

The value of the work of the archeologist here, Dr Kyle pointed out, lies in the fact that it definitely confirms by excavations the Biblical references to place and events which have not been established previously by historians. Often events which have been chronologically clouded are definitely placed in their proper sequence.

Many interesting and valuable articles and ruins were found in Kirjathesphar which confirmed the Bible accounts o fthe various stages of civilization. The most beautiful pottery was made during the patriorchal period from 1900 to 1600 B. C. which was also the feudal period in Hebrew history. A special type of vessel which would not break when heated strongly over fire was in use.

All Hebrew pottery bore a marked resemblance to the prow of a ship. Curious incense pipes and strainers, as well as dye vats in use at the time of Hezekiah, were found. A sculptured stone liness aroused particular interest because it, with the libation alter, was Cannanite rather than Hebrew work. The figure was probably a goddess, Dr. Kyle asserted.

DR. ORR COMPILES INTERESTING DATA ON STUDENT BIBLE WORK

Dr. Orr of the Bible department has computed some interesting facts concerning the work done in that department during the first semester. Two hundred thirty-four freshmen took the course in New Testament history. The average grade of the 229 who had completed the work at the end of the semester was 2.263. This computation included one minus one (45-59) and ten zero (60-69) grades.

Sixty of the sixty-one juniors who took the course in christian evidences in the two class sections taught by Dr. Orr had completed the work at the end of the first semester with an average grade of 2.271. But only one zero (60-69) grade entered into this computation.

When time has reformed or eliminated the few poor students in the freshman class, the closs of '36 should be not only the largest but one of the best in the history of Westminster College.

The highest grade (96%) in the freshman class was made by Dorothy Dinsmore of New Wilmington. Wilbur C. Christy of Crafton, made the highest grade in the junior Bible class (9..%).

The large section of junior Bible taught by President Galbreath is not included in the above calculation of grades.

Enrollment for the second semester in Bible Department classes is already considerably larger than that of the first semester.

LOCALS FALTER AFTER LEAD AT HALF AGAINST DUKES

Coach John Lawther's Titans brought up there percentage in the Conference in the last two weeks by defeating Bethany and Thiel. Out of the two non-Conference games played against Duquesne and Allegheny, the Titans trounced the Alligators but to even it up they were defeated by Duquesne.

On February 1, the Titans went to Greenville and walloped the hard-fighting Tiel quintet 40 to 15 on the Thiel College floor. For the first five minutes the Titans could not connect, but at half-time the score read 27 to 9 in favor of Westminster. In the second half, Westminster came through with 13 more points holding Thiel to six. Douglass was high point man for the evening, having 15 points, while Siljander and Newton had nine and six respectively.

Duquesne and Westminster met in the big game of the season, Saturday, February 4, at Beaver Falls. The Dukes received atonement for their defeat earlier in the year by upsetting the Titans 28 to 25. The Westminster team had a lead on the Dukes the first half with the score 14 to 10. Duquesne came back in the second half and with four minutes to play had the score 28 to 20. Bennett and Douglass started a rally by making three foul shots and a field goal, but the gun cut short the Titan hopes for a victory.

Bethany came to New Wilmington February 6, and suffered defeat at the hands of the Blue and White to the tune of 38 to 28. This win brought the Titans up to a tie for second place in the Conference with Grove City. Bill Douglass was the high scorer for the evening with 17 points to his credit. The Westminster team flashed a fast attack and was deadly under the basket. Funk and Rodgers showed up best for the Bethany team with nine points apiece. George and Pickett also played a nice game.

"Gerry" Newton and Wes Bennett led the Titans to victory in the Allegheny game played at New Wilmington, February 10. The Westminster team easily won over the Alligators 47-13. The Lawthermen held the lead during the whole game, the score at the half being 28 to 8. Wilhelm and Hunneke played a nice game at guard, putting up such a strong defense that the visitors could not get near the basket. This game gave everyone on the squad a chance. Williams, Arrowsmith, Young, and Southard were seen on the Titan floor for the first time.

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

The regular meeting of the W. A. A. will be held Tuesday, February 14, at the W. A. A. room in Hillside. New members will be received at this meeting and the date for their initiation will be announced.

Seven new members were added to W. A. A. through participation in volleyball. These new members are: Annabel Stevenson, Marjorie Scott, Virginia Luckhart, Lillian Gaines, Dorothy Isaho, Isabel McKnight, and Ethel Sanderson.

Practices are now being held for intra-mural basketball. These practices are being held every Monday and Thursday afternoons between three and five o'clock. Interclass games will begin the week of March 6 and ending March 23. Ninety girls have already enrolled.

Delts Maintain Strong Lead In Fraternity Cage Race

FRANKLIN

LAWTHER

EAGLESON SHOWS FINE WORK AT FOUL LINE

Delta Phi Sigma fraternity is leading the intramural basketball league, having won fie games and lost none. With Kennedy, Patterson, and Garrett as key men, they have vanquished all teams sent against them. Kennedy, stellar center, has run up 25 points out the 90 garnered by the team, and has been matched only by Franklin, leading scorer for the Kappa Phi Lambda crew.

The Kaps, with three victories and two defeats, are in second place. In "Jim" Bloker they have one of the sweetest floor-men in the league. Franklin has accounted for one-third of the total points scored by the Kaps. With Rehfus, Bidaman, and Cann to bolster the lineup, they have a pretty tough combination to beat.

In the "B" league the Delts are also in first place, but the Kap and the T. U. O. outfits are giving them plenty of competition. This league is still in its first stages, and no team has any decided advantages.

Eagleson, high-scorer for the "A" team of the T. U. O. fraternity, has compiled a nice little record of foul-shooting. With only three field goals to bolster his individual score, he has been deadly enough at the foul-line to lead his team in points scored. "Eagle-eye" is only three points behind Kennedy and Franklin in high scoring honors, having a total of 22 units.

Scoring 90 points, the Delts are leading in total number of points scored, but with the T. U. O's only three points behind their position is unvertain. In the "B" league the Delts are leading by 34 points, having 67 against the 33 points of their nearest competitors, the Kaps.

Bloker, Franklin, Rehfus, Bidaman, Kennedy, Patterson, Garrett, McCormick, Winslow, McCall, Watt, Lubuono, Eagleson, H. Smith, and McClure are the understanding players in the five teams composing the "A" league. Playing on the same team they would be hard to beat, but the fact that they are pretty well divided among the different fraternities makes the games exciting and well worth attending.

Jack Hulme is, at the present, preparing plans for another basketball league. This will be known as league "C" and the rules governing the players will be the same as in the other two circuits. More than 80 men students are now participating in this form of intra-mural sport, and with the new league started, more than 100 men will be offered the opportunity of playing intramural basketball.

At the present time plans are being made to have each team in both the "A" and "B" league meet each of their oppoinents three times. It is improbable that the "C" teams will have such a long schedule, as there is little chance that it will get under way before the first of March.

NEW MEMBERS JOIN BOOK CLUB

Members of the Book Club will be interested in the list of new books ordered for the club. The list includes: Earth Horizon, an autobiography, by Mary Austin; Last Adam, by James Cozzens; Forty Years for Labrador, by Dr. Grenfell; Homer's Odyssey, translated by Lawrence of Arabia; Invitation to the Waltz, by Rosamond Lehmann; Ann Vickers, by Sinclair Lewis; Bulpington of Bhys, by H. G. Wells; America as Americans See It, by Ringel; Put Out the Light, a mystery story, by E. L. White; and Wild Pilgrimage, by Lynd Ward, in which the entire story is told in woodcuts.

Five new members have joined the Book Club this semester, Miss Ailman reports, and doubtless others will still take advantage of the opportunity.

Miss Ailman has arranged a collection of rare and interesting old books, which will be displayed this week. For sometime Miss Ailman and Mr. Brennan, of the Art Department, have been interested in the task of restoring the covers of the musty old volumes so that they may still be used for many years.

SISTER OF ALUMNUS MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

Miss Martha Hamilton Scott, lifelong and highly esteemed resident of New Wilmington, died suddenly, about one o'clock Friday following a brief illness.

Miss Scott was born in New Wilmington, October 24, 1860, the daughter of William J. and Mary J. Waid Scott, pioneer residents of this district, and was 72 years of age. She spent her entire life in New Wilmington and for a considerable part of her life was a school teacher in the schools of the town. She was widely known and enjoyed the love and respect of all who knew her.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of New Wilmington. She leaves one sister, Miss Hetty Scott at home and one brother, Frank Scott of Cleveland, O.

Funeral services were held Monday, February 6, at 11 a. m. from her late residence, 428 South Market street, with her pastor, Rev. William Byers, in charge. Interment was made in Fair Oaks cemetery.

Miss Scott was the sister of Attorney Frank C. Scott, Cleveland, O., a graduate of the class of 1884. Mr. Scott is president of the Westminster alumni group in Cleveland.

Old Westminster Student Paper of 1859 Is Found

President Of Lake Forest College Donates Interesting Publication

An issue of "The Student's Journal", published by Westminster students in 1859, has recently been given to the college by Dr. Herbert M. Moore, president of Lake Forest College, Illinois. Dr. Moore's father, Josiah Moore, was financial agent (business manager) of the paper in 1859.

It is interesting to note that the publication is printed on a good grade of rag paper and that it was published in Pittsburgh, the nearest printing plant of any size in those days. The paper is three columns wide and eight pages, and contains literary material for the most part.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the publication is the editorial page upon which world conditions are interpreted. "Europe, as usual, has been the theatre of sanguinary conflict—of dark, bloodthirsty action," comments the editor, S. N. Moore.

Speaking of the events which were to lead up to the Civil War, the editorial says: "It would be difficult to quit an editorial, at the present date, without saying something about 'John Brown' or 'Harper's Ferry.' ...We have always been inclined to think that the constant harping about 'slavery' which has been carried on for some years with such unremitting exertion, is nothing more than a hypocritical process of promoting wire-pullers to office."

The editorial then goes on to say that the cause of freedom for the slaves is a good one, but that it is only good when promoted by men as sincere as John Brown.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Audley Browne, who was to become the second president of Westminster in 1868 after service in the Civil War as a chaplain, is mentioned in the issue as a special lecturer for the student body, speaking on the subject. "The Age." Dr. Browne was at that time pastor of a New Castle church.

A question and answer column in the publication attempts to tell interested persons about the advantages of the college. To the question —"What is the price of boarding?", the paper answers—"From $2 to $2.25 per week for room and board." Asked—"Are the students in the habit of perpetrating tricks on newcomers?", the paper answers—"Tricks are sometimes perpetrated on both new and old students, but not often." Just how often is, naively enough, not mentioned.

The cost of printing in that era may be seen by the fact that single copies of the eight-page paper cost 50 cents. The publication was controlled by the old Philomath Literary Society of the college.

OLIVE HOFFMAN DOES GRADUATE WORK AT CORNELL

Olive Hoffman, Cochranton, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1928, is now working for her Ph. D. degree in biochemistry at Cornell University Medical School, New York.

Miss Hoffman was an honor student at Westminster, and was a laboratory assistant in biology during her senior year. She received her M. A. degree at Oberlin in 1929, and since then has been doing research work in physiology at New York University under direction of Dr. Gudersnatch. She has recently entered the Cornell Medical School where she is working under the direction of Dr. Benedict.

TWO PARTIES ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Two social gatherings were held by Westminster groups on Saturday night, Feb. 11, Dean Mary E. Turner announces.

Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity held a house party in the chapter house. Mrs. Bertha Bay and Mrs. Mary C. McConagha were chaperons.

Men students residing in "the Penthouse", cooperative rooming hall, held a party in Wyatt's Lodge. Chaperons were Professor and Mrs. Alan B. Davis and Professor and Mrs. Donald Cameron.

Sophomore Women Entertained At Tea

A tea for sophomore women who reside in New Wilmington was given in Browne hall, February 7 by Dean Mary E. Turner. The freshmen women from town were honored at a tea last week.

HARPER REVEALS SECRET WEDDING

Miss Elizabeth Pollock, Waterford, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1930, and Alan Van Harper, Zelienople, a member of the junior class at Westminster, were married December 31, 1931, it was revealed here last week.

The college romance culminated in a wedding at the home of the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, at 8 o'clock on New Year's eve, 1931.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Pittsburgh and Niagara Falls, N. Y. Mrs. Harper was, while at college, a member of Kappa Delta sorority and of Psi Nu. She was a member of the Pan-Hellenic council, the campus committee, and vice-president of her class, and was captain of the water polo team and a member of the yearbook staff. Mrs. Harper is teaching school at LeBeouf township, near Erie, where she has been for the last two years.

Mr. Harper is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, and has been a member of varsity football and track teams at Westminster. Following the graduation next year, he and Mrs. Harper will probably go to Ann Arbor, Michigan, where Harper will attend law school.

Loretta Fox Working For Doctor's Degree

Lauretta Fox, Clarion, Pa., salutatorian of the 1931 class at Westminster, has added new academic laurels at the University of Illinois where she is taking graduate work.

Miss Fox won her M.A. degree in botany at Illinois after only one year graduate study. Most graduate degrees in the field of science take at least two years. Miss Fox is now working for her Ph. D. degree, and reports interesting results from her research on root distribution in relation to soil moisture, and on seed vitality.

While at Westminster, Miss Fox was an assistant in the biology department during her senior year. She was a member of the college orchestra, the varsity debate team, and class debate teams. Miss Fox won a graduate fellowship at the University of Illinois.

CAMPUS CLUB TEA HELD FEBRUARY 3

The Campus Club of Westminster College held a tea at the home of Mrs. Charles Freeman on Friday, February 3, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Since the January tea of the organization had been postponed, both the January and February committee members were in charge of this affair. They were: Mrs. Charles Freeman, Mrs. Bertha A. Bay, Mrs. Donald Cameron, Mrs. R. X. Graham, Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, Miss Isabel Ramsey, Mrs. Gilbert Taylor.

Mrs. J. A. Swindler, Miss Mildred Aikman, Mrs. Alan B. Davis, Mrs. William A. Johns, Miss Nandeen Love, and Miss Florence White.

Guests including Mrs. W. W. Campbell, Mrs. H. T. Getty, Mrs. J. A. C. McQuiston, Mrs. J. Ralph Neale, Mrs. W. F. Byers, Mrs. R. T. Cunningham, Mrs. E. O. McNulty, Miss Janette Shafer, Mrs. Rufus Patterson, Mrs. Hugh Hart, Mrs. Charles J. Smyser, and Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, all of New Wilmington; and Mrs. William Cleland, New Castle; Mrs. Ed. Reed and Mrs. J. A. Stranahan, Mercer; and Mrs. Robert White, New Castle.

ELIZABETH MOST POPULAR NAME

Whether named after Queen Elizabeth, or due to other Elizabethan influence, there are more freshmen women at Westminster named Elizabeth than any other.

With a variety of 80 different names, the class has 14 named Elizabeth, 12 named Mary, nine named Helen, and eight named Dorothy. Seven each are named Margaret, Ruth, Isabelle, and Katherine (with varieties of spelling).

Six each of the freshmen women are named Jean and Louise; five are named Jane; and four are Virginia. There are three Ediths, Virginias, Mildreds, Eleanors, Bettys, Irmas, Graces, and Annas.

The name "Elizabeth" also leads for a middle name, 13 such being found. Eight middle names are Margaret; four are Louise; and three are Jean.

A. A. U. W. Hears Talk On Life In Guatemala

The New Wilmington chapter of University Women held its regular monthly meeting in Browne hall lounge on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4.

Miss Mildred Ailman, college librarian and chairman of the educational committee, spoke on vocational guidance. Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry presided at the business meeting at which the project of sending a delegate to the Minneapolis convention was discussed. The tea following the meeting was directed by Mrs. J. Ralph Neale.

Mrs. C. R. Bryant spoke on her experiences in Guatemala, her interesting talk and charming presentation being a delightful feature of the afternoon. Miss Isabel McConagha sang two numbers, "Dawn", and "Mifanury." Mrs. Zella Robins reported on the child guidance program of the local chapter.

It was decided to hold meetings on the third Thursday evening of each month hereafter.

DORIS GOFF WEDS SCIENCE TEACHER

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goff, New Wilmington, announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris, to Edward N. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown, New Wilmington, Saturday February 4. The ceremony was performed at noon at the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. W. F. Byers, pastor of the Neshannock Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The bride was attended by Margaret McMains, New Wilmington, and James McDonald, Transfer, was best man. Special guests were: the Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Byers, Mrs. Roy Thompson, Miss Dorothy Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. Hazel Wilson, Miss Frances Wilson, and Mrs. W. P. Scott, all of New Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home at Titusville, where Mr. Brown is teacher of science in the Titusville high school. Both are graduates of Westminster, Mrs. Brown with the class of 1932, and Mr. Brown a graduate with the class of 1927. The bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority, and of Psi Nu, honorary journalistic sorority. Mr. Brown is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

NOTE OF THANKS TO DR. McBRIDE

President Robert F. Galbreath, commenting on the meeting arranged by Dr. and Mrs. J. T. McBride in their home at Ben Avon on January 26, said:

"The college was rendered an outstanding service when Dr. and Mrs. McBride opened their home to alumni, friends, and parents of prospective students.

"Mr. Ray Miller, '09, and Mrs. Miller gave a musical program that was unusually attractive. About 70 guests were present. After the program of music, I was given the opportunity of speaking on colleges in general and of Westminster in particular.

"The social hour was most delightful, and refreshments equally pleasing.

"This was the finest piece of college service rendered Westminster by an alumnus for many years. It gave an unusual setting for college promotion, and is evidence of the fine interest of our alumni. The college owes much to Dr. and Mrs. McBride."

A Brief Survey of Mathematics

The field of mathematics presents many paradoxes, two of which we will mention—it is at once older than Aristotle, and as young as Einstein; it involves reasoning of the most abstract character, and applications of the most practical kind.

Mathematics and its old friend. Astronomy, furnish excellent examples of the truth that the newest is not always the most valuable or the most interesting. The first known mathematical congress, which was also astronomical and religious, was held in Central America (3000 B. C.?). The oldest known handbook of mathematics is the Rhind Papyrns, copied about 1650 B. C. by the Egyptian scribe Ahmes, either from older works or from knowledge transmitted verbally. From these early days the subject has been studied with varying intensity down to the present.

Pure mathematics is abstract; it exists, and much of it has been developed, entirely apart from its application. It is this quality which led Bertrand Russell to formulate his striking definition "Mathematics is the science in which we never know what we are talking about nor whether what we say is true." This abstractness has closely allied the subject with philosophy and logic. It is probably this characteristic which gives the average man the feeling that higher mathematics is remote from life. Let us examine this notion.

The structure of mathematics as it now stands has been built by the interactions of theory and application. Our arithmetic was largely developed by the Italian merchants of the fourteenth and later centuries. Trigonomtry was given its impetus by surveyors and navigators. Calculus owes much to the engineers and the physicists, and in turn has become their almost indispensable tool.

In 1872 Dr. Morgan wrote "During the last two centuries and a half, physical knowledge has been gradually made to rest upon a basis which it had not before. It has become mathematical." Thesixty years since his time have emphasized this even more strikingly. The trend at present seems to indicate an increasing application of mathematics to the natural and social sciences—a trend begun by the statistical work of Karl Pearson.

Fraternities, Sororities Unite In Mothers' Day Celebration Next Monday

SPECIAL MORNING PROGRAM IS PLANNED

BULLETIN

Sororities will join with fraternities in the annual celebration of Mothers' Day this year, Dr. R. F. Galbreath announces. In response to a request of Dr. Galbreath, sororities decided to honor their mothers on the same day as the men students rather than have a separate day for this event later. The Y.W.C.A. cabinet is also co-operating in making February 22 an eventful one for students and parents.

Mothers' Day, an annual affair at Westminster, will be celebrated on Monday, February 22, Dr. R. F. Galbreath announces. Men students have invited their mothers to spend the day on the campus, and special programs have been arranged.

A chapel assembly at 11 o'clock will find Arthur W. Evans, Welsh humorist, speaking on "What America Means to Me." Mr. Evans will speak along lines appropriate to the Washington bicentennial.

Following the chapel service, the Mothers will hold their customary prayer service in the Little Theatre of the college. The various fraternities on the campus will have special dinner at noon for the visiting mothers, and the non fraternity men will have a special gathering, probably in Browne hall.

Intra-mural basketball games in the afternoon will furnish amusement for the visitors, and there will be a tea in the Hillside parlors late in the afternoon for the mothers. Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women, will be in charge of the tea.

SENIOR CLASS DAY COMMITTEES CHOSEN

FOURTH YEAR GROUP PLANS CLASS DANCE

At a meeting of the senior class held Thursday following chapel, Louis D. Hazen, New Castle, president of the class, appointed a number of committees to make arrangements for commencement season.

A committee to select class colors included: Margaret Sherbondy, Jamestown, chairman; Elmer Myers, Sharon; and Mabel Kocher, New Castle.

The cap and gown committee includes Harold Burton, New Castle, chairman; and Marian Ferver, New Wilmington. Those on the invitation committee are: Andrew McDonald, Jr., New Wilmington, chairman; and Virginia Boyd, Wilkinsburg.

Seniors appointed on the Senior Sing committee include: Ruth Martin, Elizabeth, chairman; Thelma Edwards, North East; Scott McMunn, Oakdale; Kathryn McCrea, Upper Middletown; Harry Madducks, New Castle; Virginia Reeher, New Castle; and Paul Gamble, Sharon.

Plans for a senior dance were discussed at the meeting, and the following students were appointed on the dance committee: Robert Weingartner, New Castle, chairman; Fred Blaha, New Castle; David Findlay, Ben Avon; Blodwen Davis, New Castle; Dorothy McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y.; and Amy Jean Young, New Castle.

Commencement activities start at Westminster on Friday evening, June 3. Commencement takes place on Monday afternoon, June 6.

MAJOR SAWDERS SPEAKS HERE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Major James Sawders will present an illustrated lecture in the Community House tomorrow evening at 8:15. The lecture is part of the lecture course, and students will be admitted upon presentation of season tickets.

Major Sawders will speak on "The Wonderland of Mexico". Stereopticon views and moving pictures will both be used by Major Sawders to illustrate his travelogue.

Local Community Plans Reception For Dr. Galbreath

The entire community of New Wilmington will unite to honor Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, new president of Westminster college, at a reception to be held in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church on Friday evening, February 26.

By this gesture, the community, which is behind the college 100 per cent, means to show to Dr. Galbreath, to the faculty, and to the general public the enthusiasm with which New Wilmington greets Dr. Galbreath's administration as president of the college.

The community will, in this reception, have the cooperation of the college, which will drop its plans for a president's reception and join with the various town organizations in a meeting which members of the committee believe will attract from 900 to 1,600 people.

Represented on the committee in charge of the reception are the Methodist church, the Presbyterian church, the United Presbyterian church, the borough council, the burgess, the faculty of the college, the student body of the college, the local Grange, the Fire Company, the Rotary Club, and the Alumni Association of Westminster.

The committee in charge is headed by James A. Pitzer. Others on the committee include: Dr. S. E. Calhoun, Mrs. M. H. McClure, Mrs. Frank McClure, Professor A. T. Cordray, Miss Frances Barr, J. Clyde Monroe, James Patterson, Louis Hazen, W. Fillmore Campbell, and John Cox.

PLAN LINCOLN AND WASHINGTON CHAPEL SERVICE

A special chapel service will be held on Wednesday morning with an appropriate program in honor of the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, announced at the chapel service Sabbath evening.

This special program is being arranged by the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. The Rev. Dr. W. I. Wishart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Sharon, will be the speaker. Students of the New Wilmington high and grammar schools will unite with the college in this program.

TREE BLOWS DOWN ON CAMPUS DURING STORM ON THURSDAY

A large pine tree, the last of the evergreens on the East campus, blew down during the terrific wind and rain storm last Thursday afternoon at 4:30. Telephone and electric light wires leading to the Science hall were damaged. Limbs from a number of other trees were broken off during the storm.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR LOCAL BRANCH OF A. A. OF U. W.

Officers elected for the New Wilmington branch of the American Association of University Women, recently organized here are: Mrs. J. N. Swan, president; Mrs. J. A. McLaughry, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Stewart, secretary; and Miss Elizabeth McBane, treasurer.

Miss Janette Shafer and Mrs. William McElwee were named on the executive board. Meetings of the chapter will be held on the first Saturday of each month.

DINNER AT WYATT LODGE TO HONOR NEW PRESIDENT

Wyatt Lodge, Neshannock avenue, will be the scene of a Westminster Faculty Club dinner on Tuesday, February 16, in honor of the new president of the college, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath.

The dinner will be an informal gathering, planned principally to further the acquaintance of President Galbreath with the members of his faculty.

Mrs. Ben Euwema, Miss Florence White, Mr. A. T. Cordray, and Mr. B. E. Quick compose the committee on arrangements.

Elect Judson New Leader Of W. A. A.

PLAN BANQUET AT TAVERN ON FEB. 23

Miss Evelyn Judson was elected president of the Women's Athletic Association at a meeting held last Tuesday afternoon in the gymnasium. New members admitted to the association, eligible because of volleyball participation are: Helen Roach, Ernestine Madden, Margaret Weible, Mildred Ralston, and Lola Sewall. Emma Koegler, Virgil Wettich, and Jean Young were awarded volleyball letters.

Plans were made for the holding of a joint meeting and banquet at the Tavern on February 23. Initiation of pledges and installation of the following officers will be observed at this time: Virgil Wettich, vice president; Ferne Fox, treasurer; Martha Johnston secretary; and Anna Mae Leyshon, hike supervisor.

Committees appointed for the banquet were: Jean Young, Jean Miller, and Virgil Wettich. Initiation will be in charge of Ferne Fox, Lillian Baird, and Virginia Fleming.

"FACT OF GOD" IS SUBJECT AT STATED CHAPEL

Dr. Galbreath Preaches First Sabbath Chapel Sermon

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, preached his first Sabbath chapel sermon last Sabbath night in the chapel in Old Main Memorial at a service which attracted a large crowd of people in addition to students and professors of the college.

Taking as his text the letter to the Hebrews, chapter 6, Dr. Galbreath spoke on "The Fact of God."

There are two sides to religion, Dr. Galbreath said: theoretical and practical. The one involves thought, theory, and knowledge; the other involves the expression of belief in daily life.

Pointing out the need of fundamentals in science, in mathematics, and in art, Dr. Galbreath stated that there are also fundamentals in religion. "The heart and core of all great religions in the world is the fact of God," he said. "This is the supreme fundamental of religion."

"Apart from the fact of God," the speaker continued, "there can be no religious experience. A life without

CHI OMEGA DONATES BOOKS TO DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS AND BUS

Chi Omega sorority has donated the Encyclopedia of Social Science to the library of the department of economics and business administration, according to announcement recently made.

The sorority has, for a number of years, contributed to a special fund, and this year determined to donate this accumulative encyclopedia to the department, a most valuable contribution.

Debate Team Starts Season On Thursday

TWO TEAMS CHOSEN FOR PLATFORM CONTESTS

Two varsity debate teams have been chosen by Professor Ben Euwema, head of the English department, following tryouts held last week. These two teams will represent Westminster in first contests to be held this month.

The question for debate this year is: Resolved that capitalism as a system of economic organization is unsound in principle. One team chosen will debate the affirmative of this question, and the other will argue the negative.

David Hunter, Bellevue, is captain of the negative team which meets Waynesburg Thursday night in the Little Theatre. Other members of the negative team are William Nunn, New Castle; Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh; and Philip Chambers, New Castle.

The affirmative team is lead by Wilson Miller, Mercer. Other members of the affirmative team are Bernard Kaplan, New Castle; Charles McCormick, New Wilmington; and Edwin Swartz, Hickory. This team will meet Allegheny in the Little Theatre on Wednesday evening, February 24.

PLAN BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM FOR TOWN

TO COOPERATE WITH COLLEGE IN PROGRAM

Plans are being completed for the celebration of the George Washington bicentennial in New Wilmington, Howell T. Getty, chairman of the committee, announces.

Mr. Getty has named his aids to arrange the opening program on February 22, and will follow this up with other programs during the period of the bicentennial celebration.

Members of the committee assisting Mr. Getty are: Dr. Charles Freeman, Walt Whitman, superintendent of schools; Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Westminster Alumni Association; Dr. Hugh Hart; Mrs. E. B. Russell; William McLaughry; C. B. White, postmaster; Fred Williamson; Hon. William McElwee; Col. D. H. McQuiston; and W. Fillmore Campbell, burgess.

The New Wilmington celebration is part of the Lawrence county committee's county-wide cooperation with the national bicentennial commission's program.

Part of the program on February 22 will be the cooperation of the town with Westminster in a special assembly at which Arthur W. Evans will speak on "What America Means to Me."

J. A. STRANAHAN GIVES DINNER FOR COURT TEAM

Athletic Council President Honors Titans Saturday At Mercer

Attorney James A. Stranahan, Jr., president of the Athletic Council, honored Coach Lawther and members of the Westminster basketball team at a dinner Saturday night in the Stranahan home, Mercer.

This fete, the fifth in as many years given by Attorney Stranahan, was in recognition of the fine work done so far this season.

In addition to Coach Lawther, Trainer Jack Hulme, members of the squad, and student managers, a number of interested alumni from Sharon, New Castle, and Mercer were guests.

Guests in attendance included Attorney Walter Braham, New Castle; Dr. William Cleland, New Castle; Judge James A. McLaughry, Mercer; Attorney A. T. Sampson, Mercer; and President Robert F. Galbreath.

Mirtz Writes Of Conditions In War Zone

TELLS OF EXECUTION OF CHINESE BANDITS

Rev. Orvil E. Mirtz, '28, a member of the faculty in Lingnan University, Hainan Island, China, writes interestingly of conditions in China in a letter dated January 11 and just received here. Lingnan University is one of the projects of the American Presbyterian Mission at Kiungchow.

Among other things, Mirtz says: "The first airplane to land on Hainon arrived on Saturday. You can imagine, perhaps, the excitement it created. It flew down from Canton—one of the government planes—with a couple of generals or somethings. Big as life on the propellor was a sign, 'Standard Steel Propellor Co., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.' I almost ran up and threw my arms around it. I might have, had not the military guard kept everyone at a respectful distance.

SEES EXECUTION

"I've seen an execution of Red bandits, so I don't care to be on my knees in front of the business end of army rifles. What's an execution like? Allow me to quote from 'Hainan Notes', a brief account I'm keeping of my experiences out here:

"December 26, 1931—Well, I've witnessed an execution. I've been hearing the shots and the bugle, I've seen the blood-stained banners, and I've even picked up lead from the bullets, but these have all been after the excitement was well past, though the executiion ground is only about a hundred yards back of our compound. But this time I saw everything. It's like what I've said about sea-sickness and appendicitis operations—a great experience, but once is enough.

"The Holcad brought me my first news of the football season. I read every word of it, even in the advertisements. When I finished, I sent it on to the French's (Rev. and Mrs. Arthur French—Arthur French, '26, and Evelyn Winger, '28.—Editor's note.)

"Though only 75 miles away, I've only seen the French's once. I was in Nodoa, their station, overnight about a month ago. Previous to that the roads were not open, due to heavy rains, bridges washed out or blown up by bandits, and other hazards. I'm hoping to go there again this week-end (January 16), driving the mission Ford with a couple of visitors as passengers. It's possible that I may spend the week between semesters, too, with the French's. On the other hand, I may run up to Hong Kong and get a sight of civilization, take in a movie, and eat a dish of ice cream—of all these pleasures we are deprived on Hainan.

SPEAKER'S FATHER FRIEND OF LLOYD GEORGE

Arthur Walwyn Evans, noted Welsh humorist, will be the chapel speaker at the Mothers' Day—Washington's birthday service next Monday morning. Mr. Evans will speak on the subject, "What America Means to Me."

Born in Wales, Mr. Evans was educated at Gordon's College, Aberdeen, Scotland. Mr. Evans' father, Morris Owen Evans, was the first man to campaign with Lloyd George which sent the ex-Premier to parliament for the first time.

Mr. Evans is now an American citizen. He has lectured in every state in this country, and in every province of Canada and Great Britain.

His contributions to the International Standard Encyclopedia marks public speaker.

him as a scholar as well as a fine

After a recent speech in Pittsburgh, Mayor Frank Wilson of Cincinnati, former editor of the Times-Star, said of Evans, "He is one of the finest raconteurs in this country."

Anthony Tells Of New Labor Saving Device

"WHY PEN AND INK?" IS SPEAKER'S SUBJECT

"Why Pen and Ink?", was a question asked by John C. Anthony in an address and demonstration before the business administration students last Tuesday.

Mr. Anthony came to Westminster through the courtesy of the National Cash Register Co. of Dayton, O. He represented the company to more than 50 students of the department.

Ross E. Ellis, assistant professor in the department of business, introduced Mr. Anthony, saying "No man could be better educated in demonstration of modern machinery of mechanical accounting than he."

Mr. Anthony said "A quarter of a century ago, mechanical accounting was only an experiment. Today it is acknowledged as the quickest, simplest, and most accurate means of securing the necessary results.

Showing by actual work that the accounting machines have many advantages, he also pointed out that five main advantages were possible on the bookkeeping machine. Visibility, accuracy, simplicity, flexibility, and speed were all possible on one machine.

The speaker said that the many automatic operations of the machine relieve the operator of much manual work, providing increased simplicity, which assures greater accuracy, efficiency, and speed.

The standard, visible 81-key amount keyboard, which is flexible, is the most rapid of keyboards to operate and is a familar one to operators.

The easy key action of the standard 42-key typewriter permits the touch system to be used. Full visibility of writing and printing line permits the operator to see what is written instantly, without moving any part of the machine.

Mr. Anthony briefly concluded by saying, "These and other features combine to give the machine a simple and easy operation that means much to the efficient bookkeeping in any business."

SPORTSMANSHIP

Enthusiasm often turns to ridicule unless carefully guarded. Especially is this true in athletics, where enthusiasm heightened becomes a sort of ecstasy. But no amount of enthusiasm, fine as it may be, can excuse poor sportsmanship.

During the Allegheny game here last week, Westminster students drowned out the Allegheny cheer leader each time he attempted to lead his college mates. The officials of the game, even though they seemed to be doing a poor job, were hooted and hissed at every turn.

It was interesting to note that much of this unsportsmanlike conduct came from students who are freshmen. Westminster has maintained a fine name for sportsmanship in the district, and the relations between Allegheny and Westminster have always been especially fine. Enthusiasm without the proper guidance, should not be allowed to wreck a fine reputation.

MOTHERS' DAY

Fraternities and sororities are to be congratulated upon their whole-hearted acceptance of the program of Mothers' Day to be celebrated next Monday . In former years, the fraternities celebrated Mothers' Day, and later in the year the sororities had a program. This duplication of effort always seemed foolish. Upon suggestion of President Galbreath, both groups decided to celebrate the day at the same time this year.

It is to be noted that next Monday is NOT a holiday. While there are no classes scheduled, all students are expected to remain on the campus. The entire student body should be at the chapel service in the morning. Intra-mural sports in the afternoon should attract all. In other words, we should all celebrate together the visit of parents and the birthday of George Washington.

YEA, TITANS

When an athletic team becomes good enough to defeat many of its rivals by top-heavy scores, there is danger of students conveying the impression to the members of the team that each succeeding game will be easier . This is not true.

Westminster stands this week in a critical place in basketball. The least letdown will cost us conference and district honors. Each of the six games remaining on the schedule is hard. Each must be won by playing basketball. Quotingcomparative scores, idle boasting, and taking outcomes for granted are not methods of winning. Let's encourage every man on the team to play his best at Bethany, against Thiel, at Meadville, at Beaver Falls, against Grove City, and against Bethany at home.

TURNSTILE ETIQUETTE

Athletic authorities point out that measures are being taken to reduce congestion in the gymnasium before basketball games.

A little patience on the part of the student body and an effort to arrive early for games will help much. A separate door for students may also be opened for future games. Have patience, and cooperate.

FACULTY MEMBERS MAKE ADDITIONS TO BOOK CLUB SHELVES

Sixteen new books have been placed on the Book Club shelves since the beginning of the second semester. Varied in content and interest, they include travel stories, history, autobiography, fiction, and tales of adventure.

A survey of titles reveals such interesting books as: An Innocent Criminal, by Beresford; Travel Tales of Mr. Joseph Jorkens, by Dunsany; Ebeneyer Walks with God, by George Baker; ; Harbourmaster, by Wm. McFee; Sparks Fly Upward, by Oliver La Farfe, and Swiss Family Manhatton, by Christopher Morley.

Dr. E. B. Russell has also loaned several new books. They are: Seven Black Chessman, by Huntingdon; Silver King Mystery, by Ian Greig; American Beauty, by Edna Ferber; Westward Passage, by M. A. Barnes; Diary of a Freshman, by Flandreau; Wintersmoon, by Walpole, and Lincoln Steffins, an autobiography, by Steffens.

Miss Florence White has loaned White Shadows in the South Seas, by F. O. O'Brien, and Cleopatra, by Ferval. Another interesting volume is Fads and Fallacies in Present Day Education, by Buchholz, loaned to the Books Club by Dr. Freeman.

Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian wishes to annuonce to new students that membership in the Book Club is still open, and the entrance fee is now just a dollar per member.

DEPTH SOUNDERS FOR AIRCRAFT

WITH the application of electricity to aircraft instruments, another chapter was written in the annals of air transportation. To-day's ship is not only swifter but safer and more dependable. Modern depth-sounding devices indicate instantly the height of the ship above the ground-surface. A unique feature of General Electric's recently purchased monoplane is the almost completely electrified instrument panel.

The most recently developed instrument is the sonic altimeter, which provides a quick means of indicating changes in height above ground. Sound from an intermittently operated air whistle is directed downward. The echo is picked up in a receiving megaphone, and the sound is heard through a stethoscope. The elapsed time between the sound and the echo determines the height. Tests show that water, buildings, woods, etc., produce echoes that are different and characteristic.

Besides developing a complete system of aircraft instruments, college-trained General Electric engineers have pioneered in every electrical field—on land, on sea, and in the air.

Allegheny Proves No Match For Titans In 48-18 Victory

Lacking only peanuts, pink lemonade, and toy balloons, Westminster's Titans furnished a real circus, Tuesday night, when they trounced the fast, undefeated Allegheny basketball outfit, 48-18 on the local floor.

Ballyhooed as the "battle of the season," the game turned out to be a farce with the Titans outsmarting and outplaying the Meadville outfit in every phase of the game.

Giving credit where credit is due, however, Allegheny has a smooth working basketball machine, but they could not cope with the height and superior play of the high scoring Titans.

Mike Kocheran was the "ring master" of the evening, slipping in to score nine fielders and three fouls for a total of 21 points, more than those scored by the entire 'Gator outfit. Siljander and Brownlee tallied ninepoints each, with Rice, Blaner and Newton coming through in fine style.

Allegheny Starts Scoring

Allegheny scored the first tally of the fray when Dennison dropped in a free throw after being fouled by Rice. Kocheran stepped into action by tossing in a one-hander on a neat pivot play. Dennison came back with a two-pointer under the basket but Brownlee started Westminster into the fracas with a foul and a fielder. The parade had started.

Kocheran Scores Heavily

Allegheny called a timeout as their fast moving offense was stopped dead at the front line of the Westminster defense. Resuming play, Kocheran dropped in a free toss and Brownlee sank a pretty shot from the side. Garbark tallied on a free throw only to have Kocheran chalk up another deuce from the foul marker. Conn slipped in on Brownlee to score, bringing the tally to 10-6.

Kocheran ran away from Berger to score twice in rapid succession. Dennison caged one from the "dead corner" only to see Kocheran again pull away to add a foul and a fielder to the Titans ever-mounting score. Brownlee dropped in a double counter and Kocheran added a foul. Ralston dropped in two fouls and Berger counted on a gratis heave to end the scoring at the half. Westminster, 20; Allegheny, 11.

SECOND HALF

As the second half opened, Westminster stepped up their passing attack and Kocheran ruffled the nets from the side of the floor. Newton stepped into the scoring column to duplicate from the other side. Berger tallied from mid-court for Allegheny. Kocheran again scored on a one-hand toss while pivoting. Westminster called time out with the score reading 26-13. Jiles entered the battle replacing Ralston. Rice came in fast to score from the foul circle and Newton followed up his long shot to count. Siljander and Dennison added free throws to their scores. Kocheran again cut fast beneath the basket to score. Allegheny called time out with eight minutes to play. Westminster, 35; Allegheny 14.

Siljander scored under the hoop. Newton missed his free toss when Garbark was ousted by personals to be replaced by B. Berger. Siljander dropped one in from the side, Rice added a foul, and Kocheran nailed a deuce from the side. W Berger added a free throw to bring the score to 42-15, Westminster.

'Gators Last Stand

Siljander centered the hoop from the side. Kocheran left the game on personals when he fouled Dennison, who counted. Blaner replaced Kocheran. Siljander shifted to forward and Blaner held down the guard position. Ralston replaced Dennison and scored the second goal of the last half for Allegheny on a pass from Berger. Blaner was fouled and counted. Brownlee scored from scrimmage under the hoop. Rice counted on a free throw after being fouled by Ralston to end the fracas.

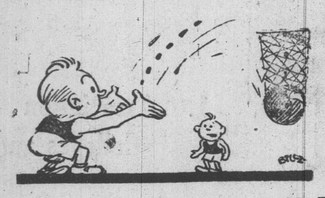
TITAN ANTICS



BY JACK LEWIS

Having conceded Coach Lawther's Titan avalanche their two victims of last week, we might take a look about the debris to find out what was behind those iconoclastic landslides.

Pitted with the Allegheny aggregation, Tuesday evening, the Blue and White five made 19 of their 81 shots from the field to roll the lordly 'gators on their backs for the count. Not content with this they added ten points to their score by making 10 of their 13 charity shots. Led by Dennison, who made 2 of his 6 attempts, the Allegheny five finished the game with 5 of their 35 tries accounted for.

With the John Carroll outfit as the hindrance last Friday evening, the Titans made 26 of their 91 chances which when added to the 18 points derived from the 26 foul shots, handed them, the score stood 70-13, with the Clevelanders holding the bag.

After the smoke cleared away the Allegheny game, Kocheran, Titan forward, headed the list of scorers by virtue of his 9 markers gleaned from 25 attempts. He fared somewhat better from the charity line making 3 of 4 tries. Dennison got the call from Allegheny's ranks by making 2 of his 6 shots. He made his three foul tries good to bring his total number to 7 for the evening.

In Wilhelm, a substitute guard, the Titans had a chairman of the scoring board Friday. When this lad called it a night he had 15 points to his credit. During the process of making 6 of this 13 court tries he found time to make 3 of his 5, you know what, shots. Gibbons, who proved to be the best foot for John Carroll, stepped forward with one 2 point marker out of three attempts. The lanky center made all three of his gifts to swell his total to seven.

Pies and Athletic Contests Mix According to Chef at Browne Hall

Pie and athletics! Could any phrase be more disconcerting? And yet, here, at Westminster the two words have become synonymous, not to the athletes who have brought this condition about, but to the gaming contingent who carry on for chef Palmer, who holds forth in the kitchen of Browne Hall.

Before victories became "naturals" in the Titan stronghold, chef Palmer decided to award a pie to the lads, under his wing, whenever they successfully prognosticated an athletic event. Laboring under this "something for nothing" proposition the force renewed their efforts in all departments of their work. With eyes and ears working overtime for "dope" on impending contests each game-time saw them jubilant and confident of victory. As game after game was marked off of the schedule—a dud, their enthusiasm waned; their contest spirit became vapid, so the matter was dropped.

With the renaissance in athletics came a revamped spirit of contest. in the kitchen. The "chief" initiated his carefully worked out plan of award which immediately found favor with the food dispensers who had replaced the old. Lady luck smiled on the lads who placed their confidence with the colors—Blue and White. As their choice became a consistent winner the backers were looking at pie 'through rose colored glasses."

As business became better and better for the boys things looked blacker for Mr. Palmer who, wont to call a halt to the proceedings, had to limit the offer to only those games which found favor in the public eye.

As the situation is now chef Palmer thinks it is only a matter of time before he will have to turn the kitchen into a bokery.

Post-Season Court Game Discussions Premature Coach John Lawther Says

Discussions in the newspapers of the district of a post-season charity game between Duquesne university and Westminster were called premature by Coach John Lawther last Saturday.

"Duquesne may want to play a post-season contest for the Western Pennsylvania championship," Lawther said, "but will want to play the team which wins the Tri-State conference and class B championships.

"Westmnister, by virtue of catching Allegheny on an off night and at the end of a hard road trip, did not thereby win the district championship. In fact, our hardest games of the season are yet to be played," he continued.

"The game with Geneva at Beaver Falls, the return contest with Allegheny at Meadville, the game with Grove City on March 8, as well as the Bethany and Thiel contests, will keep Westminster busy every minute. None of these games will be easy to win, especially those with Geneva, Allegheny and Grove City.

"If Westminster is fortunate enough to defeat these strong teams, it will be time enough then to consider a post-season game for charity."

Asked what he thought of the Duquesne team, Coach Lawther said, "Chick Davies has one of the best outfits ever developed in this section. With a smart coach and an excellent squad, the Dukes will make it extremely interesting for any team anywhere."

Titans Meet Bisons, Thiel And Geneva

TWO GAMES ABROAD AND ONE AT HOME

Coach John Lawther's Westminster quintet will play three basketball games during the next eight days. The Titans come up against Bethany, Thiel, and Geneva. Thiel and Geneva have already met Westminster this season and have been defeated by large scores. Bethany remains the unknown quantity which the Titans have not yet solved.

Bethany's standing so far in the Tri-State Conference is way down in the cellar. This standing was given Bethany five as a result of being beaten by the Thiel team last Tuesday night to the tune of 49-19. Tomorrow night the Westminster team journies to Bethany to try its luck.

Saturday night the Thiel College team comes here to play its second game with Westminster. About a month ago Westminster defeated the Thiel team 58-26. Thiel is the new threat of the Tri-State Conference race, and probably the game will be faster than the one at Greenville.

Westminster goes to Geneva Monday night to play a game which may decide the Conference championship. Although the Titans defeated Coach Loeffler's team when they played them before this season by a 52-30 score, the Geneva team has done things since then. They won over the strong Grove City team which defeated Westminster, and they were only defeated by a three point margin by Duquesne. Manning Montgomery, Aultman, Grahame, and Ransom looked good when they played here before and it is doubtful if the Titans can take them at Beaver Falls unless the Lawthermen play inspired ball.

LIKES BROWNLEE

Chester Smith of the Pittsburgh Press wrote the following last evening: "On the Press—KDKA" Around the Cracker Barrell" sports broadcast Saturday night, Coach Ralph Hogan of Carnegie Tech intimated that "Bud" Brownlee of Westminster came near rating the honor of being the greatest college basketball player in the district. Had he cared to, Hogan might have carried the point even farther. Brownlee seems to this reporter to be one of the best of the decade. He should rank along with Joe Smith, a master craftsman at Grove City 10 years ago, and Pitts immortal Charley Hyatt."

Locals Trip Clevelanders In 70-13 Scoring Match

BY AL HARPER

Just a light work out for the Titans as they "took" John Carroll, 70-13, was the verdict of spectators Friday evening on the local floor. The victory was so overwhelming that there was no doubt of the vast superiority of the Lawther coached machine.

After the hard fought Allegheny game of Tuesday, Coach Lawther took advantage of the inferiority of the John Caroll quintet to give the first string men a well deserved rest. It was at this time the second string players showed the audience what they could do. Sweeney and Wilhelm were the outstanding stars succeeding to find the hoop for fourteen and fifteen markers respectively.

The second half was featured by the first string line up trying to see just how close they could come to making baskets without really putting the ball through the hoop. Time after time Siljander, Newton, or Rice would work their way in to where they would have a clear shot at the basket only to throw it back and start all over again.

Of the ten players used in the fray there was not one that failed to score, John Carroll made one or two weak flashes in the dying moments of the last half, but throughout the game their plays were marked by bad passes, fumbles, and loss of the ball due to "steps".

The Clevelanders were able to make but three deuces during the fray

Name Various Committees For Formal Junior Prom

JUNIORS CHOOSE APRIL 22 AS DATE FOR CLASS DANCE

ALL-COLLEGE AFFAIR PLANNED BY DANCE CHAIRMAN

Members of the Junior class dance committee have announced that Friday, April 22, has been chosen as the most suitable date for the formal all-college junior prom to be held in the college gymnasium between the hours of 9 p. m. and 1 a. m.

Virginia Kerins, prom chairman, has chosen the following members of the Junior class to act on the various committees: advertising, Herbert Smith, chairman, Gerald Newton, Mary E. Boland, Marion Johnston, Edwin Swartz, and Ruth Wagoner; entertainment, Elizabeth Schofield, chairman, Elizabeth Macklin, David Gephart, Helen Weingartner, Ruth Kutscher and Robert Cann; decorations, Gordon Nevin, chairman, Olive Mills, Jean King, Otto Pearsall, Harriett Robinson, Arthur Evans, Helen Baerman, Helen Thomas, Sara Lib Long, Glenn Rehfus, Bill Williams, Ruth Rowse, Virginia Welch, and Thomas Grenfell, and finance, Dorothy Grant, Doris Shawkey, and Willis McGill.

Faculty members who have honored the Junior class by accepting invitations to act as chaperons of the affair are as follows: Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Euwema, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Black, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawther, Mr. and Mrs. R. X. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cordray. Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath have been invited as special guests.

Announcement has not as yet been made of the orchestra engaged to furnish the music.

Books Loaned To Library by Dr. Galbreath

Through the courtesy of Dr. R. F. Galbreath the library has been loaned a number of books for students' use. This will especially interest students in religious courses as there are many fine books on religion in the collection.

Books included are Andrews "Life of Our Lord"; "The Life and Epistles of Saint Paul", by Conybeare and Howson; "Davis' Dictionary of the Bible," "The Death of Christ" by James Denney D.D.; "The Light of Prophecy"; "The Representative Women of the Bible," and "The Representative Men of the Bible." There is a 15 volume set called "Popular Science." It deals with general science, the wonders of modern discovery, the trimphs of inventive genius, the stories of all created things, and the world in which we live. "The Sarcophagus of an Ancient Civilization," by George L. Robinson is a book on archaeology.

"George Westinghouse, His Life and Works," by Francis Leupps; "The Next Age of Man," by Wiggam; and "Lincoln and His Generals," by Clarence E. McCarthy are books for general reading.

The students who will be using these books should show their appreciation by handling them with care.

RECEPTION FOR DR. GALBREATH AT U. P. CHURCH

Community and college will unite in honoring the new president of Westminster college, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, at a reception to be held in New Wilmington United Presbyterian church on Friday, February 26.

Prof. A. T. Cordray and Louis Hazen are college representatives on the committee in charge.

All students and faculty members are urged to attend.

Drama Class Stage Models Interest Many

For the purpose of instructing his stage craft students in giving appropriate and suggestive settings for plays, Prof. A. T. Corday required them to make miniature stage models representing several well-known productions. These models, which are largely the result of students individual ideas and work, indicate careful construction.

There are such settings as: the office of an industrial company of the future as referred to in "R. U. R."; a simple living room scene for "Manikan and Minikan"; and the medieval room as described in "Six Who Pass While Lentils Boil". "Lilion", a scene from "Heavenly Court", is done in black with a touch of white.

Other models represent scenes from "Exchange", "Moonshine", "The Trysting Place", "Glittering Gate", "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," "Minuet" and "The King's Henchmen."

This interesting work in stagecroft was on display for Mothers' Day.

Junior Class Play Tryouts Planned Soon

"TAMING OF THE SHREW" TO BE GIVEN BY JUNIORS

Professor A. T. Cordray is planning a busy semester for students taking dramatics. This course is proving to be one of the most interesting and popular courses offered in college.

The stagecraft class is studying the theory of stagecraft, including color schemes and lighting effects. Mr. Cordray expects to get more lighting equipment, and will stress lighting over scenery in coming productions at the theatre.

A series of short plays, some of which will be developed for radio broadcasting or for presentation here, are being tried out by the acting class. At least one number of the play course this semester will be a program of one-act plays.

Another number on the play course will be the all-college play, "R. U. R." This is a very modernistic work and the story centers around the making of the mechanical man, the robot. "R. U. R." will not be produced until after the Junior play, however.

The Junior play, a modern farce version of "The Taming of the Shrew," will be given for the purpose of raising money for the Junior class and the Argo. Mr. Cordray hopes to begin try-outs by next week. First chance for try-outs will be given to Juniors, but members of other classes will be included if the whole cast cannot be found among the third year class.

GYM WORK EXHIBIT BY GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASSES

On March 24, at 8:15 p. m., in the college gymnasium, the women's department in Physical Education will present a demonstration of all gym work. This demonstration will be an annual affair held at the close of the winter season to give the public an idea of the work done in Women's Physical Education at Westminster College.

Miss Love's classes will exhibit gymnastics, athletic dances, and basketball. Mr. Hulme's classes will present a stunt in swimming. Every member of the class is required to appear in the stunt given by her particular class. Those interested in the program now offered for women at the gymnasium should take this opportunity to see a review of the work.

HOLCAD REPORTERS

Holcad reporters and students desiring story assignments should meet tomorrow in Room 214 at 2:30, or should get assignments in the News Bureau office, Room 212. Leave all copy in Room 212.

Mothers' Day Is Observed On Monday

Fraternities and sororities at Westminster honored their mothers yesterday at the annual Mothers' Day Celebration. More than 200 mothers of students accepted invitations to spend the day at the college.

Starting at 11 o'clock in the morning at a special Washington's birthday—Mothers' Day chapel assembly, visitors, students, and faculty members were busy all day.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of the college, presided at the chapel service. This service was made into a college and community affair as part of the George Washington bicentennial celebration.

Evans Speaks

Arthur Walwayn Evans, noted lecturer, spoke on "What America Means to Me." Born in Wales and educated at Gordon's College, Aberdeen, Scotland, Mr. Evans is now an American citizen. He has lectured in every state in the Union and in every province in Canada and Great Britain.

Mr. Evans' father, Morris Owen Evans, was a collegue of Lloyd George, and campaigned for the ex-Premier when he first ran for a seat in Parliament.

Mothers Have Meeting

Following the chapel service, mothers of the students held a short inspirational service of their own in the Little Theatre of the college.

Sororities and fraternities on the campus arranged special dinners for their guests, most groups having their dinners at the noon hour. A few held luncheons at noon with special dinners planned for evening.

Sports Program

In the afternoon, a special intra-mural sports program was presented in the gymnasium for the mothers. An intra-mural league basketball game between Theta Upsilon Omega and Phi Pi Phi fraternities, and swimming and tumbling exhibitions by the class in physical education taught by Jack Hulme provided entertainment.

Later in the afternoon a tea was held in the Hillside dormitory where Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women, aided by various house chaperons and wives of faculty members, greeted the visitors.

Members of the faculty were on hand all afternoon in the college building to receive the visitors. A special souvenir brochure, signed by Dr. Galbreath and by sons or daughters of visiting mothers, was presented at the chapel service in the morning.

Special Events

There were a number of special events arranged by sorority and fraternity groups. Alpha Gamma Delta held a luncheon for mothers at The Tavern at 1 o'clock. Chi Omega entertained at a luncheon in Wyatt Lodge. Kappa Alpha Alpha postponed its luncheon for mothers until Saturday, Feb. 27, when they will meet at the Castleton hotel, New Castle.

Kappa Delta held a noon luncheon at Senior Lodge. Omicron Mu Gamma entertained at a buffet luncheon in the Robertson house. Sigma Kappa gave a luncheon in the chapter house. Theta Upsilon sorority conferred the mothers' degree upon their visitors at a special initiation service in the chapter house.

Tour Buildings

Special arrangements were made for a tour of the college buildings by Wm. A. Johns, director of personnel. Visitors were taken first to the Conservatory, then to the gymnasium, to Browne hall, to science hall, through Old Main Memorial, and then had the chapel appointments and memorials explained.

Y.W.C.A. AND Y.M.C.A. SPONSOR SPECIAL CHAPEL SERVICE

REV. WM. WISHART SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Success or failure of men in the service of race or nation is traceable to an attitude toward God described by Jesus in the closing words of the sermon on the Mount. The successful leaders of men, among whom Washington and Lincoln are numbered, have been men who in the face of discouragement and in time of depression have lead on without fear, or panic, or despair, because they had confidence in God.

Such was the theme of the address made by Rev. William L. Wishart in the special chapel service in the college chapel Wednesday, February 17. The service, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of the college was held to commemorate the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Willis McGill had charge of the program. Louise Adams read the scripture lesson, and Wilbur Christy lead in prayer. Mr. Wishart, who is the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Sharon, made the address of the morning.

The students of New Wilmington high school and a number of the townspeople accepted the invitation of the college to join with the college students in this service.

Co-ed Debate Team To Meet Grove City

Grove City will be the opponent on March 22 in the first intercollegiate women's debate of the season to be engaged in by Westminster. Each school will have teams representing them both at Grove City and New Wilmington.

On April 7, Ursinus College will be met at Westminster and Geneva college will send its affirmative team here to meet our negative team on April 14.

The question which will be debated in all three matches is: "Resolved, that Capitalism as a System of Economics Organization is Unsound in Principle".

Louise Adams and Jean Miller are captains of the affirmative teams. Jane Downey, Mildred Ralston, Martha Holliday, and Gretchen Welsh, are also members of the team.

The negative teams are captained by Harriette Robinson and Alene Miller. Other members of the teams are Virginia Boyd, Betty Curtis, Helen Snyder, and Ebba Sizer.

PAMPHLET DISTRIBUTED YESTERDAY MORNING

"A Greeting from Westminster College" was the title of a handsome little pamphlet compiled for Mother's Day by Prof. R. X. Graham.

Contained in its 14 pages are such articles as Westminster's Greeting to the Mothers, To Our Mothers, Historical Sketch, Varied Curriculum, Teacher Training, World Service, Campus and Buildings, Beautiful Chapel, Student Aid, New Wilmington, Distinctions, Student Organization, and Religious Activities.

This small booklet was distributed to everyone entering the building to attend the Mother's Day chapel service yesterday morning. It may be kept by each guest as a sort of memorandum of his visit to the college.

KAPPA ALPHA ALPHA INSTALLS OFFICERS

Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority installed the following officers at the Cummings House on February 15.

President, Frances Detchon; Vice-president, Olive Mills; Secretary, Jean King; Corresponding Secretary, Helen McCuen; Treasurer, Elaine Allshouse; Chaplain, Jean King; Scholastic Secretary, Olive Mills; Pan-Hellenic Representative, Elaine Nagel.

Economics Department Is Certificated by Half The States In Union

26 STATES WILL ACCEPT WESTMINSTER CREDITS

Certification for teaching business subjects has been given the Westminster department of economics and business administration by 26 states in the Union, it was announced yesterday. Graduates of the Westminster department may be certified to teach in any of these states or in Pennsylvania.

The following states have investigated the course outline and departmental program and have granted certification: Kentucky, Wyoming, Kansas, Mississippi, Indiana, Tennessee, South Dakota, Michigan, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Oklahoma, North Dakota, Iowa, Utah, Nevada, Maryland, Washington, Idaho, Colorado, Delaware, Virginia, Arizona, Massachusetts, California, and New Hampshire.

State Requirements

These states have made known by recent letter their acceptance of all qualified graduates of Westminster, and extend their cooperation with the program as outlined by the department of economics and business administration.

The minimum requirements for a provisional commercial teacher's certificate has been raised to include not less than two full years of professional training in an accredited institution offering a course in the theory and practice of teaching professional work. A two-year course in business is accepted in only a few of these states. A three-year special certification valid for teaching business will be granted to applicants who posses a highly specialized degree from an accredited four-year college or special school.

Local Requirements

The requirement at Westminster for certification to teach business is four years of qualified work, and as yet there have been no special courses provided with the exception of the two-year secretarial course.

Acceptance by the state departments of these 26 states, closely following acceptance by the Pennsylvania department, marks the first opportunity Westminster graduates have been given to teach business subjects in this state and in others.

Prof. Shott Is In Washington

Professor John A. Shott, head of the department of education, left Friday, February 19, to attend the convention of the Department of Superintendents of the National Education Association which is meeting in Washington, D. C., February 20-25.

Prof. Shott stopped in Harrisburg for a meeting of the Association of

PROF. J. A. SHOTT

Liberal Arts Colleges of Pennsylvania for the Advancement of Teaching which met on Saturday.

The convention in Washington is dedicated to the memory of George Washington and is featured by special patriotic sessions and pilgrimages to national shrines.

Discussion of present-day education in relation to the economic crisis, and discussion of the moral and spiritual fields of education as well as the more technical problems of superintendence and curriculum planning were to have a prominent part on the program. Special sessions were held for representatives from different types and sizes of school organizations.

Professor Shott will return Thursday of this week to resume his class work.

ROBERT CORDRAY FEATURES PROGRAM AT FACULTY DINNER

Westminster's Faculty Club held a dinner at Wyatt Lodge last Tuesday evening in honor of the new president, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath. About sixty-one members attended. Short speeches, in the form of ten word telegrams, were given by the new members of the Faculty Club. Those speaking were: Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath, Dr. and Mrs. Swan, Prof. and Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Gilbert Taylor, Miss Sowash, Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. R. X. Graham, and Mr. Johns. Mr. Robert Cordray entertained with music, off-key.

The committee in charge was: Mr. A. T. Cordray, chairman; Mrs. Ben Euwema, Miss Florence White and Mr. E. B. Quick.

GYM CLASSES GIVE FINE EXHIBITION

Between the halves of the Phi Pi-T. U. O. basketball fracas, a tumbling exhibition was given by the class in Physical Education. Fuller, Shaffer, Greer, Yourd, Headley, Smith, Free, Lawton, Gregon, Lausberg, Brown and Rose were men performing.

Following the cage game, Jack Hulme and John Brown were presented in a swimming and diving exhibition.

MEMBERS OF W.A.A. TO BE INSTALLED TUESDAY EVENING

At 7 p. m. this evening, W. A. A. will hold its first formal meeting at the Tavern in the form of a dinner. Miss Love will formally install the officers and initiate the members. Awards will be presented to the girls who made one hundred points in volley ball. A copy of the constitution in booklet form will be presented to each member.

The officers to be installed are: Evelyn Judson, president; Virgil Wettich, vice president; Martha Johnston, secretary; Fern Fox, treasurer and Anna Mae Leyshon, hike supervisor.

The committee in charge of the banquet is Jean Young, Jean Miller and Virgil Wettich.

Fern Fox, Lillian Baird and Virginia Flemming have charge of initiation.

MOTHERS' DAY

With the cooperation of the entire faculty, staff, and student body, and with plans well made by those in charge of arrangements, the annual Mothers' Day celebration held yesterday was one of the best ever sponsored by Westminster.

The number of visitors and the enthusiasm of the guests present rivaled that of the commencement season. Most of the parents who visited the campus took part in all the varied programs planned for the day.

The special brochure printed for the occasion was timely and beautiful. The speaker at the special chapel service was interesting and enlightening. The sorority and fraternity dinners were sources of joy to students and mothers alike.

Special athletic contests in the gymnasium attracted many and left an impression of sanity as well as efficiency as the chief motives of the physical education department.

Congratulations are due all students, faculty members, and officials who helped make the day an outstanding success.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

He was not a great military leader, we are told. He was not an outstanding politician, we read. He was not by nature a born chief executive. What, then, did George Washington contribute to America and to the present day?

He was a man of character. He was of such a noble, faithful, God-fearing character that upon that foundation alone he confounded those reputed to be better military leaders than he. His fellows placed so much confidence in him that he was able to lead where political spellbinders and born diplomats could not lead.

He was, as Newton D. Baker pointed out yesterday in a radio address, not a literary man. In an age of remarkably poor spellers, he was one of the poorest. It was not through high-sounding phrases that he won his country's respect and faith. It was through his character.

Character, after all, is the diamond that scratches every other stone. What a man lacks in natural ability, in special gifts of Providence, can be overlooked if he has character. In Washington, character made him great, and started the country he fought for along the road to greatness. Character, not cleverness; character, not power; character, not fame; character, not narrow patriotism; character, not hollow oratory, will continue to make America great.

WESTMINSTER'S SPIRIT

Those who are a bit observing will have noticed within the last few weeks a keener enthusiasm on the Westminster campus. The stated Sabbath worship, at which students were asked to attend because they wanted to, rather than because they had to; classroom activities; student organizations; the Mothers' Day program; athletics—all these have been influenced by the new enthusiasm.

Dr. Galbreath seems to breed enthusiasm. The college was never more optimistic. The machinery of government and control never seemed to work quite so well. The response to the new administration by students and professors has been willing and cheerful.

What can be accomplished by such a condition is, of course, limitless. A beautiful campus, fine buildings, an excellent faculty, noble traditions, high academic standing, and a student body with ambitions and ideals should together make for the happiest of college days for all concerned.

With thanks for the past and faith in the future, Westminster will go far.

QU'EST-CE QUE C'EST?

There is a chronic reversion in this column to the differences between American and European literature, past and present. The question, I repeat, is an interesting and significant one. Natural curiosity, if not subconscious patriotism, leads one to make a number of queries. Why have Continental writers for several centuries been alone able to express the finer shades of emotion? Why has this savoir faire been an exclusive possession of theirs? Why does even our purest native art, once we have discovered its causes and its content, seem a bit naive, a bit ingenuous? Some of our writers have been fairly interesting; some have done curious things well, but none have ever approached universality.

Of course we have only been here for three hundred years. We divorced ourselves early from European influences. And then we have been busy, at what, it would be hard to say, but we have been busy. Constructing a collapsible stock exchange? Betting on Mrs. Whitney's horses with money lent by Mr. Whitney? Well, maybe.

It is certain, that in the realm of art we have spent many evenings listening to foreign artists who respect us to the extent of shortening their hair but not their names. It is certain that a musical comedy or even a piece of cloth hailing from Central Europe will send us scurrying to the teapot on the mantel.

Is this necessary? Is this more of that Manifest Destiny which occurred to some politician around 1890? Perhaps there is no explanation at all—Just some more waggery on Olympus. There ought to be an embargo on nectar.

Although the American mind has so far shown no signs of being creatively artistic, it is developing a fine critical sense. Our professors are probably turning out more essays and monographs, and talking more through their Knox's and Stetson's than the combined faculties of all Europe. And the public likes it, but the public is always either right or wrong.

The trouble is that we got off to a bad start early in the last century. The process was something like that initiated by the medieval schoolmen. With any given point as a center, and any given radius, inscribe a neat circle. Then chase yourself or someone else around it. For example, first it was Pan-Americanism, then Pan-Pan-Americanism. First it was dirty jokes, then it was Anthony Comstock, then it was Mencken (and the same jokes.. First it was go to church, then it was don't go to church, but build one or endow a seminary. One can easily see that this is getting nowhere (not the article, the process).

But criticism is based primarily on the idea that someone has or has not made mistakes. In the fields of literature, painting, and music we are as yet untried and wanting. An indirect explantion of this might be found in the fact that we ourselves are poor models.

During and after the last war (known for some reason or other as "A Great War") we had a chance to impress our many fine institutions on the world as a whole. Europe looked to us, for money of course, but also for guidance. We gave it freely—I mean the money. Following our very un-Eton and un-Oxford course in 1776, many foreign countries established democracies. Their methods were a little different than ours, because revolution in Europe has been primarily a problem in penology. Open the jails, pick your cabinet, and fill the empty cells with aristocrats. The idea was that if you were a radical, and were behind the bars, you had to be good to get where you were.

At any rate, the democracies were set up, and, reversing our English, we entertained and feted the cast-off royalty. Missing the latent humor in this situation, we have gone ahead and advocated disarmament, while at the same time Capone is executing a flank movement in the Loop. We initiated prohibition, and our Congress is sober only between sessions. This might explain, by the way, why Hoover settled one of the most serious problems in his administration by wiring the Congressmen at their homes.

Obviously, a nation which is not adept at instruction will be slow to learn. A study of our own case, however, points to a more general moral. The ascension of the bourgeoisie has left the beer a little flat everywhere, so to speak. The bear that walks has trampled many exhilarating if fantastic illusions underfoot.

Under the Tsar, the peasants sang, and the music was good. Today they croak the Internationale. In Vienna, Strauss wrote waltzes so beautiful that they bring tears to the eyes, but played before fat-necked audiences today, they make one feel like laughing hysterically. Is there only beauty in tradition? Must it always be surrounded by pathos? Some day "Lucia" and "Mignon" will cease to be sung. Shall we have to listen to Deems Taylor? Has Wagner merely taught us how to ring door bells? No, a time will come, after this transition period, when—?

TUSS McLAUGHRY

Sportive headlines are desirably pleasing. They put the college on the map, so to speak. When the fans are thrilled by a winning team the generally disgruntled alumni is in all its hollow glory. We are strong for victories, to be sure, but triumphs are not paramount to good sportsmanship, and should not be acquired at the expense of some young chap's health or to be bought and paid for by wealthy graduates in the form of subsidized stars on the gridiron.

"All these points are "out" in McLaughry's scheme of things. His unbeaten "Iron Men" of 1926 will long be remembered as a sterling brilliant band of football warriors, but the record of his 1932 eleven stands out as a glowing tribute to the man's genius.

"Last season Brown's eleven scored no crushing defeat of Yale, Harvard and Dartsmouth but it made history on college hill. Beset with injuries to star material throughout the campaign, with a new backfield combination necessary for the start of every contact and a woeful lack of capable reserves, Brown met each situation with credit. The comeback of the squad after the terrific route at Holy Cross gives one a fair idea of McLaughry's magic.

No one can make stars shine brighter than they themselves ever dreamed and make ordinary material believe itself great. There are several different types of successful football coaches. The McLaughry type is satisfactory for Brown and all the rest of us."

Two Titan Rivals Change Policies

TITANS ARE DROPPED FROM ST. FRANCIS SCHEDULE

The board of trustess of St. Francis College has decided to suspend all intercollegiate athletics for the scholastic year of 1932-33, commencing next September 1.

"The decision was reached partly because of economic reasons and due to a desire on the part of St. Francis to experiment on the idea of whether athletics are essential for a large student body," Father Sullivan said.

St. Francis is the second college within the past two weeks to inaugurate new policies. Thiel announced recently that they were adopting the plan followed by Allegheny in abolishing all athletic scholarships.

However, Thiel is not planning any change in schedule for the coming athletic season, but will carry on as before.

Titans Meet Allegheny In Race for Championship

When Westminster goes to Meadville Thursday night to meet the Gators in a return game they will be up against real opposition. Although Westminster defeated Allegheny before by the one-sided score of 48-18, and although Allegheny was defeated by Geneva last week, there is no denying that Allegheny has five of the quickest shots in the district court race. These individuals are Dennison, Ralston, Conn, Berger, and Garbark.

All five men have scored heavily in the games played already this season and probably Allegheny's loss of two games after winning 12 can be attributed to overstrain of nerves. If Allegheny stages a comeback, the game Thursday will undoubtedly be close and interesting.

Bethany comes to New Wilmington next Monday to play its second game with the Titans. Westminster defeated the Bisons last week at Bethany by a score of 51-18, and it is very probable that Westminster will not let Bethany stop its march for the championship. The Titans will undoubtedly be tired after a journey to Meadville earlier in the week, but unless a scarlet fever epidemic overtakes the Blue and White they will probably take the Bisons by the horns.

"Tuss" McLaughry Is Hailed As Leading Young Coach In East

When DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, son of Judge and Mrs. J. A. McLaughry of Mercer, a former Sharon High and Westminster College star athlete, signed a new contract at Brown University after Princeton had attempted to get him to direct its football team, New England papers came forth with much praise for the former local man.

He has been rated as one of the leading young major college grid coaches in the East. And his contract, which is for an indefinite period, is said to be one of the most novel in college circles.

Some of the tributes paid McLaughry after he had signed at Brown, by New England sports writers are reprinted below.

Providence, R. I. Journal

"Details of the new agreement were not disclosed, but it is understood that McLaughry has a post practically unlimited as to time, although the contract, announced as for an indefinite period, is subject to revision from time to time.

"Tuss came to Brown six years ago from Amherst where he had met with splendid success as a football coach. He found instant favor with the Brown people and during his first season on College Hill turned out an undefeated team, which numbered Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth among its victims.

"Since that time his football teams have met with consistent success, playing good intelligent football and it is generally conceded that McLaughry obtained the maximum results from the material available, compiling good records in face of difficult schedules.

"Announcement that McLaughry will stay at Brown was particularly pleasing to Brown men and supporters of the university who have taken a great liking to him as he is one of the most popular younger coaches in the East.

Boston Herald

"The statement that D. O. McLaughry had definitely decided to remain as football coach at Brown should be welcome news to the alumni, undergraduates and football enthusiasts of that university.

"The statement intimates that an agreement has been reached between the university and McLaughry which binds the popular coach to Brown for a lengthy period. Despite the fact that the exact terms are not mentioned it is reasonable to assume that the new contract which McLaughry has signed is for a longer period of years than the usual agreements between colleges and football coaches.

"Knowing that McLaughry was at liberty to leave at this time and realizing that Princeton, in its search for a new mentor, was casting anxious eyes toward him, the Brown authorities very wisely desired to make things as satisfactory as possible for Tuss.

"To those who have come in close contact with McLaughry there is no doubt that the Brown committee made a wise move. During the six years that Tuss has coached at Brown he has always got the most out of the available materials. He is a type of coach whom players admire. He is such a perfect sportsman that rival coaches have nothing but admiration for him. He has the faculty of adjusting his tactics to the type of material on hand. He has a complete grasp of modern football and the uncanny ability to teach what he knows.

TUSS McLAUGHRY

"A good test of the value of a football coach is the manner in which he is regarded by his former players and his rival coaches. McLaughry has always commanded the respect of both his former puipls and rival mentors.

"Only a week ago at the football coaches meeting in New York Gil Dobie made the remark that of all the coaches he ever knew Mc-Laughry had more friends in the coaching profession than any one he could think of.

"McLaughry has had to prove his ability to get such recognition. Such credit is warranted in his case."

Providence News-Tribune

"Here is the highest type of man that could be found to teach youngsters so important a game. He watches over his boys like a fond father would keep an eye on his athletic son. If there is any question about a player being even slightly injured or incapacitated to a point where permanent injury might result from further play, McLaughry prefers to sacrifice all the football victories of a decade to prevent just one such occurence.

"When a coach is idolized by his players as has been McLaughry there is something more to the man than the mere ability to impart fool knowledge. He has a magnetism about him that radiates confidence in his system, a peculiar individuality that softens difficult situations and makes the hardest football roads seem easy to his pupils.

"We cannot judge football success by the number of victories a coach can produce, albeit a particular group of alumni at all colleges make their deductions that way.

Bethany, Thiel Overwhelmed In Tri-State Contests

CONFERENCE RIVALS PROVE NO MATCH FOR LOCALS

BY CHUCK TREVASKIS

The towering Titans gave the basketball fans of Bethany something to think about last Wednesday night when they took the Bisons "for a ride" to the tune of 51-18. That Shanghai bombardment didn't have a thing on the barrage laid down by the swift passing and shooting Titans.

"Bud" Brownlee and "Whitey" Siljander put on a two man act which had everything blocked. Together the boys in mention gathered twenty-nine points for Westminster. Fifteen for Brownlee and fourteen for Siljander, and the tricky shooting of Rice, Newton, and Kocheran cinched matters.

With the exception of Funk and Dopko, who starred for the home team, the losers did not put up very much of a game. For the first few minutes of play, it looked as though a real basketball game was in the offing, but after the Titans began workink on their opponent's baskets, it was "no soap" as far as the Bisons were concerned.

BROWNLEE AND RICE TOP LOCALS IN VICTORY

BY AL HARPER

Westminster, playing the best game of the season, completely ruined Thiel's offense and defense as they held them down to 29 points while running up 76 markers on their own side of the scoring sheet.

"Bud" Brownlee led his nearest competitor for high score honors with a five point margin when the final whistle marked the end of the lopsided fray. Harter, played the best ball for the losers. His core of 18 points proved that, though Westminster had the ball game well in hand at all times, he knew a few tricks of the game himself.

Kocheran, Rice, and Douglass starred for the Titans. Six substitutes were in action for Westminster while Thiel used the same team through-out the game.

Sororities Have Varied Programs on Monday

Alpha Gamma Delta

Mothers of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority members were entertained at the McKelvey house on Monday. After a brief reception, the mothers and daughters attended the special Mother's Day chapel service. At one o'clock a luncheon was served at The Tavern, followed by a program of music and speeches.

Florence Groth, soroity president, was in charge of all arrangments, and was aided by Helen Baerman and Isabel Kildoo. Special guests were Mrs. E. B. Russell, patroness, and Mrs. C. B. Ritchie.

Chi Omega

After attending the morning chapel service, members of Chi Omega sorority gave a luncheon in honor of their mothers at Wyatt Lodge, at one o'clock. Betty Curtis was toastmistress and Jean Young, president, gave a welcome to the mothers. After the luncheon, there was a brief Mother's Day service. Special features of the program were a reading, given by Gretchen Welch, a piano solo by Iva Mayberry, and group singing of Chi Omega songs. Annabel Stevenson was in charge of the program. The general committee consisted of Gretchen Welch, chairman, Ruth Weller, and Grace Hickok.

Kappa Alpha Alpha

The national representative to Kappa Alpha was entertained at the Cummings house over the week-end, and remained for the Mother's Day service on Monday. Members and pledges, accompanied by their mothers, attended the special chapel service, and toured the buildings in the afternoon. Plans were announced for a mother's luncheon to be held in the Castleton on Saturday, February 27. Entertainment will be provided by the pledges.

Kappa Delta

Members of Kappa Delta honored their mothers by a buffet luncheon given at Senior Lodge at one o'clock.

Following the luncheon, there was a brief Mother's Day service and a program of music. Special features of the program were a vocal solo by Lillian Baird, piano music by Martha Hazlett and Grace Kelly, and a song dedicated to the mothers, written by Grace Kelly. The Kappa Delta quartet, composed of Grace Kelly, Lillian Baird, Margaret Reese and Dorothy Grant, also sang a few selections.

Special guests were Mrs. J. A. Swindler, patroness, and Mrs. Jackson, house dean. Harriet Robinson headed the general committee, composed of Grace Kelly, Dorothy Sellar, Martha Hazlett, Lillian Baird and Pauline Robinson.

Elizabeth Pollock, '31, was a week end visitor at the Kappa Delta Lodge.

Alice Eisenman and Miriam Davison were given second degree in the pledge service on Wednesday evening, February 17 at the Lodge.

Misses Irene Haney and Elizabeth Campbell visited the Kappa Delta house Saturday afternoon.

Miss Kathryn Dick and Margaret Adams spent the week end with the Kappa Delts.

Omicron Mu Gamma

After attending the Mother's Day chapel service, mothers of music sorority members were given a buffet luncheon at the Robertson House.

A program of music followed the luncheon. Special guests were Mrs. E. H. Freeman, Miss Thomas, Miss Nandeen Love, Mrs. A. L. Skillen, and Mrs. A. B. Davis, sorority patroness.

Sigma Kappa

Members of Sigma Kappa sorority gave a luncheon at the Minteer House, in honor of the visiting mothers. In the afternoon, the mothers were conducted through Old Main, and witnessed the special athletic features at the gymnasium. Blodwen Davis, president of Sigma Kappa, was in charge of all plans.

Patronesses of Theta Upsilon and mothers of the sorority members were given a mother-patroness degree on Monday afternoon, as a part of the Mother's Day program. After the giving of the honorary degree, tea was served to the guests at The Tavern. Present at the ceremony were the grand president, grand treasurer and also the grand editor of Theta Upsilon.

Society

DAUGHTER BORN TO MR. AND MRS. LORELL HOSKINS

A daughter, Charlotte, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lorell Hoskins at the Mount Fair hospital, Cleveland, on February 16. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins are well known on the campus where they have been guests at many fraternity and college social events.

Mr. Hoskins is an honorary member of Delta Phi Sigma and Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary juornalistic fraternity.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

Lamda Alpha Chapter of Theta Upsilon Omega served dinner to the mothers of members and pledges, yesterday in honor of Mothers' Day. Directly after dinner a meeting of the Mothers' club was held.

A house party will be given at the T. U. O. fraternity house, Feb. 27. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Euwema will chaperon the function. A nine piece New Castle orchestra will furnish music. R. Black is chairman of committee in charge of arrangements.

The T. U. O. formal dinner-dance will be held at the New Castle Field club, March 25. Ted Rosenberg's Collegians will provide the music for the event. On the committee are Charles Cochran, chairman; Clinton Welch, Edwin Swartz, and Otto Pearsall.

DELTA PHI SIGMAS HOLD HOUSE PARTY SATURDAY EVENING

The actives and pledges of Delta Phi Sigma held a party in the fraternity house, Saturday evening Feb. 20. The affair began immediately after the Thiel game, and was under the direction of Phil Rice and Charles Myler, chairman and vice-chairman respectively of the social committee.

Dancing and cards were enjoyed by those present and a delightful lunch was served at a late hour.

The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. R. X. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Euwema, and Prof. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis.

MEMBER OF CLASS OF 1874 WRITES LETTER TO ALUMNI OFFICE

The Rev. Dr. W. F. Gibson, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1874, writes an interesting letter to the alumni office here. Part of the letter, at least, holds so much interest that we quote it here:

"Have just received the latest bulletin. Thanks. I thank you for sending other literature connected with the college. I have not lost interest in my Alma Mater.

"I graduated in the class of 1874, and from the Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh in 1877. I was licensed to preach in April, 1876. Was in the active pastorate of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., for 52 years. Am now on the Honorary Roll.

"I am pleased to note the great improvement in the college's buildings and equipment since 1874. May the college continue to prosper, and her shadow grow no less."

AT HOME ILL

Mr. Wm. A. Johns ,personnel director at Westminster, has been ill at his home in Hudson, O . He is expected to return in a few days.

Rev. J. R. McCrory Speaker For Special Week of Prayer

Cambridge Minister Delivers Excellent Sermons During Week's Stay

Rev. J. Reade McCrory, pastor of the Cambridge, O., United Presbyterian Church and a graduate of Westminster, class of 1907 was the guest speaker at Westminster during the annual week of prayer, February 13 to 19.

At the evening chapel, Rev. McCrory presented a series of sermons portraying Jesus, the man and his relation to other men. In the morning chapel, Rev. McCrory presented outstanding biblical characters, such as the strong weak man and the foolish wise man.

Frayer groups were held in the personnel office each evening before chapel. Rev. McCrory had private conferences during the afternoon with students who had religious problems to solve.

Paradoxical characters of the Bible were presented to the audience in the morning assemblies. Among these characters were: Samson, the "Weak Strong Man"; Jacob, the "Strong Weak Man"; the foolish wise man whom Christ tells about; and Paul, the "Wise Fool". For his concluding message in the college chapel on Sabbath evening, Mr. McCrory took as his text the word which was spoken to blind Bartimeus, "Jesus of Nazareth is passing by", and presented an appeal to the students to come to Jesus as Bartimeus did.

ALLEGHENY DEBATERS FACE WESTMINSTER TEAM THIS EVENING

Engle, Elder And Christy Will Uphold Affirmative Side Of Question

Westminster's varsity debate team will meet the Allegheny College debaters this evening in the Little Theatre at 7:45. The question to be debated will be "Resolved: That the Intergovernmental War Debts, Including Reparations, Should Be Cancelled."

Westminster's team, comprised of John Engle, Wilbur Christy, and Byron Elder, will uphold the affirmative side of the question. The debate will be a no decision affair.

John Engle and Fred Luderer will represent the local school on March 1 at Geneva on the affirmative side of the same question in a no decision open forum debate. They will again defend the negative side of the question on March 9 in a return engagement against the Geneva team in the Little Theatre.

Other dates on the debating team's schedule as announced by Prof. Leon Marshall, coach of the Westminster team are as follows: March 7, Bethany, here; March 10, at Bethany; March 15, at St. Francis; March 16, at Juniata; March 18, at Villanova; March 20, at Rutgers; and April 15, St. Francis, here.

Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating society, is working in conjunction with Prof. Marshall and members of the team in preparation for the extensive schedule ahead.

MABEL KING GIVES FINE MUSICAL PROGRAM HERE

Miss Mable King, Pittsburgh, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1912, gave a recital in the college chapel Thursday evening.

Miss King, a contralto gave four groups of songs which included 16 different numbers. Earl Mitchell, Pittsburgh, was at the piano.

Miss King is well known among singers in Pittsburgh, having appeared in radio recitals, church choirs, and other groups. Miss King was given a certificate in music at Westminster in 1912, and received her bachelor of music degree in 1913.

DR. CHARLES FREEMAN TO ADDRESS SCIENCE CLUB MEMBERS

Dr. Herbert Davis, chemistry professor at Westminster college, announces that Dr. Charles Freeman, head of the college science department will speak to the Science Club on March 9.

"Fountain Pens Made From Skim Milk" will be the topic of Dr. Freeman's address. Dr. Davis pointed out a few things of interest that the talk will include. Casein, a major solid component of skim milk, is what is seen when milk curdles or when an acid is added. This casein is made in large quantities by commercial firms and is converted into an insoluable substance by treating it with formaldehyde.

The plastic forms of casein can be molded into various shapes and is capable of having a variety of colors. Some of the more common forms it assumes are; barrels of pens and pencils, buttons, and combs.

Calendar Shows Busy Week For Student Body

Sorority Pledging, Lectures, And Mothers' Day This Week at Westminster

A week full of varied activities awaits Westminster students, a study of the calendar shows.

Sorority rushing season, climaxed by delightful parties held for freshman women by the seven sororities on the campus, took place last week. "Silent period" started Sabbath, continued throughout Monday, and pledging will take place today at noon, Professor Ben Euwema, head of the English department and referee of the rushing season, announces. Approximately 70 freshman women will be pledged by the seven groups.

The varsity basketball team left Monday for a four-day invasion of the East, where St. Thomas, Long Island Coaches, John Marshall, and St. Johns will be played.

On Thursday evening the Science Club will meet in the Science Hall with Dean Charles Freeman, head of the department of chemistry, as the speaker. Dr. Freeman will speak on "Casein and its Industrial Application."

Dr. R. L. Ditmars, liquid air demonstrator, will appear on the lecture course in the college chapel Friday evening.

Mothers' Day will be observed by fraternities and sororities on the campus on Saturday. A special chapel service Saturday morning at 11 o'clock will feature music by students and a special message.

Luncheons have been arranged at noon in sorority suites and in fraternity houses. Dean Mary E. Turner has also arranged to have visiting mothers as guests at Browne hall for luncheon.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, an athletic exhibition, under direction of Jack Hulme, will be given in the gymnasium. Water sports, an intra-

Members of the program committee are: Herbert Smith, New Castle; ling acts will entertain the guests.

At 4 o'clock in Browne hall, Dean Turner will be host to visiting mothers at a tea.

DR. LONG DIRECTS RADIO PROGRAM

Dr. George A. Long, '09, pastor of the Homewood United Presbyterian Church, is in charge of the next missionary broadcast over KDKA, Pittsburgh, Saturday evening, March 4. Special music will be given by the Homewood Church choir.

Personal messages will be sent to the missionaries abroad by Mr. Dwight H. Fee, Pittsburgh, the Rev. H. D. Finley, and by Mr. Fred MacMillan.

Black Scorpion Is Donated To Biology Dept.

Westminster Senior, Who Has Been in India, Gives Rare Arachnid

A specimen of the large black scorpion of India has been donated to the Biology department at Westminster by C. A. Gustafson, New Castle, a member of the senior class, Dr. B. E. Quick, head of the department, announces.

This species of arachnid, Dr. Quick explains, is more deadly than the brown type, and has been known to cause the death of a child with its sting. Fortunately, Dr. Quick added, the sting of this type of scorpion is seldom fatal for adults, although naturally very uncomfortable.

Mr. Gustafson, who, after his junior year at Westminster four years ago, returned to India where he was engaged in missionary work, returned to the college on furlough this year to get his degree.

He has several specimens of scorpions as large as the one donated to the Biology department. These are five inches from tips of jaws to tip of sting at end of tail, and measure five inches across the fore part of the body from tip of claw to tip of claw. All of these were collected by Mr. Gustafson in his house in India, as many as seven being found at one time beneath the dinner table.

Following his graduation from Westminster in June, Gustafson plans to return to his mission work in India. He will later donate a number of other rare specimens to the Westminster department, including one of a female with 47 tiny young clinging to the back.

Students who received all "A" grades with the exception of two "B" grades are: William Braden, Volant; Melda Bryant, Bellevue; John Engle, Youngstown, O.; John Gerstner, Philadelphia; Chauncey Goodchild, New Castle; Carl Gustafson, New Castle; Sara Haney, Sharon; Helen McCormick, New Wilmington.

Jean Parker, New Castle; Alta Russell, Youngstown, O.; Edward Rea, New Castle; Perry Reeher, New Castle; Ruth Wagoner, Sharon; Lorna Wells, Fairview; and Dorothy Young, New Castle.

Fraternities And Sororities Cooperate In Plans For Day

Chapel, Luncheons, Athletic Exhibition, and Tea On Program

Mother's Day will be observed at Westminster Saturday, March 4. Fraternities and sororities are co-operating in making it a gala day for mothers of students who will be guests of the college.

In the morning at 11 o'clock a special chapel service will be held, with Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president, leading the service. Special music by students will feature the service.

At noon, luncheons for visiting mothers will be given in sorority suites and in fraternity houses, and the mothers of freshman women students will be entertained at a luncheon in Robert Audley Browne hall.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon an athletic program, under direction of Jack Hulme, will be presented in the gymnasium. The program includes two intra-mural basketball games, between the Delta Phi Sigma and Kappa Phi Lambda and the Phi Pi Phi and Theta Upsilon Omega teams; a tumbling exhibition; a wrestling match; a water push-ball game, between the Phi Pi Phi and Delta Phi Sigma teams, in the pool; a water polo game, between the freshmen and seniors, in the pool; and life saving, fancy diving, and swimming races, in the pool.

In the tumbling exhibition will be: John Brown, Glen Rehfus, Robert Rose, George Hollander, Henry Lawton, William Kunzler, David Ramsey, Justus McClurg.

The wrestling exhibition will be between George Hollander and Robert Scarbrough, two members of the varsity football team.

A demonstration of American Red Cross life-saving will be given by Robert Cann and Glen Rehfus. Eight men will take part in the fancy diving exhibition.

Eleven students will participate in the swimming races, relay races, and novelty races as the least feature on the indoor sports program.

Dean Mary E. Turner will entertain at a tea in Browne hall lounge at 4 o'clock. Invitations were sent out this week to mothers of all students, and a large number are expected to be present for the activities of the day.

NEVIN APPOINTS COMMITTEES FOR SENIOR GRADUATION

Committees for various commencement activities at Westminster have been appointed by Gordon Nevin, Monongahela, president of the senior class, it was announced today.

On the cap and gown committee are: Glen Rehfus, Sandusky, O.; Elizabeth Schofield, Pittsburgh; and Olive Mills, Bellevue.

The invitation committee includes: Wilson Miller, Leechburg; Dorothy Wilder, Sharon; and Helen Baerman, Pittsburgh.

Members of the program committee are: Herbert Smith, New Castle; Virginia Welch, Crafton; Gerald Newton, New Wilmington; and Dorothy Bigham, Bellevue.

The "Senior Sing" committee includes: Jane Stunkard, Fredonia; Dorothy Hopwood, Chestnut Ridge; Marian Ferver, New Wilmington; Elizabeth Macklin, Bessemer; and William Stadtmiller, Indiana.

Those on the Class Day committee are: Harriette Robinson, Newburgh, N. Y.; chairman; Virginia Kerins, Farrell; and Marion Johnson, Cochranton.

MARY C. WRIGHT AND ROBERT HOOSE IN "YOU AND I"

Further Casting For Little Theater Production To Be Announced

Phillip Barry's comedy, You and I, is announced for presentation by the Westminster Little Theatre on April 14, a second performance for commencement visitors being scheduled for the evening of June 3. Tryouts were held on Wednesday and Friday of last week and the play is being put into rehearsal at once.

Two roles are definitely cast, Robert Hoose being chosen for the part of Mailand White, and Mary Carleton Wright for that of Etta, the socially ambitious maid. Further casting will be made from this group: Nancy White—Virginia McCown, Helen Thomas; Rickey White—John Hodge, John Engle; Ronny Duane—Charlotte Bartlett, Elsie Gage, Jane Holland; Geoffrey Nichols—Orville Dawson, William Neely;

You and I is a comedy in three acts by Philip Barry.

Maitland White is not content, because his ambition is to be a painter. His heart is set upon his boy becoming a great architect, but Roderick falls in love with Veronica, and announces his intention of marrying her, and seeking a job. The father is grieved, and his wife induces him to retire and forget his troublesin the pursuit of art. He does so and produces a picture; but investments fail, and he is threatened with ruin. Veronica breaks her engagement with Roderick in orderthat he may study justwhen there is no money to pay for it. . . . . The decision between the attitude of "I, I, I and my work" and the "You and I" of marriage is finally solved in a satisfactory way, both for the elder White and his son.

Plans call for repitition of the play on the evening of June 3, during the Commencement season, for the entertainment of alumni. An admission fee will be charged for this performance.

DR. GALBREATH GIVES THREE SPEECHES IN DISTANT CITIES

President Robert F. Galbreath of Westminster spoke before three important gatherings within the last week. He was the speaker at the Franklin Rotary Club meeting on February 22; addressed the Beaver County Agricultural group at Beaver on Feb. 23; and spoke at the Uniontown high school on February 24.

LIBRARY RECEIVES VALUABLE BOOKS FROM TOWNSPEOPLE

The Elliott library has received two valuable donations recently from business men in New Wilmington.

Mr. W. J. Conway, editor of The Globe, presented the library with a 10-volume set of "Winston's Encyclopedia". The special feature of this set is that it is cumulative, and each year, the loose-leaf additions may be inserted, thus keeping it useful for current reference on all general subjects.

Mr. W. W. Campbell, prominent lumber dealer, has made an unusual gift in the form of three duplicate sets of books, entitled "Marketing Permanent Building Materials." There are eight volumes in each of these sets, which are published by the National Builder's Supply Association, of which Mr. Campbell is an ex-president.

These books were designed as aids to the lumber salesman, and were used to train salesmen in that field. Students of salesmanship in particular should find them helpful.

Y. W. TO ENTERTAIN NATIONAL COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN IN MARCH

Miss Gladys Taylor, National Committee Chairman of Y. W. C. A. will visit Westminster March 7 to 9. During her visit here Miss Taylor will be guest speaker at Y. W. C. A. and will hold special conferences with Dr. Galbreath, Dean Mary E. Turner and the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet. Miss Taylor will stay at the Hillside during her visit here and will be guest of Dean Turner at dinner in Browne Hall, Wednesday, March 8.

ANOTHER CRUSHING SEASON

Sorority rushing season—or crushing season, as you may look at it—is gone. In a few weeks, the campus will return to normalcy, girls from the same home town who belong to different groups will begin speaking to one another again, and those who accepted pledges will either be happier or very much disillusioned.

What of those who could not afford to join sororities, those who did not wish to join, or those who were not given bids? They should not think that their whole college course is ruined. After all, the college itself is larger than the small groups which wear jeweled pins. Success or failure does not depend upon affiliation with a fraternity or sorority.

There are advantages, especially in a small college in being a member of a Greek-letter society, but there are some disadvantages, too. There are, of course, disadvantages in not belonging. But of those who do not belong, there are always plenty to many to live it down and make good in that cold, cold world after college; that world which demands character, ability, and purpose regardless of the degree of decoration one's vest or dress may have.

OLD STUFF

A number of colleges in the country are coming forward with all kinds of propaganda concerning their great intra-mural sports programs which were stated a year or two ago. Others make much of the fact that they have regular religious services. Some lay claim to originality and fame because they belong to one accrediting association.

Westminster has had for eight years an outstanding intra-mural sports program, which gains each year. In addition to this, the physical education program for girls is as broad as that in schools which specialize in this field.

Relgious services, and a regard for religion, are not secondary at Westminster. Daily chapel services, Sabbath chapel, the annual week of prayer, Y. M. and Y. W. organizations, the Y. P. C. U., and Bible classes are active, and members are zealous.

Few colleges in the entire district belong to more than one accrediting association, and that one is the smallest and lest important of all. Westminster is affiliated with three or four of the highest associations, but that is not news, for the college has been affiliated for a long time.

Music, debates, athletics, publications, sororities, fraternities—all kinds of student organizations here are on a par with any in schools and colleges the country over. When, therefore, you read of some new, novel, unique, or different thing found elsewhere, use plenty of grains of salt.

MOTHERS' DAY

Once again the College and the student body will welcime mothers of students to the campus on March 4. This tradition, one which becomes more far-reaching each year, is a fine one. It suggests only one thing: why not have Fathers' Day also?

Mothers' Day this year should attract a large group of visitors. With a chapel program, luncheons, a gigantic indoor sports program, and a tea on the program, the visitors will have an opportunity of seeing how their sons and daughters spend some of their time outside class hours.

Every student should make an attempt to get his mother here for Saturday. It will be good for her as well as for him. It will also be good for the college.

CABBAGES AND KINGS

Tempus non Fugit

Years ago there stood on the main campus a sun-dial, 'whiling the happy hours away'. Season after season it drew time's secret from the sun. Then, one day, like the mountain that would have come to Mahomet if Mahomet had not willed it otherwise, the sun-dial strayed from its appointed spot. Perhaps it became weary of its life-long struggle against the vagaries of the New Wilmington weather, and set out on a pilgrimage toward sunnier climes, hoping to find a land blessed with eternally cloudless days. Evidently, however, it was unable to overcome its love for the old school, for after a journey of one or two hundred yards it settled down, determined to make the best of the situation.....the situation being some twenty or thirty paces north-east of Browne Hall.

The years passed, dragging their weary months on to eternity. Passing motorists eyed the sun-dial without recognition, seeing in it only a bar to their cutting of the corner where it stood. Then someone possessed of a kindlier eye espied the little time-teller, and was stirred by visions of the past. Thoughts of restoration followed. It is rumored that said restoration is to take place. Justice shall be done, and in this particular case justice will prove a boon to everyone, for sun dials are highly involved little mechanisms, and restoration will mean employment for many departments. The astronomy and mathematics departments will have to go into conference, so that the sun-dial may be 'set' accurately for this particular latitude and longitude; the Latin and English department will work night and day, unearthing suitable inscriptions; the co-education department will discover the possibilities of romance lying latent among the Roman numerals; the art department, with brush and canvas, will glorify man's earliest attempt to harness time. Life will have an added zest, a zest which will carry weary students through the doldrums of spring fewer, a zest which will brighten the dreariest of April days and magnify an hundred times the delightful May sunshine. Ave, solarium; with Ovid we murmur, "Si numeres anno soles et nubila toto....."

Rupert Broke

Of all the 'war poets'....poets 'born' during the late world war.... Rupert Broke is perhaps the best. True, none of his poetry, so fare as we know, has been popularized through the medium of jazz(as was Joyce Kilmer's Trees, but nevertheless, some of the passages from Nineteen-Fourteen are hard to surpass. We proffer, without comment (the poem commends itself), number two from that book. It's entitled "Safety":

Dear! of all happy in the hour, most blest
He who has found our hid security,
Assured in the dark tides of the world that rest,
And heard our word, "Who is so safe as we?"
We have found safety with all things undying—
The winds, and morning, tears of men and mirth,
The deep night, and birds singing, and clouds flying,
And sleep, and freedom, and the autumnal earth.
We have built a house that is not for Time's throwing.
We have gained a peace unshaken by pain forever.
War knows no power. Safe shall be my going,
Secretly armed against all Death's endeavor;
Safe though all safety's lost; safe where men fall;
And if these poor limbs die, safest of all.

Some are summoned and some are summarily suppressed!

Then there was the senior girl who, starting her month as a cadet teacher, wore a uniform trimmed with brass buttons.

Yes, some students do not even know that the war is over.

But the sorority rushing season was fairly quiet on both the western and eastern fronts, few knives and daggers being used, looked, or thrown; though some of them cutlasses!

Which proves, after all, that the sorority pin is mightier than the sword.

And speaking of cutting remarks passed around during the late sorority crushing season, we find that the Chi O crew is a bunch of cut-ups, what with jig-saw puzzles at their party.

Alpha Gamma Delta borrowed the uniform mentioned before (the one with the brass buttons) to use in their hotel party for freshman women. The bell hop was the name of the reception committee, not the dance held in Wyatt's.

'Tis rumored that the Sigma Kappa quartet just about swung the entire ward Republican when they sang at the Sig Kap party on Thursday night.

And then there is that pair of glasses being sported by Rehfus, the big goggle and eye-wash man from Sandusky, O.

It is too bad that Dr. Ditmars did not give his liquid air demonstration during sorority rushing season!

And sorority "silent period" was deafening with whispers in Browne hall and the Co-Op House. Girls who had sold themselves for a promise of a jeweled pin some weeks ago, wondered whether the sorority kleagles would remember.

Which all goes to prove, that no matter how thin a dress is, it will tear if you get too many pins on it.

Titans Face Grove City On Tuesday

Three Grovers and Two Titans Play Last Contest On Tuesday

Westminster ends the 1933 basketball season on the home floor Tuesday night, March 7, when the Grove City College five will be met in a return contest. The Grovers won the first game in a hectic contest that went two extra periods at Grove City.

The Titans, returning late next Saturday from a hard four-game trip through the east, will not be in the best of shape for the contest, but traditional rivalry will make it the outstanding home contest of the year.

Three Grove City stars and two Westminster players will be in their last game Tuesday night. Fegley, Stavnitsky, and Koma are the Grovers who end their court careers, and Siljander and Newton are the Titan men who play their last college game.

Upon the outcome of this contest rests the second-place or runner-up standing of the Grovers or the Titans in Tri-State Conference competition. A victory for Coach John Lawther's men would give the Titans the runner-up post, while a victory for the Grovers would practically give the Thorn machine the second-place rating.

Lawther will probably use Newton and Leyshock at forward, Douglass at center, and Hunneke and Wilhelm at guard. Bob Thorn's lineup will probably include Deems and Fegley at forward, Soich at center, and Laycock and Stavnitsky at guard.

Glenville Swamped By Lawthermen

Locals Take Glenville State Into Camp By 54-39 Score

Glenville Teachers College of West Virginia came to Westminster, January 17, and were defeated by the Titans by a 54 to 39 score. The game was one of the biggest scoring contests of the year at the New Wilmington floor. Every member of the Westminster team played and nearly all of them scored. The best playing was done by Bennett, Patt, and Hunneke for the Titans, and Hines for the Glenville Teachers.

Hines was the whole works for the Glenville team with 22 points, made up of 10 field goals and two fouls.

The score at the end of the first half was 32 to 17 in favor of the Titans. The Blue and White team held the lead throughout the game, and the invaders from West Virginia failed to threaten.

Intra-Mural Sports Programs For Men Attract 80 Per Cent

For the eighth year in succession, intra-mural and inter-class athletic competition at Westminster is attracting a large percentage of the men students. While intra-mural sports programs at Westminster were really inauguated in 1920, it was not until Jack Hulme became director of the gymnasium and of aquatics in 1926 that such a program was organized on a large scale.

Eighty per cent of the men students at Westminster participated in organized games of one kind or another during last year, and the percentage participating this year is about as high.

In addition to regular physical education classes in gymnastics and swimming, 208 men students have already taken part in intra-mural games, and 39 students have acted as officials for these contests. In addition to this, 67 men students have taken part in varsity sports of cross country, football and basketball.

Intra-mural volleyball attracted 41 men students. The league championship was won by Delta Phi Sigma, with Phi Pi Phi and Theta Upsilon Omega fraternities second and third. Alan Van Harper acted as official for this sport.

Delta Phi Sigma fraternity also won the intra-mural horse-shoe tournament. This sport attracted 27 students. Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity was second, and Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity was third. Alan Van Harper was the official.

The freshman-sophomore football game was participated in by 58 members of the two lower classes, the freshmen winning by a 7-0 score. Officials were Glen Rehfus, John Brown, George Hollander, and Homer Dishong. Both teams were coached by students.

The intra-mural basketball league, divided by Hulme into "A", "B", and "C" teams, is now playing the last half contests. Each of the five fraternities has three teams: the first team, a "B" team composed of men who have not played much basket ball, and a "C" team which is composed of novices. Teams from each of the three classes are matched together. This sport has more than 90 men competing. In other words,

Titans Advance In Tri-State Conference Standing

"Tuss" McLaughry To Speak At Athletic Banquet.

Co-ed Physical Education Program Diversified

Victories Over Waynesburg And Bethany Place Titans In Runner-up Positions

Fray With Grove City Next Month Will Be Deciding Fray

Coach John Lawther's Titans advanced to second place in the conference race last week when they played Bethany in West Virginia and Waynesburg at Waynesburg, February 21 and 22. The Titans took the Bisons over by a 33 to 27 score, and defeated the Waynesburg quintet 27 to 26. These two victories gave the Titans their advance in the Conference.

The Blue and white fought a thrilling battle at Bethany. Bethany got off to a good lead and held it up to half time at which time the score was tied 13 to 13. Again at the start of the second half the Bethany team, led by Funk and Marconi, went into the lead, but the Titans coming along at a rapid pace caught up to the Bisons and passed them just shortly before the game ended. Newton and Dauglass were the stars of the game with 30 points between them, Douglass having 17 and Newton having 13. Although Bethany played a fine game the Titans downed them in the last of the game.

The Titans played another hard game the next night at Waynesburg. The game was a breath-taking one with first one team in the lead and then the other. The Blue and White took the lead at the first of the game only to relinquish it to Waynesburg a little later. However, the Titans regained the lead and at the end of the first half the score was 12 to 11. The second half began another hard battle with both teams holding the lead at different times, The score was 25 to 25 three minutes before the end of the game and "Gerry" Newton caged a long field goal for the Lawthermen. Ufema converted a foul shot for the Waynesburg team and the game ended with the score 27 to 26 in favor of the Titans. Douglass was the high scorer of the game with 13 points made up of six field goals and a foul. Avery of Waynesburg had 10 points with four field goals and two fouls. Newton, Leyshock, Wilhelm, Hunneke, Janosik, and Ufema also played nice games.

Rotary Sets March 13 as Dinner Date

Brown Coach To Be On Banquet Program In Honor Of Titan Teams

De Ormond "Tuss" McLaughry, graduate of Sharon high school and of Westminster, former Westminster football star and coach, and now head football coach at Brown University, will be the principal speaker at the banquet in honor of the Westminster football and basketball teams here on Monday, March 13.

It was known that McLaughry planned to pay a visit to his alma mater in March, but it was not until W. Fillmore Campbell, president of the New Wilmington Rotary Club, announced the occasion that the Rotary banquet for the teams was made public.

The banquet, at which more than 200 guests are expected, will be held in Wyatt's Lodge, according to Mr. Campbell. McLaughry has agreed to be on hand and to speak on some phase of college athletics. Coach John Lawther and members of the Westminster football and basketball squads will be special guests.

High school and college coaches of the district, Westminster alumni, faculty members of the college, and men students of Westminster will also be invited to hear one of Westminster's best-known graduates.

Short responses to introduction by the chairman will be made by others in Westminster athletic circles following McLaughry's talk. Band music will probably furnish entertainment during the meal.

McLaughry played fullback on the 1912, 1913, and 1914 Westminster football teams, and was captain of the 1913 eleven. He was assistant grid coach at his alma mater in 1916 when Andrew T. Park, district attorney in Allegheny county, was head coach. During 1915, 1918, and 1921 seasons, McLaughry was head football coach at Westminster.

Amherst College sought McLaughry's services in 1922, and he turned out great teams until 1926 when he took over the coaching reins at Brown. In his first year at Brown, "Tuss" turned out the famous "Iron Men" eleven, a team which defeated Yale, Dartmouth, and Harvard on successive Saturdays. This last year's Brown team lost only to Colgate in the final contest on Thanksgiving day.

Fine Program Planned For Mothers' Day By Mens' Gym Classes

Intra-mural sports, directed by Jack Hulme, will hold the spot-light from two till four Saturday afternoon. An extensive program has been arranged to entertain the visiting mothers and friends. Swimming, water push-ball, American Life-saving demonstrations, water-polo, two intra-mural basketball games, a tumbling match, fancy diving exhibitions, a wrestling match, and swimming races (relay; medley; and novelty) are all scheduled on the afternoon program.

More than forty men have been busy the last two weeks preparing for this exhibition.

Plays Last Game

"Gerry" Newton and "Whitey" Siljander play their last game for the Westminster Titans, March 7. Both have played for the Blue and White teams for four years and have been on Tri-State Coference championship teams for three years.

Survey Shows 201 Women Taking Part In Gym Program

Eleven Sports Are Conducted Under Capable Direction Of Nandeen Love

MISS NANDEEN LOVE

Of the 331 women students enrolled at Westminster, 201 take part in physical education programs, a survey shows. This is approximately 67 per cent.

Eleven different physical education class sports programs are provided for women students under direction of Miss Nandeen Love, director of physical education for women. Seven of these programs have already been run off, or are now being conducted; while four programs are yet to be provided between now and June.

The number of women students of the 201 enrolled in physical education who have competed in programs already conducted is: field hockey, 40; volleyball, 69; basketball, 75; tumbling, 15; swimming, 129; horseback riding, eight; and hiking, 55. Physical education classes for the next few months will provide activity in indoor baseball, roller skating, ping pong, and tennis.

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

Intra-mural basketball tournament for girls starts Thursday, March 2. Games will be played on Monday and Thursday afternoons at 4 and 5 o'clock.

Six squads are entered, composed of twelve girls each. Captains are: Helen Snyder, Helen Simison, Isabel McKnight, Martha Byers, Kathryn Lynch, and Pat Jones.

Those showing up best during this tournament will be selected as candidates for membership in W. A. A.

INTRA-MURAL CARDS ATTRACT MANY MEN

with 16 varsity basketball men and more than 90 intra-mural court performers, Westminster has almost 120 men competing in basketball this year.

Other intra-mural sports which will take place later this year include mushball, tennis, track, and archery golf. Of the 319 men enrolled at Westminster out of the total enrollment of 650 for the year, 275 have already competed in one or more varsity or intra-mural sports, and the grand total for the year will probably reach 300.

While many colleges, forced by finances, have played up intra-mural sports programs during the last two years as something unique and novel, the Westminster program in its eighth year continues to be one of the most enthusiastic of all student activities on the campus.

In addition to his duties as intra-mural sports director, Hulme is varsity team trainer, director of the gymnasium, and director of aquatics. A special group of physical education students under Hulme will present a water sports program on Mothers' day, Saturday March 4.

Geneva Wins Second Fray From Local Cagers 33-28

Convenanter's Rally In Late Stages of Fray Is Disastrous To Locals

The Westminster Titans went down to their third conference loss of the season by a score of 33 to 28 when Geneva came to New Wilmington, February 14. Although it looked like the Titans might come through, the first half; the last-half rally of the Loeffermen was too much for the Titans.

The Blue and White took the lead in the beginning of the game as Newton tossed one in from the side. Douglass put one in as the ball was tossed to him from out-of-bounds, Patt converted a foul shot and made a bucket from the corner on a pass from Douglass, and the score was 7-1 in favor of Westminster. Geneva took time out.

Douglass brought the lead up to eight points as he shot from the side, and missed a free shot on Manning. Garda was substituted for Grahame. Aultman converted a free throw and Ginsberg shot from the foul line bringing the score to 9-4. Ginsberg narrowed the Titan lead to three points as he popped an easy shot under the basket and Westminster took time out.

Sweeney in Lineup

Garda scored from under the basket and Ginsberg made one from the side giving Geneva the lead with a 10-9 score. Sweeney replaced Patt as Westminster took timeout. Ginsberg failed to make either of two foul shots, Newton put one in from under the basket, and Hunneke scored from the foul line giving Westminster a three-point lead. Sweeney failed to make a free shot against Ginsberg, and Hutzley came in for Nave. Wilhelm made a free throw against Hutzley, and Sweeney brought the score to 13-10 with a hook shot from under the basket.

On a side long shot Aultman made a bucket, Ginsberg converted a free throw against Wilhelm, and Douglass missed a shot after being fouled by Hutzley. Aultman made a shot on Newton, Hutzley gained two points on a long side shot, and Newton made a free throw ending the half with the score Westminster 17, Geneva 15.

Ginsberg made a free throw, cutting down the Westminster lead to one point, but Douglass played turn about and converted two free throws against Ginsberg. Ginsberg made a basket from the corner of the floor, Garda shot from the side, and Aultman popped one from the middle, putting Geneva in the lead with a 22-19 score.

GINSBERG GOES OUT

Ginsberg completed his quota of four fouls, but Newton missed the free shot given him. Fair for Ginsberg. Aultman popped a long shot, Hutzley scored from the side and converted a free throw, and the Covenanters froze up the ball game with an eight-point lead. Leyshock was substituted for Douglass. Hunneke made a pretty shot and missed a free shot against Manning. Garda scored on a free throw against Hunneke, and Douglass came in for Sweeney.

Ginsberg brought the Geneva lead up to nine points, Aultman scored on a free throw against Leyshock, and Hunneke missed one aginst Garda. Siljander was given two shots against Garda, and Newton made one making the score 31-23 in favor of Geneva. Newton again converted on a free throw and Douglass scored a bucket reducing the Geneva lead to five points. Nave for Hutzley.

Garda made a foul shot against Siljander, and Wilhelm made one on Fair. Leyshock went in for Wilhelm. Newton made a free shot, and Hutzley went in for Nave. Garda made a free shot and the game ended with Geneva on top with a 33 to 28 score.

It was the first defeat for Westminster at home for the last five years, it was the only time in the past seven years one team has defeated the Titans more than once in the same season, and when Westminster played Geneva at Beaver Falls it was the first time in six years that any team has defeated Westminster by more than ten

Manning Ginsberg, and Aultman were the outstanding stars for the Geneva team, with Newton and Douglass doing the bulk of the scoring for the Titans.

Titans Make Eastern Trip This Week

Westminster to Play in Scranton, Long Island, Jersey City and Brooklyn

With a record of 15 victories and five defeats, the Westminster College basketball team is invading the east, starting tonight with a game at St. Thomas College in Scranton, and playing four games in as many nights.

Coach John Lawther and a squad of 10 or 11 players left here Monday for Scranton. Following the St. Thomas game, the Titans will go to Freeport, L. I. where the Long Island Coaches will be played in a benefit game for the Freeport high school band on Wednesday night.

On the Freeport Coaches' team will be found "Babe" O'Donovan, former Westminster star who is now coach at Freeport; But Elliott, former Grove City star who is now coaching at Bayside; and a number of other former college stars who are coaching Long Island high school teams.

During the 1931 season, while Lawther was taking graduate work at New York University and coaching the Freeport high school court team, the Freeporters won the league basketball championship.

On Thursday night, March 2, Westminster will be at Jersey City, N. J., where "Matty" Begovitch's John Marshall College five will be played. The great St. Johns' College five will be played at Brooklyn, N. Y. on Friday night, March 3. The Titans will return to New Wilmington to get ready for the final game of the season against Grove City on the home court.

The Titans are now in second place in the Tri-State Conference standing by virtue of victories over Bethany and Waynesburg on Feb. 21 and 22. The only other conference game remaining is with Grove City, and the Titans will have to win this contest to maintain second-place standing in the league.

On the eastern trip, Lawther took: Wes Bennett, Akron, O., center; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, Pa., forward; Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, Pa., forward; Bill Douglass, Iselin, Pa., forward; Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I., guard; John Wilhelm, Kittanning, Pa., guard; Peter Leyshock, Farrell, Pa., forward; Louis Patt, Altoona, Pa., center; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., forward; and Bill Williams, Sharon, Pa., guard or center. Student managers Arthur Evans, Sharon, and Bill Rea, McDonald, O., will also make the trip. Coach John Lawther and Professor R. X. Graham, assistant athletic director, will be in charge.

Arrangements Made For Alumni Fellowship Meets

Youngstown Meeting To Take Place During Later Season

Arrangements are being made for a number of fellowship meetings in the various alumni districts. Presidents of the groups are securing names and addresses of all Westminster alumni in their district, and a special effort has been made to create interest and a feeling of responsibility.

Alumni in the region of Youngstown are arranging a fellowship program immediately after Easter. Dr. J. A. MacDonald, a graduate of the class of 1898, is in charge of all arrangements, and will announce the details of the program as soon as the date is definitely decided.

Dr. Richard Brandon, Canton physician, is president of the Akron-Canton association of alumni from all the United Presbyterian colleges, and is using some rather unusual devices to secure a record attendance at the meeting, which will be held Monday evening, March 6. Dr. J. C. Fulton, Akron minister, is assisting Dr. Brandon in his arrangements. Dr. Fulton is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1915.

RETURN HOME FROM PANAMA CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Groth, Shaker Heights, O., have recently returned from a cruise from California to Mexico, Central and South America, Cuba, and New York. They left Cleveland late in December, arrived in California in time to witness the Tournament of Roses parade and football game, and traveled by boat around the southern part of Mexico, through the Panama canal, and to Cuba and New York. Mrs. Groth was Thelma Warner, '28, a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

BIRTHS

The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur French, graduates of the class of 1928, announce the birth of a son, Gordon Cunningham, Dec. 30, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. French are missionaries in Hainan Island, China.

DELTS LOOM AS CHAMPS IN INTRA-MURAL CAGE RACE

As intra-mural basketball starts into the last lap the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity looks like a sure winner in both the "A" and "B" league. With six victories and no defeats they are practically sure of the "A" loop championship, and their "B" team is still undefeated out of six starts. The T. U. O. fraternity is fighting it out with the Kaps for second place.

League "C" started last Friday with four fraternities sending teams into action. At least thirty men in each fraternity will have the chance of playing "varsity" ball on one of the "Alphabet" teams.

As an added attraction for "Mothers' Day", Jack Hulme is having the Delts play the Kaps and the Phi Pis meet the T. U. O. Both games will be regular class "A" contests and the student body is expected to be well represented.

NEW YORK CURATOR TO GIVE LECTURE ON MARCH 9

Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of New York Zoological Park and widely known lecturer, will speak in the college chapel Friday, March 3, at 8:15.

Dr. Ditmars' strange experiences rival those of the famous Baron Munchausen, but all of his adventures with animals actually did happen as he tells them.

For this next lecture course number on Friday, Dr. Ditmars will speak on "The Right to Live", which is illustrated with remarkable motion pictures, demonstrating the surprising abilities of animals.

Dr. Ditmars is recognized as one of the world's greatest authorities on animal life. He has written two splendid books, "Reptiles of the World" and the widely popular "Strange Animals I Have Known."

SENIORS BEGIN CADET WORK IN SCHOOLS

Dr. Shott, Prof. Lawther, and Miss Hoagland are supervising this work.

The eight music majors who are teaching are in the New Castle Public schools, under the direction of Miss Gladys Rich and Mr. Joseph Replogle, and the observation of the members of the conservatory faculty. They are: Marian Ferver, Dorothy Hopwood, Elizabeth Macklin, Ruthine Miller, Margaret Reese, Mary Jane Stunkard, Grace Jones (junior), and William Stadtmiller.

Economics students teaching in New Castle under the direction of Captain McKee are Glenn Rehfus, John Clement, and Marjorie Sample.

Present Day Speaking

The last twenty years have seen public speaking discard the attitude of display in favor of unadorned, direct communication. The unhappy elocutionist, after perfecting a standardized code of gestures and vocal effects, no longer finds an enthusiastic response to the rendition of "pieces" by this useful, though scarcely profound method. Even before the advent of the radio, the bustle of wartime made it necessary to say much in a brief period; the "four minute men" educated themselves to speak tersely, and their audiences to expect such speaking. The long winded political orator was trampled under by a crowd of energetic persons bent on getting things done; his prototype may occasionally be heard at political conventions or on the floor of the Senate, obstructing business, but for the most part the nation has come to regard economy of language as the hallmark of wisdom

The modern speaker regards public speech as an expanded form of conversation, and addresses an audience of any size in much the same way he would speak to an individual. Radio has furthered this intimacy; the speaker no longer need lift his voice above the conversational pitch to be heard, whether he speaks by radio or by the public address systems common to large auditoriums. One result of this is that audiences have nearly forgotten how the unaided voice sounds at a moderate distance, and are becomming increasingly critical of speakers and actors, holding that they should produce a blare of sound comparable to that of the radio talking picture, and public address system. Another result is the growing intolerance of audiences toward speakers of any sort; being unable to dial out his words after a few minutes of listening, they sit restlessly until the occasion offers a chance for escape. Being acoustomed to chat at home during the sermon, or lecture, or radio play, they feel free to do so in the church, the auditorium, or the theatre.

Modern college departments of speech no longer center their efforts upon the training of orators, but upon the developement of good everyday speech. For the student who expects to speak much in public, the attempt is to develop a lvoice of pleasing quality and fair volume, enunciation capable of undistorted transmission through the microphone, a vocabulary of simple, telling words, and above all, habits of clear, economical expression. An appropriate motto for the student of Speech would be,

"Let thy speech be better than silence, or be silent."

Town and Gown Unite To Honor Dr. R. F. Galbreath

ENTHUSIASM MARKS FRIDAY NIGHT EVENT

The entire community of New Wilmington united last Friday night in the reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath in a meeting held in the United Presbyterian church. Every organization in the town and the college was represented on the committees in charge of the affair which was marked by enthusiasm and which proved that town and college are inseparable.

The first part of the evening consisted in a program held in the auditorium of the church, where organizations welcomed Dr. Galbreath as Westminster's new president, and pledged to him the support of the community.

The Rev. Dr. S. A. Kirkbride presided at this part of the program, Robert S. Cordray played the organ prelude, and the audience united in the singing of "America," Dr. Kirkbride then led in prayer.

Extend Welcome

W. Fillmore Campbell, burgess, was first to wecome Dr. Galbreath on behalf of the town. The welcome from the Methodist, Presbyterian, and United Presbyterian churches was expressed by the Rev. E. O. McNulty, the Rev. W. F. Byers, and the Rev. J. Ralph Neale.

Miss Lowenne Swindler then played a violin solo, "Adoration" by Borowski. Louis Hazen, New Castle, president of the senior class, welcomed Dr. Galbreath on behalf of the student body. The welcome for the faculty of the college was expressed by Dr. Harold Black, head of the department of mathematics.

Dr. Galbreath responded to these gracious words of welcome in a speech pledging the college to uphold its traditions and ideals of the past and thanking the town for its continued interest with support. The program was ended with the singing of the Westminster Hymn by the audience.

Reception Line

Following the program, the reception line was formed at the front of the church auditorium. Those in the reception line were: Rev. J. Ralph Neale, Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Rev. W. F. Byers, Rev. E. O. McNulty, and Rev. S. A. Kirkbride.

Light refreshments were served in the church basement following this reception.

The general committee in charge included J. A. Pitzer, chairman; W. Fillmore Campbell, J. C. Monroe, Miss Frances Barr, Mrs. J. H. McClure, John W. Cox, Mrs. Frank McClure, Eugene Sampson, James Patterson, Dr. S. E. Calhoun, Professor A. T. Cordray, and Louis Hazen.

The committee in charge of refreshments included: Miss Frances Barr, Mrs. Freda Williamson, Miss Hallie Elliott, Mrs. J. H. McClure, Mrs. Charles Martin, Mrs. Frank McClure, Mrs. Annie Clark, Mrs. Harvey Boyle, Mrs. Lida M. Greer.

The committee on ushering inclued: Col. D. H. McQuiston, J. C. Monroe, Walter Shaffer, and Professor Ben Euwema. Approximately 1,000 people attended the reception.

Y. W .C. A. OFFICERS ELECTED AT ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

Miss Dorothy Sellar was elected chairman of the Young Women's Christian Association of Westminster for the coming year at a meeting of the organization held in Hillside parlors last Wednesday evening, February 24, at 6:30.

Others elected as officers were: Annabel Stevenson, vice-president; Jane Black, secretary; and Isabel Kildoo, treasurer.

Previous to the election, the following girls were chosen by the nominating committee as candidates for the various offices: Annabel Stevenson, and Dorothy Sellar, president; the candidate receiving the least number of votes for president was to become vice-president. Jane Black and Dorothy Grant, secretary; and Gretchen Welch and Isabel Kildoo, treasurer.

Miss Dorothy Grant was in charge of the regular program of the evening and had chosen as the topic for discussion "If I Were A Freshman Again." Various phases of the question were discussed by Marion Johnston, Dorothy Bigham, Olive Mills, and Harriette Robinson. The mental, social, physical, and moral standards of a modern college freshman girl's life were the themes of the four brief speeches.

Devotions of the group were offered by Elizabeth Curtis.

The term of office for the old officers has not as yet expired and consequently Miss Virginia Boyd and her cabinet are still busy with the many duties which they have so capably handled throughout the past year.

W. A. A. BANQUET HELD TUESDAY IN THE TAVERN

The W. A. A. held a banquet on Tuesday, February 23, 1932, at the Tavern, after which the instillation of the officers was held.

Evelyn Judson, president; Virgil Wettich, vice president; Martha Johnston, secretaary; Fern Fox, treasurer; and Anna May Leyshon, hike supervisor were installed in office.

The instillation consisted of the reading of the duties of the officers and their acceptance. A speech was presented by Evelyn Judson on the fundamentals and requirements of the W. A. A. and also a tribute to Miss Love, who responded briefly.

With the president presiding, Helen Roach, Ernestine Madden, Mildred Ralston, Margaret Weibel, and Louise Sewall were accepted and formally initiated.

This was followed by the awarding letters for the honorary volleyball and honorary hockey teams. Those receiving letters for volley ball were: Emma Koegler, Amy Jean Young, Virgil Wettich, and the fine new members The charter members received letters for hockey

NO DECISION DEBATE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Last Wednesday evening, February 3, the second varsity debate of the season was held in the Little Theater with a team from Allegheny as opponents.

The Westminster team, coached by Professor Ben Euwema, head of the English department, upheld the affirmative of the question: Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic Origin Is Unsound in Principle. Members of the Westminster team were Wilson Miller, Herbert Smith and Bernard Kaplan.

Professor Ross Ellis of the department of economics and business administration, presided at the debate. It was a no decision affair.

DR. GAMBLE LEADS SPECIAL WEEK OF CHAPEL SERVICES

ALUMNUS TO SPEAK TWICE EACH DAY

As the guest preacher of the college, the Rev. S. C. Gamble, D.D., pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of Butler, Pa., will hold special services in the college chapel each evening this week except Saturday evening, at 7:00.

Dr. Gamble will also be present at the morning chapel services, and will be available for individual conferences with students, during the day, or following the evening service.

Dr. Gamble is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1901, and received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Westminster in 1924. Not only is he a minister with a convincing message, but he is also author of a series of clever articles recently printed in the United Presbyterian.

Women' Club Honors Prexy At Pittsburgh

DR. AND MRS. R. F. GALBREATH ARE GUESTS OF HONOR

Many Westminster alumnae attended the annual luncheon of the Westminster Women's Club, held in Pittsburgh on Saturday, February 20, at the William Penn Hotel.

Mrs. Scott Watt, '06, of Ben Avon, was in charge of all arrangements, and was aided by Miss Clara Dickey, of the class of 1908. One of the most attractive features of the program was a group of songs sung by Miss Jessie Payne, an alumna of the the Class of 1920.

Present as guests of honor were Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman. Several Westminster faculty members also attended the luncheon.

Dr. Freeman gave an interesting review of Westminster's achievements in the past few years, stressing her splendid vitality, as evidenced by the way in which the college has risen above seemingly insurmountable difficulties.

Dr. Galbreath spoke of Westminster's need for her alumni, her dependence on their interest, loyalty and co-operation, and asked for the inspiration of their presence on the Westminster campus, whenever possible.

Y. P. C. U. MEETING DISCUSSES "FAITH"

"What Jesus Teaches About Faith in God," was the subject discussed by the college Y. P. C. U. on Sabbath evening. Herbert Smith and Isabelle Kildoo led the meeting.

Charasteristics of both weak and strong faith, and the value of such faith to the individual, were discussed. It was agreed that faith must be reasonable, sincere, and broad in its scope, including not only faith in God, but also faith in ourselves and everyone about us.

DR. GALBREATH SPEAKS AT NEW CASTLE CHURCH

Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, spoke from the U. P. church, Clenmore boulevard, Sunday evening, in the place of the pastor, Dr. S. E. Irvine, who was confined to his Highland avenue home by illness.

FIRST SWIMMING POOL PERMIT IS GIVEN COLLEGE

Westminster's swimming pool is the first one in the state to be given a permit under the new regulations of the Department of health, officers at Harrisburg announced last week.

Of the 154 applications received for indoor and outdoor pools in the state, the Westminster papers were first to be turned in, officials stated. Jack Hulme, director of acquatics, was first to get the required blueprints, water tests, and other documents in the hands of the department so the college pool here was the first given a permit.

State officials investigated the pool in December with engineers of the state department under direction of George H. Moore. Moore reported that the Westminster pool fulfilled all the health and safety requirements of the state code.

Jones Appointed Assistant In Businass Dept.

HOLDS M. A. DEGREE FROM LELAND STANFORD

Dr. R. F. Galbreath announces the appointment of Mr. Ronald E. Jones as an assistant in the Department of Business Administration, beginning with the second semester.

Mr. Jones comes to Westminster well versed in the field of Economics and Business. Upon graduating from Colorado College, Colorado Springs, with a major in Economics, he received a Fellowship in Business Administration at Ohio State University. Later he returned to Colorado college as an Assistant in Economics.

Last year, Mr. Jones attended the Stanford Graduate School of Business, Palo Alto, California, where he received his M.A. and did advanced work toward his Doctorate. He will have charge of Economic Theory, and conduct the laboratory in Production. Mr. Jones is a member of the Theta Xi Fraternity and Alpha Kappa Psi, National Business Fraternity.

COMMUNITY CHEST THANKS COLLEGE Y.W.C.A. FOR GIFT

The Board of Control of the New Wilmington Community Chest gratefully acknowledges the receipt of the sum of $72.25 from the Y. W. C. A. of Westminster College. This gift is the amount of the profits derived from a charity tea sponsored by the girls of the Y. W. C. A. recently. The money will be used in relief work in the community and if all of it should not be needed there, it will be sent on to organizations in the neighboring towns where the need is greater.

President Busy With Number of Speeches, Talks

SPEAKS AT VESPER SERVICE ON SABBATH

An ardent Rotarian, interesting speaker, and popular leader of young people's work, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Westminster's new executive, finds himself much in demand as a speaker.

On Sabbath evening, February 21, Dr. Galbreath gave the principal address at a community patriotic service held in the high school auditorium of Vandergrift, Pa. The service was sponsored by the churches of Vandergrift, and attracted a large audience.

On Monday evenin, after a strenuous day at the college, Dr. Galbreath spoke before the Butler Rotary club, which met in the Nixon Hotel. Later in the evening he also spoke at the Y. P. C. U. rally held in the Methodist church of Mars, Penna.

On Friday, February 26, Dr. Galbreath attended a meeting of a committee of the board of directors of Westminster, held in Pittsburgh.

On Sabbath afternoon, at the vesper hour, Dr. Galbreath gave a brief address to the Westminster audience on the subject, "The Religion of George Washington."

A.A.U.W. BRANCH TO MEET IN NEW WILMINGTON

The branch of the American Association of University Women recently organized will hold a luncheon in New Wilmington Saturday, March 5th. Mrs. R. C. McKelvey, nee Lucile Nevin, a graduate of Westminster, Class of 1906, will be the speaker. Mrs. McKelvey was president of the Pittsburgh branch last year. College women from New Castle, Grove City, Mercer and Sharon are expected to attend the luncheon. The officers of the local branch are President, Mrs. J. N. Swan, Vice President, Mrs. J. A. McLaughry. Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Stewart; Treasurer, Miss Elizabeth McBane.

TALKS ON SUCCESS IN DEPARTMENT STORE ADMINISTRATION

"Anyone having talent and using it may be successful in business tomorrow," said J. S. Meyer recently in an address to a large group of students of the Economics and Business Administration department.

Meyer, a graduate of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, now actively employed as manager of Strouss-Hirschberg company of New Castle, gave an interesting talk on marketing fields of department stores.

In opening his address of the afternoon, Meyer made sure to emphasize that there can be no definite rule to follow in business. Further, that he was no exception and could not set any certain rules for success in the business world. But that training by the Case System which has as its aim the preparation of students to meet changing conditions in the street is ideal.

As a basis of his talk, he used questions submitted to him by members of the marketing class. While answering questions, he was asked to express the future of the chain department store. In brief, he stated that the store that will sell for only cash, with a low cost per unit sale and that the one which will eliminate unnecessary service will be the successful store regardless of the conditions and connections as a chain.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT VESPER CHAPEL

RELIGION OF GEORGE WASHINGTON IS SUBJECT

The second vesper service of the year was held Sabbath afternoon at 4:30. The service was opened with the singing of "America", Alan B. Davis directing the singing. Dr. R. F. Galbreath offered prayer; Mr. E. C. Murray presented a violin solo; and the audience read a psalm responsively.

Dr. Galbreath spoke on "The Religious Life of George Washington", as a part of the celebration of the Washington Bicentennial. He stated that "in nearly everything he spoke or wrote Washington was profoundly religious." The supreme honesty and the prayers of the President were taken as examples of his religion.

"Washington always went to church even though he had to travel very far to do so. He was present at 32 out of the 52 vestry meetings held in his church in one year."

George Washington was not merely a soldier and statesman, but a truly great man", Dr. Galbreath said. He forbade drunkeness, profanity, and gambling in his army, and he commanded his soldiers not to ridicule the religious beliefs of others. "He held by an unfailing, unbreaking faith in God."

The service was closed by prayer by Dr. Galbreath and an organ solo by Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride.

PRIZE CONTEST STARTS TODAY

HOLCAD TO OFFER MONEY FOR ERRORS

Students who desire to earn a little spending money may find in this week's issue of the HOLCAD an opportunity.

SIMPLIFYING "SIMON PURES"

President Tolley of Allegheny College takes a lot onto himself when he asserts that all colleges in the district will "soon follow Allegheny's example" in the matter of intercollegiate sports, Allegheny's example, indeed?

Just what is back of this so-called movement to de-emphasize college sports? Why was Allegheny ,the twenty-first college in the country to make such a move, one of the first in this particular section? Frankly, it was not the fault of Allegheny entirely.

Various associations of colleges and universities in checking up on the financial condition of colleges in their associations ,have suggested some changes in athletic policies. Three or four colleges of the Pittsburgh district were carrying prohibitive loads in this regard. These three or four colleges, too, have been consistent winners in football for a number of years. When the associations of which they are members suggested that "something be done about it," the colleges had little left to do but take the hint.

Westminster has never claimed to be different from other conference schools. But Westminster football teams have never cost the college nor the alumni anything like the totals in some other schools. True, Westminster teams have won but few football games . Perhaps the reason is obvious. Certainly the coaching has been as good as the coaching in other schools. The material has consisted in bona-fide students, but not the cream of district's prep schools and high schools.

It seems a bit curious to grab front-page publicity for doing something which simply has to be done. Westminster last fall cut down football scholarships, purposely dropped most of the members of the football team that had previously won letters, and had on the squad no less than four or five first and second honor students from various high schools—boys who came to college on scholarships offered because of scholastic ability.

What happened? when the "simon pures" were able to defeat the freshman outfit Westminster sent on the field, they crowed loud and long. They very generously attributed the weakness of the Titan team to poor coaching.

We are just about fed up on district attitudes of this particular type. Stories in the daily press last week stated that Washington and Jefferson is following in the footsteps of other schools. That will be read with surprise by the folks in Washington, Pa. Wash-Jeff is merely shifting its ledger accounts. Good athletes will still be sought, and rightly so.

What success Westminster has had in athletics, as those on the inside know well enough, has been due to good coaching, to making bricks out of straw ,to working without sufficient equipment and without alibis. No other school has less football equipment than we. Every district school has a better track and better track equipment. Most of the schools have much larger squads than we. Westminster has never had a football "camp" in the true sense of the word. But coaches and players alike have overlooked these drawbacks and have done their best. If we continue our policy of the past, we shall be right where others claim they will be next fall.

TOWN AND GOWN

Westminster College and New Wilmington are one. If the college fails, New Wilmington also fails. If the town does not thrive, Westminster cannot hope to succeed.

Realization of this unity was never better exemplified than at the enthusiastic community-college reception to Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath last Friday night.

Westminster is ideally located. Here in a quiet, clean, moral atmosphere, the college has flourished. For the most part, townspeople, most of whom are alumni, have not tried to make of the college a political football to be kicked around to suit their whims. What has been for the best interests of the college has always been sought.

The town, though small, is one of the most progressive in the state. True, there are a few who would eliminate many of its fine features as costly. But the larger, wiser majority still insists that clean streets, painted light posts, painted fire hydrants, safety zones, and other things of this nature help make the town a better place to live in.

New Wilmington and Westminster, with the sort of spirit which prompted the reception Friday night will go far hand in hand And the college will continue to be proud of the town, and the town will continue to boast about its college.

TALKS ON SUCCESS

Although the chain store has a better purchasing power, it does not necessarily mean that it will be a success without following the above principle.

Additional comments to the questions brought out the facts that a cash customer was anybody's customer, that service was no longer the important part in business of a few years ago, and that appeal must be made to fashions.

After discussing the methods of buying in relation to retailing Meyer concluded the afternoon meeting by saying that manufacturers are fighting for outlets and the control of them. Of this subject, he referred to the competition for the consumer's dollar. With the words of competition, he likewise added that competition, while the life of trade, is also the death of traders.

After the meeting several students, who plan to enter department store work, were given advice by the speaker, who said that those who excel in their line will be the ones to succeed.

The talk offered by Meyer proved of great benefit to the students, as it enabled them to compare the learning acquired in the classroom from the Harvard case system with what is being practiced in the street. His views on the various business problems gave the students a very practical side of business.

MORE ABOUT TITAN ALLEGHENY GAME

the game. Conn, playing center for Allegheny, had to leave the game via the personal foul exit.

Westminster missed a large percentage of their "charity throws" while Allegheny succeeded in making the greater majority of theirs. It looked, for a time, as though this lack of accuracy might mean a defeat for Westminster, but the Titans succeeded in garnering enough "two pointers" to off-set their disadvantage at the foul line.

Athletic Council Bans Duquesne U. Contest

Plans Stopped For Extra Game

MOUNT UNION MAY BE MET IN CONTEST

(Editor Note)

Geneva took the highly touted Dukes to town last night by a score of 37-34 in an overtime fray. The Titans are "tuff"!

Members of the Athletic Council stated last night that no move will be made to seek a post-season game in basketball this season with Duquesne.

Attorney James A. Stranahan, president of the council, and Dr. William Cleland, a member, both stated that Westminster is already district champion, and it is not the duty of the Titans to make any overtures for a game to prove something which Coach John Lawther's team has already proved.

When questioned about a rumored game with Mount Union, Buckeye Conference champs, members of the council merely stated that they had nothing to say. Such a contest with the Mounties, it was intimated. is not completely beyond possibility.

SILJANDER & KOCHERAN LEAD LOCALS TO WIN

Westminster came through Thursday night, to win a brilliant victory from a scrapping "Gator" team that was out for blood. The game was exciting from the opening whistle till the time keeper's gun marked the end of the game and another Westminster victory.

Allegheny played real basket-ball in the first half taking a seven to two lead in the first nine minutes of play. At this time Allegheny marred what would otherwise been a perfect game by freezing the ball, being satisfied with their five point lead. Coach Lawther's team was rather taken back by this unorthodox type of basketball but after calling a time out they went back to take the lead. The score see-sawed back and forth with the Titans usually about two points in the lead. Allegheny took the lead in the later part of the first half with a 14-12 margin. They were only to have this satisfaction however. Siljander and Brownlee gave the Titans a "double-decker" that put them in the lead again. Siljander's "bucket", nine seconds before the end of the first half, gave Westminster a lead of 20-18 at halftime.

The second half opened with Ralston, of Allegheny, tieing the score 20-20. Westminster hit their old stride again running the score to 20-26. Garbark made a free-throw giving Allegheny their only score, while the "towering Titans" made the score 21-31. This ten point lead was the largest of the game and at no time did the Westminster quintet feel that it could "take it easy".

The playing on both sides was fast and furious with fouls being called freely. Near the end of the game Kocheran, star forward and high scorer, received an injury that necessitated his being removed from

DUKES WANT CHALLENGE FROM TITAN QUINT

Chester Smith, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Press, says in the Saturday edition of his paper, "Duquesne University is not adverse to playing Westminster College in a post-season basketball game, but would like to have the Titans issue a formal challenge in order that it may be acted on with proper decorum.

"After his team had taken a lashing from the Dukes Thursday evening, Coach Francis Stadsvold of West Virginia remarked that if Westminster was any stronger, he would like to know in what departments. Duquesne can put the ball in the basket almost as it pleases, and that is about all there is to the game—."

RICE, BROWNLEE, AND KOCHERAN END CAREERS

When the final whistle is blown next Tuesday night, Westminster college will lose three of the finest basketball players that ever donned a uniform. Captain Phil Rice, ace of all basketeers of the entire section and Tri-State district, "Bud" Brownlee, towering center, and at present leading scorer in the country, and Mike Kocheran, forward, will doff their uniforms for the last time for Westminster, in regular season tilts.

It will be with a feeling of regret that the student body will hear the last whistle in the Grove City fracas, for these three fellows have produced some mighty fine basketball while at this institution.

Rice, twice captain, and Tri-State guard selection for the past three seasons can be considered as the keyman to Westminster's fine string of victories. Always cool, always alert, Rice directed his team through every difficulty with amazing ability. Playing a conservative game, yet being able to "step up" the offensive drives of the Titans, Rice has rightfully earned a place in the Hall of Fame of Westminster college and will be remembered throughout the entire Tri-State district as one of the greatest guards ever to grace a basketball floor.

Brownlee, pivot ace, has no peer in his ability as a basket finder. Not being content with leading the Tri-State conference in scoring, Brownless has stepped out this year to take the scoring honors to date in the entire United States, having amassed a total of 427 points in the 23 frays to date. "Dave" Stewart, former Grove City athletic star, now regarded as one of the best high school coaches in the district, said, "Brownlee not only has size, but he also has ability". Pittsburgh sports writers have compared him to the great "Charley" Hyatt, Pitt's great basketball luminary of several years back, who set the basketball world agog with his ability.

Mike Kocheran, playing his eighth year of basketball with Rice, can be regarded as one of the best forwards in the Tri-State area. Rice and Kocheran were teammates on the great Duquesne high outfit of '28, which took Western Pennsylvania honors. Rated as a star there in the Steeltown school, Mike has even eclipsed that reputation during his college days, by becoming one of the most consistent ball players in the entire district. Amen.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL SCOWLS ON OLD "MR. GASTON" ACT

TRACKSTERS MUST RUN TO WIN IS RULE

The "you first, my dear Gaston" act on the part of varsity track athletes at Westminster College, whereby weaker brothers were allowed to take first place and thereby qualify for varsity letters, has been eliminated, the athletic council has decided.

Hereafter, no points scored in track meets where one man intentionally allows another to take a place ahead of him will be counted. Determination of such intentional "throwing" of positions in races will be left to the coach or director of athletics, with one witness constituting authority to cancel points.

The council also changed the requirement for winning a varsity letter in track. Heretofore, if a man scored a total of eight points in one season, he received a letter. Now he must score 12 points during the season.

These new rulings place a premium on winning in track, and should make for better times and distance on the part of track contestants. Often in easy races, the best runners, allow the poorer runners of the team, usually fraternity brothers, to take first place.

T. U. O.-DELT TILT TO DECIDE TITLE IN FRAT RACE

PLAYOFF WITH COMMUTERS WILL DECIDE CHAMPS OF CAMPUS

Delts and T. U. O. will tangle this afternoon in what may be the deciding game in the Intra-Mural race. The Delts are setting the pace with the T. U. O. outfit one game behind. A victory for the Delts will give them the pennant, while the T. U. O. boys, if they should emerge from the fracas with the victory, will be tied with the Market street quintet for honors. If such a thing should happen, a play off will be held on Wednesday. The winner will then meet the Commuters, freshmen champions in a three game series to be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

However, if the Delts take the game this afternoon, the play-off with the Commuters will be advanced one day.

RICE, BROWNLEE AND DOUGLASS SCORE HEAVILY

With Brownlee, Rice and Douglass scoring freely, Westminster had little difficulty trouncing Bethany 63-26 in a conference tilt on the local floor last night.

The game started slowly with the score standing 10-2 after eight minutes of playing time had elapsed. The Titans then stepped out to top at the half by a 31-13 score.

In the second half, Douglass and Brownlee scored freely to pile up an overwhelming score of 63-26 at the final whistle.

MOST STUDENTS NOT FITTED FOR HIGHER MATH

Westminster Alumnus Says Only Few Can Go Beyond Arithmetic

Twenty per cent of high school students are not mentally equipped with aptitude for the study of mathematics higher than arithmetic, according to Dr. Ben G. Graham, Westminster alumnus and superintendent of Pittsburgh schools. Dr. Graham, speaking in an open discussion following a debate of the Pittsburgh branch, National Council of Mathematic Teachers, made the following statements:

"It is our duty to reorganize high school courses to give students with limited abilities effective use of what they have learned instead of taking them on into algebra and higher mathematics for which they are not mentally equipped. Lack of employment is sending children who are by-products of a machine age to school to complete with college preparatory, art and commercial types.

"Children not qualified to meet high school graduation requirements should receive a certificate instead of a diploma. Give them a succession of courses based upon their plane of ability to learn. If they are pushed beyond their capacity to learn, they become a drag on themselves, on the class and on the teacher."

More than 60 representatives from high schools, college and private schools in Western Pennsylvania heard the debate:

"Resolved that mathematics beyond arithmetic should not be required in high school."

Harry E. Long, of Westinghouse High School, and Dr. George Gould, of University of Pittsburgh, took the affirmative and Joseph Lynch, McKeesport High School, and Dr. James S. Taylor, University of Pittsburgh, the negative.

A. L. HOPE DIES ON FEBRUARY 26

Archibald L. Hope, principal of Brushton schools of Pittsburgh for 27 years, died at his home in Pittsburgh last Friday, following an illness of eight months.

Mr. Hope was graduated from Westminster with the class of '88. He retired from active school work three years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Elizabeth Boyce Hope, and four children: Herbert, Helen, Alfred, and Robert.

Funeral services were held from the Pittsburgh home Sabbath afternoon. Private burial services were held in New Wilmington yesterday at 2:30.

STUDENT'S MOTHER DIES IN SHARON

Sincere regrets have been expressed at the death of Mrs. Lizzie McDowell Buchholz, mother of Harriet Buchholz, member of the senior class, which occurred at the family home, Sharon-Mercer road last Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Buchholtz was born in Sharon on November 15, 1872, the daughter of the late Major Alexander and Clara Bleakley McDowell. She resided in Sharon her entire life, graduating from Sharon High School and the Pennsylvania College for Women.

She was a charter member of the Sharon High School Alumni Association and the Senior Golden Workers of the First Presbyterian church of Sharon. She took an active part in affairs of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Anti-Tuberculosis Society, Sunshine Home, and Business and Professional Women's club.

Mrs. Buchholz dedicated her life to her church, her family and her city and country. She was a woman of fine personality, played a generous and active part in community affairs and at the same time was a wonderful mother and an ideal home maker.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE NEW WILMINGTON PA. BIND UP THE TESTIMONY AND SEAL THE LAW 1932

No. 1 of Series.

THE WESTMINSTER HOLCAD

VOL. 49 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, MAR. 8, 1932. — NO. 21

Dr. Galbreath Requests Alumni to Cooperate In Building Holcad File

Dr. R. F. Galbreath yesterday joined with the staff of the Holcad in an effort to build up a file of all issues since the paper was started. Dr. Galbreath's statement follows:

Greetings to Our Alumni:

While the worst storm of the winter howls across the campus, I write this message. Can you see the picture? Everything white with snow—the pines and elms and maples on the old campus swaying in the storm—little groups of students with heads bent, lugging books under their arms, going and coming—just as it used to be.

It sometimes seems to me that Westminster neither ages nor changes. I find the same quiet, unassuming, but really competent faculty; the same lovable, willing students; the same warm-hearted community, and the beautiful natural setting of valley and hill in which college and town live and work.

I thought it would be a shock to give up the pastorate and its delightful fellowship, the varied contacts and interests of life in a great city to come to a college office and live again in the old town. I was mistaken. One who has lived here before slips back into the groove as easily as a boat finds its place in the stream.

Needless to say, the new "Old Main" is a vast improvement over the former building. The chapel is a work of art, and is appreciated by us all.

Our student body numbers a little over 530. This is close to the highest enrollment Westminster has ever had. Moreover, prospects for next semester's enrollment are encouraging.

We desire the interest and good-will of the alumni. You give a background to our college. You enable us to feel that we are a part in a long and honorable succession. Your interest adds to our consciousness of our place in the scheme of things. Yes, we do crave your interest.

We also desire your help. No, we are not about to take up a collection. Just now, at least, we are not in financial distress. (That is not a boast, but only a statement we are grateful to make.) But right now there are two things we ask of you. The first is that you plan to visit back on the old campus. Come to commencement if possible. Help us make this coming commencement the best ever in point of happy, precious fellowship received.

The second thing in which we need your help is the rebuilding of our Holcad files. Old files burned up with Old Main. You are our only hope or help. If you have old copies with which you would be willing to part, send them to us for our files. To say that we will greatly appreciate your help in this is expressing our thought very mildly.

And always remember, old Grad, or old Ex—this is Our College—Our Westminster. Here linger many of life's sweetest memories. Keep the path both in memory and in physical fact beaten smooth by frequent returns. You will find the latchstring out back at Westminster.

—R. F. Galbreath, President.

DR. ORR SPEAKS ON DEISM BEFORE CLASS IN FRENCH HISTORY

Dr. John Orr, head of the Bible department, spoke before Professor Leon Marshall's class in history 20, The French Revolution, last week, talking on "Deism." Dr. Orr outlined the deistic influences in Europe and America at the time of the French Revolution, and showed the influence of deism on the life, literature, and politics of the time.

"Deism" has been made the special study of Dr. Orr who received his Ph. D. degree in philosophy from the University of Pittsburgh last June. Dr. Orr has spent considerable time in graduate study in philosophy both in this country and abroad.

LAWRENCE CO. TOURNEY STARTS WEDNESDAY NITE

TWELVE HIGH SCHOOLS OF COUNTY IN TOURNEY

The second annual Lawrence county high school basketball tournament gets under way tomorrow night in the Westminster gymnasium at 7 o'clock. With 12 county schools entered, this year's tournament promises to be even more interesting than the fine series played last year when the strong Bessemer high school defeated all opposition to win the county crown.

With New Wilmington high school leading the county tossers this year, but with Union, East Brook, and Shenango all boasting strong teams in the Class B League ,the tourney should provide many close and exciting contests.

The committee in charge, which has drawn up the rules, seated the teams, and arranged all details of the tournament includes C. B. Book of Shenango high school, Sam McCullough of East Brook high school, Walt Whitman of New Wilmington high, and Porter McCandless of Harlansburg high. Westminster is cooperating with this committee in making the tournament possible, and the college is awarding the silver loving cup to the champion of the series.

Starting at 7 o'clock Wednesday, fans will see three games run off to start the tourney. These contests are between winners of the preliminary games which were played Saturday night. Plaingrove will meet Enon Valley in the first contest; Harlansburg will play Wampum in the second game; and Mt. Jackson and Shenango meet in the third contest of the evening.

On Thursday evening, Volant and Princeton meet; Union and New Wilmington play; and Bessemer and East Brook compete in three contests, the first of which will start at 7 o'clock.

There will be but two contests on Friday evening, and the first will not start until 7:30. The winner of the Plaingrove-Enon Valley game will meet the winner of the Harlansburg-Wampum game in the first contest.

VonLuckner, "Sea Devil" To Speak Here

German Naval Officer To Talk On Many Adventures

Count Felix Von Luckner, the famous "Sea Devil", will talk in the Community Hall at 8:15 p. m. on Tuesday, March 15. Count Luckner is famous for having waged war without ever having taken a life. His whole life has been full of thrills and adventures which he encountered while sailing.

Though a German, he holds honorary citizenship in San Francisco and is an honorary member of twenty-two American civic organizations. He is one of the only Germans who rose from the ranks to a command in the German Navy. In his talk, he will tell of his adventures in the late war, while raiding ships of a friendly enemy.

U. P. COLLEGE GROUP MEETS AT AKRON

J. R. Brandon Is Elected President At Banquet

Friday night, March 4, an all-college banquet was held in Canton, Ohio. The five United Presbyterian colleges, Westminster, Monmouth, Muskingum, Tarkio and Sterling were represented. Reverend A. C. Hildebrand, Westminster, Class of '03 was toastmaster.

Speeches were given by: Dr. T. H. McMichael, president of Monmouth; Dr. John Knox Montgomery Jr., president of Muskingum; Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster; Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president Westminster Alumni Association; and Dr. J. N. Swan, of Westminster.

An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was a group of songs by the Westminster college quartet, directed by Prof. A. B. Davis. The Rev. J. Ralph Neale, D. D., Muskingum alumnus and member of the U. P. Board of Eucation, also attended.

The banquet was well attended by Westminster alumni. The New Wilmington delegation included Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Dr. S. E. Calhoun, Dr. J. N. Swan, and Mr. Andrew McDonald. Westminster alumni attending from Canton, were: Dr. J. R. Brandon, '19, Dr. A. W. Warren, '11, Paul Ellis, '23, and Miss Marion Quinn, '26.

The alumni of the various colleges have planned similar fellowship gatherings, one to be held in Cleveland in the near future.

The Westminster quartette, composed of Thomas Grenfel, Homer Dishong, William McMunn and William Frack, sang several vocal numbers. Paul McNight played a number of piano selections.

The speech for the morning was presented by Professor Ben Euwema. Fourteen students appeared after the assembly to register their names as prospective students for next year.

Y.W.C.A. OFFICERS ATTEND MEETING IN PITTSBURGH

Misses Dorothy Sellar and Virginia Boyd, officers of the Y. W. C. A., represented Westminster college at a conference of Young Women's Christian Associations of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia which was held at Pennsylvania College for Women on March 5 and 6.

Registration of guests took place between 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. Saturday. Following a cafeteria luncheon, the general topic "Looking Out Upon the World" was discussed at a meeting in Assembly Hall. The student of P. C. W. entertained at a Get-Acquainted Tea in the drawing room of Berry Hall.

A Conference dinner served in Doodland Hall at 6:30 p. m. was followed by a meeting of group leaders.

At the evening session on Saturday's program, Professor Erdman Harris of Union Theological Seminary spoke on the subject "Individual Responsibility in a Chaotic World."

After an organization meeting of delegates with Miss Gladys Taylor, there were round table discussions between 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. Sunday on such subjects as finance, industrial problems, programs, organization of state teachers college, philosophy and organization of Y. W. C. A., and student volunteer work.

Dr. Cora Helen Coolidge, president of Pennsylvania College for Women, presided at the Sabbath morning service held at 11:00 a. m. in Assembly Hall. Dr. W. R. Farmer of the Western Theological Seminary addressed the audience on the topic "Where There is No Vision."

A conference dinner, worship service, and round table discussion on Sabbath afternoon culminated the Conference program for March 6.

Thirteen colleges from Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia were represented by delegates to this annual Y. W. C. A. Conference.

CO-ED DEBATE TEAM TO MEET BUCKNELL HERE

Members of the Women's debating team of Bucknell University will include Westminster in their seven-day trip through Western Pennsylvania and Ohio beginning March 7.

In their only extended tour scheduled for this season, the Bucknell team consisting of Miss Agnes Garrity, of Nanty-Glo, Miss Guineath Johnston, of Greensburg, and Miss Marie Groff, will debate both sides of the questions: "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle," and "Resolved, That Congress Should Enact Legislation Providing for the Centralized Control of Industry."

The Bucknell speakers will follow this schedule on their tour: March 7, Seton Hill College at Greensburg; March 8, Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio; March 9, Heidelberg University at Tiffin, Ohio; March 10, Westminster college at New Wilmington; March 11, Grove City College at Grove City; and March 12, Geneva College at Beaver Falls.

Westminster's team composed of Louise Adams, Jean Miller, and Marthan Holliday will defend the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle."

Dr. Neale Is On National Committee

LOCAL PASTOR IS BUSY PLANNING MEET

The Rev. J. Ralph Neale, D.D., pastor of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian Church, is busy with plans for the National Y. P. C. U. Convention to be held at Silver Bay, Wisconsin, in August. As a member of the Committee of Young People's Work, Dr. Neale is scheduled as one of the conference leaders for the August convention, and will address various young people's organizations in the interest of the national convention.

Other conference leaders for the convention are: Willard Rice, Dr. Charles L. Goodell, Rev. and Mrs. Virgil M. Cocby, Rev. Henry W. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Heinz, Dr. J. Walter Liggitt, P. H. Routson, Mrs. John Ferguson, Stuart Bergsma, M.D., Rev. H. Ray Shear, Rev. Ferdimore Vogan, and Dr. C. J. Williamson.

Harold H. McConnell, chairman of the national committee, believes that the program for the Silver Bay Convention is one of unusual interest. The list of speakers includes congressman C. Ellis Moore, Stanley High, Dr. Charles L. Goodell, Dr. Thomas C. Pollock, Dr. Robert A. Pollock, Dr. J. Ralph Neale, and Dr. R. F. Galbreath of Westminster college.

ALUMNAE PLAN MEETING APRIL 1 IN PITTSBURGH

The Westminster alumnae are planning to have an informal reception on the evening of April first in the Keystone Club in Pittsburgh. They will hold a brief business meeting preceding the reception for the purpose of effecting the organization of the Pittsburgh Chapter of Westminster Alumnae. Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman have been asked to be honor guests by the committee in charge of arrangements.

PRESBYTERY MEETING HELD IN PITTSBURGH

"The World's Need Today" was the theme of three addresses made by United Presbyterian ministers at a meeting of the Presbyteries in and about Pittsburgh on Monday, February 29.

Those taking part in the program were as follows: Rev. Bruce Wilson, pastor of Coraopolis United Presbyterian church; Rev. James M. Ferguson, D.D., pastor of Bellevue U. P. church; and Rev. Robert F. Galbreath, D.D., president of Westminster college.

The meeting of ministers from the Pittsburgh Presbyteries was well-attended and interest in the discussions was keen.

DR. R. F. GALBREATH REPORTS FAVORABLE COLLEGE CONDITION

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Mrs. S. K. Cunningham, and Mr. Howell Getty attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Westminster Board of Trustees held in Pittsburgh last Friday, February 26.

The committee was pleased with the conditions of college life at Westminster as reported to them by President Galbreath.

QUARTET TO SING

The Westminster male quartet will sing at the Sharpsville high school assembly at 2:30 this afternoon, and also at the Service Men's banquet to be held in Sharpsville at 6:30 this evening.

This issue of the Holcad will be sent to approximately 2,000 Westminster alumni.

Y. M. C. A. AND Y. W. C. A. GROUPS AID MEETINGS

The Rev. Dr. S. C. Gamble, Westminster alumnus who concluded the week of special religious services here, Friday was a happy choice for the college audience. Dr. Gamble was present at the morning chapel each day where he completely won the hearts of the student body with his witty remarks and worthwhile messages. At the evening chapel worship, Dr. Gamble presented inspiring messages which were well received.

On Monday evening, Feb. 29, Dr. Gamble gave the first of his series of sermons, an appropriate leap-year topic, "God's Extras." Time, Dr. Gamble pointed out, is the most valuable thing in the world. and once in four years God very generously allows us an extra day for our enjoyment. God not only provides us with necessities, but He adds charming final touches: the perfume and exotic colors of flowers, the lilting melody of birds, and the love of friends, the speaker said.

Ideal Epitaph

"Taffy and Epitaphy" was the subject announced for the Tuesday morning chapel service. After a witty discourse on peculiarity apt expressions sometimes found on tombstones, Dr. Gamble gave the following epitaph, which he considered the perfect tribute; "Earth holds his clay; God, his spirit; and his friends, his memory." He pointed out that Westminster has five attributes: It is a play-loving, church-loving, Bible-loving, Christ-loving, and soul-loving college.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. Gamble spoke on the subject, "The Christian athlete, the speaker pointed out, is true to himself, is true to others, and above all is true to the Christ.

Three Rules

Three rules of living were discussed by Dr. Gamble on Wednesday morning. The three rules, he said, might be called the Silver Rule, the Golden Rule, and the Diamond Rule. The Silver, or Old Testament rule, is found in Micah, "And what more doth Jehovah require of thee but to do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God?" The New Testament, or Golden rule is that of doing unto others as we would have that they should do unto us. The Diamond rule, the ideal of Christ, is that of loving God with our whole being, and of loving our neighbor as ourself.

The Wednesday evening service was under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. A brief candlelight installation service for the new cabinet officers preceded the sermon. Dr. Gamble spoke on "The Bad Son of a Good Father," referring to Absolam, who stole the hearts of the Israelites and broke the heart of his father.

Lights On The Shore

"The Lights that Gleam Along the Shore", was the subject of the Thursday morning chapel hour. Such lights, Dr. Gamble showed, are the lights of fun, of fellowship, and of faith. Without these, the speaker said, life is like a voyage on a stormy night with not a friendly light to guide.

As representatives of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, David Hunter and Willis McGill presided over the Thursday evening service. Dr. Gamble spoke on "The Colossal Christ", and showed what a tremendous difference there is between people who merely give Christ a place in their lives, those who give Him prominence, and those who give Him preeminence.

Annabel Stevenson and Isabelle Kildoo, officers of the Y. W. C. A., presided at the Friday evening chapel worship. Dr. Gamble spoke on "The Crucified Christ", drawing an analogy between the death of Christ and that of the two thieves crucified with Him. One, dying because of his sins, threw taunts at the Christ; the other, repenting at the eleventh hour, received the promise of eternal life. The speaker said that Christ died for sin in order that He might be the supreme atonement for the sins of all.

VITAL RELIGION

Dr. S. C. Gamble, alumnus, who last week conducted the annual special religious services so well, is one of those rare preachers who has an appeal for young people.

Why?

Because he refuses to accept Christianity as a long-face, funeral, dead religion. He holds out a vital faith, and this alone is what young people want, is what young people will accept.

That Christianity is a glad religion, a vital religion, a human religion, and that is not emotional, blind following, and monotonous, is agreed by all. But that it is often presented from pulpits as a dreary, drab, sickly sort of life is also true.

Dr. Gamble won the hearts of students and faculty with his whimsical, naive, human appeal. He showed that the religion of Christ, a living, moving, successful, happy sort of existence, is what the students wants, heeds, and follows.

Again the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. groups, interested in the religious, mental, and physical well-being of the campus, cooperated and proved that they are organizations of value and worth on the Westminster campus.

The week was inspirational, profitable, encouraging, and stimulating.

A LIBRARY

Westminster needs a library.

With many commuting students enrolled, a study room is needed. A library reading room on the ground floor would be ideal.

Many students who have vacant periods need a quiet place to work. Again, a library reading room would fill this great need.

Advanced classes and seminars need ready access to books during class periods. Separate seminar rooms in a new library building would provide for such a need.

The stackrooms of the library in the Science Hall are crowded with books, there is hardly room to get to the stacks and find desired volumes, and there is great danger that added weight on the floor of the present stackroom will cause the floor to give way. A larger, lighter, better equipped stackroom would, of course, be a feature of a library building.

The present reading room is on the third floor of the Science Hall. This is a disadvantage in that it discourages study and outside reading. A new library building would invite students and would be near the street.

There is need of more books. There is neither room for more in the present library accommodations nor is there a fund with which to purchase all that are needed. A new library is needed to house the books, and many more books are needed for the new library.

Someone once said that a good college is merely a collection of good books. Westminster has many good books. The great need is for more books, and for a place to keep them.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Once again the Blue and White of Old Westminster floats high in the Tri-State Conference, for Coach John Lawther's basketball team has again won the league championship.

There is, of course, natural pride in this year's great court team, but the pride is not alone due to victories. Coach Lawther and the players on the team are to be congratulated for the fine type of clean play and good sportsmanship which have marked every contest of the season.

On some occasions, when, away from home, the team seemed to get too much of a lead, opposing teams have resorted to indoor football and rough-house tactics on occasions. The Titan team has disregarded this and continued to play clean, brilliant ball.

This year's team in addition to being the Tri-State Conference champion, is also the leading college team in Western Pennsylvania. It has arrived at the highest place through good coaching, fine teamwork, excellent physical condition, and clean playing. Congratulations, Lawther, Captain Rice, and the other champs!

are to have several visitors. . . . And the turnstile will probably be in action!

We can hardly refrain from snickering after reading press notices that Allegheny was dropping Westminster from their basketball schedule in accordance with their new policy of "simon pure", athletics. Now we hear that their plan is a pile of "applesauce" only to erase the Titans from the books, for they have booked other district schools. We wonder if the real cause is the fact that Westminster can lick the Allegheny basketeers any day in the week including the second Tuesday. The Titans are wonderful record r u i n e r s, aren't they?

Bernard Fegley, fighting little forward on the Crimson machine, may not be able to take part in the Westminster game tonight.

Fegley was badly used up by Allegheny and when he left the floor it was found he suffered painful injuries to his back.

An editorial on Titan athletics was carried in the Canonsburg, Pa., notes recently.

Followers of collegiate sport and Westminster alumni in the Canonsburg district have been watching the career of the Westminster basketball team this year and the interest has not been because of partisan spirit alone. There are several factors entering into the situation which have commanded more than the ordinary attention. Monday night Westminster thoroughly trounced Geneva, a team of no mean ability and went to the top of the conference competition. And the likelihood is that the New Wilmington Titans will stay there.

Whether it was real basketball sense, whether he worked psychology on his teams or whether the Titans have been playing basketball far beyond themselves, is not known. The results have been more than satisfactory and Lawther is claiming the attention of the big colleges these days.

Chester Smith, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Press, said last week:

For three-fourths of the season, the Dukes appeared to be heading into the district title. Suddenly, came the defeat by Geneva which pushed the Hilltoppers out of the reckoning. Meanwhile Westminster has been rolling up such tremendous scores that there was loud disagreement at New Wilmington whenever such a thing as a crown for Duquesne was mentioned. The events of the past week have proved fairly conclusively the Titans were the class all along, but not by much more than the thickness of a couple of camel hairs.

A news story carried by the Beaver Falls Tribune after the Titan-Geneva fray was recently brought to the attention of this department and we are passing it along.

"Certainly the outstanding sporting event of this week locally was the exhibition given by Westminster's great basketball team in their game with Geneva in the Beaver Falls high school gymnasium Monday night. Primed for the game that in all probability meant the Tri-State Conference title to them the Titans presented the finest working college basketball outfit it has ever been my good fortune to see in action.

Coach Lawther has a remarkable first team playing ball for him at the New Wilmington school this year. His team apparently has everything that a good college basketball team should have. Their defense is of the highest order and their offense works with a smoothness and certanty that is breath-taking. They made what is pretty generally recognized to be a smooth-passing Geneva team look like a bunch of amateurs. Loeffler's clever blocking offense was helpless before the insurmountable barrier of legs and arms that the five young giants from New Wilmington spread around the territory immediately in front of the Geneva basket. In spite of the tremendous size of the Westminster players they were faster than their smaller Geneva opponents. Time and again the Titans made a neat shot at the basket from directly under the hoop by the simple expedient of getting the ball down the floor before Geneva could catch up with their rapidly moving offense. On top of all this all five of their players shoot with a degree of accuracy that is tremendously disconcerting to the opposition.

In Rice, Lawther has the best guard who has appeared in district collegiate basketball in years. Although he had the difficult task of watching Lindsay, Montgomery, Rice scored three field goals and three fouls for a total of nine points as compared to Monty's lone foul shot which was good for a single point. Brownlee gets the major share of the spot light at Westminster but he isn't entitled to a bit more credit for the fine showing of that team this season than is Rice.

MORE ON TITANS PLACE IN DISTRICT

"Phil Rice, Westminster's captain, gets one of the guard berths. Coach John Lawther rates him one of the best guards he's ever seen. Rice, whose home is in Duquense, is 6 feet 4 inches tall, and a dangerous shot. In four different games this season he has held the opposing forward to no field goals. He has no peer at intercepting passes.

"Westminster dominates the Tri-State Conference team, gaining four places, and nobody would have minded much had the entire Titan team been awarded all five places."

MAY NOT PLAY

Jerry Newton, Titan forward, may not be in the lineup tonight against Grove City. Newton was ordered to his bed yesterday by a physician and may not be in fit condition to play in the fracas with the Grovers.

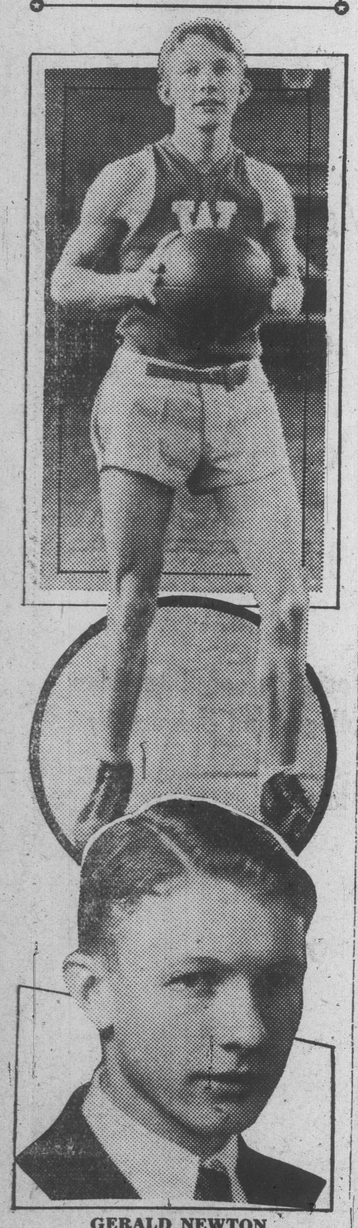
Grove City and Westminster, traditional rivals, will close the basketball season here tonight, and indications are that the two old rivals will play before a packed house.

The fact that Grove City holds the only victory scored over the Titans this season coupled with the excellent showing made by Coach Bob Thorn's team in defeating Geneva and Allegheny, gives to this game something more than usual importance, if anything more is needed.

Not only will fans from the entire district want to see the last contests of the season, but they will want to see if Grove City can duplicate its early-season fete and defeat Westminster a second time.

Westminster has already won the Tri-State Conference championship, but it will take a victory over the Grovers to give the Titans a district championship. Such a victory will be hard to get, and whichever team wins will probably not have much of a margin to spare.

Forward



GERALD NEWTON

Crashing through with a red hot brand of basketball, Jerry Newton has earned himself a place on the first five. Newton was honored by being named on the Honorable Mention list of basketeers prepared by the Pittsburgh Press.

Commuters Take Delts Into Camp

TAKE CAMPUS FLAG IN TWO HECTIC FRAYS

Delta Phi Sigma dropped the opening game of the play-off to the Commuters, winners of Freshmen league by a 24-18 score.

The frosh crew led throughout the game by a small margin until the closing minutes of the game when they took an eight point lead. Jones dropped in a field goal for the Delts as the final whistle blew, making the final score 24-18. The work of Byers and Hutchison looked best for the Frosh, while Shaeffer and Mehl starred for the Delts.

Commuters took the championship in an overtime tilt from tne Delts in the final game of play-off 26-24.

After trailing 10-11 at the half the Frosh staged a brilliant rally to tie up the score 24 all as the game ended.

Byers and Hutchison led the attack that overtook the Delts and in the overtime period Byers caged the winning field goal.

Byers and Hutchison played outstanding ball throughout the game for the Commuters, and Patterson led the Delt outfit.

TITANS DOMINATE SELECTIONS OF PRESS

All members of the Westminster basketball team were honored on Pittsburgh Press All-star teams as announced by Lester Biederman Sunday.

Captain Rice was given a guard berth and Brownlee the center berth on the All-District team, and Newton was given honorable mention.

Kocheran and Siljander were selected as forwards, Brownlee as center, and Captain Rice as guard on the All-Conference team.

Commenting on his selections, Biederman said:

"There was no question about the selection of Bud Brownlee as the center. He is one of the finest players ever develope in this district, and ranks with Charley Hyatt of Pitt as the two best ever to perform here. Brownlee is the leading score of the country, and although 6 feet 5¾ inches tall, is not at all awkward.

"His greatest forte is batting rebound shots back into the basket. And he's no slouch in his dribbling away from the basket and hooking his shots. Brownlee was never 'fed' in any game by his teammates.

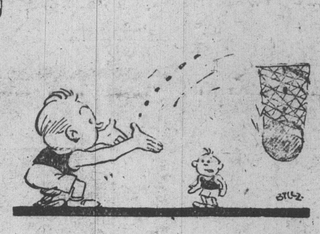
TITAN SATELLITES END CARRERS TONIGHT

When Westminster and Grove City meet in the final basketball game of the season at New Wilmington tonight, three stars will be playing their last contest for the Titans. Members of three Tri-State Conference championship teams in their four years at Westminster, all three men have been accorded all-district and all-conference honors at different times.

The three players are: Captain Phillip Rice, Duquesne, guard; Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven, center; and Michael Kocheran, Duquesne, forward. All three men are among the district's leading scorers this season and all three are generally admitted to be among the best court performers ever to represent Westminster. A victory over Grove City would give the Titans the district title as well as the conference crown.

TITAN ANTICS



Winding up the current basketball season, this evening, on the local floor against Grove City, Captain Phil Rice and his cohorts will climb into the dusty "hall of Fame" of Westminster bearing the title of the greatest basketball team ever to don the uniforms of the Blue and White.

The fracas with the Crimson tonight cannot be taken as a tea party, for it can be remembered with a certain amount of "headache" involved that the Wolf Creek lads tripped the Titans in the initial fray of the season by the narrow margin of a 23-22 score.

The Grovers started the season with a bang, but dropped into a slump when Hamilton was lost to the squad. Lately, however, the Thornites have been prancing along in great shape and are determined to upset the Titan bandwagon once again this season.

Picking an all opponent team proved to be one of the most trying things attempted by this writer. To name any individual players on any one team seems foolish because it dosen't mean a thing to the average person, as he has his own opinion and won't change it for love, money, or a date with Greta Barbo.

First Team

Dennison	F	Allegheny
Manning	F	Geneva

Laycock	G	Grove City
Aultman	G	Geneva

Second Team

Harter	F	Thiel
Currie	F	Waynesburg
Ransom	C	Geneva
Stavnitsky	G	Grove City
Garback	G	Allegheny

Unquestionably, the best player on any team to appear against the Titans this season has been Bud Laycock, Grove City guard. Bud is a real defensive man and can be counted upon to score with a certain amount of consistency.

The best sport, we believe, is Cliff Aultman, Geneva satelite, who can win or lose with a smile. Cliff plays hard, fast ball, but never once has the writer witnessed Aultman becoming "sore" and revert to dirty basketball. He is a real athlete, a real fellow, and a real credit to Geneva college.

SWEENEY, DOUGLASS AND SOUTHARD STAR

Westminster Reserves last Thursday night defeated St. Mary's varsity 34 to 24 before a crowd that comfortably filled St. Mary's auditorium, New Castle. The collegians were too fast for St. Mary's.

The New Castle team held the Titan second-string basketeers even in the first period, but as the game progressed Westminster increased its lead and at the half was ahead 16 to 8.

The pace was maintained in the last half of the game which was featured by Sweeney, Douglass and Southard. The former two scored 10 points each, and Southard got 11.

COLLEGE ALUMNI ASKED TO ATTEND CHAPEL EXERCISES

Dr. Galbreath recently announced that the student body may see and hear visitors in the near future during the regular chapel hour.

Invitations have been extended to well-known alumni of the college to visit here at the daily chapel hour and take part in the exercises.

It is believed that the students will enjoy hearing those who have had their part in the life of Westminster in other days.

McLAUGHRY SOON TO TAKE BAR EXAMS

DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, Westminster grad and former Titan grid mentor who is now football coach at Brown University and one of the few mentors of the big school who holds an unlimited contract, is a step nearer becoming an attorney. He has completed his law studies in an Eastern school and will probably take the Rhode Island bar examination in the near future.

Ethel Thomas of Youngstown, O., was pledged to Kappa Delta last Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in Senior Lodge.

Dr. Gamble, our guest pastor during prayer week, was entertained at dinner in the Hillside last Wednesday evening.

Alice Bell was a New Wilmington visitor last Saturday afternoon.

Dr. H. H. Donaldson, '02, president of the board of directors of Westminster college was a campus visitor on Wednesday, March 2. Dr. Donaldson is a well-known surgeon in the Pittsburgh district.

THOMAS GRENFELL REELECTED AS HEAD OF DELTA PHI SIGMA

Delta Phi Sigma elected its new officers for the coming year at a meeting held in the fraternity house at 10:00 o'clock last night..

Thomas Grenfell was re-elected fraternity president. Other officers are as follows: Elmer Meider, vice-president; Arthur Evans, treasurer; John Conn, secretary; Harold Burry, corresponding secretary; and Gerald Newton, historian.

PAUL GAMBLE ASSISTS BROTHER

Paul Gamble, mid-year graduate in the Class of '32, is now an assistant to his brother Hugh Gamble, secretary of the Sharon Buhl Club.

Following his graduation from Westminster in June, Gamble intends to enroll in the graduate school of Harvard University.

HOLD RECEPTION AT HILLSIDE

The Hillside parlors never looked prettier than on Friday afternoon, March 4, when Mrs. Charles Freeman, Mrs. Charles Barr Robertson, Mrs. James Albert Swindler, and Mrs. Elmer Beecher Russell were at home honoring Mrs. Mary Smiley and Mrs. Robert Ferguson Galbreath. Mrs. Smiley being ill was unable to attend.

In the receiving line, with the hostesses and the guest of honor, were Miss Janette Shafer, Mrs. William Wilson Campbell, and Mrs. Howell Thomas Getty.

Mrs. John Nesbitt Swan, Miss Letitia Elliott, Miss Isabel Ramsey, Miss Grace Lawrence, and Miss Mona Sowash assisted in the reception room.

Mrs. Charles J. Snyser and Mrs. Andrew A. McDonald were in charge of the serving room where pink and white roses, fressias, and snap dragons, with pink tapers and refreshments carried out the same color tones. Pink sweet peas given to all the guests as they entered the serving room gave everything a touch of spring.

During the first hour Mrs. Rufus C. Patterson and Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry poured and were assisted by Mrs. J. C. McCready, Mrs. Margaret Downie, Mrs. Edward H. Freeman, Mrs. Leon S. Marshall, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, and Mrs. John Orr. Mrs. J. Ralph Neale and Mrs. J. A. C. McQuiston poured during the second hour and those assisting were Mrs. Alan B. Davis, Mrs. Jessie B. Fulton, Mrs. William McLaughry, Miss Corinne Mercer, Mrs. James McLaughry, Mrs. Daniel McQuiston, and Mrs. James Patterson.

Over one hundred ladies called between the hours of three and five o'clock.

LAWRENCE COUNTY TOURNAMENT

The second game will be between the winner of the Mt. Jackson-Shenango game and the winner of the Bessemer-East Brook game.

Saturday evening the winner of the first bracket game of Friday will play the winner of the Volant-Princeton contest of Thursday; and the winner of the Union-New Wilmington game of Thursday.

DR. GAMBLE SPEAKS AT SPECIAL SERVICES

week of special services, Dr. Gamble preached in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church on Sabbath morning, and for the community service held in the college chapel in the evening.

Using the XXIII Psalm as the basis of his morning sermon, Dr. Gamble explained that Jesus must, of necessity, be the Good Shepherd who lay down his life for the sheep, for we are helpless to achieve salvation of ourselves. In the evening service, he showed the danger of accepting moral creeds based on salvation by works alone, diregarding the fact that there can be no salvation without God's grace and guidance.

FOILED!

Upon hearing of a new addition to the family circle of a certain member of the faculty, a Holcad reporter attempted to get the facts of the case.

Being told by the "maid in waiting" that she was unauthorized to issue any statements to the press, we will have to devote more space to the Lindbergh baby.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE NEW WILMINGTON PA. BIND UP THE TESTIMONY AND SEAL THE LAW 1852

No. 1 of Series.

THE WESTMINSTER HOLCAD

VOL. 49 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, MAR. 15, 1932. — NO. 22

Forty-two Seniors Engage In Month of Cadet Teaching

NEW CASTLE SCHOOLS WILL SUPERVISE MAJORITY

Complying with tne education requirements of the state, 42 Westminster College seniors are now engaged in a month of practice teaching. The cadet teachers are assigned to various high schools, largely in New Castle, and are under the supervision of the instructors to whom they are assigned.

Formerly the practice teaching project was scheduled for the month of February, at the beginning of the second semester. In view of the fact that all classwork missed during this period must be made up, this year the project was postponed until the second week of March. Seniors will now miss only three weeks of regular college classes.

A survey of practice teaching assignments reveals the fallacy of the current assumption that College Seniors are prepared to teach nothing save English and history. Although many seniors have majored in English, only six are teaching English during their practice period. Although many are certificated to teach history, only seven plan to do their practice teaching in history or social studies.

Mathematics seemed equal in popularity to English or history, for seven seniors are certificated to teach high school mathematics. Four are prepared to teach high school Latin, three are doing their practice teaching in French, and one in German. Four science majors are doing their practice teaching in chemistry, and one in physics and general science.

Three are prepared to teach commercial subjects in high schools; three are doing their practice teaching in music; and one, a transfer from another institution, is doing her practice work in cooking.

A few are doing their teaching in Junior high schools in order to secure certification in elementary subjects.

Seniors who are assigned to the New Castle Senior high school are: Virginia Boyd, Clare Durrast, George McDonald, Arthur Walker, Reuben Kennedy, Doris Goff, Frances Parker, William Ordish, Raymond Black, Harold Burton, Marvin Clark, Richard Fuller, Virginia Reeher, Janet Curtis, Charles McCormick, Dorothy Cameron, Ruth Martin, and Louis Hazen.

Those working in Ben Franklin Junior high are: Mary Clark, Blodwen Davis, Yvonne Hudak, Jeannette Welch, Elaine Buzza, Alice Rowse, Phyllis Judson, Mabel Kocher, Margaret Shilling.

Dorothy Kuhn, Jean Young, Emma Koegler, and George Cebula have been assigned to the George Washington Junior high school in New Castle.

TWO PLAYS PRODUCED BEFORE WIMODAUSIS CLUB, NEW CASTLE

On Wednesday afternoon, March 9, students of the college presented two plays "The Boor" and "Overtones" in the east lodge room in the Masonic Cathedral, New Castle. The cast was entertained at luncheon by the Wimodausis Club of New Castle, and the plays were presented after the luncheon.

The cast for "The Boor" was: Virginia Reeher, Thomas Herriott, and Wilson Miller. The cast for "Overtones" was: Sally Haney, Annabel Stevenson, Angela Altiere, and Dorothy Kuhn.

ARTHUR KIRKBRIDE ELECTED INSTRUCTOR IN SALESMANSHIP

HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE IN FIELD OF SELLING

Dr. R. F. Galbreath announces the appointment of Mr. Arthur Kirkbride as an assistant in the department of economics and business administration for the second semester. Mr. Kirkbride will be in charge of the course in salesmanship and advertising.

Mr. Kirkbride received his Ph. B. from Westminster in 1917. In 1918-19 he was a member of the A.E.F. after which he taught in the Union, Pa. high school for one year. Mr. Kirkbride also held a position with the First National Bank of New Wilmington from 1921 to 1927.

He was a member of the Spencer-Kamerer & Co., Investment Bankers, in Erie, Pa. from 1927 to 1931 and of the Hemphill Noyes and Co., New York members of the New York Stock Exchange. Before coming to Westminster Mr. Kirkbride was a member of the Glover, McGregor, and Cunningham firm of investment bankers in Pittsburgh.

SELECT CAST FOR JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

DATE NOT YET MADE FOR CLASS PLAY

Professor A. T. Cordray announces that the parts for the main characters in the junior class play, "The Taming of a Shrew" by Shakespeare, have been cast.

The cast at present is: Baptista, a rich gentleman, Thomas Herriott; Lucentio, asuitor to Bianca, Willis McGill; Petruchio, suitor to Katharina, Herbert Smith; Gremio, suitor to Bianca, Don Parkinson; Hortenso, suitor to Bianca, Otto Pearsall; Tranio, servant of Lucentio, Edwin Swartz; Grumio, servant to Petruchio, Wilson Miller; Curtis, servant to Petruchio, Harriette Robinson; Katharina, the shrew, Helen Baerman; Bianca, Katharina's sister, Ruth Wagoner; widow, Helen Thomas.

This will be a reproduction of the famous Shakespearean play in modern dress and modern conversation interwoven in parts. The date for the presentation has not been set as yet.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL SEASON IS CLOSED

Two sorority and two freshmen girl's basketball games were scheduled to play last week, but only three were played.

Victories went to the Chi Omegas who defeated the Alpha Gamma Deltas by the clase score of 12-10. Kappa Delta forfeited a game to Theta Upsilon.

In the freshmen games Captain Leyshon's team defeated Captain Crooks' team. The teams of Wettich and Fox called the game a tie after two extra periods.

The last of the girls' basketball games were played yesterday, March 14. Tennis will be the next competitive sport for girls.

MRS. HAROLD BLACK HOLDS PARTY FOR TOWN GIRLS' CLUB

Members of the Town Girls' Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Harold L. Black on Friday evening, March 18.

All college girls living in New Wilmington and those who room at private homes in town are eligible for membership in the Town Girls' Club.

Kathryn McClintock, now a student at Monmouth college, was former president of the organization. Sponsors of the club are Miss Mildred Ailman and Mrs. H. L. Black.

KERINS NAMED MANAGING EDITOR OF HOLCAD; ROBINSON, ASSISTANT

McCORMICK MADE ALUMNI EDITOR; POLONUS, SPORTS EDITOR

At a meeting of the faculty committee on publications held last week, Virginia Kerins was appointed managing editor of the Holcad for the coming year. Harriette Robinson was made assistant managing editor; and Helen McCormick was appointed alumni and society editor.

Harold Polonus was reappointed sports editor, and Carl Snyder was renamed business manager. The position of associate editor was abolished, and a number of members of the staff this year were dropped because of failure to hand in story assignments.

It was decided that there will be two reportorial staffs: one for sports, and one for general news. The general news staff was not appointed. This group will be selected this week and will be announced in next week's issue.

Those appointed to the sports reportorial staff are: Maurice Michmerhuizen, Charles Trevaskis, Grace Jones, Leonard Baird, Robert Faber, and Alan Van Harper.

Jane Baker was appointed a reporter for the alumni page. John Morgan, Ruth Russell, and Henry Lawton were named business staff assistants.

Members of the faculty committee on publications are Professor Ben Euwema, Professor Baldwin Sears, and Professor Robert X. Graham.

A.A.U.W. Meets Here March 5

90 WOMEN ATTEND MEETING HERE

On Saturday, March 5, 90 representative women from New Castle, Sharon, Mercer, Grove City, Youngstown and New Wilmington met in the social room of the United Presbyterian church in the interests of the A. A. U. W.

As previously announced, Mrs. Ralph C. McKelvey, Mrs. W. M. Parrish, Mrs. L. H. Cretcher and Mrs. Dice, all of the Pittsburgh Branch of the A. A. U.W. addressed the women on subjects of interest to the organization.

Mrs. Daniel H. McQuiston contributed largely to the enjoyment of the occasion by rendering two vocal solos, entitled "A Toast" by Mary Turner Salter and "The Bitterness of Love" by Dunn.

At one o'clock a very fine luncheon was served by the Louise Scott Missionary Society which was very much enjoyed by all present. Mrs. John N. Swan is entitled to much recognition for her splendid efforts in organizing the local A. A. U. W. and for the capable manner in which she presided over this meeting.

A number of the women present joined the organization and the outlook is most encouraging for the development of a very strong branch of the A. A. U. W. from among all the college women living in the nothern part of the water shed of the Beaver River.

MISS M. AILMAN WILL ENTERTAIN LIBRARY STAFFS

All members of the Library Staff are invited to attend a buffet supper given by Miss Mildred Ailman, college librarian, at her home in the Mercer Apartments, on Thursday evening, March 17.

Student assistants in the Elliott library and the general college library will attend the party.

VARSITY DEBATERS TO MEET HILLSDALE TUESDAY AFTERNOON

"Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle" is the subject to be debated by the men's varsity debating team of Westminster in a contest with representatives from Hillsdale college, Michigan. The contest will take place in the Little Theatre at 4:15 p. m. Tuesday, March 12. Westminster's team will debate the negative side of the question and Hillsdale will uphold the arguments of the affirmative.

Geneva will send her negative team to Westminster on March 17 to participate in a debate on the same question as is stated above. It will be a dual contest since Westminster is also sending her negative team to Geneva the same evening.

A dual debate with Grove City is scheduled for April 8.

HOLCCAD MEETING

Members of the Holcad editorial staff meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in Room 214. All members of the staff required to attend.

BUCKNELL DEBATES WESTMINSTER TEAM AT LITTLE THEATRE

Representatives of the Women's debating team of Bucknell University met Westminster's affirmative team in the Little Theatre, Thursday March 10, at 8:30 p. m., in a no-decision debate.

Bucknell's team, defending the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That Capitalism as a System of Economic Organization is Unsound in Principle," was composed of Miss Agnes Garrity, Miss Guinaeth Johnston, and Miss Marie Groff. The visitors were chaperoned by Mrs. Newland.

The Westminster speakers, upholding the affirmative side of the question, were: Louise Adams, Jane Downey, and Martha Holliday. Mr. Sears acted as chairman.

Y. W. C. A. "JIM JAM" PLANNED FOR SATURDAY

Dorothy Grant Chairman Of Carnival

Westminster's branch of the Y. W. C. A. will sponsor an all-college "Jim-Jam" in the college gymnasium next Saturday evening, March 19, from 8:00 until 11:30 p. m. with "Les Daniels" orchestra furnishing the musical entertainment.

As chairman of this project, Dorothy Grant will be assisted by the following committee members: refreshments, Lillian Baird, chairman, Evelyn Judson, and Martha Johnston; entertainment, Harriette Robinson, chairman, Marian Davison, and Mary Morrow; decorations, Jean Miller, chairman, Virgil Wettich, and Alice Eisenman; advertising, Dorothy Patch, chairman, Elaine Chapman, and Clara Brown; and orchestra, Doris Shawkey.

The "Jim-Jam" will be a type of indoor carnival in which entertainment will be offered by individual feature booths and dancing. With the exception of the admission price of 10 cents per person, all money-making schemes will be introduced throughout the evening's "special feature" entertainment program.

College students, faculty, and community are welcomed to be 100 per cent in attendance to take part in the carnival frolic.

ETNA HIGH SCHOOL TO ENJOY TALK BY DR R. F. GALBREATH

Dr. Robert Galbreath, together with the Westminster male quartet, will journey to Etna on March 18 to take part in the Etna high school assembly program which is scheduled for 10:30 Friday morning. Dr. Galbreath will give a brief talk to the student congregation and the quartet will present several vocal selections.

This visit to Etna high school is part of the schedule planned for the annual Westminster student canvass campaign.

Mr. William Stewart, superintendent of the Etna public schools, is a Westminster alumnus of the Class of 1900.

This issue is being sent to all the living Alumni of Westminster College. May we hear from then about this issue.

Prather House, Chi Omega Home, Destroyed By Fire Early Saturday Morning

HOUSE WAS LEASED BY COLLEGE IN 1927

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the Chi Omega house on Waugh avenue Saturday morning. The fire, discovered at about 8:15, when most of the members of the sorority were in classes, gained such headway that depite the efficient work of the town volunteer fire department, the 10-room frame building was gutted before 10:30.

The house, owned by Sarah Prather and known as the "Prather house," was leased by the college in 1927 as a home for freshman girls. Last fall it was assigned to the Chi Omega sorority when the college decided to have all freshman girls reside at the Hillside.

Virgina Welch, Crafton, was the only one of the 10 residents in bed at the time the fire was discovered. She dressed hastily, and, together with Hazel Ellwood, Crafton, sounded the alarm.

Mrs. Bertha Bay, assistant professor in the economics department and chaperon of the house, and the 10 members of the sorority residing in the chapter home lost personal property and clothing in the fire. Furniture, owned by the college, was also lost.

Add 22 Books To Economics Reserve Shelf

TEACHERS' BOOKS ARE ALSO LISTED

Twenty-two new books have recently been placed on reserve in the economics library. Professor C. W. McKee announces that each week new books will be placed here for the use of all students.

Among the new books this week are: "The Young Man in Business" by Howard Lee Davis. The author, in this book presents many specific problems of youth in business with definite solutions for them. Two books by the late Clarence W. Barron, "They Told Barron" and "More They Told Barron" explain the inner working of finance.

Other books worth reading, not only for students of the business department and for others as well are "Humanism as a Way of Life" and "A Philosophy of Production," by J. George Frederick, "America Faces the Future" by Charles A. Beard, "Distributed Leisure" by L. C. Walker, and "America's Primer" by Morris L. Ernst.

Professor McKee also announces a special library for students expecting to teach courses in business has been started, and these books can be obtained in the library. Among thes are "Case Method of Instruction", "Research in Business Education", "Teaching the Social Studies" and a "Syllabus in High School Teaching".

COL. McQUISTON TO STUDY AT ARMY OFFICERS' SCHOOL

Col D. H. McQuiston, one of the best-known Army Reserve officers in the district, will go to Fort Leavenworth, the Army officers' training school in Kansas, for a four-mouth's special training course soon.

McQuiston, a graduate of Westminster with the Class of 1915, is a colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve. While in college, he was a member of various athletic teams, and served his alma mater as director of athletics and head football coach for one year after he was graduated.

COUNT LUCKNER GERMAN WAR HERO LECTURES TONIGHT

Count Felix Von Luckner, famous German "sea devil", will speak on "My Buccaneering Cruise" to the students and faculty members tonight at 8:15 in the college chapel.

Count Von Luckner rose from the ranks in the German navy during the World War, and has been honored by many of the Allied countries since the war for his courage, sportsmanship, and daring. His genial personality has made him a favorite lecturer both on the radio and on the platform.

He holds honorary citizenship in a number of cities in the United States, and has been accorded all sorts of medals and tributes by foreign countries. Count Von Luckner's talk will be a feature of the lecture course which has had in recent years a Welsh humorist, a Russian princess, eminent journalists, world travelers, and renowned statesmen and public speakers on its schedule.

A luncheon will be given for Count Von Luckner by a number of men of the faculty this evening in the Tavern.

Westminster students will be dismissed at noon on Friday, March 25, for Easter recess and will not resume classes again until Tuesday morning, April 5. However, all students must be back in New Wilmington by 4:30 Monday, April 4.

REV. ROBT. A. BLAIR SPEAKS AT CHAPEL SERVICE WEDNESDAY

BLIND MINISTER HAS DOG AS FAITHFUL COMPANION

Rev. Robert A. Blair, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church of New Kensington, spoke to Westminster students at chapel Wednesday morning. Rev. Blair was formerly a missionary to China, but was forced to give up this work because of blindness.

In his chapel talk, Rev. Blair gave an interesting account of many of his experiences. Briefly, one night, during a church service things became suddenly dark to Rev. Blair. At first he thought the lights had gone out, but he discovered that it was only he who could not see. He proceeded with his sermon, and only when the people saw him groping his way from the platform, did they realize that he was blind.

Rev. Blair felt that his service in the ministry was at an end until he heard that there was a type of German Shepherd dog, trained in Nashville, Tennesses at a branch school of the "Seeing-Eye" in Switzerland, which would lead a blind man about carefully and safely.

Fortunately, Rev. Blair was able to secure one of these days. He recounted how he had to learn to trust his dog "Dot" to take him wherever he wished to go. His implicit faith proved successful in overcoming his primary fears.

Rev. Blair's trust was well-founded. "Dot" knew signals of forward, right, left, etc., would not cross a street when traffic was in motion; avoided all curbstones and obstacles along the sidewalks; and parted crowds for her blind master as well as any policeman. These and many other examples of the animal's capabilities, made Rev. Blair feel safer in her trusting care than he had ever felt when trusting his own eyesight.

"Dot", who accompanied her master to Westminster, gave a brief demonstration of her skills.

Rev. Blair preaches at his church in New Kensington, assuming the regular routine of work required of a pastor; he attends meetings in Pittsburgh and he is "one of the forceful spiritual leaders there."

Dr. Galbreath has received a letter from Rev. Blair telling how he enjoyed his visit to New Wilmington: "Westminster is now more vivid in my mind".

PURE AMATEURISM

Colleges of the district or of any district had better consider long and hard before, in impulsive fashion, they think they have decided to "become amateur."

The apparent mad scramble to "get on the bandwagon" has fear as its notive. This fear originates among those antagonistic to sports because of the popularity, focus of attention, and achievement of aims.

But there should be a greater fear—that pride in a perfect body, in physical vigor, in perfect specimens of physical manhood will go the way of much of the rest of real education in a modern, decadent civilization.

Unless all alumni, town business builders, and others can be eliminated, the practice of helping good athletes through favorite colleges will never end.

And there are more good arguments why it should not end than can be printed in this column. Poor boys with athletic ability will not be able to go to college. Only the idle, rich favored few will have an opportunity to play.

What evils would develop if sports were turned into "just play" instead of the best efforts of the physically fit, well-trained athlete who reaches the peak, who can say?

Intra-mural contests, with no gate receipts, require just as much playing equipment as do varsity sports. Only the purely theoretical business student would venture to say that curtailed varsity sports would result in money saving. Anyone with common sense can see that the cost would be just as great, and the income would be smaller.

When graduates of physical education schools, most of whom cannot coach varsity teams efficiently, shout of their great Intra-mural programs, Westminster points to the fact that most of its students have had such sports for seven years.

But Intra-mural sports is not a solution. And a group assent to go "purely amateur" is but an invitation to suspicion, distrust, and hypocrisy.

There simply is no way to "check up". One college will never agree that another has lived up to rules if its opponent consistently wins. And, it may be seen, the general public will guffaw at each victory and claim the victor an impostor. Only the losing team will be thought righteous!

Aid for athletes, as agreed upon by the Tri-State Conference, does not involve room rent, book money, spending money, clothes, and fraternity dues. If colleges of the district have gone this far, and some admit that they have, then it is time to cut down.

To place a premium on good scholarship, dramatic ability, musical prowess or any other gift by awarding scholarships, and to frown upon physical prowess and athletic ability is surely not a virile, logical, or sane outlook.

College athletics have made men, have developed character, have formed lasting friendships, have welded alumni together. No ping-pong contest between the red-haired men of the first dormitory floor and the blueeyed boys of the third floor will do this. And the small colleges of this district will never be heard of in the daily press unless a fire breaks out or some well-known person donates a million to endow inter-chemistry lab dominoes.

News Column Mentions W. N. Aiken, 1861

In a historical column, "Looking Back in New Castle", appearing in the New Castle News last week, the following item of interest to Westminster alumni was found:

Looking back in the educational history of New Castle, there is the name of Prof. William N. Aiken, who served as superintendent of the schools of Lawrence county for many years. He was born in Wayne township, January 12, 1834. He was educated in the schools of his district and took an advance course in Westminster college, graduating from that institution in 1861. Immediately after his graduation, he accepted a position as teacher and taught in the public schools of this city for a number of years. Is 1869, he was elerted superintendest of schools in Lawrence county, a position, he held intelligently and to the great good of the educational interests of the county until 1878. He was also superintendent of the schools of this city from 1884 to 1887. In Politics, he was a Republican. He was a member of the United Presbyterian church. As a lasting memorial to him and the work that he did along educational lines in this community, the former Reynoldstown school on Pearson street, has been known for some years as the W. N. Aiken school.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS PROGRAM

In the play-off with the Delts they succeeded in winning the first game with a 24-18 score, and the second game with a 26-24 score. They won the silver loving cup presented by the Y.M.C.A. to the winning team.

Jack Hulme was aided by volunteers from the student body who acted in the various capacities of referee, umpire, and score-keeper. The following students were largely responsible for the precision with which these events were run off: George Cebula, James Smalley, Hugh McCall, Richard Fuller, John Brown, Dave Findlay, Clarence Tiers, Arthur Deichmiller, Ray Southard, Bob Cann, and James Hilborn.

CHI OMEGA SORORITY HOUSE BURNED ON SAT.

The estimated loss of the house and contents was placed at $10,000. Approximately $5,000 of this is covered by insurance held by the owner, Miss Prather.

Members of the sorority who resided in the house are: Jean Young, New Castle; Margaret Sherbondy, Jamestown; Janet Curtis, Carnegie; Virginia Welch, Crafton; Ruth Wagoner, Sharon; Elizabeth Curtis, Carnegie; Annabel Stevenson, Bellevue; Gretchen Welch, Crafton; Jean Miller, Bradford; and Hazel Ellwood, Crafton.

The girls will be housed temporarily in the Hillside, and Mrs. Bay will reside at the Theta Upsilon sorority house for the time being.

FORTY-TWO SENIORS ARE TEACHERS FOR ONE MONTH PERIOD

Several students have secured permission to do their practice teaching in other high schools. Those teaching in Sharon high school are Martha Drake, Raymond Hodge, Elmer Meyers, Louis Perkins, and Margaret Sherbondy. In Farrell high school are Ben Gelfand, Olga Gojdics, Dorothy McGeoch, Margaret Sage, and Ada Short.

Dorothy Thompson, George Winters, Paul Keenan, Iva Mayberry, and Katharine McCrea are doing their practice teaching in the New Wilmington high school.

Approximately 42 out of the 76 members of the Senior class are planning to teach. Various professions hold more appeal for the remainder of the senior class than does that of teaching. Some are planning to do graduate work in literature, languages, and business administration. Law, music, and business are the choice of others. Some are interested in securing practical experience in journalism, and a few plan to enter the seminary.

TITANS DEFEAT GROVERS IN FINAL GAME

Clinch Championship With 47-34 Victory Last Tuesday

"By Mish"

Westminster's towering Titans finished one of their most successful seasons when they defeated the fighting Grove City five last week by a score of 47-34. It was only in the first five minutes of play that the Grovers even had a chance. After equaling the Titan's four points by field goals which Deems and Minnick scored, the Crimson went ahead on two foul throws by Fegley. Points by Newton and Rice put the Titans back in the lead and from that time on the score on Westminster side of the ledger kept slowly mounting higher and higer until at the half the score was 24-15.

It was the fourteenth straight victory for the Blue and White team. The season record shows 21 victories and two defeats. It was Ohio State and Grove City who did the impossible earlier in the season. District and Tri-State Champoinship awards go to Coach Lawther's men after the added victory of defeating Grove City.

"This was my greatest team" were the words of Coach Lawther after the game. This is the highest compliment which could be paid as any team outclassing that which won all honors three years ago, composed of Delahunty, O'Donovan, Lewis, Crowell, and Rice could be indeed proud of the fact.

Three stars of the Westminster basketball quintet played their last collegiate game. They are: Captain Phil Rice, Harry "Bud" Brownlee, and Milke Kocheran. Combined, these three members of the squad made 31 points: Kocheran 6, Brownlee 9, and Rice 16. This was a fitting finish for three of the best players Westminster ever had.

Although Rice was the high point man of the evening, Newton, a New Wilmington boy, held his side of the game up with 10 points in one-half of the game. Until the afternoon of the game Newton had been in bed. Feeling a little better, Newton played the entire first half and made basket after basket. After the first half of the game in his weakened condition he collapsed and was unable to go into the game again.

The game was rough in the final half, and two Titan players and one Grover went out on personal fouls. Coach Lawther used Sweeney and Wilhelm in place of Kocheran and Douglass, and Blaner took Siljander's place at guard.

The summary:

Westminster	G.	F.	Pts.
Kocheran, F	2	2-3	6
Newton, F	4	1-4	10

BROWNLEE LEADS TEAM IN SCORING WITH 380 POINTS

TITANS SCORE 1,155 POINTS IN 24 GAMES

Tallying 167 field goals and 45 fouls for a total of 380 points in 24 games, "Bud" Brownlee, star center, leads the championship Westminster basketball team in scoring for the season just closed.

Next to Brownlee in scoring is Michael Kocheran, forward, who has made 81 field goals and 35 fouls for a total of 197 points. Mauno Siljander, who played both guard and forward, is third with 74 field goals and 24 fouls, or 172 points. Captain Phillip Rice, guard, is next with 50 field goals and 35 fouls for 153 points.

Winning 22 of the 24 games played, Coach John Lawther's team scored 1,155 points to 578 by opponents. In college games played in this district, the Titans won 16 and lost two. In Tri-State Conference

A. P. HONORS FOUR TITANS ON STAR COLLEGE TEAMS

When the Associated Press had the coaches of the leading colleges in Western Pennsylvania, on a poll basis, pick the All-District cage Team they combined speed, scoring power, and experience in the elements making up the mythical all-star five.

Westminster, champions of the Tri-State Conference, dominated the whole show when "Bud" Brownlee, sterling all-round athlete and leading scorer of the country, and "Phil" Rice, twice captain and the "spark-plug" of the Titan offense and defense, were picked for center and guard positions. Brownlee was the only player to receive the unanimous choice of the coaches. The report of the Associated Press said in part:

"Outstanding, a tower in basket ball wherever the game is played, is the young giant fro Westminster, Bud Brownlee, the unanimous choice—and the only one—of the coaches who took part in the poll..... Brownlee, in center, occupies an undebatable position. He is a superb factor to the championship Titans, and his scoring record, as shown in revised figures, is 380 points in 24 games, an almost matchless accomplishment throughtout the country this year."

Coach John Lawther has proven to the basketball world that basketball is a tall man's game. The towering heighth of the Titans coupled with their native and developed ability, both on the offense and defense, has made Westminster one of the outstanding teams of the country. Their record of a point a minute throughout their 24 game schedule is almost unsurpassable.

Siljander, a three-letter man, was picked to fill one of the guard positions on the second team. Kocheran, playing his last year of basketball for Westminster, was a close contender for a forward berth on the second team. He had six points in companison to McDougal and Smith with seven points.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS PROGRAM INTERESTS MANY

The masculine element of Westminster has been quite active in Intra-mural sports throughout the past six months, a survey of the records kept by Jack Hulme, Director of physical education for men, shows. A total of four different sports have been played: basketball, horse-shoes, volley-ball, and foul shooting. In these sports over 35 per cent of the male element of the student body participated. Many men were active in all four sports.

The fact that the winners of these different contests were divided among the different organizations of the school, and that no one group won over one title shows the effectiveness of Intra-mural sports in making athletics for all and not for the few. The basketball tournament was won by the Commuters in a three-game match with the winners of the fraternity games. The foul-shooting tournament was won by the T. U. O. fraternity. The horse-shoe tournament was won by the Phi Pi fraternity. The volley-ball tournament was captured by the Delts.

A summary of Intra-mural sports follows:

Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, with Phil Rice the "main spring" on the team, won the Volley-ball tournament with the Phi Pi Phi players giving them a close race for their money. The Delts won 10 and lost one, while the Phi Pi's won 10 and lost two.

The Horse-shoe matches were won by the Phi Pi Phi fraternity, with Tom Uber leading the field in individual scoring honors. The T. U. O. fraternity placed second with six wins and two losses.

In the foul-shooting contest Meider and McCall were the best. Both made 19 out of a possible 25 fouls. The T. U. O. fraternity, led by Hughie McCall, won all of their matches to take first place. The Phi Pi fraternity was second, having won six and lost two.

The Intra-mural basketball tournament was won by the Commuters.

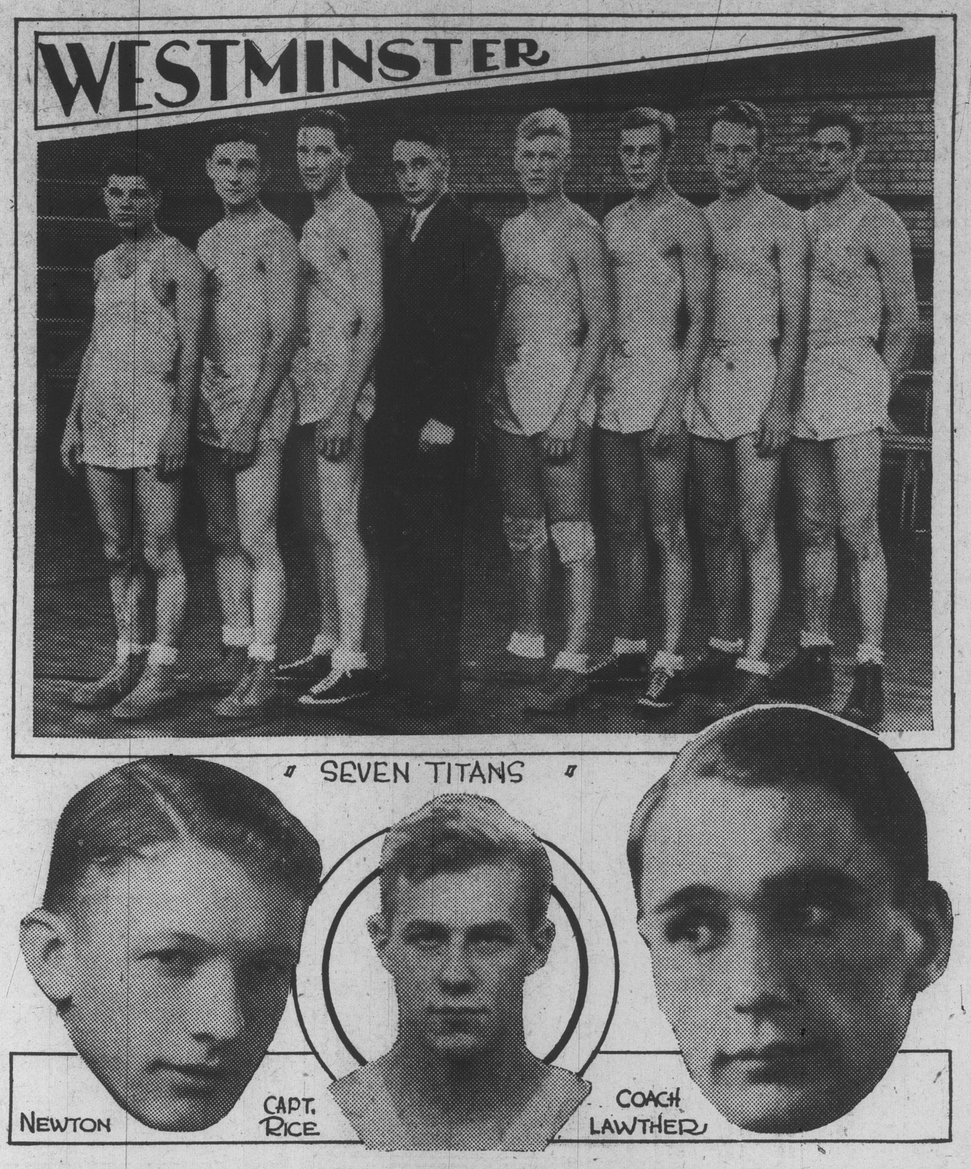
DISTRICT CHAMPIONS



Lacking but two points from doubling the score on their opponents, Westminster cagers closed one of the most successful basket ball seasons in history. The Titans amassed a grand total of 874 points in 18 frays against a total of 438 rung up by the opponents.

Twice have the Titans reached the 70 mark in contests. Twice they were in the sixties. Four times they invaded the fifties, and six times the forties. They finished in the thirties twice.

In the great majority of games the dizzy scoring column might have been lengthened another story or two, but Lawther would pull out his regular performers and use reserve men, giving them valuable experience for next season.

The Titans averaged 48.5 points per games, a rate exceeding a point a minute speed. Forty minutes constitutes the playing time for court games, and the ball was kept rolling at all times in order to maintain such an average.

CHAMPS PICK ALL OPPONENT COURT FIVES

HONOR TWO GROVERS, TWO GENEVA STARS

Coach John Lawther and 13 members of the Titan squad, in picking their all-opponent team honored "Bud" Laycock of Grove City and "Cliff" Aultman of Geneva college. Laycock was voted the best opposing player by Westminster, and Aultman, star all-round athlete of Geneva, was picked as the best sport.

Laycock of Grove City was an almost unanimous choice for one of the guard berths, while "Cliff" Aultman and "Art" Grahame, both of Geneva, seemed to be in about equal favor with the Titans for the other guard postion. Grahame had 23 points and Aultman 22 points.

Bethany College, one of last year's leaders, had an off year and as a result the Bisons were not mentioned for any of the positions on either the first or second team. Thiel was represented by the diminutive forward, Harter, who was an honorable mention for a forward berth.

LAWTHER AGAIN PRODUCES GREAT BASKETBALL TEAM

Winning Tri-State Conference and Pittsburgh district basketball championships has become an annual obsession of Coach John Lawther and his Westminster team. This year, with 22 victories and two defeats, the Titans have both championships tucked away. Winning the Tri-State title this season makes the third in succession for Westminster.

In district games played, Westminster has a record of 15 victories and one defeat. In Tri-State Conference contests, the Titans have won nine and lost one. In 24 contests, Westminster has scored 1,155 points to 578 by opponents.

So finished a job did the Titans do with Tri-State league opponents that sports writers pretty generally selected the entire Titan team as the first All-Conference five. These men are: Captain Phil Rice, Duquesne, guard; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, guard; Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven, center; Michael Kocheran, Duquesne, forward; and Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, forward. Ted Blaner, Sharon, guard, was given honorable mention by some sports writers.

JOHN D LAWTHER

Professor John D. Lawther, director of athletics and head coach of football and basketball, turned in another great year when his Titan basketball team, aclaimed one of the best college teams in the country, and champions of the Pittsburgh district and of the Tri-State Conference, won 22 out of 24 contests.

The Grove City game last Tuesday marked the final play of three of these stars. They are Captain Rice, Brownlee, and Kocheran. All three have been All-District and All Conference selections, all three have been members of three Tri-State championship teams during their four years on the squad, and all three stand among the leading scorers in the district.

SPORTS EDITOR PRAISES TITANS

Jack Sell, sports writer on the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, yesterday morning praised Westminster for its great basketball record. He said,

"The Titans cleaned up, winning the league honors for the third straight time and grabbing off the mythical district crown. * * * It was a great year for Johnny Lawther. * * * Bud Brownlee of Westminster outclassed all centers and all scorers."

games, the Lawthermen won nine and lost one.

Is 11 contests during the season, the Titans scored 50 points or more, and in two of these games 60 or more points were tallied, while 70 or more were scored in two other contests. In seven other games, the Titans amassed 40 or more points. In only two games of the season were tse Titans held below 30 points.

On defense, the Titans were about as good as on offense. In eight contests, opponents were held to 18 points or less, five rivals were held to five field goals, and two opponents were held to two field goals.

This year's Tri-State Conference championship, the third in as many years, gives the United Presbyterians four league titles in five seasons, and a record of 113 victories and 15 defeats in the last six seasons.

The scoring record:

Modern Dress Version Of Shakespeare's "Shrew" Will Have Many Novel Features

"TAMING OF SHREW" MODERN IN DRESS AND CONVERSATION

Those who encounter serious difficulties in grasping the hidden meaning of Shakespeare's somewhat involved style will welcome the Junior Class production of "The Taming of the Shrew," in modern dress and conversation.

On the other hand, ardent Shakespeare fans need have no fear of seeing their idol of the stage mutilated and ridiculed. In presenting the farcical angle of this famous comedy, the players definitely are not doing it "with due apologies to Shakespeare," for they see no reason for presenting an apology to the Bard of Avon.

Mr. A. T. Cordray, director of the production, firmly states that this is not a travesty on Shakespeare. Rather, it is a simplified, glorified, farcified Shakespeare, presented more clearly and in a more amusing manner, through the medium of modern dress and modern conversation.

Some, perhaps, will miss the glamour of the traditional Elizabethan costume. Gone are the gorgeous, courtly costumes of the men, the elaborately curled wigs, the pleated ruffs, the gleaming rapiers. Gone too, are the flowing trains, the elaborate coiffures and the jeweled fans for the women.

Instead of spirited horses, there will be motor cars of a somewhat futuristic type. The obsequious servant, Grumio, becomes merely Petruchio's negro valet. Instead of being overwhelmed by the number of suitors who seek his daughter's hand, Baptista uses modern business methods, and jots down their names in a notebook, for future reference.

Following the context of the original play, the principal scene is laid in front of the house of the rich old Baptista. The house, however, will not be in the style of Elizabethan England. It will a strictly modern house, and it is just as liable as not to have red-and-yellow striped awnings. Doubtless there will be a rock garden, and there will be the smooth, green turf of the inevitable golf course. It is just possible, too, that Katharina may be found strolling around the place with a pet bull dog chained to her arm, or that Bianca may come down to breakfast wearing a fish-net cap to hold the creases of her water wave in place.

In attempting this modern-dress performance, Mr. Cordray is merely following the lead of Fritz Lieber in making the famous comedy into a rollicking, boisterous farce, which was just what Shakespeare intended "The Taming of the Shrew" to be in the first place.

DEBATE TEAM TO MEET GENEVA ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Members of the men's varsity debating team will meet Geneva debaters in a dual contest on Wednesday evening, March 23.

At 8:15 in the Little Theatre, the Westminster affirmative team will participate with Geneva's negative in a debate on the question, "Resolved that Capitalism as a system of economic organization is unsound in principle." Westminster will send her negative team to Geneva the same evening to debate on the question stated above.

Westminster's affirmative team is composed of Wilson Miller, captain; Herbert Smith and Bernard Kaplan. Those who will uphold the negative side of the question at Geneva are; David Hunter, Wilbur Christy and Philip Chambers.

This is to be a no-decision debate.

EASTER RECESS

Easter recess starts Friday at noon and ends Monday, April 4 at 4:30. Classes resume Tuesday, April 5.

President Has Full Schedule

HAS TEN SPEAKING ENGAGEMENTS

President R. F. Galbreath is very much in demand as a speaker his schedule shows.

On Sabbath, Dr. Galbreath preached in the Second United Presbyterian church of Washington, Pa. at the morning service. In the evening he preached at the union service in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church. Yesterday he spoke terian church -Pyn0(vP aaaryLt.. at noon in the First Baptist church of Youngstown, and in the evening he spoke in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church.

At noon today he speaks again before the devotional meeting in the First Baptist church of Youngstown, and in the evening before the Mercer county Alumni Association meeting in Sharon. On Wednesday he will speak in the Sixth United Presbyterian church of Youngstown, and on Thursday in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church. On Sabbath, March 27, he will preach in the United Presbyterian church of East Palestine, O., in the morning, and in the Presbyterian church of Beaver in the evening.

PLAN DISTRICT MEETINGS FOR ALUMNI GROUPS

According to Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Alumni Association, Westminster Alumni are enthusiastically cooperating in their arrangements for a series of get-together banquets to be held at strategic centers in the near future.

Mr. Edward Buckley, '16, prominent attorney of Sharon, Pa., is in charge of the Mercer County banquet, which will be held in Sharon on March 22. Many alumni have already signified their intention to attend and preparations have been made for a large crowd.

Alumni of the Pittsburgh district will have an evening of fellowship at the Keystone Club, on Friday, April 1. Mrs. Scott N. Watt, '06, chairman of the Westminster Women's Club, is in charge of all arrangements. Plans have also been made for an alumni dinner to be held in Cleveland on Friday, April 8. Mr. Frank Scott, of the class of 1884, is in charge of the program for the evening.

Tentative plans have also been announced for a get-together meeting in Cambridge, New York, some time in June or July. Mr. David Ashton, of the Class of 1912, is arranging for an alumni meet to be held in New York City early in the summer.

Several other "contact" meetings will take place in the near future, although no definite date has yet been agreed upon. Mr. Frank Shrader, of the Class of 1907, will arrange for the Philadelphia affair. Plans for the Butler group are being made by De Witt Breaden, of the Class of 1902. Arrangements for the Youngstown meeting are being made by a committee headed by Norman Igo, a graduate of the Class of 1909.

Alumni of New Wilmington and New Castle are cooperating in arranging for a Lawrence County group meeting to be held in New Castle some time soon. Definite plans will be announced later.

GIRLS' GYM CLASSES TO GIVE EXHIBITION THURSDAY EVENING

Miss Nandeen Love will stage an exhibition of her gym classes next Thursday evening at 8:15 in the college gymnasium.

Dancing and gymnastic stunts will feature the program for which the classes have been training during the past month.

Trustees Meet In Pittsburgh Last Tuesday

The board of trustees of Westminster held its regular monthly meeting for March at the Keystone Athletic Club in Pittsburgh on Tuesday March 15. The principal business of the day was the report of the college with recommendations for some minor changes in the college program, given by Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

One of the recommendations was that art be taught as a part of the regular work of the college, provided that a sufficient number of students are interested. This recommendation was acted upon favorably.

Professor W. D. Gamble, Sharon, reminded the trustees of the peril in which the fine arts colleges of Pennsylvania stand because of the tentative plans of the state department of education to train all public and high school teachers in the state teachers' training college. John S. Fisher, former governor of Pennsylvania, seconded the warning, and Mr. R. E. English, Grove City, suggested that the state association of colleges be much on the alert.

The board was well pleased with the report of the work the college is doing. Two items of information brought special expressions of interest, Dr. Galbreath states. The first of these was that the college completed the recent semester with a balanced budget. The second was that the work done by Dr. Charles Freeman as acting president in the interim since the resignation of Dr. W. Charles Wallace last year was of an unusually fine order and merited the appreciation of all friends of the college.

Dr. Galbreath states that this meeting of the board was very well attended. Those who were present at the meeting were: Dr. W. R. Veazey, Cleveland, O.; Mr. R. E. English, Grove City; Rev. C. D. Fulton, Beaver; Rev. W. J. Dickey, Tarentum; Rev. J. M. Blackwood, Cleveland, O.; Rev. J. A. C. McQuiston, New Wilmington; Rev. J. A. MacDonald, Youngstown, O.

Mr. W. C. George, East Palestine; Rev. Guy D. Wallace, Braddock; Mr. T. J. Gillespie, Pittsburgh; Rev. R. E. McClure, Blairsville; Mr. A. H. Bell, Greensburg; Mr. Samuel K. Cunningham, Pittsburgh; Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Pittsburgh; Mr. John E. McCalmont, Pittsburgh; Rev. E. C. McCown, Mt. Lebanon; Hon. John S. Fisher, Indiana.

Prof. W. D. Gamble, Sharon; Miss Jannette Shafer, New Wilmington Mr. Howell T. Getty, New Wilmington; Mr. W. W. Campbell, New Wilmington; Mr. John Nelson, Pittsburgh; Mr. R. N. Grier, Pittsburgh; Rev. L. K. Peacock, Houston; and Mr. Roy Neville, Sharon.

STUDENTS RECEIVE APPOINTMENTS AS HOLCAD REPORTERS

Within the last week the following persons have been appointed to the general news reportorial staff of the Holcad by the faculty committee on publications; Elsie Mae Rickenbrode, Ethel Thomas, Ebba Sizer, Elaine Chapman, and Sidney Strauss.

Mary Patterson, Jane Baker, Wilbur Christy, Virginia Welch, Mary E. Boland, and Elizabeth Curtis have been reappointed as reporters.

Beginning this week it is compulsory that all staff members desiring to keep their appointments attend the Holcad meetings each Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in room 210.

PRACTICE TEACHERS ENTERTAINED AT TEA

Westminster College seniors who are doing practice teaching in the New Castle senior high school, were entertained on Thursday afternoon at a 4 o'clock tea in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Miss Nell Horton, of the Model Apartment, acted as hostess.

H. H. Donaldson Reelected Trustee Board President

PRESIDENT

DR. DONALDSON

PITTSBURGH DOCTOR HAS SERVED SINCE 1928

At a meeting of the board of trustees in Pittsburgh, H. H. Donaldson, Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, was reelected president of the board for the coming year, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president, announces. Dr. Donaldson, one of the best-known surgeons in Western Pennsylvania, has served as president of the board since 1928.

Other officers elected include: Rec. Dr. R. E. McClure, Blairsville, vice-president; Mr. John E. McCalmont, Pittsburgh, secretary; and the First National Bank, New Wilmington, treasurer.

Dr. Donaldson, a graduate of Westminster with the Class of 1902, was a member of various athletic teams when in college.

Von Lucknor Thrills With War Lecture

GERMAN HERO TALKS ON "HOW I RAN THE BLOCKADE"

Count Felix Von Luckner spoke March 15, in the college chapel, on "How I Ran the Blockade". The famous German "sea-devil" lectured to a large and enthusiastic audience whose attention he held for over two hours.

The Count told of his boyhood in Germany and his dislike for school. When only 13 years old, he ran away from home, and changing his name, sailed on a Russian ship for Australia. His boyhood ambition was to reach America and meet "Buffalo Bill."

After several adventurous years, during which he had many jobs, he found himself in San Francisco. From California to Denver, Colorado, the German waif walked the railroad ties to see "Buffalo Bill," only to find that his hero was in Germany with his show. The disappointed boy spent several years in the United States, finally returning to his homeland, determined to keep to keep his promise to his father to become a lieutenant in the navy.

Still using his assumed name, the young Count began his uphill fight for his goal in the Imperial Navy. Finally the goal was reached and the Count decided it was time to make known his identity. Much to his surprise he found that the naval admiral was his uncle Fritz Von Luckner. The happy young lieutenant returned to his parents and saw his family for the first time since his run-away departure years before.

The outbreak of the World War called the Count back into the service of his country. His first sea battle was the famous battle of Jutland.

The latter part of the Count's talk was devoted to the story of how he successfully ran the British blockade of the North Sea and passed inspection by British officers without detection. Toe war ace humorously recounted the details of fitting out his ship(an old American clipper), and disguising his ship and crew as Norwegian.

It is a well-known fact that Count Von Luckner took prisoners without taking lives, and this distinction, together with the publishing of his book "The Sea Devil" and his lecture tour, have made him genuinely liked in the United States.

Immediately after the lecture, the Count autographed cards, papers, and pictures for admirers.

VARSITY TRACK

Candidates for varsity track will not report until Monday, April 4 at 4:30. Practice will be held in the gymnasium every afternoon at 4:30.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY HAVE CANTATA PARTS

Twenty-two Westminster students and faculty members will take part in the sacred cantata, "The Story of the Cross", which will be presented at the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, March 23.

Miss Elizabeth Rose, '31, instructor of music in the New Wilmington high school, and choir director of the church, will direct the music.

Colleges of District Meet In Pittsburgh

DISCUSS CHANGES IN ATHLETIC POLICY

The presidents and athletic coaches in the Tri-State conference met at the Fort Pitt Hotel in Pittsburgh on Monday, March 14, to discuss the rules for athletic scholarships.

The discussion was brought to a focus when Dr. Weir C. Ketler, president of Grove City college, presented a resolution prepared by Coach Robert Thorn of Grove City to the effect that no student receiving scholarship, gift, prize, or other award be permitted to participate in any intercollegiate athletic event. The resolution was carefully worked out and showed a sincere desire to safeguard the idea of absolutely amateur athletics.

The problems presented were so involved that after prolonged discussion it was decided to wait for action until those most concerned had had opportunity for reflection and conference with college faculties and trustees. Dr. R. F. Galbreath and Professor John D. Lawther represented Westminster.

ALUMNI IN EGYPT HOLD DINNER AT ASSUIT COLLEGE

Fifteen Westminster alumni attended a Mission Dinner given in Assiut College, Egypt, on Jan. 7, in honor of all Westminster graduates in the Egyptian mission field.

THE LIBERAL ARTS COLLEGE

Recent maneuvers of political chiefs to place the training of all high school teachers in state teachers' colleges exclusively is as amusing as it is unfair . It is amusing to all citizens who claim that taxes are too high. It is unfair, also, to these same citizens in that such a move would only raise taxes higher.

Land grant colleges, state supported institutions, came long after private colleges and universities. What is more, state schools were built at a cost to every citizen in the state. Further, all expansion of programs in such schools involves further taxation of citizens.

Long before state institutions provided teachers for the grade schools, academies, and high schools, liberal arts colleges, built and run at no cost to the state, were on the job. Private institutions saw the need and provided for it.

It was inevitable that state schools should grow up, but there appears to have been more political contract letting than educational foresight in planting state teachers' colleges in almost every county in Pennsylvania.

State legislators, many of whom are graduates of private colleges, should see to it that, as is the case in almost every other state, particularly in the middle west, all private schools are accedited together with the few state institutions in providing teachers for high schools.

These representatives of the people should also see that existing state institutions have the right standards for training high school teachers before graduates of the teachers' college are allowed to compete with graduates of the original pioneers in teacher training—the liberal arts colleges.

ROBERT N. MONTGOMERY

Our sister college, Muskingum, is to be cangratulated upon its selection of Dr. Robert N. Montgomery, son of the late Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, as president.

Dr. Montgomery, a graduate of Muskingum and of the Pittsburgh Seminary, taught in the Seminary before he was elected president of Tarkio College two years ago. Upon his election as president of Tarkio, another United Presbyterian college in Missouri, Dr. Montgomery was one of the youngest college presidents in the country.

Dr. Robert N. Montgomery has a fine tradition in the administration of his father. It is believed by the Holcad that he will fit into the post at Muskingum and that he will carry on as successfully, and efficiently as his father did until his death several months ago.

SABBATH CHAPEL

Decision to have Sabbath chapel services every Sabbath evening instead of but once a month has helped in many ways. With but one stated worship in each month, it was hard to remember on which Sabbath it was to be held. As a result, many who planned to attend, missed out by thinking the service was on another date. Regularity of college worship, a needed thing, is fostered by the new plan.

VARSITY QUARTETTE BUSY

Members of the varsity quartet have been kept busy singing at luncheon clubs, at church services and at high school assemblies.

The quartet, directed by Professor Alan B. Davis, includes Homer Disberg, Johnstown; William Frack, Oakmont; Thomas Grenfell, Elizabeth; and Scott McMunn, Oakdale. Paul McKnight, Erie, is accompanist.

HOLCAD STAFF

VIRGINIA KERINS

HARRIETTE ROBINSON

HELEN McCORMICK

Three co-eds, all members of the Junior class, were appointed to leading editorial positions on the Holcad last week.

Virginia Kerins, Farrell, was made managing editor; Harriette Robinson, Newburgh, N. Y., was appointed assistant managing editor; and Helen McCormick, New Wilmington, was made alumni and society editor.

POLONUS AGAIN SPORTS EDITOR

POLONUS

Harold Polonus, Sharon, a member of the sophomore class, has been reappointed sports editor of the Holcad for the coming year.

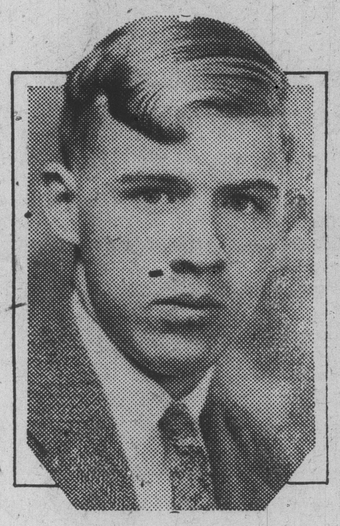
Polonus is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity. He has had journalistic experience on the Sharon Herald and in the publicity office at Conneaut Lake Park.

McLAUGHRY TO DISCUSS STRATEGY IN FOOTBALL

Tuss McLaughry has just gained another honor. Besides being a former star fullback at Westminster, and now starting his seventh year as head coach at Brown, he has been selected, among other coaches, by a Boston sporting goods house to discuss various phases of gridiron play for the information of New England college and school mentors at an annual conference and open forum in the Hub on April 1.

Others are Bill Bingham, of the rules committee; Bill Cowell, New Hampshire; Arthur Sampson, Harvard, and Martin Sanders, Exeter. The chief speakers at last year's conference were Herb McCracken, of Lafayette, and Joe McKenney, of Boston college. McLaughry will demonstrate some special lines of defensive play.

BUSINESS MANAGER



Carl Frederick Snyder, Sharon, up-and-at-'em businessman, has been reappointed business manager of the Holcad. He is the youngest business manager in the country, and is one of the first sophomores ever given the managership.

Many Students Engage In Intra-Mural Sports

Titans Honored By Opponents And Scribes

C. W. Johnson, sports eritor of the Meadville Tribune-Republican carried the following about the district basketball teams in his column last Tuesday:

"Basketball among the collegians of the dictrict has reached the end of is string ,and nothing is left of the indoor season now than to pack uniforms away in mothballs and to sit patiently through a flood of all-star this-and-that teams selected by the experts.

"The season came to its close last week with the crowning of Westminster's tall Titans as champions of the Tri-State district for a third successive year. There was no argument in awarding the title to the United Presbyterians, for the team led the field in district competition with 11 wins and a single defeat, and hung up the best season's record with a total of 16 victories against two defeats.

"Pitt holds second place in Tri-State play, losing one game in six played against district opponents, although the briefness of the schedule would incline some to rate Duquesne as the runner-up. The Dukes counted seven wins against two defeats, while Geneva, next in line and playing the heaviest schedule, won 14 games and lost five.

Four Westminster cagers were placed on the All-conference team picked by Floyd H. Miller, Waynesburg scribe.

Miller placed Siljander, Brownlee, and Rice on his first five and gave Kocheran a forward position on his second quintet.

In picking his all district team, C. W. Johnson, sports editor of the Meadville Tribune-Republican, says the following about "Bud" Brownlee.

"Harry (Bud) Brownlee, gigantic pivot man of the champion Westminster Titans, stands out conspicuously as the one man entitled to all-star consideration without dispute. His play, particularly in an offensive way, carried the Titans to the basketball heights for a third successive season and sports writers throughout the district have unanimously nominated him as the district's best center.

The following are the all-district teams Johnson picks:

First Team

R.F. Reiter, Duquesne
L.F. Smith, Carnegie Tech.
C. Brownlee, Westminster
R.G. Garbark, Allegheny
L.G. Rice, Westminster

Second Team

R.F. Dennison, Allegheny
L.F. Currie, Waynesburg
C. Montgomery, Geneva
R.G. Siljander, Westminster
L.G. Aultman, Geneva

Third team

R.F. Kocheran, Westminster
L.F. Feldman, Duquesne
C. Conn, Allegheny
R.G. Laycock, Grove City
L.G. Berger, Allegheny

Most valuable—Brownlee and Garbark.

At the last meeting of the Allegheny college team, the Gators selected their all-opponent team with the following results:

First Team

F. Kocheran, Westminster
F. Patrick, Ithaca Teachers
C. Brownlee, Westminster
G. Rice, Westminster
G. Montgomery, Geneva

Second Team

F. Smith, Carnegie Tech
F. Levy, St. Bonaventure
C. Laycock, Grove City
G. Grahame, Geneva
G. Leonard, Carnegie Tech

MANAGER

JOHN McCLURE

John McClure, senior, has been turning in some fine work as scorer and manager of the Westminster basketball team. Not receiving much credit throughout the season, McClure has remained in the background as one of the fellows who never receive credit, yet is turning in fine work in his department. McClure is a member of Phi Pi Phi fraternity and was a regular on his chapter court quintet.

Fraternities Battle In "Suicide" Basketball Game

BY AL HARPER

Can football be played on a basketball floor? That question was decided by three different teams representing different fraternities on the campus last week. Flying tackles, body blocks, tug-of-wars, and free for all wrestling matches were all components of the game played last Wednesday afternoon in the gymnasium.

The schedule had originally been planned to include four of the fraternities on the campus but, due to lack of representatives, the T. U. O. outfit was forced to drop out. The three remaining fraternities, Phi Pi Phi, Delta Phi Sigma, and Kappa Phi Lambda, were represented by regulation basketball teams. The fact that there were five ment on each team is about the only reason the embroglio could be called a basketball game.

Jack Hulme, the orginator of this new type of basketball, defied all the basic rules of real basketball when making his plans for this game. The only similarity between this unorthodox type of basketball and real basketball was the manner by which the score was kept. Two balls were used. A basket counted two points. There were no fouls. Each team had its own basket to shoot at and no particular basket to guard. The whistle blew only when one team made a basket or the ball was out of bounds. If two baskets were made simulttaneously they both counted. If one was made a little before the other the second one did not count. When a basket was made, all three teams had to line up again for the tip-off. John Brown, acting in the capacity of referee, threw the two spheres up at the same time and then ran to the sidelines to get out of the mad rush that followed.

Sometimes all three teams would concentrate their attention on one ball and with fifteen players, playing without any rules to govern their action, focused on this one object, it was a real battle. It was not uncommon to see a pile up that would have done justice to a real football game. The few fans that witnessed the game were hilarious. The more hectice the game, the fewer the baskets. With no referee to blow his whistle when two opponets were fighting for the same ball it was a case of survival of the fittest.

Professor John Lawther was an interested spectator. It was a splendid opportunity for him to see if there might be a Red Grange, in the embryo, in the student body. The varsity football players would have certainly gained a few pointers on the iorrect methods of tackling and blocking.

The Phi Pi Phi fraternity were leading by eight points when the final whistle marked the end of the game. Their victory was a triumph of mind over body. The Delts and the Kaps had their regular rough and tumble battle while the Phi Pi's galloped through with a total of 28 points to win.

Smith was leading scorer for the Phi Pi's with 12 points.

Jack Hulme Offers Many Athletic Games To Men

A recent survey of all sports, both intra-mural and varsity sponsored by Westminster for the physical advancement of men students, shows a surprisingly high percentage of the student body engaging in one or more activities. Figures show that out of the 275 boys attending Westminster 120 of these have been active in at least one sport. This means that over 42 per cent of the men students take advantage of the opportunity to develop their bodies physically as well as mentally.

All of the sports considered were optional with the student. The school also has compulsory physical education which includes swimming and gymnasium work.

Forty-two athletes were active in varsity sports in comparison with 77 in intra-mural sports. Over 313 names were listed in the official score books kept by Jack Hulme. This shows that the average athlete was active in at least two different sports.

Basketball Most Popular

Jack Hulme was aided in intra-mural sports by 12 different students who acted in the various capacities of referees, umpires, and timekeepers. Eight different boys acted as coaches for their various teams in intra-mural basketball.

Basketball drew the most students. Ninety-four players were active in this one sport, varsity basketball claiming 16 with 78 in intra-mural. Volley Ball seemed to be next most popular sport having had a total of 76 different athletes listed in the score book. Football had 68 enthusiasts in its fold at some time throughout the season, a thirty in varsity uniform and 38 in intra-mural regalia. In intra-mural football, the college allows the students to use the varsity equipment and an upperclassman is appointed to coach the teams. One game is played annually between the freshmen and sophomores. A new sport, horseshoe pitching, was conducted on a competitive basis and attracted 26 players. The very recent game of foulshooting was used for the first time with 21 matching their ability in this field.

Jack Hulme is the man behind the gun in all the intra-mural sports, and is largely instrumental in building a fine type of sportsmanship into the makeup of the men he directs. His efforts to make intra-mural sports attractive to the student body can be fully appreciated from the figures given above. Students naturally will take part in physical education required by the school but, when 119 out of a possible 275 men take an active interest in athletic activities that are not required of them, it is a favorable condition to have existing in any college.

TITANS TO PLAY WITH MERCHANTS AGAINST PITTSBURGH

New Wilmington Merchants, composed of the entire Westminster championship cage team of the past season, will appear at Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, Wednesday night opposed to the Pittsburgh Collegians.

On the Smoky City roster will be found Jim MacDougall, Marty Reider and Art Feldman of the highly touted Duquesne outfit, Tim Lawry of Pitt; Jimmy Leonard of Carnegie Tech and Lindsay Montgomery of Geneva.

The Titan players who will take part in the fray are: Bud Brownlee, Phil Rice, Jinx Hamas, Mike Kocheran, Whitey Siljander, Jerry Newton, Ray Sweeney, and Bill Douglass.

The game is scheduled for 9 p. m. and will be preceded by a preliminary affair.

Classy Schedule For '33 Cagers

Undoubtedly the classiest schedule to be arranged in recent years is being drawn up for the '33 basketball season, according to a source said to be in close contact with activities.

No official confirmation can be received for the information but the following teams are to be on the schedule: Allegheny, Grove City, Waynesburg, Geneva, Thiel, ethany, Illinois Wesleyan, St. Thomas, St. Johns, Bucknell, and Colgate.

Allegheny has been booked for two games, dates of which are not known. This information was received after the 'Gators had stated that no games would be booked with Tri-State conference teams in any branch of athletics whatsoever.

St. Johns. St. Thomas, Bucknell, and Colgate will be met away from home when the Titans take a road trip through the eastern part of the state and New York. An exhibition game with a team from Freeport, L. I., will be booked for the Island City.

Illinois Wesleyan will take a road trip through this section and will journey to Titantown to meet the locals during the Christmas recess.

HAMAS ISSUES CHALLENGE TO CHECKER ARTISTS

"Yumpin Yinx" Hamas, diminutive forward on the Titan basketball team has proclaimed himself as the checker champ of the campus. Jinx came forth yesterday with a formal challenge to any student on the Westminster campus. He offers to play 'winner take all' or 95-5 system according to the latest rules issued by the Marquis of Queensberry and the Prince of Raspberries in the latest issue of Ballyhoo.

As his seconds in any future contests, Hamas has appointed Michmerhuizen and Brownlee aid him. Their jobs are to carry the checker board and checkers to and from the scene of the matches.

Hamas up against Ted Robins, self-styled chess champ and Eugene Douglass who captured the jack contest sponsored by a local store last year for school children.

Harris Rogner, freshman was kept on the jump Friday night. He played basketball at 9 o'clock in Vienna Ohio and then raced to East Liverpool to take part in a tournament game at 12:15.

RAY SWEENEY

Ray Sweeney, former Youngstown, O., South high school athlete, is the only freshman to earn a basketball letter. Sweeney turned in some fine work as a forward and was a member of the varsity football team last fall. He will report to Coach Graham in a few weeks for track, having some ability as a hurdler.

Ted Blaner, golfer de luve, is preparing for a heavy golf season on the Sharon Public Links.

Jerry Newton and Ray Sweeney, Titan basketeers, were members of the Youngstown Duffy Greens cage team which emerged victor in the East Liverpool, O., Tri-State basketball tournament Saturday.

Wm. Turnbnll Made Manager Of Missionary Conference

DONALD McCLURE TO ACT AS ASSISTANT

William T. Turnbull, of Elizabeth, Pa., a second-year student in the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary has recently been appointed manager of the New Wilmington Missionary Conference which will be held at New Wilmington from August 12, this summer.

WILLIAM TURNBULL

Mr. Turnbull is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1930, and for the past two years has served as assistant to Herman King, Conference manager. Donald McClure, '28, of Blairsville, formerly an instructor in Assiut College, Egypt, will act as assistant manager for Mr. Turnbull.

Mr. Turnbull is a member of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity. While at Westminster he was prominent in Y. M. C. A. work, inter-class athletics, and assisted in the library. He will be remembered as the son of Dr. T. R. Turnbull, of Elizabeth, recently deceased.

DR. L. K. PEACOCK HOLDS PRE-EASTER SERVICES AT UNION

The Rev, Luther K. Peacock,D.D., is conducting three weeks of evangelistic services at the East Union church. The first service was held on March 6, and the meetings will be continued until Easter Sunday.

Dr. Peacock is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1898, and is one of the best-known evangelists in the country. He is a member of the college board of trustees.

DR. GEO. LONG WILL REMAIN AT HOMEWOOD

Friends of the Rev. Geo. A. Long, D.D., of Homewood, Pa., will be glad to hear that he has reconsidered his decision to accept the call to the Central Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, New York, and will remain as pastor of the Homewood United Presbyterian church.

Dr. Long was graduated from Westminster with the Class of 1909.

ALUMNAE CHAPTER OF SIGMA KAPPA MEETS SATURDAY

The Pittsburgh alumnae chapter of Sigma Kappa held a St. Patrick's Day luncheon in Kaufman's dining room on Saturday, March 19, at 1 o'clock. A program of music was arranged.

Westminster alumnae in charge of the luncheon plans were Miss Ruth E. Brown, '21, Miss Winono Blackwood, Miss Kathryn Wylie, '28, and Miss Helen Wylie, '25.

Present as guests of honor were Mrs. E. R. Moses, and Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, head of the department of piano at Westminster.

Attention of the Alumni is directed toward the new Westminster ads found in the United Presbyterian weekly. The full page advertisement on the back of the cover page is especially attractive.

SEMINARY PRESIDENT ADDRESSES MINISTERS

Dr. John McNaugher, '80, president of Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, was the speaker at the meeting of the Pittsburgh Ministerial Association, held on March 14.

Taking as his subject, "The Resurrection in Paul's Thinking", Dr. McNaugher showed that the bodily resurrection of Jesus is the keystone in Paul's theology, more than 40 references to this supernatural event being made in his epistles, and it is his belief in the resurrection that changed Paul from a persecutor to an apostle.

ALUMNAE TAKE PART IN FAMOUS PRODUCTION

Ruth Lewis, '30, and Hazel Bergland, '31, instructors in Ben Franklin Junior High, New Castle, were chosen for minor parts in the Passion Play, presented last week in New Castle. Both girls enjoyed the experience of working with the actors in Herman Meier's famous production.

When in school, Miss Lewis was a member of Masquers, dramatic fraternity, and is at present, director of dramatics at Ben Franklin. Both Miss Lewis and Miss Bergland are members of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

CLASS OF 1923

The Rev. Stillman Foster, of the Crafton Heights United Presbyterian congregation, is now able to resume his regular duties, after an illness of four weeks.

THETA UPSILON

Mrs. Charles Freeman, patroness of Theta Upsilon, will entertain the active members and pledges of the sorority with a party at her home on Wednesday afternoon, March 23.

The Theta Upsilon City of Pittsburgh Association will hold a meeting on Saturday, March 26, in Pittsburgh. Chapters from Ohio Wesleyan, Allegheny, and Westminster will attend.

Members of the former Pi Rho Phi sorority are planning a luncheon for the first Saturday in April. All alumnae and present Theta Upsilon members are invited.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

The annual formal dinner dance of the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity will be held on Friday, March 25, at the Field Club. Charles Cochran is chairman and will be assisted by Edwin Swartz, Clinton Welsh, and Otto Pearsall. Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are to be chaperons. The music will be furnishel by Ted Rosenberg's orchestra.

OMICRON MU GAMMA

Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority ,announces the pledging of Jane Gilmore and Harriet Gray, on Saturday, March 19.

National President of T. U. O. Fraternity Lauds Dr. Galbreath at Banquet

McGINNES TELLS OF OLD AND NEW WESTMINSTER

Attorney S. W. McGinness, Pittsburgh, Pa., Arch Master of Theta Upsilon Omega Fraternity, paid a fine tribute to Dr. Robert F. Galbreath at the T. U. O. dinner-dance in the New Castle Field Club on Friday, March 25th.

"My friends, I offer the toast Hail to the new Westminster".

"In proposing this toast I am not unmindful of the fact that there is also an old Westminster: old in history, old in spirit and tradition, and old in achievement. Obviously, therefore, I do not wish to be understood for an instant as speaking disparagingly of the old Westminster.

"A fair test of any institution or industry or individual is the character and quality of its product. Old Westminster can confidently rest its case before the bar of public opinion on its showing in that regard. This was forcefully impressed upon me within the past two months. It is my good fortune, from time to time, to attend banquets and other similar gatherings of men of affairs in Pittsburgh and sometimes elsewhere and I want to testify before you that the gathering of Westminster alumni at the Keystone Club in Pittsburgh to greet our new President constituted, man for man, the finest assemblage I have ever seen.

All honor to old Westminster!

"But tonight, with that background of old Westminster, I wish to acclaim "the new Westminster" for, as there is an old Westminster, so also there is a new Westminster.

"There is a new Westminster of physical equipment. For her present campus, with its doubled area, with its Administration Building which is at once the joy and pride of her constituency and the despair of her competitors, with its Freshmen dormitory, a veritable gem of achitecture, and with its new and well-appointed gymnasium, presents a striking contrast to the mean and meager equipment even of my day.

"Hail to the New Westminster campus!

"There is also a new esprit de corps at Westminster.

"There have always been those who supported the College loyally but never, in at least the last three decades, to my positive knowledge, has there been a time when loyalty and enthusiasm and expectant hope were so in evidence as now. The very air is electric with optimism—from faculty,—from students,—from alumni. No longer does a discouraged leader appeal to a thin and wavering skirmish line, but a magnetic commander is leading forth to certain victory the solid phalanx of the old and new Westminster.

"Hail to the New Westminster spirit!

"May I very briefly mention a third cause for congratulation—and I shall do no more than mention it, for it is always embarrassing to talk about a man to his face and I think it is even more embarrassing to say complimentary things than it is to say unpleasant things under such circumstances.

"We are at the threshold of a new administration at Westminster and Dr. Galbreath, like any other man in a similar situation, may expect to be the subject of close and critical inspection in the broad sense of those tems. It is therefore proper for us to ask, "What sort of a man is theis new President?"

"I answer, in the first place, that, as it should be, he is a man of scholarship and culture. I hasten to add that I do not base my judgment upon the fact that he is a college graduate or even that he is a graduate of Westminster, for I am mindful of the fact that I am also a graduate of the same institution, which might tend to disprove my premise. But, if my appraisal were in question, his successive, successful pastorates would furnish ample proof of his learning and urbanity.

"I answer, in the second place, that he is a square-shooter. This is one of those rather intangible characteristics, the existence or non-existence of which can not ordinarily be determined at a glance. It usually takes time to tell. I have, however, recently had the good fortune to have some rather intimate conferences with Dr. Galbreath, in which I have looked down into his very heart of hearts and I speak with absolute assurance when I say that we may rely upon the utmost candor, a keen sense of essential justice and a desire to play fair on the part on the part of Dr. Galbreath. His is a spirit that should evoke our cooperation not our suspicion and mistrust.

"For want of time, I shall make but one further answer out of many; namely, that he is a man of magnetic and enthusiastic leadership—and that spells success. I verily believe that with his sound judgment, his untiring energy and his magnificent optimism, Westminster College is even now entering upon the golden age of her achievement.

"Hail to the New Westminster President, Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath!"

Y. W. C. A. DISCUSSES EASTER CUSTOMS

The Y. W.C. A. met in the Hillside parlors Wednesday evening, March 23. The meeting, which was led by Polly Sellars, was opened by singing "Low in the Grave He Lay" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross". Prayer was lead by Louise Studebaker.

The main topic of the evening was "Easter, Its Customs and Origin", with Evelyn Judson in charge.

Special music included a solo by Lillian Baird, "A Little Prayer", and a solo by Dorothy Watkins, "As it Began to Dawn". An Easter poem was read by Betty Curtis.

The meeting closed with the singing of "There was a Green Hill."

New Catalog Edition Issued

BOOK IS EDITED BY PROFESSOR EUWEMA

The catalogue edition of the Westminster Bulletin, issued quarterly, has been published under the direction of Professor Ben Euwema, head of the English department.

Numerous changes have been made in this publication. The contents include additions to the faculty, changes in courses, and revision in the general arrangement of the publication.

Additions to the faculty have been Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president; Herschel V. Beasley, assistant professor of chemistry; Mr. John Lawther, assistant professor of education; and Mrs. A. T. Cordray, instructor in English. The economics and business administration course has been enlarged to a great extent, with Mrs. Bertha A. Bay, as assistant professor in business administration; George Ross Ellis, and Baldwin Sears, instructors in business administration. A two-year secretarial course is also an addition to this department.

Mr. John Lawther is director of athletics and of physical education, while Miss Nandeen Love has charge of women's physical education.

The faculty of the College of Music has been enlarged with Miss Florence Mae Thomas, as teacher of public school music; Mr. Edward Hendee Freeman, professor of piano; and Mr. Gordon Balch Nevin, the noted American composer, as Professor of pipe organ.

There has been slight changes made in the courses of ancient languages, Bible and business administration.

It has been the custom previously for the upper class women to reside in the Hillside dormitory. This year, however, sorority houses have been provided for this purpose. As a result, new chaperons were chosen who are as follows:

Mrs. Fannie B. Alkire of the Theta Upsilon house

Miss Nandeen Love of the Omicron Mu Gamma house

Mrs. David Ritchie of the Alpha Gamma Delta house.

Mrs. Bertha Bay of the Chi Omega house.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin Sears are the new proctors of Browne hall.

The book, itself, has a light blue cover, while the pages are of a gray smooth, enamel.

Previous to this year, Dr. Charles A. Dawson, head of the English department, edited this quarterly edition.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS VISIT WESTMINSTER

Many high school seniors have visited the campus, looking it over as a prospective Alma Mater. Parker Rose, '20, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at East Palestine, Ohio, and Mr. W. C. George, member of the board of trustees, brought a group of East Palestine high school students and one student from Ohio State University to see the campus.

On Thursday afternoon, March 24, Miss Elizabeth Galbreath of Butler and Miss Rumbaugh from Saxonburg, seniors in Butler high school, visited Westminster. These visitors are all prospective students for Westminster next September.

The weekly meeting of the Holcad staff will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in Room 210. All staff members must be present.

College on Air on WKBN Each Tuesday

RADIO PROGRAMS AT 9:15 TO PUBLICIZE COLLEGE

Westminster will go "on the air" every Tuesday evening from 9:15 to 9:45 over radio station WKBN, Youngstown, O., Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president, announces.

Varied programs each Tuesday evening will give students, student organizations, and faculty members an opportunity to bring the campus life of the college to the homes of alumni and friends within 100 miles of Youngstown in every direction.

The first program, for tonight will include the announcement of the college series, two numbers by the varsity quartet, an address by President Galbreath, and two vocal numbers by Professor Alan B. Davis.

Dr. Galbreath will speak briefly on "Why a College Education Today". The varsity quartet, composed of Homer Dishong, Johnstown; Thomas Grenfell, Elizabeth; Scott McMunn, Oakdale; and William Frack, Oakmont, will sing two popular numbers. Paul McKnight, a freshman from Erie, is accompanist for the quartet.

Professor Alan B. Davis, director of the conservatory of music, is aiding in planning programs. Professor A. T. Cordray, director of the Little Theathre, made the preliminary plans for the boadcasts and will haye dramatic groups present plays, dialogues, and readings. Campus chatter, news, music, and drama will feature the Tuesday evening half hours sponsored by Westminster.

MANY MEMBERS OF FACULTY REMAIN IN TOWN FOR RECESS

A majority of the faculty members of Westminster enjoyed a quiet spring vacation at their homes in New Wilmington. Several of the professors, however, visited in other places.

Professor and Mrs. Ben Euwema journeyed west where they visited in Grand Rapids, Michigan, and Chicago, Illinois. Professor and Mrs. Robert X. Graham were in Cleveland and Pittsburgh for several days and spent the remainder of his vacation in New Wilmington.

Miss Marjorie Brown was at her home in Meadville. Dr. E. B. Russell, acting dean and head of the History department, remained at his home in New Wilmington all but a few days during which he was in Cleveland.

Members of the business administration department remained in town during the entire Easter holiday period. Dr. Harold Black, head of the department of Mathematics, also stayed in New Wilmington.

Miss Stewart, head of the Modern Language department, like several others, went to Pittsburgh for several days and was at her home in town for the remainder of her vacation.

REV. J. CALVIN REID SPOKE RECENTLY AT Y. W. C. A. CHAPEL

Y. W. C. A. chapel service was conducted on Thursday morning, with the Rev. J. Calvin Reid as speaker, and John McClure and Dorothy Walk conducting prayer and reading of scripture. Rev. Mr. Reid is the pastor of the First United Presbyterian church in Butler. Miss Dorothy Kirkbride presented an organ solo, and Pofessor Alan B. Davis led the vocal music.

Rev. Mr. Reid's address was concerning the challenge to young people on Easter Day. All his message enrichened by poetry. His lesson was enriched by poetry. His lesson above you, where Christ is", and his personal challenge was to seek the true, the good, and the eternal.

Fifty-five Students On Honor Roll For Semester

RABBI GROSSFIELD TEACHING HEBREW

Rabbi Avery Jonah Grossfield of Temple Israel, New Castle, Pa., a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, Class of 1929, and of the Hebrey Union College, Cincinnati, Ohio, class of 1931, has recently been given an appointment as instructor of Hebrew at Westminster.

Rabbi Grossfield is giving one three-hour per week course in Elementary Hebrew—reading, grammar, conversation, and composition—for which the college is giving full credit toward the B.A. or B.S. degree.

Five men students are enrolled in Rabbi Grossfield's course this year, and indications are that a larger number will enroll next year.

FOLDER CARD SENT TO PROSPECTS BY PERSONNEL OFFICE

"Why Attend Westminster College?" is the title of a folder card which has been prepared by R. X. Graham under the supervision of W. A. Johns, director of personnel, for distribution among young men and women eligible for college next year. Information is included regarding the courses offered, buildings and equipment, situation of the college, and its scholastic rank. The folder is illustrated with views of fraternity and sorority life, dramatic productions, and intercollegiate sport.

The students receiving these folders are informed of the three scholarships offered graduates of the accepted schools for the academic year which starts Tuesday, September 13, 1932. These scholarships are for students ranking among the first 10 in the class. Attention is given to the religious and physical, as well as the scholastic life of Westminster.

BOOKS OF GENERAL INTEREST ADDED TO ECONOMICS LIBRARY

Several new books have been added to the Economics Library, some of which should be of interest to students other than those in the department of business administration.

Among theme are: Methods in Social Science, by Stewart Rice. This is a series of interpretations of the scientific methods used by those who have made significant controbutions to social science.

The New Social Science, a series of addresses by prominent teachers of the social sciences.

Policy and Ethics in Business, by Carl F. Aaeusch.

Financing the Consumer, by Evans Clark. This is the first detailed study ever made of the methods of financing the small consumer, and is based on a survey made by the Twentieth Century Fund. In it are discussed in detail pawnbrokers, personal finance companies, credit unions, etc., together with analysis of their interest charges, profits, dividends and cost of operation.

JOHN C. HEINRICH OF INDIA TO SPEAK SABBATH EVENING

J. C. Heinrich, '09, of Indian will speak at the regular chapel worship next Sabbath evening at 7:30, Dr. R. F. Galbreath announced yesterday. Mr. Heinrich, a missionary to India for a number of years, will speak on "Ghandi".

At the Monday morning chapel service, Heinrich will speak on "The Problem of India's Depressed Classes."

Mr. Heinrich is studying the psychology of Mohammedanism, spending his furlough at Oberlin College this year in psychological research. While at Westminster, Heinrich was a star football player, playing on the 1907, 1908, and 1909 teams.

LIST CONTAINS MORE NAMES THAN LAST YEAR

A recent report from the office of the Dean gives the names of 55 students who did unusually good work during the first semester of this school term. This list shows a marked improvement over the one that was published at the end of the term last year.

This list is divided into two sections: the first, gives the names of those who made 40 or more honor points and received no grade below a 2; the second list gives the names of the students who made 40 or more honor points and received no grade below a 1.

William Beall of New Castle and Dorothy Thompson of New Wilmington head the list with nineteen hours and fifty-seven honor points. The others are as follows:

Those with no grade below a 2: Mary Stunkard, Robert Jones, William Gamble, Jane Downie, Emily Parker, Edgar Allshouse, Doris Goff, Wilbur Christy, Robert Galbreath, Edward Winslow.

Lillian Baird, Eric Thompson, Margaret Averill, Leona Gould, Charles McCormick, Theresa Burgoon, Paul Fekete, Douglass Anderson, Paul McKnight, Dorothy Jones.

Martha Holliday, Elizabeth Curtis, Mildred Ralston, Margaret Sherbondy, Arthur Antonoplos, Jean Miller, John McClure, Emma Koegler, Elizabeth Griffith, Chas. Ferney.

Julius Bloom, Thomas Uber, James Smith, Dorothy Shiffler, Calvin Hogg, James McKee, Michael Kocheran, Marvin Clark, Caroline Daverio, Mary Elizabeth Boal.

Edward Rea, Louise Studebaker, Harry Lawton, Martha Hazlett, Herbert Smith, Glenn Momeyer, Virginia Crooks.

Those who made 40 or more honor points, with no grade below a 1 are: Claire Gross, Ruth Hastings, Lola Sewall, Maurice Michmerhuizen, Thomas Cameron, John Hogue, Martha Morrow, Thomas Smith.

NEW CASTLE HIGH CHECKS GRADS NOW IN COLLEGE

Diploma-time in January and June for Senior High school classes doesn't entirely mean the parting of the ways for the high school and its college-bound graduates—even for some not college-bound—since Principal F. L. Orth's office and the Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges of the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland together introduced a unique "student progress report" plan.

There's no immediate parting under the new system, for hereafter the scholastic "ups and downs" of a Ne-Ca-Hi graduate will be charted just as accurately as a college professor's book records them.

To Watch Freshmen

Semi-annualy, Prof. Orth's office will now receive the students' progress charts from various higher institutions of learning during the freshman year, giving the school opportunity to check high school records with a graduate as a first-year student in college.

Sitting in his office only recently, Principal Orth studied at length the cards from Washington & Jefferson, Westminster, Carnegie Tech, Syracuse university, Geneva, Wilson college, Bethany, Wesleyan university in Ohio, Princeton, Allegheny, University of Pittsburgh, Thiel, different state teacher's college, and a large list of other schools.

Each card brought to Mr. Orth a true picture of the scholastic effort certain graduates are making at the present time.

Grads Win Praise

It would be most surprising too, it was indicated, to know just how many honor freshmen Ne-Ca-Hi has enrolled in colleges, or students who have shown exceptional mental development since graduating. Basic studies in the high school may be credited with the honor work.

"Time after time," continued Mr.

KNOWING THE WAY

In John 14:5 we find the words, "Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Certainly, that seems a reasonable difficulty.

What is a way unless it leads to some end? How can a young person plan a career until the end as well as the beginning of life is clear?

Most of our teaching from pulpit, family, and teachers points to the advisability of knowing, first of all, the end of life. We have been told that we must first fix the port to which we are going if we are to justify the journey.

Yet every young person has, sooner or later, been confronted with the apparently reasonable demand for assurance of the end of life. And the question raised in the gospel is youth's query.

It is, indeed, quite true that when the end is made clear, it gives direction to the way . It is true, also, that one secret of an effective life is to gather up all of its incidents into the servce of one compelling end.

But—and this is what perplexes—how many incidents there are in life where the end is necessarily undisclosed! Before a very large part of each person's future, there hangs a veil of mist into which he has to feel his way.

Jesus answers the question of every young enthusiast by saying that it is possible without knowing whither you are going, still to know the way. There is a way which opens ,as you follow it, toward ts own end. Indeed, as you follow the way you may come to a better end than that which you had set out to reach. The way, as it were, creates its own end.

Sometimes a man looks back from the absorbing vocation of his life, and is very thankful that the decision which was so sure to narrow his interests was so long postponed. Sometimes, indeed, one remembers the studies which seemed to have little bearing upon life, and discovers that these very interests, which were almost thrust upon him for lack of something more definite to do, are the interests which have given breadth and insight to his life and have admitted him to its larger privileges. He knew not whither he was going, but the way he went led him to a better end than any premature decision could have enabled him to see.

SCHOLARSHIP

Announcement in this issue of the group of students who maintained high scholarship during the first semester is an encouraging one. It continues Dean E. B. Russell's admirable plan to place a premium on good scholarship.

Premiums have, too often, been placed on everything else. Campus favor, popularity, and public opinion have made success in every student activity a thing to be desired. This is quite as it should be. But, after all the side-shows, trimmings, and trappings are eliminated, the one primary reason for registering in various courses is that the maximum be learned.

Westminster needs an honor society or fraternity to recognize scholarship. A petition for a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa might bring results

A second move, which the publication of Dean Russell's list helps, is to eliminate the too-general theory that a "C" grade is a gentleman's or a lady's grade . A true lady's or gentleman's grade is the best result of native intelligence and conscientious study.

ORGANIZATION

Among the many things which President Robert F. Galbreath is doing is his quiet way is the definite placing of administrative and teaching responsibilities.

Doing away with duplication of effort through clarification of duties and definition of work, will do much to make the College more efficient.

All workers for the College now know their duties and their responsibilities. A continued definition of duties and responsibilities of students should make for improvement also.

AMONG OUR ALUMNI

Lorena Garloch, ex-'28, who returned from Paris last September to become reference librarian at the University of Pittsburgh, will conduct an automobile tour of Europe this summer.

Dr. Ben G. Graham, '04, superintendent of the Pittsburgh schools, is a member of the Commission for the Study of Educational Problems in Pennsylvania. This commission is working on a 10-year program of study which should reveal many needed improvements in educational procedure in the state.

Katherine Boobyer, '30, who received her M.A. degree from Radcliffe last June, is taking graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh. Ruth Brown, '30, is also taking graduate work at Pitt.

Ethel Rose, '23, a teacher in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle, has presented her resignation to take effect in June of this year.

William Crowell, '30, coach of football and basketball at the Mercer high school for the last two years, has been reappointed to his coaching position for next year. Crowell has played basketball for the Oil City Pennzips the past season.

FRATERNITIES HOLD PARTIES PRECEDING EASTER VACATION

Three fraternities held their annual dinner-dances on the evening of Friday, March 26. Theta Upsilon Omega held its dance in the New Castle Field Club; Delta Phi Sigma alumni sponsored a dinner-dance event at the Edgewood Country Club, Pittsburgh; and Kappa Phi Lambda held its dance at the Sharon Country Club.

Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath and Professor and Mrs. E. H. Freeman were special guests at the Theta Upsilon Omega party. Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell and Professor and Mrs. John Lawther were guests at the Kappa Phi Lamda dance. Professor and Mrs. R. X. Graham were guests at the Delta Phi Sigma party.

Many alumni and former students attended the three parties given by the fraternities. All affairs were formal.

Those in charge of the parties were: Charles Cochran, T. U. O.; Robert Weingartner, Kappa Phi Lambda; and Louis Peresenyi and Phillip Rice, Delta Phi Sigma.

Mabel King, '12, noted contralto singer of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, sang on the United Presbyterian mission hour over radio station KDKA Sabbath evening. A number of missionaries on furlough spoke during the program. Messages were sent to all parts of the world where United Presbyterian missionaries are working.

WATCH STUDENTS

Orth, "I have received volunteer commendation on the work of different students from faculty leaders and registrars at different schools. Carnegie Tech man recently visited me simply to express his gratification over the remarkable attainments of one student."

High school records show that Westminster and Allegheny colleges draw the greatest amount of graduates from the local school, while Geneva and the University of Pittsburgh rank next on a par. Carnegie Tech wins the next greatest number.

Grovers Honor Titans On All-Opponent Team

RICE IS THE ONLY UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Seven Grove City College varsity basketball players, selecting all-opponent teams for the past season, honored Westminster with two first-team positions and gave Phil Rice, star Titan guard, the only unanimous vote. Many district passers were named in the all-star list as prepared by individual vote of the Crimson players.

The first team is:

Forwards

Lipinski ..... Canisius
Feldman ..... Duquesne

Center

Brownlee ..... Westminster

Guards

Rice ..... Westminster
Ufema ..... Waynesburg

The Second Team

Forwards

Currie ..... Waynesburg
Smith ..... Carnegie Tech

Center

Decker ..... Canisius

Guards

Aultman ..... Geneva
Berger ..... Allegheny

Using the balloting system, with 14 as the highest possible number of points, Rice led with his selection on the first team by all the Grove City players. Lipinski was the first choice of five players, with 10 points. Feldman and Ufema received eight points, and Brownlee seven. Aultman ran Ufema a close race with seven.

ALL-STAR TRI-STATE TEAM

Jack Henry sport editor of the Beaver Falls Tribune, comes to the front with an all-star Tri-State Conference basketball team that, man-for man, shapes up as the best named by a district writer.

He places Bud Laycock, Grove City, and Labe Wardle, Thiel, at forwards; Bud Brownlee at center, and Art Grahame, Geneva, and Phil Rice at guards.

The second team is: Kocheran and Currie at forwards, Montgomery at center and Stavnitsky and Aultman at guards.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM STARTS TO PRACTICE TODAY

Varsity track candidates will report to Coach R. X. Graham in the gymnasium this afternoon at 4:30. Track drills will be held in the gym at 4:30 every afternoon until further announcement. When weather permits, drills will be shifted to the upper field track.

All candidates should report this afternoon, Coach Graham states, and each man should provide himself with gym shoes and suitable gym clothes for preliminary training. Student managers and the coach will check the roll of all candidates, and only those men who report each day will be given credit for physical education.

BROWNLEE

In additon ito a wealth of material from last year's squad, a large number of freshmen with ability are available for this year's track team. This should give Westminster as strong a team as last years which swamped three dual meet opponents and placed second in the Tri-State Conference championships.

The schedule to date includes meets with Geneva, Bethany, the Tri-State Conference championships, and the Penn Relays. Another dual meet will be announced within a week.

H MADDUCKS

Harry Brownlee, holder of the Tri-State Conference hurdles and hammer-throw championships, is captain of this year's team. Harry Madducks is student manager.

LAWTHER NOT OPPOSED TO "FREEZING" BAN

DOES NOT BELIEVE NEW RULE WILL HARM

The "freezing game" in basketball, a tactic which seems doomed by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, has no sympathizer in Coach John Lawther who led his team to Tri-State Conference and district championships this year.

When interviewed, Lawther said, "Theoretically, I believe the new code will be an advance. In actual practice, I want to see how it works before passing judgement, but I don't think it will make much difference.

"It will aid the defense, especially a zone defense like I use at Westminster, so why should I kick? I am not certain it will please the spectators, one of the main reasons it nas been considered.

"If it will cause more zone defenses to be adopted, it will eliminate much of the spectacular running and cutting of the present. One thing is certain—on little floors, like Waynesburg's and Bethany's, it will create a free-for-all, with 10 men all bunched together in a small space."

PROCEEDS OF GAME TO AID SCHOOL CHILDREN

The much-talked about basketball game between Westmnister College's 1932 championship five and the Shontz and Myers' team of Sharon, has been definitely scheduled and will be played at the Sharpsville High school gym, April 8. Entire proceeds of the game will be added to a fund to purchase shoes for needy school children.

Promoters of the game have been assured that leading members of this year's Westminster team will be included in the lineup when the team appears at Sharpsville.

It was hoped to match the collegians against Shontz and Myers last week but plans fell through when it was learned that the Sharon Clothiers would have to meet St. Michael's in the county championship game Saturday evening, and that the Westminster boys were entered in the tri-state toruney at East Liverpool.

The game is one of the standout basketball attractions scheduled in the valley in recent years and is certain to fill the gym.

PRESIDENT BUSY AS SPEAKER AT MANY GATHERINGS

Dr. R. F. Galbreath continues to fill every minute of each day with varied activities. Many speaking engagements are listed for Westminster's president, and Dr. Galbreath is attending all meetings of the alumni chapters in various towns and cities.

Dr. Galbreath attended the inauguration of Dr. R. C. Hutchison at Washington and Jefferson College on Saturday. He preached in two United Presbyterian churches in Youngstown, O. on Sabbath.

The Mercer county alumni will meet Friday evening. Dr. Galbreath will attend this meeting which will be held in the Sharon Country Club.

On Saturday of this week, Dr. Galbreath and Professor C. W. McKee will attend the conference of commercial teachers to be held in the Langley high school, Pittsburgh.

A SUGGESTION

Tudor Lewis, former Farrell High and Westminster cage star, who has, for the past several years, played on independent teams, comes forward with a suggestion for basketball rules.

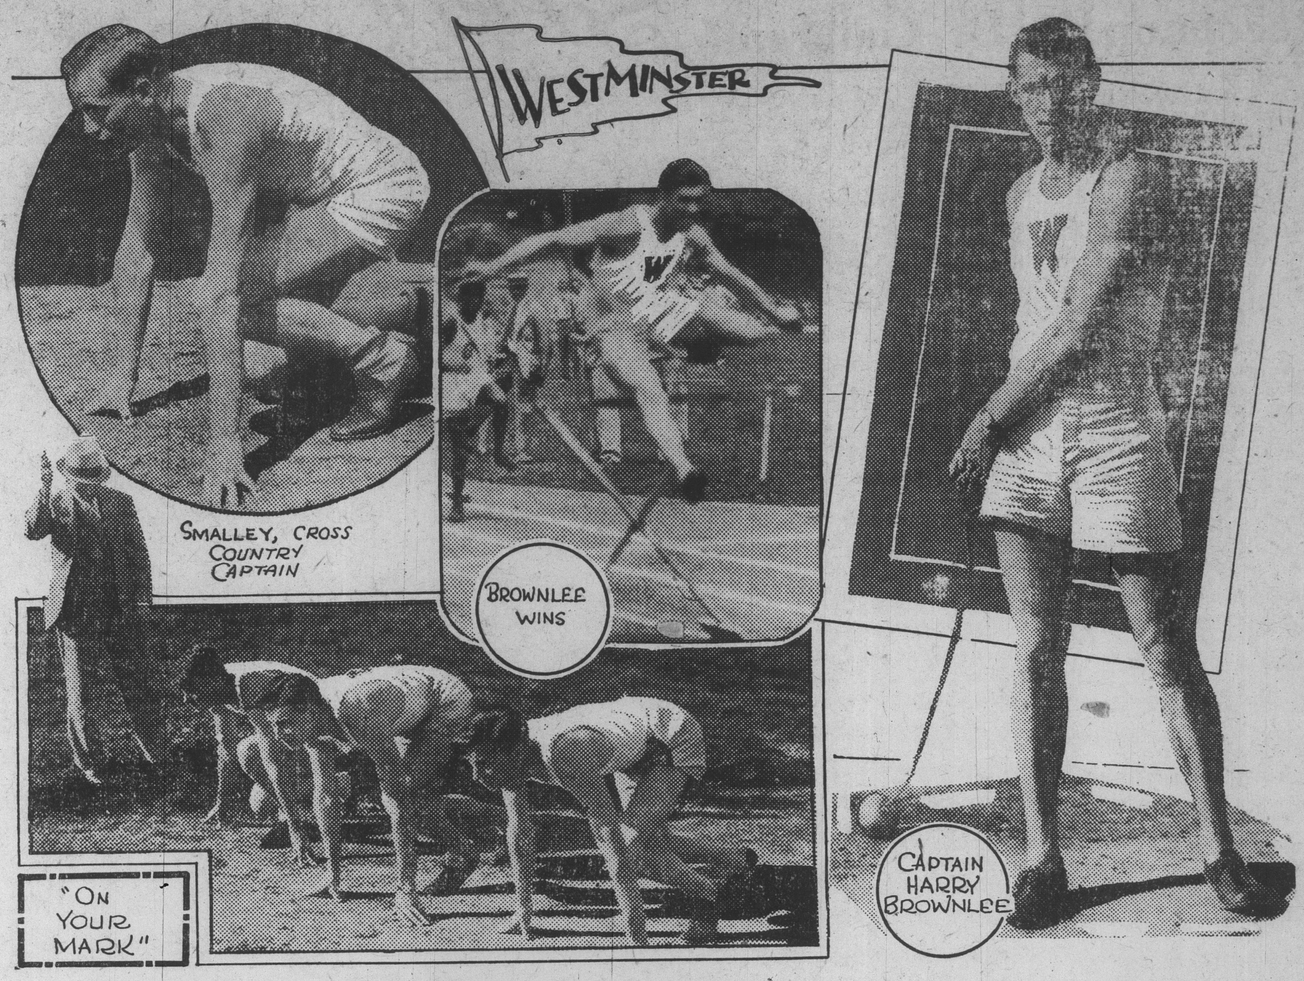
Since the trend is to curb the importance of big men in the sport, Lewis believes this could be reached by a rule that after each sot that hit either the bank board or the basket it would be necessary for a player to dribble at least once before another shot could be taken. This would eliminate big fellows jumping the ball in on a follow up.

DELEGATE TO PHILADELPHIA

Carl F. Snyder, recently re-appointed as business manager of the Holcad is being sent as a delegate to the Spring Conference of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association.

The conference, to be held on April 15 and 16, will be held at Haverford college, Philadelphia, Pa.

TRACK TEAM PREPARES FOR SEASON



Varsity track candidates are working out daily in the gymnasium in preparation for the season which starts in May. In addition to many lettermen from last year, a large group of capable performers from the freshman class make this year's track prospects bright.

Captain Harry Brownlee, conference champion hurdler, will be the first varsity athlete to see actual competition. Brownlee has been entered in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, April 27 and 28, where he will compete in the high hurdles and ammer throw and pentathlon.

Captain James Smalley of the cross country team is expected to continue his fine middle distance and distance running this year.

TITAN CAGE STARS WIN TOURNAMENT

The East Liverpool Ogilvie Collegians, made up of the championship Westminster court team, won the seventh annual senior Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia basketball tournament played at East Liverpool last week.

Geneva and other college teams were entered in the tournament which ended Saturday night.

Three Westminster stars were placed on the first all-tourney team. They were: Kocheran, best foul shooter; Brownlee, highest scorer, with 91 points; and Rice, best guard.

GROVE CITY SCRIBE CRITICIZES ACTION OF TRI-STATE GROUP

"Buck Fever," sports writer for Grove City Reporter-Herald, comments to the point on the recent action of Tri-State colleges to "abollish athletic scholarships. "Buck's" fine comment follows.

A careful study of the rule passed by the memebers of the Tri-State Conference that "athletic scholarships shall be abolished," reveals that an elimination was not made of the abuses which have interfered with the past attempts to enforce successfully an amateur policy in intercollegiate athletics. While the rule recently passed states that scholarships may not be granted to students because of their athletic ability, it does not state that scholarships may not be granted for other reasons to students who do have athletic ability. It will be interesting to note the number of good athletes who happen to be among those students the colleges believe are deserving of help because of their general promise and need.

Whether a prospective student qualifies for financial aid depends upon the judgment of the officials of each individual college. No particular standard of scholarship is uniformly required by the Conference members. No limit is placed on the intercollegiate athletics.

COLLEGE ATHLETIC OFFICIALS AGREE TO "SIMON PURE" PLAN

PLAN GOES INTO EFFECT IN 1933

The Tri-State Conference, comprised of six colleges in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, has decided to eliminate all athletic scholarships or other inducements to athletes after September 1, 1933. The motion was passed at a conference pow-wow in Pittsburgh on March 24, after considerable agitation by members of the circuit to toss out all offers to scholastic stars.

The action follows closely changes in policy by several district colleges individually. The Conference comprises Geneva, Thiel, Grove City, Waynesburg, Westminster and Bethany, and all were represented at the meeting.

While it was represented by Mr. Way, athletic director, and Waldo Tippin, coach-elect ,Allegheny College failed to apply for membership in the conference although it was said to be responsive to an invitation to join. Allegheny recently threw overboard its entire athletic policy and it is believed only a matter of time before becoming a member of the Tri-State group.

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Dr. Ketler, president Grove City College, and Robert Thorne, athletic director; Dr. Cramblit, faculty representative and Coach John Knight of Bethany College; Dr. Paul Stewart, president Waynesburg College and Prof. James Miller, athletic director; John Lawther, athletic director, Westminster College; John Stoeber, athletic director, Thiel College; Dr. N. M. Pearce, president Geneva College, and A. C. Edgecombe, athletic director Geneva College.

COLES IS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Thomas Coles, Homstead, was elected captain of the varsity cross country team at a meeting of the lettermen held in the gymnasium on March 24. Coles, a sophomore, has won his letter two seasons on the harrier team, and holds one varsity track letter. He succeeds James Smalley, Elizabeth, as harrier captain. Smalley completed his fourth year of cross country running last fall.

TRACK COACH

Prof. R. X. Graham assumes charge of the varsity track team for his fifth season today when the men report at 4:30 in the gymnasium.

GRAHAM.

Coach Graham is counting on Brownlee, Clark, Smalley, Siljander, Yourd, Fuller, McCall, Klumph, Cole, Sweeney, Simpson, Headlee, Burry, Harper, Hogg, Simpson, and others to uphold Westminster's track prestige.

Rev. Dr. Ferguson acted as chairman for the evening. He introduced Dr. Galbreath, and then Westminster's new president gave a short talk to the 200 alumni who attended.

REV. RAY SHEAR IS ON LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The Rev. Ray Shear, '10, now pastor of the Chartiers United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, has been ill for some time, and plans to take a leave of absence from his pastorate.

JOHNSON-KENNEDY NUPTIALS ANNOUNCED

The Rev. and Mrs. Harry L. Johnson, 704 Croton avenue, New Castle, announce the marriage of their daughter Mary Elizabeth, to Clarence E. Kennedy of Harrison street, on Saturday, March 19.

The ceremony took place at 3:30 o'clock in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. Officiating was the bride's father, the Rev. Harry L. Johnson, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Kennedy formerly attended Slippery Rock Teachers College, and at present is associated with the Fisher Company, New Castle. Mr. Kennedy is a former student of Westminster college, and a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy are at home to their friends in their residence on 937 Harrison street, New Castle.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER PROFESSOR DIES

Word has been received of the recent death of Miss Emma Mehard, at her home in Los Angles, California.

Miss Mehard was a graduate of the Class of 1877, and will be remembered by older alumni as the daughter of Dr. William A. Mehard, who was for 31 years professor of mathematics and Hebrew at Westminster.

Miss Mehard is survived by two brothers, William Mehard of Glendale, Calif., and Charles Mehard, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

COILA PASTOR SPENDS VACATION IN FLORIDA

The Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Patterson, of the United Presbyterian church, Coila, New York, spent the month of February vacationing at St. Petersburg, Florida.

Rev. Patterson is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1882.

VICTOR SCOTT IS REGISTRAR AT SILVER BAY

All local arrangements for the national Y. P. C. U. Convention to be held at Silver Bay, New York, from August 17 to 21, will be in charge of the young people of Argyle Presbytery, New York.

The Rev. Victor Scott, pastor of the Hebron congregation, will have charge of the registration and information desk at the national convention. Rev. Scott is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1928. A young and popular preacher, he has proved himself to be a successful leader of young people's work.

Another Westminster man, Professor John McMorris, instructor in the high school of Cambridge, New York, has been placed in charge of all recreation features. Already he has arranged an interesting program of ball games, water sports, tournaments, hikes and sightseeing trips.

Mr. McMorris is a member of the Class of 1921.

Reeher-Kocheran Lead Senior Class Honor Students

SIXTEEN HONOR STUDENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Miss Virginia Reeher, New Castle, is vaedistorian of the class of 1932 at Westminster College, Michael Kocheran, Duquesne, was announced as salutatorian.

The list of honor students contains 16 names, the largest number in the recent history of the college. Nine honor students are women, and seven are men.

Miss Reeher won out as valedictorian with an average of 3.1186 out of a possible 4.000. Kocheran was second with 3.0545. The other 14 honor students in order were: Louise Adams, New Wilmington, third, 3.0178; Margaret Sherbondy, Jamestown, fourth, 2.9727; William Beall, New Castle, fifth, 2.9428.

Frank Douds, Beaver, sixth, 2.9145; Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis., seventh, 2.8785; Paul Gamble, Sharon, eight, 2.8492; Elliott Sellar, Brookline, Mass., ninth, 2.7881; Ben Gelfand, Farrell, tenth, 2.7685; Florence Groth, Shaker Heights, O., eleventh, 2.7636; Doris Goff, New Wilmington, twelfth, 2.7272.

Frances Parker, Jackson Center, thirteenth, 2.7168; Dorothy Thompson, New Wilmington, fourteenth, 2.6290; Ruth Hastings, Franklin, fifteenth, 2.6083; and Harriet Buchholz, Sharon, sixteenth, 2.6000.

Miss Reeher, leading student in her class numbering 85 seniors, is a member of Theta Upsilon sorority. She has taken leading parts in a large number of dramatic productions, is a member of Masquers, dramatic fraternity, has been a member of her class athletic teams, and has served on student governing committees.

VIRGINIA REEHER

Kocheran, a member of Kappa Phi Lambda, has been a star forward on Westminster basketball teams for four seasons, receiving all-conference mention two different years. This season he was second in scoring on the Titan court team. Kocheran was sports editor of the yearbooks, a member of the athletic council, and president of the varsity lettermen's club.

Miss Adams is a member of Theta Upsilon sorority, active in journalism, and on offcer on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. Beall is a member of Phi Pi Phi fraternity. Miss Sherbondy is a member of Chi Omega.

ON RADIO PROGRAM TONIGHT

Five co-eds, all members of Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority are on the second radio program of the Westminster series over station WKBN, Youngstown, tonight at 9:15. They are Doris Shawkey, Elizabeth Macklin, Thelma Edwards, Dorothy Hopwood, and Mary Jane Stunkard.

WILLIAMS HAS TALENTED GROUP OF MUSIC MAKERS

"Your happiness is our success—and this is ol' George Williams and his band broadcasting from the New China Restaurant in the heart of Play House Square in Cleveland."

Such is the greeting heard nightly over the air from Station WTAM as George Williams and his nationally famous orchestra provide a half hour of real dance music to thousands of listeners.

Williams has the oldest broadcasting orchestra in Cleveland, having been heard over WTAM and WHK since radio made its auspicious debut.

Featuring the Williams band is "Frenchy" Devereaux, French-Canadian golden voiced songster whose charming voice has thrilled radio listeners for years.

Others of note in the famous outfit are "Jimmy Walls," another soloist; the saxophone singers, Andy De Biase, Johnnie Caspar and George, himself; Tony Ambrose, accordion player de luxe, Maude Ashton, bass artist; Billy Roberts, comedian and banjo ace; and Ralph Sagataba, eccentric drummer.

Local interest is focused on this band of music makers as "George" is a Sharon boy and his band members are all residents of Sharon, Farrell, Youngstown, and New Castle.

Students of Westminster can be assured of a real program of pleasing, musical harmonies when this orchestra appears here for the annual Junior Prom, April 22 at the gymnasium.

CONSERVATORY GROUPS BUSY

Rehearsal for the newly organized Girl's Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Florence Mae Thomas, was held on Thursday evening, April 7, at the conservatory of music.

About forty girls had their voices tested and classified. The schedule for the remainder of the year will include radio work and a spring concert. This group will form the basis of a larger club for next year. Any girl who can sing and is interested, is welcome at the rehearsals.

The college male chorus, composed of 16 voices, had a very successful try-out last Thursday afternoon, April 7, under the leadership of Prof. Alan B. Davis.

Gordon Balch Nevin will be the concert organist at the Carnegie Music Hall, Pittsburgh, on Saturday evening, April 23, and on Sunday afternoon, April 24.

Both of Mr. Nevin's concerts will be broadcaster from station KDKA.

WOMEN'S VARSITY DEBATES SETON HILL IN NEAR FUTURE

Westminster women s debating team will meet Seton Hill College in a debate on "Capitalism". The debate will be held here and the women will uphold the affirmative side of the question. The team for that evening is composed of Jean Miller, Gretchen Welch, and Martha Holliday.

On Thursday evening the team headed by Allene Miller will uphold the negative side of the question in a debate with Geneva college. Members of this team are Allene Miller, Virginia Boyd, and Harriet Robinson.

The last debate scheduled for the Westminster women will be held the last part of April.

ALUMNI ENJOY FIRST PROGRAM OVER WKBN

Forty alumni have sent return cards to the News Bureau telling of their enjoyment of the first radio program of the college over station WKBN, Youngstown, O., last Tuesday night.

Cards came in from Toledo, O., Pittsburgh, New Castle, Youngstown, O., New Wilmington, East Liverpool, O., Poland, O., Girard, O., Akron, O., Coraopolis, Erie, and Emporium.

The alumni liked the address by Dr. Galbreath very much and enjoyed the musical numbers by the varsity quartet and by Professor Davis. Cards have been sent to prospects and alumni in the station territory advertising tonight's broadcast.

CAMPUS CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

Mrs. Harold Black will be hostess to the Campus Club on Friday afternoon, April 15.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Gilbert Taylor, Mrs. E. H. Freeman, Miss Mildred Ailman, Miss Corrine Mercer, Miss Florence White, and Mrs. Harold Black.

"Taming Of The Shrew" To Be Presented Friday Night

CORRECTION

Robert N. Jones, Sharon, and W. Herbert Smith, New Castle, were on the honor roll for the first semester. An error was made in the Holcad last week when two other names were included by mistake.

SECOND PROGRAM TO BE BROADCAST TUESDAY EVENING

CO-ED SONGSTERS GIVE FEATURE SELECTIONS

Westminster college will broadcast its second radio program from station WKBN, Youngstown, O., on Tuesday, April 12 at 9:15 p. m. The half-hour program will include singing, instrumental music, and a short address.

Professor C. W. McKee, head of the department of economics and business administration, will speak on "Collegiate Education for Business." Professor McKee will outline the professional aspects of business, pointing out how other professions demand intensive training and how business is gradually insisting on specialized training.

The Co-Ed Trio, composed of Dorothy Hopwood, Chestnut Ridge; Elizabeth Macklin, Bessemer; and Thelma Edwards, North East, will sing both popular and classical numbers. Mary Jane Stunkard, Fredonia, will be accompanist on the program. The four girls are all students in the music department at Westminster.

Instrumental music will feature Doris Shawkey, Polk, who will play a number of piano solos, and Edgar Schaffer who will entertain with trumpet selections.

W. E. BROOKS WRITES BIOGRAPHY OF LEE

"Lee of Virginia", is the title of a biography of the distinguished Confederate general, recently published by Doctor William E. Brooks, of Morgantown, West Virginia.

Firmly convinced that obedience to conscience, rather than mere courafe, was the quality which made the Southern hero one of the greatest of Americans, Dr. Brooks traces Lee's career with a view toward giving us a new interpretation of the man himself, a new appreciation of his achievements. No longer, says Dr. Brooks, can the South claim Lee for herself, for the North has come to a new understanding of Lee, the man, and gladly pays tribute to the glory of his achievements, and to the even greater glory of his personality.

A Westminster graduate of the class of 1900, Dr. Brooks received his theological training at Princeton Seminary, and has had a long and distinguished career as a preacher.

During the war, he was a director of the Army Y. M. C. A., and served as chaplain at Camp Crave. He has been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Morgantown for many years, and is a member of the General Council of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Brooks is a well-known contributor of poems and articles to some of the leading magazines. His latest work, "Lee of Virginia", has been favorably reviewed, and is recognizer as a real contribution to history.

ALUMNI ATTEND CLEVELAND DINNER

Fifty alumni attended the fellowship dinner held on Cleveland, Friday, April 8.

Special features of the evening were musical numbers by the Westminster quartet, and by Prof. Alan B. Davis. Dr. R. F. Galbreath gave a brief talk.

Officers re-elected for the coming year were Mr. Frank Scott, '84, president; and Mrs. Reed Veazey, '02, secretary-treasurer.

Alumni who attended from New Wilmington were: Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Mr. A. A. McDonald, and Dr. S. E. Calhoun.

NOVEL PRODUCTION BENEFITS YEAR BOOK FUND

When the junior class presents its modern dress and modern speech version of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" on Friday night, at the Community house, it will mark a novel departure by Westminster thespians.

Under direction of Professor A. T. Cordray, director of the Little Theatre, the juniors will attempt to modernize the Elizabethan play without losing any of the comedy and effectiveness of the hilarious original.

SMITH

HERRIOTT

Leading roles will be taken by Thomas Herriott, New Wilmington, as Baptista; Helen Baerman, Pittsburgh, as Katharina; Ruth Wagoner, Sharon, as Bianca; and Herbert Smith, New Castle, as Petruchio.

Others in the production include: Willis McGill, New Wilmington; Don Parkinson, Ellwood City; Otto Pearsall, New Castle; Edwin Swartz, Hickory; Wilson Miller, Leechburg; Harriette Robinson, Newburgh, N. Y.; Helen Thomas, Sharon; Chauncey Goodchild, New Castle; and Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh.

Faculty, college, and community are asked to support this junior class production, the proceeds of which will be added to the Argo fund.

Admission is fifty cents per person.

HEINRICH LAUDS SPIRITUAL VALUE OF GHANDI'S LIFE

Rev. John Heinrich, class of '09, spoke on Ghandi, the great Hindu leader, at the chapel service, last Sabbath evening. Rev. Heinrich told of Ghandi's leadership, his respect for the English, and theirs for him.

Rev. Heinrich pointed out that Ghandi has made the finest combination of religion and politics that any man ever has and that he is very much interested in the truth, aside from scientific truth.

Throughout his speech Rev. Heinrich emphasized Ghandi's cooperation with the English government and discussed how the break between the two countries resulted from the British violence against an Indian crowd. Ghandi also attempted to keep peace between the Mohammedans and Hindus.

Rev. Heinrich spoke in chapel Monday morning telling of the Boy Scout Camp in India, the racial problems which arise among the groups, and how racial prejudices are overcome in the Christian camps.

Rev. Neale read the scripture and led in the morning prayer of the chapel service. Dr. Samuel Elliott was also a guest on the platform.

LEISURE TIME DISCUSSED AT Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Howard Robinson led the discussion of the topic, "How may I make the best use of my leisure time?" in the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Wednesday evening.

In the discussion it was pointed out that some of the most valuable hours of our lives are our leisure hours for in them we take the time to assimilate what we have learned in our regular working hours and so are able to formulate our own philosophies of life.

The election of officers which was originally scheduled for this meeting was postponed until the next week. All the members of the Y. M. C. A. are asked to be present at this meeting tomorrow evening to take part in the annual election of officers.

A FORMAL PROM

The junior class has taken a great step forward in deciding upon a formal promenade. Rather than sponsor just another all-college dance, the juniors voted last week to have a formal prom for the class, with members of the alumni and of other classes welcome.

Westminster was, until a year or so ago, lacking in sufficient social events of magnitude to provide students with correct social training. Informal dances, while very enjoyable, do not offer half the opportunities for learning the niceties of public behavior as formal affairs do.

A formal dance, with patrons and patronesses, chaperons, a grand march, beautiful evening gowns, men dressed in formal clothes....these will make for a college memory long to be cherished. The publicity will be of higher quality. The class herein sets an excellent precedent for others to follow.

GHANDI AND THE WORLD

Rev. Mr. J. C. Heinrich, '09, gave to life a finer meaning, and to the student body he gave a broader viewpoint when, on Sabbath evening, in regular Sabbath chapel worship, he told of Ghandi and his spiritual value to India and to the world.

Rev. Mr. Heinrich offered no apology, nor did he need to, for speaking of Ghandi at a Christian meeting. The leader of India in its dark hour, as the speaker pointed out, has formed a background for Christian preaching which has been of inestimable value.

More than this, Ghandi has shown by his life that living a religion is more difficult but more far-reaching in power and influence than quoting creeds or quibbling over doctrines.

WESTMINSTER ON THE AIR

The start of the Westminster College series of radio programs over station WKBN, Youngstown, last Tuesday night was one which pleased alumni ,students, and friends. The program was varied, and gave promise of entertainment and enlightenment for listeners in for the next six weeks.

The progressiveness of the New Westminster in using radio as another means of reaching the public is heartening. Those who thought a few years ago that the liberal arts college was a relic of the crinoline days and the mauve decade, now realize that the general culture of a liberal arts college is perhaps the one thing which stands a man or woman in good stead when the whole world of economics seems wrong.

Radio station WKBN deserves the thanks of the college for its cooperation in the matter. Courtesy and thoughtfulness have characterized the actions of the station officials in all dealings with college representatives.

Students of Westminster college might take their cue from this recent innovation of the personnel department. Mr. Johns and his co-workers are doing their best to make Westminster known to possible students. The radio broadcasts will reach more young people than any other plan yet tried.

But the college students themselves, can do more to boost their school than anyone else. When school closes in a few weeks, Westminster young people will go to all parts of the surrounding country. A few enthusiastic words to high school friends and young people back home cost nothing in effort and reap much in full enrollment.

BOOK REVIEW

The Colonel's Daughter, by Richard Aldington. New York: Doubleday,Doran & Co. $2.50.

The baiting of mediocrity has descended to an irritatingly reduntant pastime. It may be hinted that the monotony may be laid at the feet of the camouflaged mediocrity of the storytellers themselves. Revolting from the greyness of Philistia the effect is only a partial if boisterous inversion. Droves of quite ordinary boys and girls go to pieces with unflagging inevitability at Mr. Van Vechten's parties and Mr. Hemingway's bars. Like legions of others Richard Aldington fell out of step at the Great Catastrophe. In cynical indignation with wholesale slaughterings he threw Death of a Hero at the lion. The shower of vitriol washed over commanders, profiteers, onto Britan's social structure. Death of a Hero was an epic in decadence as are all the commendable writings of the here and now. Under the makeshift banner of Imagism he trotted on the skirts of wife H. D. The guns and smoke still hung on in the minor effort of Roads to Glory, then comes this corrosive pamphlet on the England of the middle classes and how they molded the trivial destiny of Georgina the colonel's daughter.

Colonel Smithehs, never a bright child, early gave signs of his military vocation. With Georgy at twenty-six dimly resenting her life as a Girl Guide, Lt.-Col. Frederich Smithers and wife Alvina and daughter Georgy dwell in a ruinous nook of England under the eyes of Sir Horace Stimms, Bart. The new parson is the first bit of fun the parish has had for some time. Due to the machinations of Mrs. Eastcourt—one hundred and eighty pounds of monogamus and matriachal flab, possessed of an unknown reserve of oleoginous spite—Georgy and the Rev. Carrington become the innocent objects of that lovely institution, the gossip of the countryside. At precisely the same moment the amiable old viper waddles to the Gargauntuan ears of the stuffy citizenry a brigter morsel breaks in the scandalous shape of the heralded offspring of Miss Lizzie Judd, our Colonel's cook. Against Georgy's dominance as a social being by the Great God Keeping-Up-Appearances strug g l e s her first honest emotions of instinctive sympathy, pity and tenderness for this bedraggled and miserable scullion. Georgy's partner in the Lizzie case appears Mr. Purfleet, a pedantio, congenital busybody who acts as Grand Negotiator. An ex post facto marriage begrudges a promising melodrama but Purfleet continues an abortive flirtation with the uninitiated Georgy with the help of his erudite and carefully laundered doctrinaire. She divines and eligibe husband. He departs for the continent.

Gaahad descends on the Smither's cottage as the traditionally bronzed arm of the Empire, Geoffrey Hunter-Payne. Georgy feels brathless and exalted and a little ashamed; Georgy is 'really-and-truly' in love. The entire village has a sort of illustrated Christmas card feeling about Miss Georgy, and wishes her as much luck as if she had been the robin in the snow under ye olde English church. Of all God's creatures Geoffrey alone remains unobservant. In his holiday from the Colonies she is merely 'the White Girl'—a sporting pal.

Georgy's friend, a contemporary maiden who peddles her sex appeal, invites Geoffrey and Georgy to a contemporary party of shingled and shorn girls and young men who gobble faintly, like emasculated turkeys. These run about and make offensive remarks meant to be overheard, kiss one another and in general comport themseves as befit the cream of culture. In Purfleet's own words, 'gingerbread supermen with the gilt knocked off early in life.'

Fate plays yet another nasty trick on Georgy. The wholly irresistable friend and Geoffrey run down to the Riviera. Colonel Smithers dies of pneumonia. Mrs. Smithers and daughter are embarrassingly penniless.

....Mr. Purfleet becomes aware of a dark figure toiling up the long hill on a bicycle dressed in rather shabby semi-mourning....retreating slowly round a corner, at last hidden by a hedge.

Richard Aldington has not penned a masterpiece; the duty of criticism is not intricate on the aesthetic side. The almost fanatical sociological dessication is not a pioneer effort. The glory resides in the satirically hacked individuals who creator Aldington cuts in cheap, mean outlines. Only in elementary moments does humanity receive a crumb of praise—the defeated Georgy, glimpsing thru tears a panorama of virtue and celibacy, the Colonel's burial without the sound of a Last Post.

The timeless irony of the epilogue in allegory nobly redeems the oppressively conscious epigrams of the body.

The appropriate and asinine judgment would seductively slide into much ritual: 'Mr. Aldington sacrifies balance and permanent worth by his violent dislike of the class and of the system he lampoons, thus his characters are nothing more than calculated cut-outs bent into restricted actions.' Olypian pronouncement with all its implications I shall delete as I have no well-lit conceptions of the precise borderline between distortion and reality due to a sad lack of concrete conceptions of the nature of reality.

Coming about the day of The Way of All Flesh it woul have raised Victorian eyebrows to an unprecedented height but to-day time is recorded after Aldous Huxley. —H. H.

Douds, sixth honor student, is an officer in Phi Pi Phi fraternity, and has been editor of the Holcad and a member of varsity debating teams. Fuller has won letters as a member of the football team for three seasons and a member of the track team.

Gambie, a member of Kappa Phi Lambda, completed his college course in three and one-half years. He took leading roles in a number of dramatic productions. Sellar, a member of Kappa Phi Lambda, has been a member of debate teams and has been president of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

Ben Gelfand, a science major, has taught evenings in the Hebrew school in Sharon. He plans to study medicine within two or three years. Florence Groth, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, has been a member of class basketball, tennis, and water polo teams; was associate editor of the yearbook; was May Queen; and has held a number of offices on student governing boards.

Miss Goff, a member of Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority has been a reporter and associate editor on the newspaper staff, and has been a member of class athletic teams. Miss Parker is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Miss Thompson, a member of Kappa Alpha Alpha, has been a member of class basketball teams, and is a member of the honorary mathematice fraternity. Miss Hastings, Franklin, completed her course in three and one-half years. Miss Buchholz, a member of Alpha Chi Omega, transfered to Westminster from Mt. Union College.

Kocheran and Fuller are the first major sport athletes to win places on the honor roll since 1927 when Hugh Gamble, Sharon, captain and center on the basketball team, was valedictorian.

GRAND OPENING AT WYATT'S LODGE

There was a "Hot Time in the Old Town" Friday night, when students, faculty members, alumni, town folks and out-of-town visitors united to help Mr. and Mrs. Mattocks open the newly remodeled Wyatt Lodge. Dance music was furnished by the Golden Ribbon Harmony Boys. Dansing, singing, and a generous intermission were the features of the evening. The college's own Boswell Sisters: Dorothy Hopwood, Thelma Edwards, and Elizabeth Macklin sang a few popular selections, gathering for themselves much applause.

CHI OMEGA

Miss Bertha Zeigler, national inspector, visited Chi Omega sorority, Monday, April 11.

BIBLE CLASS ELECTION

After the devotional service of the Women's and Men's Bible Classes Sabbath morning, which was led by Dr. Galbreath, a business meeting was held.

Both Bible classes have combined and will meet together from now on with one set of officers in charge. The following officers were elected: Wilbur Christy, president; Dorothy Grant, vice president; Mildred Ralston, secretary; and Howard Robinson, treasurer.

JUNIOR PROM

Four Meets Are Listed For Titan Tracksters

GRAHAM'S CHARGES LOOK GOOD IN OPENING TRIALS

BY AL HARPER

Westminster is proud of her famous basketbal teams, and justly so. Looking back over last years track records one can't help but feel just as proud of her track team. Track, while it may not be as popular as basketball and football, is a major sport. Last year Westminster won all of the dual meets and lost only to Geneva in the Tri-State Conference Meet. Teams to fall before Coach Graham's tracksters were; Allegheny, Grove City, and Bethany.

Coach Graham is very optimistic in viewing the coming season. There are gaps to be filed due to the graduation of such stars as Peresenyi and Hemer. Three new records were established for the local track last year. Hemer, star rush man, set a new record in the 220 yard dash. His time was :22.5. George Hamas, weight man gave the shot a nice little heave of 41 feet ¾ inches for a new record and Bud Brownlee added another record to his string when he threw the hammer 149 feet.

In the Tri-State Conference at Geneva Colege, Brownlee broke the record in the hammer throw. He was also winner of the individual scorer trophy having won four first places.

The varsity track schedule at Westminster will contain four and perhaps five meets in which Titan athletes may exhibit their ability this spring.

The first meet in which Westminster will be represented is the Penn Relays in Philadelphia on April 29 and 30. Captain Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven, star hurdler and hammer thrower, will carry the colors of the Titans in this carnival.

Other meets already scheduled include dual engagements with Bethany at Bethany, W. Va., on May 14, and with Geneva at Beaver Falls on May 21. A third dual meet is being carded, probably for the home track.

The Titans will close the season with the Tri-State Conference championship meet at Beaver Falls on May 30.

Titans Win In Benefit Fray

DEFEAT SHARON TEAM FOR SCHOOL SHOE FUND

Some idea of the power of Westminster College's tri-state championship basketball team of the past winter was given fans of the Shenango valley Friday night, when the Collegians, a barnstorming aggregation, invaded Sharpsville High court and walked off with a 47-32 win over Shontz and Myers, Sharon's all-star combine. The Sharpsville school shoe fun benefitted from the net receipts.

The Collegians with six members of the Titan squad in their lineup, had things about their own way against the Clothiers, who found size too much to overcome.

With the rangy "Bud" Brownlee tossing 'em when he thought it was necessary, the Titans took the lead from the outset and were never headed. They kept an eight point margin until the last part of the fray when they stepped out to pile up the margin.

Brownlee's 20 points and the work of Phil Rice and Charley Bair featured the night. Score:

Buckeye Scribe Scores Titans

FRANK WARD TAKES RAP AT TOURNEY PLAY

Frank B. Ward, sports editor of the Youngstown Vindicator, scored several college basketball players and teams, Westminster for one, who enter independent tournaments and walk off with the prizes.

"That basketball tournaments in all classes of play—especially in independent circles—have been coming in for much adverse criticism in recent years, is admitted. Among the independents, the evidence is the fact that they are not truly representative of the field thy claim to represent.

In too many instances—especially to be noted in this particular section—college teams enter tournaments under mercantile banners, and defeat teams that are more truly representative. For example, last year, the crack Westminster College team, under the name of a mercantile house, won the East Liverpool meet. The team also won the Penn-Ohio and Sebring tournaments. This year pracitically the same situation obtained, especially at East Liverpool."

Other Violations

"Westminster teams during the past few years have been of the very first flight. Practically the same condition has been charged against some of the members of the Mount Union College and Muskingum college teams of last year.

It is a rather delicate matter to touch, if one wishes to avoid being classed as a "crab", but there is truth in the accusation and in justice to those boys who play on truly independent teams, the practice is not only unfair, but insidious and will in time postively wreck the tournament idea.

There is no credit for the college star, or aggregation of college stars who enter a tournament and defeat indepent teams made up of boys who work for a living. College players get the best instruction money will buy, they have stipulated times for practice, and the best moral encouragement possible."

TITAN TRACK TEAM TO HAVE FLASHY SUITS

When the Westminster track team cavorts on cinder path and field this spring, the scanticlads will have one of the most flashy uniforms in history.

Royal blue wool jerseys with a white "W", and royal blue silkeen trunks trimed in white silk braid will give style and color to the team. Sweat suits will also be of bright blue.

With a wealth of good material, both veteran and freshman, the Titans should continue their good record of last season when three dual-meet opponents were defeated and a second place was won in the Tri-State Conference championships.

"WHITEY" SILJANDER ENTERS ROLE OF BUTLER IN PLAY

Doffing a basketball uniform, Whitey Siljander, ace basketeer, will don the raiment of an English butler in the Junior class play "Taming the Shrew", which will be staged in the Community Hall, Friday evening.

SILJANDER

Whitey, never appearing before the footlights, may spill the soup or beans but that can be excused when he sheds the outer garments for a track uniform.

Siljander, a member of the Junior class, is one of the most versatile athletes ever to don a Titan uniform.

ENSEMBLE PROGRAM

Prof. Murray will direct an ensemble instrumental program on Thursday, April 14, at 8:15 in the Sabbath school room of the United Presbyterian church.

letters in varsity competition, Kocheran, salutatorian, being a four year member of the basketball team. Fuller was a varsity tackle in football and handled the weights during track season. He has also served as an assistant to Jack Hulme, director of physical education.

TITAN-ANTICS

Tri-State Conference officials, to our way of thinking, handed athletes a "break" in a platinum platter with the passing of the new rule forbiddng athletics scholarships. Thy have left a loophole in the code by which they might crawl through in the clause which states that scholarships could be granted only to scholars.

And here is the loophole. College athletes of any calibre considered worthy of varsity competition can have grades given to them that they can really write home about whether they attend classes, fishing, educate or co-educate themselves. They will be scholars.

College profs will naturally say that they would never consider the boosting of grades to scholarship rating. But they are only human. Humans like to see winners and winners they will have if they have to raise grades to do it.

The plan, no doubt, is a good one if it will work. And it will work if the powers granting the scholarships will do their job as they conscientiously should do. But can they and still retain the favor og the ran ran Alumni, students, and townspeople who are either strongly pro or con in regards to athletics. We are hoping.

Frank Ward, sports editor of the Youngstown Vindicator, has the right idea about tournaments. It isn't quite fair to independent squads for college trained athletes to compete against the less experienced teams of the independent ranks. Am I so far wrong?

However, Westminster can be commended for the willingness of its athletes to engage in benefit games such as the one staged in Snarpsvile for the needy school children. A nice sum was realized with which the charitable organizations of that community can purchase shoes for the needy kids who are trotting to school with linoleum for shoe soles. We hope they can see their way clear to buy a pair of No. 8 clodhoppers for yours truly, too.

Don Cleland, football letterman and track star entered the "old men's class," recently when he was married. Congrats and the best of luck. Next?

W. A. A. INITIATES SIX NEW MEMBERS

Initiation of the six new members of W. A. A., postponed from April 9, will take place on Saturday afternoon, April 16, following the sport spread which will be held near Neshannock Falls.

The new initiates are Elizabeth Curtis, Dorothy Sellar, Florence Groth, Patricia Jones, Helen Snyder, and Martha Byers.

Committees in charge of the affair include: initiation, Ebba Sizer, chairman, Helen Roach, and Martha Johnston; hiking, Anne Mae Leyshon, chairman, Martha Morrow, and Lola Sewall; and refreshments, Mary Morrow, chairman, Dorothy Patch, and Margaret Wible.

Frats to Engage In Archery Golf

JACK HULME DEVISES NOVEL INTRA-MURAL SPORT

Jack Hulme announces that he has completed his plans for the installation of Archery in the intramural sport program. The type of Archery used is known as the "William Tell Sport". It is played very much like golf but instead of using golf balls and golf clubs the players use a bow and arrow. The targets are scattered around at different points and the archers have to put their arrow in the bulls eye of each target before going on to the next. The targets will be numbered and all the contestants will line up at a certain point and shoot at the first target. In some cases the target will be so far away that it will take a couple of shots to get within shooting distance. After all the archers have hit the bulls eye on the first target they move on to the second. The fact that the man the greatest distance away from the target always shoots first prevents anyone from being in front of the shooter. When the course has been completed the archer with the lowest score will be the winner.

This sport will be played on the competitive basis and both pledges and active members of the fraternities are eligible to take part. Due to the large number that will be out for this sport Jack plans to have, first, a practice and instruction period and then have eliminations within the five fraternities that will be represented. The winners of these eliminations will represent their fraternity in the interfraternity elimination.

The equipment will be furnished by the school and Hulme will have charge of the instruction and the eliminations.

Fifteen Gridders Report In Initial Workouts

LAWTHERS GETS LINE ON NEXT SEASON'S PROSPECTS

Spring football training started at Westminster under Coach John D. Lawther Saturday afternoon when 15 members of the Titan squad reported. Due to inclement weather, the first drill was held in the gymnasium.

Lawther plans to continue the spring drills this week, realizing that the fall training camp period may be shortened for financial reasons. The Titan mentor wants to get a line on available material and also to get the men thinking of football plays which will be used in next Fall's campaign.

The majority of the candidates for the Titan team are members of the freshman class, 21 first-year students having been members of the squad last fall. Lawther hopes to develop from these yearlings a better outfit than that which represented Westminster last season. Of the men on last fall's squad, only Cebula, Fuller, and Michaels will be lost.

The Titans have an eight-game schedule for next fall, with five games carded away from home and three at home. Trips to Washington, D.C., Olean, N. Y., and New Concord, O., to play George Washington ,St. Bonaventure, and Muskingum, and contests with Grove City, Geneva, Waynesburg, Thiel, and Slippery Rock provide a well-balanced card.

Last evening, despite the rain, thirty candidates reported for the workouts. Uphill charging for the development of the leg muscles was practiced at this session.

It was found by Coach Lawther than many of the gridders have grown consideraby and have taken on a great deal of weight.

Workouts will continue for ten days and then will be continued at the opening of school in September.

Seminary Still Attracts Westminster Graduates

CLASS PRESIDENTS ARE WESTMINSTER ALUMNI

Old grads still like to joke about the "good old days" when Westminster was a "nickle-in-the-slot" machine, for the wholesale manufacture of preachers. In their day, it was not at all unusual for ninety percent of the men in the graduating class to enter the ministry. In reality, there were few professions open, save ministry or teaching, and one became a preacher from inclination —and necessity.

In recent years, the situation has become reversed. Other professions have crowded to the front, and the college graduate has a wide field from which to choose. However, in spite of the attraction of other professions the ministry still holds its old-time, dignified appeal to the Westminster gaduate.

A survey of a recent catalog from Pittsburgh-Xenia theological seminary reveals the fact that Westminminster college ranks second in the enrollment of students from colleges all over the country. Muskingum, with a proprortionately larger college enrollment, boasts of 17 students in this seminary, whole Westminster's quota is 11.

Enrolled in the senior class are: Paul Glenn, Butler, of the Class of 1928; James Guthrie, Conoquenessing, '29; and Clyde Myers, East Pittsburgh, also of the Class of 1928.

Those in the middle class are: James Blackwood, Cleveland, 1930; Harry Rose, New Wilmington, '30; and William Turnbull, Elizabeth, '30.

In the junior, or beginning class are: Wesley Anderson, New Wilmington, of the Class of 1931; Milton Boos, Kenmore, New York, '30; William Gamble, Butler, '31; Richard Liston, New Galilee, '31; and Donald McClure, Blairsville, of the Class of 1928.

Presidents of all three classes are Westminster men, James Guthrie, '30, president of the senior class, has been class president for all three years. William Turnbull, '30 is head of the middle class, and Donald McClure, '28, is president of the junior class.

Other class oficers are: Paul Glenn, '28, secretary and treasurer of the senior class; Wesley Anderson, '31, vice president of the junior class; and William Gamble, '31, secretary and treasurer of the junior class.

Westminster men enrolled in the graduate school are: The Rev. Frank Caughey, of the class of 1911, formerly instructor in Bible at Westminster; the Rev. Wilson Grove, of the class of 1900; the Rev. Louis Lash, '17; the Rev. Charles Littell, '95; and the Rev. George Martin, '20;

Several Westminster men are also students "in absentia". Those taking courses of this sort are: The Rev. Joseph Acheson, '07, Cairo, Egypt; the Rev. Alfred Laing, '02, Fresno, Ohio; and the Rev. Robertson Wright, '26, Elderton, Pa.

The Rev. John McNaugher, D.D., president of the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary, is also a Westminster man, a graduate of the class of 1880. A man of unusual scholarship and distinction, he is author of several books on religious education, his latest work being "A History of Theological Education and its Ancestries."

DON CLELAND, '31 WEDS POPULAR NEW CASTLE GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dean, New Castle, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Donald L. Cleland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cleland, Portersville, Pa. . . . . .

The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the Presbyterian church, Sheakleyville, Pa., with the Rev. Daryl Davis officiating.

The bride is a graduate of the Shenango Valley nurses training school, of the year 1929, and was formerly night supervisor at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Mr. Cleland is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1931, and is now instructor and assistant coach in the Etna Senior High school. He is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

DR. SCOTT THOMPSON HEADS COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

The Rev. F. Scott Thompson, D.D. United Presbyterian missionary of Assiut College, Egypt, has recently been appointed chairman of the committee on Education, of the Egypt Inter-Mission Council.

Dr. Thompson is a graduate of the Class of 1903, and received the degree of doctor of divinity from Westminster in 1927.

DR .CHARLES ADAMS IS NOW A MEMBER OF NEAR EAST COUNCIL

Dr. C. C. Adams, president of the Theological Seminary, Cairo, Egypt, is a corresponding member of the committee on Relations with Ancient Oriental churches, a sub-committee of the Near East Christian Council.

Dr. Adams is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1905, and received his degree of doctor of theology from Westminster in 1928.

HOMEWOOD CHURCH HONORS PASTOR

Members of the United Presbyterian church, Homewood, Pa., honored Dr. and Mrs. George A. Long by a congregational reception given on Tuesday evening, March 29.

Primarily planned as an expression of appreciation for Dr. Long's decision to remain in the Homewood pastorate, it was also for the purpose of welcoming the new members received into the church on Easter.

Dr. Elliott Donates $500 To College

LOCAL PATRON AGAIN HELPS BUSINESS DEPT.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Elliott, local patron and friend of Westminster, has donated $500 in cash for the work of the department of economics and business administration of the college, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, announces.

This brings Dr. Elliott's gifts to the business department to $11,000 in cash, books, and office equipment. In addition to these gifts, Dr. Elliott is also the donor of the beautiful pipe organ in the college chapel. Dr. Elliott's donations and gifts made possible the new secretarial course started at Westminster last September and his continued interest in the college has lent enthusiasm to the work of faculty members and officials.

Junior Play Pleases Large Group Friday

BAERMAN AND SMITH PLAY EXCELLENT STELLAR ROLES

Perhaps if old William Shakespeare had been in the audience on Friday night he might have had serious difficulties in recognizing the Junior class version of his famous comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew", but after the first ten minutes of shocked surprise, he would have settled back in his chair, wearing a smile of quiet approbation.

He would have been totally unable to recognize Petruchio in his outlandish rig, had it not been for the splendid spirit evidenced by Herbert Smith, portraying the role of this famous character.

Baptista's method of dealing with the suitors would have been a bit of a surprise, but Tom Herriott, as Baptista, was ideal in this role.

Ruth Wagoner, as Bianca, was sweet, timid, and typical. Helen Baerman imitated the cursed but repentant "Kate" to perfection.

The idea of a negro valet would have been a new one on him, but he would have conceded that Wilson Miller was a great improvement over the original Petruchio.

Skilled in the technique of play production Shakespeare would have appreciated the tremendous amount of words expended by Mr. Cordray and his stage assistants on such novel scenery as a hand painted garden, and wooden automobiles.

NEVIN SCHEDULED AS ORGAN SOLOIST IN CARNEGIE HALL

Gordon Balch Nevin, nationally-known pipe organ player and professor of pipe organ at Westminster, will be the official soloist in the Carnegie Hall concerts on April 23 and 24 in Pittsburgh. Professor Nevin's playing will be broadcast over Pittsburgh radio stations.

Professor Nevin is the composer of most of the well-known modern organ numbers, and has appeared in many large cities as a soloist as well as having played over many radio stations.

QUARTET SCHEDULED IN YOUNGSTOWN AND STRUTHERS SCHOOLS

Prof. Alan B. Davis has announced the following program for the college quartet: April 19, Rayen High School, Youngstown, Ohio; and April 24, Struthers, Ohio.

On April 17, the quartet sang in several churches in Erie. While there the quartet were guests of Rev. McKnight, pastor of the M. E. church, and Rev. Spears of the U. P. church.

REV, H. H. McCONNELL TELLS OF SUMMER CONFERENCE PLANS

Dr. H. H. McConnell, pastor of the United Presbyterian church in Saint Louis, Mo., was a special speaker at chapel Thursday, April 7. He is a representative of the National Young People's Committee of the United Presbyterian church.

Dr. McConnell spoke concerning the National Young People's Convention to be held at Silver Bay on Lake George during the coming summer. He divided his talk into four phases: place, people, money, purpose.

The conference program as planned is one of unusual merit and includes among its speakers Dr. Charles L. Goodell, secretary of commission on Evangelism; Judge C. L. Moore; Jesse P. Robertson, noted singer; Rev. T. C. Pollock; and Westminster's president, Dr. R. F. Galbreath. The conference leaders are all well-known and leaders in their particular fields.

Dr. McConnell suggested that those unable to travel to the conference by train might "bum" in the "good ole thummer time".

As stated by the speaker, "The purpose of this conference is to bring us face to face with the problems of life and also to teach us to face Jesus." The theme of the conference, "For God and Country", centers about Christian citizenship.

I.N.A. Meets For Two Days At Haverford

NEXT YEAR'S MEET MAY BE HELD HERE

Haverford College, near Philadelphia, was the scene of the annual convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association last Friday and Saturday. Carl Snyder, business manager, rpresented Westminster at the convention.

Among the speakers at the various sessions were: W. B. Littell, president of Littell, Murray, Barnhill Inc., national college advertising representative; Harry Proctor, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; and J. E. Hanna, N. W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia.

At the formal banquet held Saturday evening, Will Irwin, famous war correspondent and magazine writer, and Dean Carl Ackerman of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, Columbia University, spoke.

Both the news and the editorial cups were awarded the Dickinsonian, Dickinson College weekly.

The fall convention will be held in November at Gettysburg College. The convention next spring will probably be held at Westminster.

LAWTHER AND ATHLETES ON RADIO TONIGHT

John D. Lawther, director of athletics and head coach of football and basketball at Westminster, will speak on the ideals and aims of athletics over radio station WKBN, Youngstown, tonight at 9:15. Lawther's talk will be part of the third of a series of broadcasts by Westminster over WKBN.

Homer Dishong, 225-pound tackle from Johnstown, will sing a number of tenor solos; Clem Lausberg, member of the foolball squad from Tarentum, will sing some bariton solos; and Ted Blanner, varsity guard in basketball and a golf champion of Western Pennsylvania, will play popular numbers on the piano.

Robert Rose, William Frack, Clem Lausberg, and Homer Dishong, all members of the grid squad, will form a quartet to sing on tonight's program.

Lawther, a graduate of Westminster, Columbia University, and New York University, has been an assistant professor of psychology and education on the Westminster faculty since 1924 and, with the exception of the 1930-31 year, has coached Titan basketball teams and football teams.

PROFESSOR EUWEMA TO SPEAK APRIL 26 OVER STATION WKBN

Professor Ben Euwema, head of the department of Englsh, will be the speaker on the Westminster radio program over station WKBN, Youngstown, O., on next Tuesday evening, April 26, at 9:15. Professor Euwema will speak on the subject, "The Value of Liberal Arts Training."

Professor Euwema was graduated from Calvin College in 1925, received his M. A. from the University of Michigan in 1926, was an instructor and graduate student at the Nniversity of Chicago from 1926 to 1928, and has been a member of the Westminster faculty since 1928.

Musical numbers will fill in the Westminster half hour program. The announcement of this part of the program will be made later.

GALBREATH TELLS KIWANIANS OF HIS EUROPEAN TRAVELS

Dr. R. F. Galbreath will speak on "My European Travels" at the meeting of the New Castle Kiwanis club at New Castle Wednesday. Dr. Galbreath recently spoke before the New Castle Rotary club on this same subject. He was a delegate to the Rotary International Convention in Vienna last year, representing the Pittsburgh Rotary club. Dr. Galbreath also served with the A. E. F. in 1918 in France, and has traveled in the Holy Lands.

WILBUR CHRISTY IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE Y.M.C.A.

Y. M. C. A. officers for the coming year were elected at the last meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in Browne Hall last Wednesday evening at 6:30.

The new officers are as follows: Wilbur Christy, president; Thomas McClure, vice-president; Hall Todd, secretary; and Bryce Yourd, treasurer. Installation will take place Wednesday, April 20.

George Winters then assumed charge of the meeting and there folowed a group discussion on the topic "Criticism of the Westminster Y. M. C. A."

Plan Campus Improvement This Summer

TENNIS COURTS ARE BEING MADE READY

Professor Baldwin Sears, business manager, has a number of plans for campus improvement of the college which will be started soon and will be continued throughout the summer.

The college has received prices on a concrete entrance way leading from South Market street to the gymnasium. When this entrance is completed, a road and a parking area will be built, and the road which now runs south to the front of the gymnasium will be eliminated.

Professor Sears announces that the college also plans to grade the lower campus, seed it, and possibly plant some bushes and trees. The college tractor has been overhauled, and the campus workmen will get to work at this project within the near future.

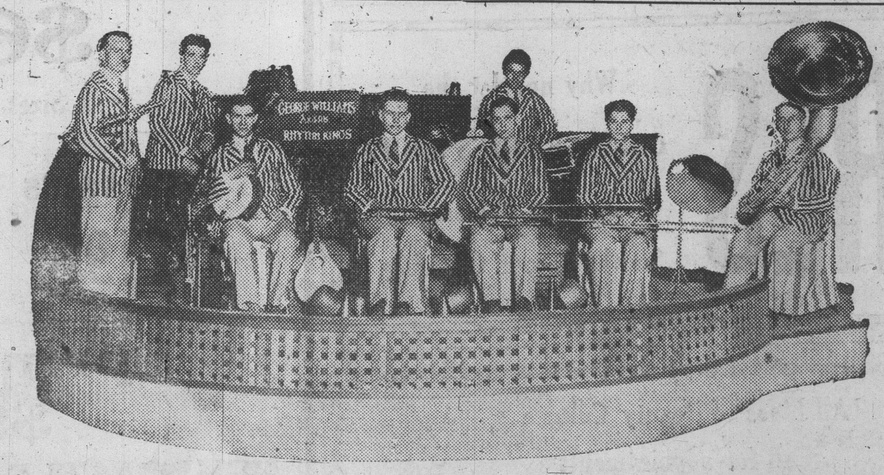
The varsity tennis courts re-surfaced and a new 10-foot wire backstop has been built around the two courts south of the gymnasium. The courts will be ready for the varsity team by the end of this week if work is not held up because of weather conditions.

Due to the uncertainty of the college building program, the proposed new battery of tennis courts on the south campus opposite the Thompson house have been abandoned. The courts south of the gym will be temporary, but will be graded and drained to be used for one or two more years until the building program for the upper campus is fully determined.

BROWNLEE TO SPEAK AT FARRELL HIGH CAGE BANQUET

Harry "Bud" Brownlee, Titan track captain and basketball star, will speak at the Boosters' Club banquet in honor of Farrell High School's basketball quintet. Brownlee will share the speaking honors with Jack Stoeber, athletic director of Thiel college.

GEORGE WILLIAMS AND HIS RHYTHM KINGS



Westminster's gymnasium will be scene of the school's first all-college formal dance next Friday night when the Juniors hold their formal Junior Prom. George Williams and his popular N.B.C. artists promise a full evening's program of the latest dance hits, presented in the famous Willians style.

Committee members in charge hint of flowers, soft lights and low music. Decorations will be carried out in a spring motif.

Reports from men's dorms and houses state that tuxedos have been under mattresses for the last two weeks. In the Hillside and sorority houses, gorgeous gowns hang from light fixtures, carefully marked, "Not to be touched."

Many Beautiful Gowns Will Feature Prom Friday Night

COLLEGE OFFICIALS TO ATTEND DINNER AT KISKIMINETAS

By special invitation from Kiskiminitis Academy, Dr. Galbreath and Mr. Johns, of the college personell department and Coach John Lawther will travel to Saltsburg, Wednesday, April 20. As a representative of Westminster, Dr. Galbreath will meet the student body of Kiski and speak briefly upon college prospects.

The trip to Kiski is one of a series of visits to schools made recently by Dr. Galbreath. On Friday, April 15, Dr. Galbreath and the college quartet visited the student assembly at New Castle high school. Accompanied by Dr. Sowash of New Wilmington, Dr. Galbreath spoke at Brookville high school, Monday, April 18.

During a recent trip to Pittsburgh, Dr. Galbreath spoke to the Christian Layman's Association, a representative body of Pittsburgh men and women, including a number of Westminster Alumni. He also gave an address before the Woman's Club of Dormont, Pa.

CO-ED DEBATE TEAM WILL MEET WEST VIRGINIA U. HERE

On Tuesday, April 28, the women's debate team of Westminster will meet the women's debate team from University of West Virginia in the Little Theatre.

West Virginia will uphold the affirmative side of the question. The negative team will be composed of Harriette Robinson, Helen Snyder, and Allene Miller.

Prof. Burroughs of Grove City will give the decision and criticize the debate.

HILLSIDE ADOPTS REGULATIONS FOR FIRE PREVENTION

EVELYN JUDSON IS APPOINTED AS FIRE-CHIEF

At a meeting of all Hillside girls last Tuesday night, it was announced that fire drills will be held regularly at an unannounced time. Rules for conduct during the drill are:

1. Wear a long coat and heavy shoes, and carry a towel.
2. Close all windows.
3. Turn the lights on.
4. Close the doors.
5. No talking or running during drills.

Heavy penalties will be imposed for violations or failure to respond to fire alarms. Evelyn Judson was appointed fire-chief and two girls from each corridor were named fire-captains.

The first drill was held last Tuesday night and all girls had filed outside within two minutes.

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS DIRECTED BY PROF. MURRAY

An ensemble musical program, under the direction of Professor Eldon C. Murray of the Conservatory of Music, was presented last Thursday evening in the Sabbath School room of the United Presbyterian church.

Those taking part in the program were: George Richardson, principal violinist; New Castle Civic Orchestra; Joseph Replogle, supervisor of instrumental music, New Castle schools; Roy Shird, principal flute player, New Castle orchestra; John Paton, music supervisor in New Castle schools; and Professor Eldon C. Murray.

The program consisted of numbers by Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, and Van Goens.

ISSUE CALLS FOR GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

Calls were issued Monday by Miss Nandeen Love, women's physical director, for all co-eds interested in tennis to report to her. Games will be played on the Phi Pi court.

PASTEL COLORS WILL PREVAIL AT FORMAL

Dame Fashion represented in the guise of Patous' and Poirrets' creations will promenade gaily in the college gym with its unique background of verdant smilax Friday evening, April 22, when George Williams and his Rhythm Kings, nationally famous orchestra, will provide music for the formal Junior Prom from 9 to 1 a. m.

The glimmering sheen of pastel colors will be found holding a prominent lead over the darker colors, although a fair number of Westminsters' co-eds have signified their intentions of wearing black and other darker-colored evening gowns.

Miss Florence Groth, president of Psi Nu, honorary journalistic fraternity, will be attractive in a gown of peach colored crepe with a sequin girdle. Black and white slippers and an evening wrap of the same colors as her slippers will complete the outfit.

The president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, Miss Jean Young, will wear a formal of blue crepe with a short red chiffon velvet jacket. The ensemble will be completed by red sandals. Miss Ruth Wagoner, who assists in managing the College book store, will be dressed in a creation of lace over pink crepe. She will wear pink sandals.

Dorothy Bigham, transfer from Pennsylvania College for Women, will look charming in a white taffeta formal, embroidered with pale colors; while Miss Elizabeth Curtis member of W. A. A. and of the Holcad staff, will be dressed in a Nile green formal with accessories to match.

The pajama type of formal dress will also hold sway among several of the girls who plan to attend the prom. Miss Elaine Buzza, Theta Upsilon will be attired in a peach formal of this type. A white satin formal is the gown chosen by Ruthene Miller, Omicron Mu Gamma girl; while Isabel Kildoo will wear a turquoise blue dress with silver hose and slippers.

Miss Virginia Kerins chairman of the prom committee and editor of the Holcad, has decided upon a gown of apricot colored taffeta. Her attire will be completed with black hose ,slippers, and jewelry.

Nile green satin is the type of evening gown selected by Miss Harriette Robinson, president of Kappa Delta and assistant editor of the Holcad.

Those charming color combinations with the Spring decorations will form a delightful background for George Williams' orchestra and will all help to make the Junior Prom one of the most colorful and most successful of affairs ever to be held at Westminster.

DR. WALTER McCLURE FIRST SPEAKER ON WEEKLY PROGRAM

The Rev. Dr. Walter McClure, of New Castle, spoke at the morning chapel service yesterday. This morning, the Rev. Orlando Ritchie, a member of the faculty of the Pittsburgh-Xenia theological seminary, spoke to the student body. Tomorrow morning, the Rev. D. John McNaugher, president of the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary, will speak.

Next Sabbath evening, the Rev. Dr. G. A. Sowash, New Wilmington, a missionary to the Sudan, will speak at the evening chaped worship on the subject, "The People and the Life of the Sudan."

Y. W. LOOSE CHANGE DRIVE WILL BEGIN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Beginning Wednesday evening, the Y. W. C. A. will begin a "Loose Change" drive. All loose change is acceptable to help the annual drive. Annabel Stevenson has charge of the campaign.

At the meeting Wednesday night, the physical, social and spiritual achievements of the Y. W. will be discussed. Mrs. A. T. Cordray will be guest speaker of the evening.

FIRE PREVENTION

Since the recent sorority house fire, the entire campus has been awakened to a new consciousness of fire hazards at Westminster.

Fire inspectors have visited the Hillside and the various sorority houses, and have found little or no fire protection.

In order to secure protection in the future, certain regulations have been agreed upon, and serious penalties will be imposed upon those who disobey them.

Unannounced fire drills will take place at the Hillside, and the girls will act in accordance with regulations agreed upon in a mass meeting of Hillside residents.

The Science Hall, too, has been the cause of grave discussions among the faculty members. The one fire escape, on the south side of the building, is so placed that it is practically inaccessible in case of fire ,and few students even know of its existence.

In case of an explosion in one of the labs ,access to the stairway would be cut off, and students in the library would be trapped.

Arrangements have been made to keep a key to the laboratory giving access to the fire escape always on the desk in the library reading room, and library assistants have been given specific instructions, so that they may act coolly in case of emergency.

EXAMINATIONS

As we approach the end of another college year and the necessary or traditional examinations attendant upon such a term of study,w e ask ourselves again justw hat examinations are supposed to prove?

There are but two kinds of examinations: those which attempt to find out what a student does not know,a nd those which attempt to find out what he does know. The former proves to the instructor one of three things: either the student was incapable of learning, or he did not work, or the instructor did not put the subject across. In the first two cases, it is somewhat the student's fault. In the last case, the instructor is at fault.

The second kind of examination, seeking to find out what has been learned, is valuable also in determining how successful the student was and how effective the instructor taught. Either type, then, should be a lesson for both the one taught and the one teaching.

But no system of examination and no subsequent method of grading will prove how much or how little a student carries with him from his contact with the ideas and facts connected with a course. For this reason, despite the fact that certain minimum requirements exist for work, there should be little or no whinning and fuss when grades are mailed.

After all, the student knows what he put into a course and what he gained from his investment. The grade salary paid him, however high or low, is merely another person's estimate of what things about the work are on the surface. But deep, rumbling volcanoes, or pictures redolent with inspiration and suggestions may be under the surface. And the final grade, like beauty, is only skin deep.

SMALLER DOORS

The Christian Science Monitor carried a story recently on a church in Illinois which was undergoing repairs . The whole front of the structure seemed to be in process of rebuilding. A passer-by questioned a carpenter about it. Said the carpenter, "We are putting in new doors. The old doors were so big and heavy that little children could not get them open ,so we are putting on smaller ones that are easier to open."

The doors of the edifice of education have long been hard to open because of cumbersome minds in the teaching profession who believe in the cold, factual, hum-drum methods of presentation. For the most part, educators have agreed that the dramatic, the motivated, the human, the interesting method of teaching is by far the more effective. But there are still some heavy doors into the cathedral of knowledge.

TRADITION TRADITION

Philo. M .Buck, in a very interesting book on literary criticism, discusses under the heading "The Question of Values" the old argument between impressionists and the traditionalists. He comes to the conclusion, and I think he is right, that the two terms are useful but dangerous abstractions, that their very existence is fortuitous, and that the whole problem is a problem only because it is chronically resurrected by short-sighted visionaries. On the positive side, his panacea is that we should value literature for the communication of the author's experience, the enriching of our own, and whatever sensual effects are proportionate. The bow to tradition here is obvious but in good taste.

Fortunately for each succeeding generation of columists and critics, the question has never been settled even by such sover comment as Buck's or, perhaps one might say that in the case of all such controversial questions, the first intelligent man who became aware of them settled them immediately—too immediately. If this is true one wonders why the English writers of the early eighteenth century who firmly believed that Aristotle was right because he came first, produced literature which is comparatively uninteresting to the general reader.

In seeking an answer to this leading question, one comes upon several elements which Buck chose to ignore. No where, either in the dialogues or in the "Poctus" does Aristotle speak pointedly of tradition. Of course he had little tradition to speak of, yet in the eighteenth century, and even today, to follow the dictum of this venerable Greek is to be traditional. But Aristotle was anything but traditional in his own age. He was certainly not a conscious dictator. Nor were his rules inexorably strict and unflexible. For instance the "unities", which seemed so important to French classisists, were more their own invention than his, and many modern plays are so constructed that they do not even avail themselves of this allowed expension.

One suspects that Aristotle is obscure in the foliage of too many laurels. He was merely a genius—nothing more, and like all of his kind he had a knack of ignoring a lot of trivia for the sake of a few universalities. That he was a Greek and that he is too much revered in effigy is really not his own fault. Indeed some of the pranks of the classicists would make him turn over in his crypt if his philosophy would allow him to do such a thing.

An Indian mystic wrote, "The trouble with words is that they have meanings." The next sentence reads, "and the trouble (or the charm) of humans is, that the use of words, they never mean what they say." It is not very difficult to understand a great author. The ambiguity arises only when we try to tell our friends or the public about our impressions. However the urge to do this is as strong as the writer's urge to create.

Thus it is that with few exceptions really great literature contains few well-defined "isms. The great classisists or romanticists have been the critics, or writers turned critics. The "Battle of the Books" is mostly a battle of footnotes and commentaries, mutely witnessed by shelves empty of all but the genuine products.

This argument brings us back, as it should, to Buck's conclusion. Nevertheless he did not assay a doubtful excursion into the literature of the present day. To do this, and the laws against it are rather vague, is to have the paradoxical though necessary accumption that the perspective will be awry while the faith in results is somehow reasonable.

Modern literature, neglecting the "harlot, belam and bath" school which we shall always have with us, seems to be more critical than creative. Noting a resemblance to the eighteenth century one might say, complacently, that a period of criticism follows a period of creative effort. Here again, as in the case of Aristotle's genius for saying the right thing ahead of time, we probably have something entirely fortuitous. On the other hand it might be true that we are not even creative enough to be critical. This latter attitude, which is one of purposeless self-flagellation, is, incidentally, very popular among what are called, on jacket blurbs, "brilliant young critics".

I would hesitate to attempt a characterization on the basis that five minutes after such an attempt I would only half believe in it. It would be far easier to prophesy. I can only suggest that every now and then the modern reader should neglect to visit the leading library on the corner, and remember that the traditional if not too often considered takes on a novel appearance. Or, better, he should just sit and look at the moon.

Titans-Dukes To Resume Athletic Relations

Night Game To Open Both Schools' '32 Sked

FORBES FIELD IS SCENE OF RENEWAL OF ANCIENT FUED

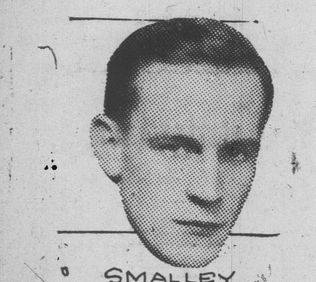
Athletic relations will be resumed with Duquesne. Such was the announcement made last week and the inaugural contest of the renewed relations will be a night football game staged on Friday, September 16 at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

Contacts were made last week between Coach John Lawther and Elmer Layden, Duquesne University mentor and previous difficulties were ironed out to the satisfaction of both parties.

Westminster has not played football against the Bluffites during the past two seasons, having broken relations with the Pittsburgh school because of the Laydenites expansion of schedule. Basketball relations were broken off in '30 by the athletic moguls of the Titan institution but will in all probability be resumed with the opening of football relationships.

Duquesne has held the upper hand on the gridiron having defeated the local aggregation five games out of the six that have been played. Westminster's sole victory was captured in '25 on the home lot by a 6-2 score.

Four Titans Hold Records



SMALLEY

MARVIN CLARK

BROWNLEE, SILJANDER SMALLEY AND CLARK SET MARKS

Four of the veterans on the 1932 Westminster track team hold records in track and field events. Captain "Bud" Brownlee is the holder of three records made last season. Brownlee heaved the hammer for 149 feet in last year's Bethany meet breaking D. G. Ashton's record of 139 feet 8 inches which stood since 1912. Brownlee also holds records in the 120 yard high and low hurdles. He broke his own record in the low hurdles in the Allegheny meet running them in 13 seconds and he again broke one of his own records in the Tri-State Conference meet running the high hurdles in 15 seconds.

Mauno Siljander, weight man, last year in the Grove City meet bettered his own record in the javelin. He made a record heave of 165 feet 10 inches.

Jim Smalley, captain of last year's championship cross-country team and Titan distance man, set a record of 10 minutes 16 seconds for the two mile run in last year's Allegheny meet. Marvin Clark, veteran high jumper holds the record of 5 feet 11 inches.

Jack Hulme, men's physical director, announces that a men's class in Life-saving will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 4 o'clock.

Many men students are planning to take advantage of this opportunity to gain the American Red Cross Emblem.

KOCHERAN RUNS WILD IN FARRELL CHARITY FRAY

New Wilmington Merchants, a quint composed entirely of Westminster College varsity cagers of the past season, handed St. Michael's Mercer County independent champs, a 55-24 lacing on the Farrell High floor last Friday evening. The contest, sponsored by the Lions Club, drew a fair sized crowd.

The gap between the topnotch college team and a fast independent quint was never more apparent than in the first quarter when the Collegians caged field goals from all angles to make the outcome certain. When 10 minutes had elapsed, the college youths held a commanding 22-3 lead. After that it was just a case of how great the score was to be.

Mike Kocheran, recently announced as an honor student, contributed eight[illegible] goals while Siljander mad[illegible] and Rice four. Simko sank five to lead St. Michaels.

TENNIS TEAM HAS WON FIVE LEAGUE TITLES

With a record of five Tri-State Conference championships in the last seven years, the Westminster tennis team, led by Captain David Findley, Ben Avon, is pointing to this years' campaign which starts early next month.

Westminster won the conference crown in tennis during the 1925, 1926, 1927 seasons. Geneva won the title in 1928. The Titan team came back to clinch the crown in 1929. Geneva won in 1930. Last year, Westminster and Geneva tied for the championship. The silver loving cup given by the conference has been the Geneva's possession during the first semester of this year, and is now on display here.

Matches are scheduled with Geneva, Bethany, Waynesburg, Youngstown Y. College, and with other district colleges for this season. The varsity tennis courts are being resurfaced, and new 10-foot wire backstops have been constructed by college workmen under the direction of Professor Baldwin Sears, business manager.

BAIRD, GRID MANAGER TAKES ACTIVE PART IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES

BAIRD

Leonard Baird, popular member of the Sophomore class, is assistant manager of the football team.

Baird played varsity ball at Farrell High holding down a guard position on the crack Steeltown team of '29.

He has taken an active part in scholastic activities, being a reporter on the sports staff of the Holcad, member of intra-mural teams, and a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

NEW BASKETBALL RULES

Basketball coaches are hardly consistent. They claim, and rightly so, that there is very little good officiating of court games. Either officials are too old to keep up with the fast, modern game, or they are too easily influenced by coaches and crowds, or they are too tired from officiating too many games.

Whatever the fault, it is generally agreed that officials have not inforced exisiting rules. Now the basketball coaches pass intricate and complicated rules for the game next season, knowing full well that officials have not been able to enforce all the old rules.

Timers will be at a premium next year, for the 10-second delay rule will keep all officials as busy as cross-eyed boys at a three-ring circus.

* * * *

Smoothing over all difficulties between Westminster and Duquesne was a master stroke accomplished by Coach John Lawther and Elmer Layden, Duke mentor.

The Dukes and the Titans are natural rivals and valuable ones if the gate receipts are to be considered in the case. Westminster's gridiron is lined with spectators when the grid teams tackle the Bluffites and everyone knows that the gym is much too small to hold the people wishing to see the two Tri-State leaders in basketball contests.

Lawther is to be congratulated upon his efforts to resume relations with a most worthy rival.

* * * *

When "Ted" Blaner tickles the ivories tonight over WKBN, his entire home town will be listen' in on his presentations as "Teets" is a favorite son of the Sharonites. Golfer deluxe, basketball player, and pleasant fellow, he has won his way into just up the line.
'just up theline.'

* * * *

SENSE AND NON SENSE: We hear that "Beadle" is training for Cross-Country and expects to be among the leading harriers on the Westminster campus next Fall. Yesterday, it has been reported, she trekked back from the Manse after a most strenuous workout.

* * * *

And Bartlett is planning on reporting for the track team some time in the near future. We noticed her attempting to jump high enough into the air to get her coat from the guy-wires attached to the College Inn sign. It might be good practice, at that.

* * * *

The "Chink" laundries are getting "breaks" this week. Count all the tux shirts headed for the laundry in preparation for the "brawl" Friday night. When asked if he was going, Snyder announced that he would be a gigolo for that affair. Step up, girls.

Also, we understand there is a certain young swain on the campus that has not missed a sorority formal dinner-dance since he matriculated. Oh, how does he rate all those square meals? Tip us off on the system, Elmer.

* * * *

Rumor has it that "Ding-dong" Dindinger is leading the pack of candidates in the May Scream race. Electioneers are busy this morning pleading his cause to the multitude.

* * * *

And won't "Ding" look nice in a long flowing evening gown with low neck and no back, high heels, marcelled hair and dangling earrings? Oh my!

* * * *

But look at the Lifebuoy he will have to use in preparing for his coming-out party to be given by the fraternities if he should emerge from the race as the victorious contestant.

* * * *

We hear Fizell is a "dark horse" in the race.

* * * *

Football is in the air, even though the birdies are twittering in the trees and the warm breezes are wafting pleasant odors of—who said I was a poet?

Coach John Lawther has a likely group of athletes out for the spring workouts and indications are that the Titans will be truly representative of Westminster next Fall as a fighting, winning, team.

Gridders Show Up Well In Spring Training Work

CAPTAIN REHFUS LEADS GRIDDERS THROUGH DRILLS

Westminster's entire grid squad had their first real workout in a short scrimmage session Saturday afternoon. It was their first encounter under the new rules which will go into effect this fall.

The scrimmage showed that Coach John Lawther wil have one of the strongest backfields in the district and that his line will be equally as strong. With this veteran material available and the incoming Freshment material, Westminster should have a most creditable season next fall.

After watching this scrimmage it can easily be seen that it will be difficult for the arbiters to watch the defensive players in the use of their hands. Another point which seems will take much consideration is the point the ball will be declared dead when a player's knee and the ball come in contact with the ground at the same time.

Those taking part in this initial scrimmage were: Rehfus, Hollander, Rose, Helmick, Franklin, Staples, Turner, Sweeney, Scarborough, Young, Dishong, Burry, Yourd, Lausberg, Allshouse, Myler, Hogg, Ketterer, and Kwiat.

Since this was the first scrimmage of the spring practice and as it is still quite early in the practice period the play of none of the players was outstanding. But everyone taking part in the fracas played exceptionally good ball under the conditions.

Two of last years regulars, "Pete" Leyshock and "Swede" Hunneke were on the sidelines due to old injuries.

Treasure Hunt Features Hike

THIRTEEN W.A.A. GIRLS ARE AWARDED CAGE LETTERS

The W. A. A. held their first hike on Saturday, to Neshannock Falls. The girls were divided into two groups, one leaving early to build a fire and prepare for the initiation of the pledges, the second group arrived later. Those initiated were:

Florence Groth, Betty Curtis, Dorothy Sellar, Martha Byers, Helen Snyder, Clare Brown, and Patricia Jones.

After the initiation games were played, a treasure hunt was held. The treasure consisted of letters for the girls who had earned them in basketball. Those who received letters were: Virgil Wettich, Fern Fox, Anna Mae Leyshon, Marion Johnson, Lola Sewall, Virginia Crooks, Florence Groth, Betty Curtis, Dorothy Sellars, Martha Byers, Helen Snyder, Clara Brown, and Patrica Jones.

After completing the program they returned to the campus.

UNIQUE FOLDER ISSUED IN CONJUNCTION WITH ATHLETIC BROADCAST

As an introduction to the Westminster broadcast this evening over Station WKBN, the college issued an attractive folder to the alumni and approximately 2,500 prospective students of the institution, showing pictures of Titan athletic teams.

The folder, a two-color job, carries a short history of Titan football, basketball, tennis, track, and intramural teams for the last several years.

The records set up by Coach John Lawther, principal speaker of tonight's air program, at Westminster; programs carried out by Miss Nandeen Love and Jack Hulme, physical directors; and a track resume under the reign of R. X. Graham, track mentor are included in the folder.

After many futile attempts to learn the nominees for May Queen, the Holcad staff was politely told that for once women wouldn't talk. Can you imagine?

INTRA-MURAL SCHEDULE FOR WEEK POSTED

Jack Hulme, director of intramural sports, announced last night that inter-fraternity archery golf, and inter-fraternity twilight volley ball will start tomorrow. Next week, intra-mural mushball will start.

The schedule for archery golf practice is: Phi Pi, Tuesday, 4 p. m.; Kaps, Wednesday; T. U. O., Thursday; Eps, Friday; Delts, Saturday; Kaps, Monday.

Twilight volleyball games, to be played at 6:45 each evening, are: Delts vs. Phi Pi, Wednesday; T. U. O. vs. Kaps, Thursday; Eps vs. Phi Pi, Friday; and Kaps vs. T. U. O., Monday.

A.A.U.W. Meets Here Last Saturday; Thirty Attend

LOCAL ORGANIZATION ADOPTS NAME

The regular meeting of the A. A. U. W. was held last Saturday afternoon in the parlor of the U. P. church. Thirty women were present representing Grove City, Mercer and New Wilmington.

Mrs. James A. McLaughry, Jr. presided. After a short business meeting, Mrs. McLaughry gave a short talk on the history, aims, objects, and purposes of the association. At the round-table discussion the members suggested plans for next year's programs. The name, New Wilmington Branch of the A. A. U. W., was adopted as the name of the local organization.

During the afternoon, musical selections were rendered by Miss Elizabeth Rose singing "Joy" by Harvey Gual and "A Golden Thought" by Rose; accompanied by Miss Mary Jane Stunkard of Westminster department of music; Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, playing "Polonaise in C Sharp Minor" by Chopin; and Mrs. Jean Anderson, of Grove City department of music, singing "Autumn Gale" by Grieg and "Last Night" by Kjerulf, accompanied by Miss Eleanor McClure of the same department.

The afternoon closed with a very delightful tea and social hour. At the regular meeting in May the association plans to entertain the senior girls of Grove City and Westminster Colleges.

SEMINARY ALUMNI WILL HOLD MEETING

Westmnister alumni who are graduates of either Pittsburgh or the former Xenia Theological seminary will be interested in the announcement of the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary Alumni Association, which will be held in the Second church, Stockton Alumni, N. S., Pittsburgh, Thursday May 5.

Reservations for the alumni banquet should be made to Dr. W.R. McMunn, Oakdale, Pa., by Monday, May 2. The price per plate is $1.25.

MERCER COUNTY GROUP ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Over 70 Mercer County alumni attended the fellowship dinner held at Penn-Grove hotel, Grove City, Pa., Thursday evening, April 14.

Mr. James A. Stranahan, '05, Mercer attorney, was toastmaster for the banquet. Brief addresses were given by Judge James McLaughry, '84, Prof. W. D. Gamble, and by Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

New officers elected by the Mercer county association are: Attorney Thomas Sampson, '01, Mercer, president; and Miss Eleanor Gamble, '26. Sharon, secretary-treasurer. Attorney Edward Buckley, '16, former president of the group, was in charge of the business meeting.

APPRECIATION

The Holcad acknowledges the receipt of copies of the Holcad, for the years 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, and several of the year 1926, which were sent in by Miss Lois Logan, '24. In addition to these Holcads, Miss Logan also sent in several copies of college catalogues, programs, and bulletins.

CALIFORNIA ALUMNA SENDS NEWS LETTER

Dr. S. E. Calhoun, prseident of the Alumni Association, acknowledges the receipt of a news letter from Miss Lida M. Armstrong, '05, alumni correspondent from Los Angeles, Calif. Doubtless many alumni will be interested in the news items given by Miss Armstrong.

Dr. Arthur Tweedie, '04, formerly a physician and surgeon, Los Angeles, is now located in Hollywood.

The Rev. W. H. McPeak, of the class of 1899, has resigned his pastorate at Santa Ana, and plans to take up work in the East.

Miss Bertha Houston, '94, has retired from the teaching profession and is now living in Whittier, California. Miss Houston is a well-known teacher and Sabbath school worker.

Dr. James C. Negley, prominent Los Angeles physician, a graduate of the class of 1906, has a son who will soon be ready for college, and he has written for information concerning Browne Hall.

BOTSFORD WRITES BOOK REVIEWS FOR PITTSBURGH PRESS

Book reviews in the Sunday edition of the Pittsburgh Press take on a new interest for the Westminster student, if the book is reviewed by Wilson Botsford.

One of his latest and best reviews is that of "A Glastonbury Romance", by John Cowper Powys. In it the reviewer sketches lightly the background of romance and melodrama surrounding the legend of King Arthur and the quest for the Holy Grail, and skillfully introduces the sinister element of Russian Communism pitted against a revival of the ancient Grail cult.

Vivid descriptions, animated discussions, clever allusions, and keen insight into the workings of the author's mind, are just a few of the reasons for finding Mr. Botsford's reviews so enjoyable.

A Westminster graduate of the class of 1930, he is, at present, a member of the staff of the Pittsburgh Press, and one of the ablest journalists the college has produced.

While at Westminster, he was interested in sports and dramatics, and was an active member of student organizations. A member of Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, he also earned membership in Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debate fraternity, and Tau Gamma Delta, honorary journalistic fraternity, Editor of the Freshman Handbook, issue editor of the Westminstrel, sports editor of the Argo, editor-in-chief of the Holcad, these are a few of his many activities while in college which helped to pave the way for his present achievements.

CLARE SWISHER IS RADIO EDITOR FOR ERIE DAILY TIMES

Clare Swisher, a graduate of the class of 1928, was recently made radio editor of the Erie Daily Times.

Interested in journalism, he served as staff member of both the Holcal and the Argo; during his junior year at college he acted as associate editor of the Holcad and feature editor of the Argo. In his senior year he was appointed editor-in-chief of the Holcad.

After his graduation from Westminster, Mr. Swisher was a reporter for the Cleveland Press.

He is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity, and of Tau Gamma Delta, honorary journalism fraternity for men.

REV. EMMET ALTER WILL ACT AS HEAD OF WOODSTOCK SCHOOL

The Rev. David Emmet Alter and Mrs. Alter have been placed in charge of the Woodstock school, located in the Mussuori Hills, India, while Mr. A. E. Parker, head of the school, returns to America on furlough.

The Woodstock school was established primarly for the education of missionary children, and provides training of the highest possible type.

Rev. and Mrs. Alter are Westminster graduates of the class of 1912, and were formerly stationed at Abbotabad, India.

ALUMNI OFFICIALS MEET SATURDAY

Keen interest in the college policies and activities was manifested during the meeting of the Alumni association, held in the college office, Saturday afternoon, April 16.

The meeting gave promise of increased loyalty and support to the college on the part of the alumni.

PRESIDENT GIVES ADDRESS BEFORE NEW CENTURY CLUB

"Cause and Cure of War" was the subject of Dr. R. F. Galbreath's address before the Dormont New Century Club, Tuesday evening, April 12.

Following Dr. Galbreath's address the women's club were entertained by a musical program presented by the South Hills College Club.

ALUMNAE ARE RE-ELECTED AT PRINCETON HIGH

Mettie Round and Mary Alice Neill were re-elected for the coming year to teach at Princeton High school, at a meeting of the directors of Slippery Rock township, held last week.

Mettie Round is a graduate of the class of 1930. While in school Mettie was a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and at present is teaching chemistry and physics, and coaching the girls basketball team at Princton high school.

Mary Alice Neill, a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority, is a graduate of the class of 1931. She is now teaching latin at Princeton.

DR. R. T. CAMPBELL GIVES ADDRESS AT KANSAS MEETING

Dr. R. T. Campbell, president of Sterling College, was one of the principal speakers at the Christian World Forum, held in Manhattan, Kansas, the first three days of April.

This forum is directed by the Christian Associations of Kansas State College, and by the Ministerial Association.

Dr. Campbell is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1886.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Westminster College joins with the many friends of the Rev. A. K. Strane, United Presbyterian minister of McAlvery's Fort, Pa., in congratuating him upon his eightieth birthday.

The Rev. Mr. Strane is a Westminster graduate of the Class of 1878.

Plan Carnegie Foundation Examinations For Next Week

TESTS PLANNED FOR MAY 3, 4, AND 5

Westminster, a member of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will cooperate further with the foundation on May 3, 4, and 5, when all students enrolled in the college will be given foundation tests. Many colleges in the state are planning to give these tests to seniors, but the Westminster faculty has decided to have all four classes take the examinations.

Five years ago the Carnegie Foundation started this series of tests when the senior classes of high schools in the state were given examinations. This same class has now been followed through four years of college, and the tests given this year should show something tangible by way of results for study.

Seniors at Westminster will be given four tests: English, General culture, mathematics, and professional education. Members of the three under classes will be given two tests: English and general culture.

With 559 students in the college to be tested over a period of three days, every member of the faculty will be needed in this work. As a result, there will be no regularly scheduled classes during the period in which the tests are being given. As now planned, there will be 30 students in each room, and two or three faculty members will be assigned to each group.

The general culture tests include science, foreign literature, fine arts, history, government, and economics.

The English test includes spelling, grammar, punctuation. vocabulary, and literature.

Prof. Euwema Speaks Over WKBN Tonite

LIBERAL ARTS VALUE SUBJECT OF TALK

The fourth radio program featuring Westminster over radio station WKBN, Youngstown, will be given tonight at 9:15. The speaker of the evening will be Professor Ben Euwema, head of the department of English, who will speak on the subject, "The Value of a Liberal Arts Education."

Professor Euwema, a graduate of Calvin College, class of 1926, received his M.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1926, and spent the years 1926-1928 as an instructor in English and graduate student at the University of Chicago. He has been a member of the Westminster faculty snce 1928.

Musical numbers on the program will include: Violin solo, Miss Lowenne Swindler, New Wilmington; piano solo, Miss Lois McGill, New Wilmington; songs, Miss Dorothy Watkins, New Kensington, soprano; and numbers by the male chorus, 16 voices, under direction of Professor Alan B. Davis.

The male chorus includes: Homer Dishong, Johnstown; Monas Harlan, New Castle; Edwin Swartz, Hickory; and Arthur Antonopoplos, Wilkinsburg, first tenors; Thomas Grenfell, Elizabeth; Herbert Smith, New Castle; David McRae, Sharpsburg; and Clarence Tiers, Pittsburgh, second tenors; Scott McMunn, Oakdale; Clem Lausberg, Tarentum; Russell Sewall, New Wilmington; and Bruce Hague, Coraopolis, baritones; William Frack, Unity; Robert Frack, Unity; Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, and Richard Davis, New Wilmington, bass.

Paul McKnight, Erie will be accompanist for the male chorus, while Miss Mary Jane Stunkard will be accompanist for Miss Watkins.

The music for this program has been under the direction of members of the faculty of the conservatory of music.

LIBRARIAN TO SPEAK ON MAY 6 AT AMBRIDGE, PA.

Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, will be one of the speakers at the four-county library association meeting to be held in Ambridge, Pa., on May 6. Miss Ailman, a former president of the association, will speak on "Outstanding Books of the Year."

MISS MILDRED AILMAN

Librarians from Mercer, Lawrence, Beaver, and Butler counties will attend the meeting, and a report of the American library association meeting, being held in New Orleans this week, will be given by a representative.

MEN CAMPAIGN FOR DINDINGER FOR MAY QUEEN

Men students of the campus, eager to have a candidate of their own and more eager to have some typical collegiate fun, last week compaigned vigorously for Gilbert Dindinger for May Queen. The men, representing all five fraternities on the campus, organized into squads to canvass the campus for votes, painted large pavement signs, and decorated trees and poles around the campus with "Dindinger for May Queen" posters.

At the election last Tuesday morning in chapel, despite the fact that Dindinger was not one of the nominees for the position, he received many votes for the honor. Dindinger has taken the show of honor lightly, however, and will not be on hand June 4 for the crowning ceremonies, he stated last night.

FRATERNITIES WILL PLANT TREES ON CAMPUS ARBOR DAY

Arbor Day will be celebrated on the campus Saturday afternoon, May 7. Each fraternity and sorority will plant a tree somewhere on the campus in keeping with the planned landscape project. Guests from the vicinity will be asked to take part in the program. This celebration has been planned through the efforts of Dr. Galbreath, Mr. Johns, and Mr. Sears.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT PRESBYTERY MEET

The Brookville Presbyterian church, with the Rev. F. B. Shoemaker, '00, as pastor, was host to the local Presbytery on April 18. Dr. Shoemaker, in charge of pulpit vacancies, announced that all churches in the Presbytery have been holding services regularly.

Rev. Byers and Dr. Sowash accompanied Dr. Galbreath to the meeting of the Presbytery, where Dr. Galbreath spoke at the evening meeting.

ADD NEW BOOKS TO LIBRARY STACKS

A six volume edition of the Cambridge Mediaeval History has been added to the college library, Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, reports.

Book Club books which have been retired to the general library shelves include: Maeterlinch, "Life of the Ant" Ossorgin, Quiet Street"; Deeping, "Stories of Love, Courage, and Compassion"; Priestley, "Angel Pavement"; Rehder, "Best College Verse"; Komroff, "Coronet"; Pinchot, "To the South Seas"; and Swinnerton, "Sketch of a Sinner."

RUTH WAGONER IS ELECTED MAY QUEEN BY VOTE OF ENTIRE STUDENT BODY ON LAST TUESDAY

As a result of a general student ballot held following chapel last Tuesday, Miss Ruth Wagoner, Sharon, has been elected May Queen. Miss Wagoner was among the leaders in the grand march of the junior prom last Friday night, and will be crowned queen at ceremonies preceding the "Senior Sing" on Saturday evening, June 4 on the South Terrace.

Miss Wagoner, a junior, has been on the honor roll since entering college. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority, and has taken part in a number of dramatic productions, having one of the leads in last week's junior play. She is a student assistant in the College Bookstore.

The election of the May Queen, sponsored this year by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, brings back to the Westminster campus another colorful tradition that would have been dropped if the plan to eliminate the elaborate May pageants were followed. Miss Florence Groth, Shaker Heights, O., was last year elected May Queen, and will have part in the crowning ceremony for Miss Wagoner.

MISS KIRKBBRIDE TO GIVE PIANO RECITAL MAY 2

Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride of the Conservatory faculty will present a piano recital in the Little Theatre Monday evening, May 2 at 8:15.

KIRKBRIDE

The program will include: "Pactorali", Scarlatti Tausig; "Capriccio", Tausig; "Largo e Mesto". Beethoven; "Rondo Capriccio", Beethoven; "Prelude" and "Etude", Chopin; "Polonaise in C. Sharp Minor, Chopin; "Album Leaf", Hutcheson; "Valse de Concert", Levitzski; "Cordova", Aiding; "Capriccio", Dohnenyi; "The Nightingale", Alabreff-Liszt; "Mephisto Valse", Liszt.

RENTZ, HONORARY MEMBER OF LOCAL GROUPS, CANDIDATE

Fred L. Rentz, publisher of the New Castle News, and an honorary member of Delta Phi Sigma, social fraternity, and of Tau Gamma Delta, journalism fraternity, is a candidate for election as delegate-at-large from Lawrence county on the Republican Presidential nominating committee. Mr. Rentz's many friends in the college will be interested in the outcome of the election being held today.

MUSIC STUDENTS PRESENT RECITAL AT CONSERVATORY

Students of the Conservatory of Music will give a recital in the Conservatory recital hall this afternoon, at 2:30, Professor Alan B. Davis announces.

All music students are expected to be present, and any others who desire to attend may do so.

The program: "Choral Prelude", Paul McKnight;" "Birdling" Lowenne Swindler;" Fantasie in D. Minor" and "Voices of the Wood No. 1," Harriet Gray; "I know a Green Cathedral", and "Blackbird Song," Ruthine Miller, soprano; "Valse Grazioso," and "The Mill," Monas Harlan; "Barcaralle," James Wible; "Improvization on the Song,", and "How Shines the Dew", Sadie Mae Foltz; "Thou Art the Night Wind," Lillian Baird, contralto; "Nocturne," and "Shepherd's Hey," Ethel Denniston; "Consolation in D Flat," Mary Catherine Patterson;" Indian Lament," Ray Holliday; "Darkened Valley," and Hunting Song," E. GERALD NEWTON IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF DELTA NABLA

Gerald Newton was elected president of Delta Nabla, honorary mathematics fraternity at a meeting held in Dr. Black's office last Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Other officers elected were: Dorothy Wilder, vice-president and Dorothy Grant, secretary-treasurer. Plans are being made for a party in honor of the senior members of the fraternity.

NOSE FOR NEWS FINDS NUMEROUS NOBBY NAMES IN NEW WILMINGTON

New Wilmington, supposedly a democratic town of a democratic nation, has its nobility and royalty.

No? Well, take a peep into the town directory or college catalog and be convinced. These books contain all sorts of information, paradoxes, and discrepancies in our body politic. The names tell the story. Read on:

As to royalty, there are three Kings, This doesn't seem right for there isn't a single Queen, but still we have two Princes. Then too New Wilmington has two Adams and no Eves which make it puzzling that the Canes total three while Abel lacks representation.

A worse discrepancy is the lack of Horses since we have three Riders and ten Walkers.

Economically and commercially—well, not so bad. There are five Byers and only two Sellars. Religiously the town excells with several Bishops and Sextons.

As far as colors are concerned, you may have your choice—three Blacks, one Gray, four Whites, and five Roses. Nor must we fail to tell about our children. We are able to boast of one Goodchild and a Fairchild.

We're flying high with a Drake, a Byrd, and several Robins'—sons.

Morarrly, the college town has little to be proud of, for although there are four Freeman, three Crooks have put in their appearance.

We cannot say "three Cheers" because there are but two of them. Winter and Summer have two representatives each.

Popular types of automobiles came to the fore with the Studebakers, Packards, and Fords roaming nonchalantly about, and we find plenty of barnes in which to keep them.

Hurrah! Here are three Holidays approaching. Perhaps the two Sheets and the Irons will have a get-together party now.

Here is a puzzle to worry about—one Glass but no water. In spite of hard times, fifteen Millers and nine Weavers are managing to survive.

The depression shouldn't phase us, because we are rife with Campbells and Rice. Here's the problem, only one Cann in which to keep them.

Miscellaneous articles include a Davenport and one Bell.

Why go further? You've guessed by now that someone has discover another silly game for youngsters and infantile oldsters. An old directory or telephone book, a paper and pencil—now you are ready to play it yourself.

MUSIC GROUPS PLAN VARIOUS PROJECTS FOR NEAR FUTURE

On Friday April 15 several faculty members of the Conservatory of Music acted as judges in the finals of the Mercer county Music Contest at Mercer. Those acting as judges were, Miss Florence Thomas, Mr. Edward Freeman, and Prof. Alan B. Davis.

According to an announcement from Prof. Alan B. Davis, plans are being made for the reorganization of the college orchestra. The first rehearsal will be held tomorrow evening, and will be under the direction of Professor Edward Freeman. It is hoped that the orchestra will be prepared to broadcast over the radio by the middle of May. A concert will also be given some time near the end of the year.

The Girls' Glee Club is making progress in preparation for a radio broadcast soon. The Glee Club of 40 voices and is under the direction of Miss Florence Thomas. Of special interest to students is the facts that two numbers which are being rehearsed were composed by Gordon Bach Nevin, professeor of pipe organ.

The Men's Varsity Quartet, under the direction of Professor Davis, has a busy schedule for the remainder of the term. On last Sabbath they accompanied Dr. Galbreath to Youngstown where they sang in two different churches.

On May 1 they will be in Oakdale, and a few days later will sing before the students of Elizabeth high school.

DR. R. [illegible]ALBREATH SPE[illegible] AT THREE CHURCH MEETINGS

Dr. R. F. Galbreath continues to be in demand as a speaker at various church and civic gatherings. During the past week he has been speaker at the New Castle Kiwanis Club, Kiski Academy, the dinner of the men's brotherhood of the West Middlesex Presbyterian church, and at the Struthers, O., United Presbyterian and the Tabernacle United Presbyterian church, Youngstown, O., services.

Professor J. D. Lawther, Professor C. W. McKee, and Fred Blaha were with Dr. Galbreath at the New Castle Kiwanis meeting last Tuesday. Several Westminster students were present at the West Middlesex meeting on Tursday evening.

On Sabbath, the varsity quartet sang at the Struthers, O., United Presbyterian church worship at which Dr. Galbreath preached. The quartet also sang at the Sabbath evening worship in the Tabernacle United Presbyterian church, Youngstown, where Dr. Galbreath was guest preacher.

WKBN STATION ON FREQUENCY OF 570 KILOCYCLES

Radio station WKBN, Youngstown, Ohio, over which the fourth Westminster program will be broadcast tonight, broadcasts over a frequency of 570 kilocycles by authority of the Federal Radio Commission.

Many alumni and friends of the college have asked the station frequency on cards returned to date.

STUDENTS MAKE TRIP THROUGH SHENANGO VALLEY MILLS

As the hands of the clock move dangerously near the hour of one, on specified afternoon, groups of business students may be seen moving hurriedly toward a common destination—the Chapel steps. As the clock strikes the hour, they are hustled into cars and whisked away to partake of the benefits to be derived from field trips which are conducted by Professor C. W. McKee, and his associates, Ross Ellis and Ronald Jones.

Since this policy has been inaugurated, the future business men have observed the inner workings of the Malleadle Iron Works of Farrell, and the Westinghouse plan at Sharon.

On their visit to the Malleable Iron works the business students were shown through the power plant, where the power is derived for general operation, and the coal crushing department, where coal is broken for use in the open hearth furnaces which melt the iron. The next department shown was the one where a chemical analysis is made of all iron destined for castings. Next on the list came the core and moulding department where cores for various castings are molded, such as car couplings.

The students were shown the shaking out floor where castings are taken out of the moulds by a device recently put in use. From here they followed the process through to the shot blast division where casting are cleaned through the medium of steel shot which is blown against the casting.

Another step toward the finished product was witnessed in the chipping department where by air hammers the rough edges are chipped from the casting.

Right in line came the general machine shop,tempering shop, and the car wheel machine shop. In the car wheel shop the group was told of the new process whereby car wheels are made through the application of centrifugal force instead of the old sand-moulding type of manufacture.

A chain with a tensile strength of 140,000 pounds was exhibited, with pardonable pride, a smute evidence of twentieth-century achievement.

After a visit to the paint shop, where the finishing touches are put on the castings, the delegation was shown the hospital where all emergency cases are handled.

Westinghouse Visit Profitable

As a further insight into the practical business world the students were shown through the Sharon Westinghouse plant whose function is the manufacture of transformers.

Two One-Act Plays To Be Given May 5

Professor A. T. Cordray, director of the Little Theatre, announced today that casts have been chosen for the two one-act plays to be given in the Little Theatre on May 5. These plays, "A Minuet" and "Pyramus and Thisbe", will be presented twice the same evening in order to accommodate the student body in the Little Theatre auditorium.

The cast for "A Minuet" includes: Franklin Webb, Sharon, the Marquis; Edwin Swartz, Hickory, the Jailor; and Dorothy Cowden, Youngstown, O., the Marchioness.

The second play, "Pyramus and Thisbe", is taken from "A Midsummer Night's Dream", with the following cast selected: Betty Griffith, Oil City, Quince; Charlotte Bartlett, New Castle, Nick Bottom; and Angela Altiere, Hubbard, O., Clara Brown, Harrisville, Isabelle Kildoo, Bellevue, and Sara Haney, Sharon, as minor characters.

These two one-act plays will constitute the last dramatic productions of the year, Professor Cordray announces.

ARBOR DAY

Another student project is being directed by the president and the business manager. In order to arouse pride in campus landscape development and to insure cooperation for keeping Westminster's campus one of the best in the country, sororities, fraternities, and townspeople will plant trees on Arbor Day, May 7.

Since everyone will have a part, it is hoped that being able to say "our tree" will create an interest which has never been aroused before.

If this project proves a success, fraternities and sororities may be permitted to have a "block" perhaps marked with a plate. In this section, trees, shrubs, and bushes can be planted to beautify the campus.

HARVARD GOES ARTISTIC

Harvard, fount of socialist publications and all that is progressive in modern education, has scored again. The Fogg Museum of Art, a part of Harvard university, has offered, without charge, works of fine arts for loan to Harvard students for room decorations. The ostensible purpose of the loans is to stimulate interest in art among the undergraduates.

The plan has infinite possibilities. Coincident with the gradual demise of the collegiate coon-skin coat and the ramshackle automobile, we may perhaps hope for the passing of pilfered "No Parking" signs, gaudy pennants, and cheap pictures from student walls. Thus, the last vestige of the collegiate legend will sink in oblivion. More important, however, is the probable result in the awakening of a real interest in art in the undergraduate mind. Led by the noble example of the famed Harvard "Gold Coast" and the Yard, we may ultimately see every student-room throughout the country graced with prints of the masterpieces of a Raphel, a Van Dyke, or a da Vinci.

Such an effort, fostering as it does, an artistic appreciation, merits the warmest praise. It is just such gestures as this which indicate a happy return to normalcy of the college world so surfeited with "over-emphasis" and undue alumni influence.—The Cornell Daily Sun.

THE BEST STUDENTS

Temple University has recently announced the results of another of these surveys which our large universities seem so fond of conducting. And these indicate, we are informed, that students from small towns and those who are working their way through college usually rank higher than others.

This is interesting, of course, but not particularly surprising. The youngster from the small town usually has a better chance to learn how to study in high school. There are fewer distractions than in the big city. And the fellow who wants an education so badly that he will wait on tables in a dining room or tend furnaces in order to get it, can usually be depended upon for concentrated, honest work in the laboratories and the class rooms.

A survey of nearly any college or university would bear out the findings made at Temple. —New Castle News

CULTURE DISCUSSED BY DR. McNAUGHER AT CHAPEL SERVICE

Dr. John McNaugher, president of the Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary, was guest speaker at chapel on Wednesday, April 20. Dr. McNaugher chose as his subject "The Aims of Life". He advised the cultivation of a good vocabulary and suggested for this such books as Milton's "Lycidas" and Bunyan's "Pilgrims Progress". He told his listeners to be good thinkers, good readers, to learn how to express themselves, and to have an appreciation of art.

Dr. McNaugher was the third of a series of speakers in chapel last week. He was here to interview prospective students of the Seminary. Tuesday night he held a meeting with them in Dr. Galbreath's office.

JUNIORS PRESENT PLAY AT JUNIOR HIGH, NEW CASTLE

On Thursday morning, April 21, several scenes from the Junior Play, "The Taming of the Shrew", were presented before about 1300 students at Ben Franklin junior high, New Castle Eight players made the trip, with Prof. A. T. Cordray in charge. The presentation was sponsored by Ruth Lewis, instructor in dramatics at the school. After the play, the cast was entertained at luncheon in the model apartment which the domestic science department conducts in the school building. Cast: Herbert Smith, Helen Baerman, Thomas Herriott, Otto Pearsall, Willis McGill, Ruth Wagoner, Wilson Miller, Gilbert Dindinger.

DR. SOWASH SPEAKS AT SABBATH CHAPEL

Dr. G. A. Sowash, home on furlough from the Sudanese missionary field, spoke on "The Sudan" at Sabbath evening chapel service.

Dr. Sowash stressed the faithfulness of the black man to the white man and spoke of the readiness of the Africans to trust a white man when he has proved himself to be their friend.

The missionary also pointed out the precarious religious position of the Mohammedans at the present time, showing how they are facing atheism or agnosticism. Finally the speaker presented the challenge which comes to members of the Christian church to aid these peoples in finding a religion which will satisfy their souls—the Christian religion.

PREXY SPEAKS IN NEW CASTLE

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath was in New Castle for two meetings yesterday at which he spoke. He spoke in the morning at the ministers' meeting in the Y. M. C. A. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Dr. Galbreath spoke at a meeting of the New Castle Women's Club in the Hiland U. P. Church.

On Wednesday, Dr. Galbreath will attend the meeting of the College President's Association in Harrisburg. On Thursday he will address the 33rd. district Rotary meeting in McKeesport. Friday will find him in Pittsburgh where he will attend a meeting of the executive committee in charge of the New Wilmington Missionary Conference.

FIELD TRIP

Divided up into groups of four, with a Westinghouse man as guide for each group, the boys followed through the manufacture of transformers as an entity.

Taken through the machine shop, where they saw how the various plates were cut out, they next went to the winding department where the coils are wound on the wooden frames of the transformers. The next thing to be seen were the varnishing vats where the various plate units are dipped many time to insure their durability.

Ushered into the building which has the greatest floor space of any single-story building in the world, they witnessed an efficient straight-line-production system concerned with grouping finished parts so as to achieve a whole efficient transformer as a working unit.

In this building transformers destined for the Pennsylvania Railroad line running from Philadelphia to Wilmington, Del. were viewed in their hundred and some odd feet of colossal dignity.

In the various machining departments the students were enlightened as to the mechanics of construction for the various parts which go to make up one of these electrical giants.

In the foundry the processes through which the embryonis storm shields were derived proved of value, and interest to the groups.

From the paint shop, where these containers are insured against rust, the calvacade swung into the miscellaneous department where electrical units for machines of small dimensions are made.

In the experimental department the students were attracted by the playful maneuvers of 200,000 volts of electricity put through its paces by one of the Westinghouse engineers.

Plans for future visits to manufacturing concerns in the vicinity are being made.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING CONDUCTED BY VIRGINIA KERINS

"Charity" was the subject of discussion at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Wednesday evening at the Hillside. Virginia Kerins was leader.

Talks on the subject of Y. W. C. A. accomplishments were given by: Marion Johnson, Dorothy Grant and Louise Johnston. Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, summed up the points concerning Y. W. projects.

Margaret Parks sang "God Touch the Rose," by Mary Helen Brown. She was accompanied by Doris Shawkey.

The following girls were appointed to collect money for the "Loose Change Drice": Polly Sellar, Jeanne Miller, Virgil Wettich, Evelyn Judson, Doris Shawkey, Isabelle Kildoo, Virginia Welch, Clara Sherwin, and Ernestine Madden.

Fall football training camp will be opened under the direction of Lawther and Earl 'Miz" Dart, assistant coach on September 1, and the opening of the school term on September 13.

Men reporting for the final session Saturday were: Captain Rehfus, tackle; Dishong, tackle; Leyshock, center; Hunneke, end; Rush, guard; Rose, guard, Staples, fullback; Scarborough, halfback; Young, halfback, all lettermen and Lausberg, McRae, Yourd, Hogg, Gregan, Ketterer, Burry, Sweeney, and Turner all members of last year's outfit.

Titans Give Fine Radio Performance

LAWTHER AND COHORTS REPRESENT COLLEGE OVER WKBN

Westminster's athletes presented a novel program of popular and semi-classical numbers over Youngstown radio station WKBN last Tuesday evening, April 19. Three of the husky Westminster gridders gave vocal solos. Homer Dishong, silver-voiced tenor, opened the program by singing "My Hheart Belongs to the Girl that Belongs to Somebody Else." "By the Fireside" was the title of a number sympathetically sung by Clem Lausberg, a football man. Irving Franklin crooned a popular hit of 1930, "True Blue Lou". Ted Blaner, varsatile Sharon athlete and musician, played pianologues "When Day is Done" and "Too Late."

In a brief, interestink talk on the place of athletics in college, Coach John D. Lawther pointed out that competitive sports provide an outlet for the excess emotional and physica lenergy of the collegian.

The program concluded with a number by the football sextette composed of the soloists and Robert Rose and William Frack singing the "Gorilla Song" which turned out to be the old favorite "Girl of My Dreams, I Love You."

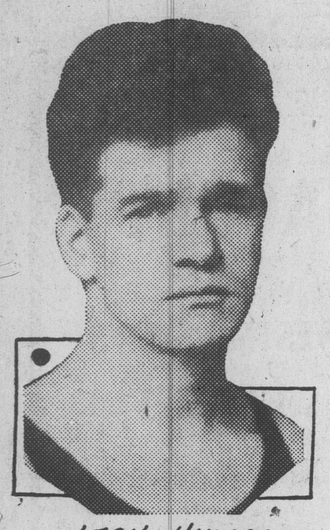
WESTMINSTER MEN LISTED WITH COURT OFFICIALS IN DISTRICT

A number of Westminster alumni and former students are listed by the Tri-State Association for the Selection of Basketball officials, in a bulletin issued by M. R. Glover, commissioner.

Bill Cleary, '26, Erie; John Hetra, '26, Farrell; and Walt Hutchison, ex-'30, New Wilmington, are three on the approved list for college games.

Hulme Posts Intra-Mural Activity Sked

ARCHERY GOLF, VOLLEY BALL, AND LIFE SAVING ON CARD



JACK HULME

Jack Hulme, genial director of intra-mural sports, today announced the schedule for intra-mural archery practice, volleyball, and life saving.

General archery-golf practice will be held ever yafternoon at 4 o'clock in preparation for the inter-fraternity league series of matches to be run off startin gnext week.

The twilight volleyball games arranged for this week are: Tuesday—Kaps vs. Delts; Wednesday—Eps vs. T. U. O.; Thursday—Kaps vs. Eps; Friday—Delts vs. T. U .O.; Monday—Eps vs. Delts.

Red Cross life-saving instruction will be given in the college pool on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock.

Sport Moguls Consider New Sport Projects

The Athletic Council met last night in the gymnasium to discuss plans for sports activities during the coming year.

Projects considered and tabled for future action included intra-mural football and intra-mural rifle shooting. The varsity tennis schedule was authorized, and other matters of athletic importance were discussed.

Those who attended were: J. A. Stranahan, H. T. Getty, Dr. Wm. Cleland, J. A. Pitzer, John D. Lawther, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Michael Kocheran, and Ted Blaner.

Brownlee Set For Relays

TO REPRESENT SCHOOL AT PHILADELPHIA SATURDAY

"Harry "Bud" Brownlee, Titan track captain, will represent Westminster at the Penn Relays to be held at the University of Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday.

Brownlee will compete in the high hurdles and hammer throw. Brownlee holds records in both events in the Tri-State Conference having reset a new mark in both events at the Geneva College meet last Decoration Day and also tied the low hurdle Conference record.

Last year Brownlee represented Westminster at the Ohio Relays, taking fifth place in the tri-athlon and second in the hammer throw.

Athletic Council Revises Track Point System

TRACKSTERS TO AVERAGE THREE POINTS PER MEET

A revision of the recent ruling on track letter awards was made at the meeting of the Athletic council last night.

The new ruling, passed last fall, stated that a man must score a total of 12 points in order to qualify for a track letter. By the revised ruling, suggested by the coach, a man must average three points a meet.

This means that if there are only three meets, nine points qualify a man for a letter. If there are four meets, 12 points are necessary.

ATHLETES WELL REPRESENTED ON WESTMINSTER HONOR ROLL

FOUR MEN GARNER HIGHEST SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Four Westminster athletes have been honor students since 1927, a survey shows. Of this number, two have been among the first two in their classes. Hugh Gamble, Sharon, captain and center on the 1927 championship basketball team, was valedictorian of his class. Gamble was selected All-Conference second team center. He is now secretary of the Bhul Club, Sharon.

FULLER

CROWELL

James McQuiston, star football, basketball, and tennis man, was third honor student of the class of 1929. McQuiston won letters in three sports, was editor of the Argo, was editor and art editor of the Westminstrel, was class president three years, and was on the staff of the Holcad. He is now employed in the office of the Kellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Michael Kocheran, All-Conference forward on this year's championship basketball quintet; and Richard Fuller, football and track letterman, are also honor students. Kocheran is salutatorian of his class, and Fuller is seventh honor student.

DELAHUNTY

Since 1927, men with outstanding academic and athletic ability who have been awarded the Tri-State gold medal are: John Hetra, '26; Hugh Gamble, '27; Orvil Mirtz, '28; James McQuiston, '29; William Crowell, '30; and Kenneth Delahunty, '31. Hetra was a basketball and track star, and is now a high school teacher and football and basketball official. Mirtz now teaches in Lignan University, China. Crowell is coach of all sports at Mercer high school. Delahunty is coach at Sandy Lake high school. Hetra was a baskeball and track star, and is now a high school instructor and a football and basketball official.

On the honor roll for the first semester of this year are found four Titan athletes. Edgar Allshouse, Falls Creek, football lineman; Marvin Clark, Knox, track high jumper; Calvin Hogg, Butler, football and track man; and Michael Kocheran, Duquesne, basketball star, all maintained "A" averages for the first semester.

TITAN-ANTICS

Now that golf season is around the corner, Westminster should be represented by a team to compete with representatives from other Tri-State schools.

Two players of championship calibre are students at the institution and should make a creditable showing against district collegiate opposition.

Miss Florence Groth was runner-up last year in the ladies' tournament held at the Shaker Heights Country Club, Cleveland, Ohio, and would be a worthy representative of the Westminster co-eds on the fairway.

Ted Blaner, varsity basketball star, has held the championship of the Shenango Valley for the past two seasons and could be counted upon to hold his own with the best.

Others who would make a creditable showing are "Jimmy" Smith, Don Parkinson, James Coleman, and Thomas Grenfell.

* * * *

The re-election of Fegley and Stavnitsky as co-captains of the Grove City floor team insures the Crimson of capable, clean leadership during the '33 cage season. Congratulations are due and are offered to the two Crimson aces.

* * * *

And while yelping about aces, we have reason to believe that Coach R. X. Graham has several in the embryo on the track team this season. Byers, Simpson, Hogg, and Headlee have been showing up exceptionally well in initial tryouts.

* * * *

Vare has nothing on the Y. W. C. A. for politics after the ousting of the leading candidate for May Queen from the race. Ding Dong evidently spent too much money on his campaign.

* * * *

We did hear that he was billed for a sack of lime used in the painting activities. And when we heard Clem Lausberg doing some modern electioneering over WKBN for the "peoples choice", we almost lost our three store teeth.

* * * *

"Ginny" Fleming is quite a pool player. Yesterday she managed to throw a baseball into the Delt pond consistently, much to our chagrin, as we were delegated to retrieve it.

* * * *

Mystery: Who broke Bill Douglass' one and only golf club yesterday? Three stale doughnuts and two chews of Mail Pouch have been offered as a reward.

Regdon Dons Gloves in Show

GRIDDER TO APPEAR ON FARRELL GLOVE CARD

Alex Regdon, varsity grid star, will step into amateur fistic circles in the near future, having been signed to appear in a Farrell boxing show to be held in the near future.

Shows are held regularly in the Stultown by the Boosters' Club in which Shenango Valley fist slingers wage war against one another.

Regdon's opponent will in all probability be Kid Francis, one of the leading boxers of the district.

GROVERS RE-ELECT FEGLEY & STAVITSKY AS CAGE CO-CAPTAINS

Bernard Fegley and George Stavnitsky, Grove City cage co-captains have been re-elected, according to word received here.

Both young men are Juniors and should end their careers in a blaze of Crmison glory. Fegley is a forward while Stavnitsky holds down a guard position.

Track Team May Meet Waynesburg

NEGOTIATIONS ARE BEING MADE FOR HOME CONTEST

Negotiations are being made to have Waynesburg added to the Titan track schedule for this spring. If plans go through, the dual meet with the Yellowjackets will probably be held on the home field, giving the Titan scanticlads three dual meets, two of which will be away from home.

Classy Tennis Card Is Being Arranged

Coach Lawther Scores New Grid Rules

DOES NOT LIKE PUNT FOR KICKOFF METHOD

Coach John D. Lawther does not like the new football rule which gives a team the option of a placement or a punt on the kickoff. Lawther believes the new rule favors too much the team doing the kicking.

Lawther suggests that all new rule suggestions for football should be published, tried by coaches in spring practice, and then passed upon after reactions of coaches are known. The present system of merely passing the rules without any provision for appeal is obviously a poor one.

SORORITY BALL GAMES STARTED MONDAY AT FOUR

Inter-sorority indoor baseball games started yesterday at 4 o'clock, Miss Nandeen Love announces. The Sigma Kappa and Theta Upsilon girls met in the first contest.

The schedule follows: April 27—Independents vs. Chi Omega; April 28—Kappa Delts vs. Alpha Gamma Delta; May 2—Omicron Mp Gamma vs. losed of third game; May 4—Winner of first game vs. winner of second game; May 5—Loser of first game vs. loser of second game; May 9—Omicron 'Mu Gamma vs. winner of third game; May 11—winner of fifth game vs winner of seventh game; May 12—winner of fourth game vs. winne rof sixth game.

The game on May 11 will decide the winner of the league, and the contest of the following day will be the consolation game.

CO-EDS REPORT FOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT

More than 30 co-eds reported to Miss Nandeen Love for tennis last week. Private lessons will be given beginners, and when the college courts are ready a tennis tournament will be played to determine the co-ed champion of the college. Such a tournament has been held each year at Westminster, and the enthusiasm this year would indicate that there will be some spirited matches.

NINE MATCHES LISTED ON TENTATIVE SCHEDULE

Playoffs for positions on the Titan tennis team will be held next week under the direction of Attorney Joseph McFate, varsity tennis coach.

Practices are being held daily on the Phi Pi Phi courts and the season's prospects are exceptionally bright. The varsity courts will be ready for play next week.

Men out for the squad are Captain Findlay, Tiers, lettermen, and McGill, Sowash, J. McClure, Campbell, Perkins, and Ordish.

A tentative schedule has been drawn up as follows:

May 7—Geneva
May 9—Butler
May 13—At Youngstown Y
May 18—At Waynesburg
May 19—At Bethany
May 23—Youngstown Y
May 26—At Butler
May 28—Bethany
May 30—At Geneva

Titans-Dukes Will Not Meet In Cage Games

CONFLICTING SCHEDULES FORCE RIVALS TO NOT BOOK

Westminster and Duquesne will not meet in basketball next year because of conflicting dates.

Officials of both schools attempted to arrange court game dates for the '33 season but schedules had been drawn up by both schools before it was decided to resume athletic relationships.

The Titans meet the Dukes in a night football game at Forbes Field on September 16 to inaugurate the renewal of gridiron contacts between the two institutions.

The annual meeting of the alumni association will be held on Thursday afternoon in the Second church, North Side, followed by the alumni dinner at 5:30.

Commencement exercises will be held in the First church, Union avenue, at 7:45, Thursday evening May 5, with the commencement address given by Lewis Seymour Mudge, D. D. Dr. McNaugher will address the graduating class.

ELIZABETH ROSE IS SUCCESSFUL AS TEACHER OF MUSIC

Elizabeth Rose, '31, teacher of music in the New Wilmington public school, has geen unusually successful in her efforts to interest pupils in music.

Miss Rose is the first full-time music teacher employed in the New Wilmington school, for the school music was formerly under the direction of the instructor of public school music of the college conservatory.

ELIZABETH ROSE

During this, her first year of teaching, Miss Rose has organized an orchestra, a boy's quartet, a string trio, and a girls chorus of 55 voices, the latter winning first place in the district contest held in Bessemer, and first in the County Contest, held in New Castle on Friday evening, April 15.

Besides directing the music activities of the school, Miss Rose is also choir director of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church.

While in school, she was an active member of campus organizations, was president of the Town Girl's Club, and present of Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority at Westminster.

REV. W. E. PURVIS IS GROVE CITY COLLEGE PASTOR

Rev. Mr. William E. Purvis, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1888, is college pastor at Grove City College. He is also a member of the Samuel P. Harbison department of Bible. Grove City conferred upon Rev. Mr. Purvis the degree of doctor of divinity a few years ago.

Y. M. C. A. MAKES PLANS FOR YEAR

DR. BLACK TO SPEAK, AT "Y" MEETING TOMORROW

Plans for the coming year were discussed at the Y. M. C. A. meeting held last Wednesday evening in the lounge room of Browne Hall. This was the first meeting under the new officers and Wilbur Christy, the newly elected president, lead the discussion. After the regular meeting, a meeting of the new cabinet was held to map out a program for the year.

Among the activities of the Y. M. C. A. this year will be a continuation of the financial campaign begun several weeks ago, more extensive work with freshmen during the first week of school in September, the organization of a Y. M. C. A. quartet and gospel team to do work in the surrounding communities. The programs for the regular meetings will be more varied than they have been in the past, and it is planned to have several special speakers each month.

As the first speaker in this series of programs, Dr. H. L. Black, professor of mathematics, will speak to the Y. M .C. A. at the meeting tomorrow evening. All the men of the college are invited to attend this meeting.

COLLEGE CHAPEL TO BE SCENE OF MUSIC FESTIVAL MAY 26

Professor Alan B. Davis has announced that there will be a Music Festival May 26, in the college chapel. The Girl's Glee Club, under direction of Miss Florence Thomas; the orchestra under direction of Prof. E. N. Freeman; the male quartet and the male choir, under direction of Prof. Davis; and Mr. Nevin's organ students will take part in the program.

PAN-HELLENIC WILL HOLD SPORT DANCE SATURDAY, MAY 21

At a recent meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Council, plans were made for a dance to be held Saturday, May 21 in the college gym.

The following were appointed as committee members: Florence Groth, general chairman; Ruth Rowse, decorations; Olive Mills, orchestra; Dorothy Wilder, tickets; Ruth Kutcher, advertising; and Dorothy Hopwood, refreshments.

This will probably be a sport dance. Other developments will be announced later.

DR. GALBREATH TO SPEAK AT NE-CA-HI COMMENCEMENT

The June graduating class of the New Castle senior high will hear President R. F. Galbreath at their commencement, Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green announced last week. The commencement exercises will be held on Friday, June 3.

BIOLOGY MAJORS TO HAVE FIELD TRIP TO SWAMP

PYMATUNING AREA TO BE VISITED MAY 5

A special field trip for majors in biology will be taken under direction of Dr. E. B. Quick on Thursday afternoon of this week. The student group will travel to Sheakleyville to study swamp areas and swamp forests in the region near the Pymatuning swamp.

The field trip is of special interest, as the ground covered is part of the same genera region as the Pymatuning dam area, and follows some surveys of that particular area. A picnic supper will be cooked over open fire by the group.

Majors in biology who will take the trip are Evelyn Judson, Virginia Reeher, John Godjics, Chauncey Goodchild, Charles Martin and Dean Williams.

PROF. E. H. FREEMAN CONDUCTS CONCERT ORCHESTRA PRACTICES

Under direction of Prof. Freeman, the first orchestra practice was held last Wednesday evening at the Conservatory. Practice on "Valse Triste", by Sibelins was begun. Plans for the Overture to "Martha" by Fluton; exerpts from "The Student Prince" by Romberg; and "Berceuse" by Jarnjedt have been made for an orchestral concert in May. Practice will be held Monday evenings at seven o'clock and all who plays orchestral instruments are welcome.

"BETTER HUMANITY" THEME OF SPEECH BY W. F. WENTZEL

Mr. W. F. Wentzel, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society spoke o n"A Better Humanity" at the chapel service Monday morning. The work of the Humane Society was sketched and Mr. Wentzel explained how killing dumb animals has led many people to become criminals. Mr. Wentzel related many interesting experiences and told of a large bird farm in Erie.

NEVIN TO PRESENT NEW COMPOSITION AT ORGAN RECITAL

Gordon Balch Nevin will give his final organ recital Thursday evening, May 12 in the college chapel. Mr. Nevin will conclude his program of music, by American composers with his own arrangement of George Gershevin's, "Rhapsody in Blue. This organ arrangement is built upon Paul Whitman's orchestral arrangement and will be given because of numerous student requests.

CONWAYS ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF HOLCAD STAFF AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conway entertained the members of this year's and last year's Holcad staff, at dinner Thursday evening, April 28. Those attending were: Louise Adams, Clare Durrast, Virginia Kerins, Helen McCormick, Harriette Robinson and Ethel Thomas.

LITTLE THEATRE ANNOUNCEMENT

Because of the expense incurred through deterioration and loss, no Little Theatre equipment will be loaned to campus organizations in the future.

Dr. Russell Attends Penn State Meet

HISTORY GROUP TO ORGANIZE SOCIETY

Dr. E. B. Russell, head of the department of history and dean of men at Westminster, was one of the 16 college professors and historical society officers to attend an organization meeting at Penn State College on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Dr. A. E. Martin, professor of American history at Penn State, called the meeting in order that a historical society be organized which will meet a number of times each year to discuss questions of common interest. Specific attention will be paid to research in Pennsylvania state history.

DR. E. B. RUSSELL

Because of Dr. Russell's interest in and his past research in the history of the Keystone state, he was selected as one of the 16 representatives to gather at the organization meetings.

Dr. Russell has been a visiting professor at Penn State summer sessions. He has been professor of history at Westminster since 1922.

COMMUTORS CONDUCT FRIENDSHIP MEETING AT Y. W. C. A.

Helen Whieldon led the discussion of "Friendship" at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in the Hillside last Wednesday evening. Helen McLaughry talked on the basis of friendship, stressing love and loyalty.

Ruth Archibald told of the development of Y. W. C. A. friendship at Westminster and abroad. Ruth Wagoner read some poems and quotations concerning friendship. Among them was a poem "A Friend Unheard" by Corinne Shott. Under direction of Martha Hazlett, a friendship circle was formed with everyone joining hands.

Special music was presented by Ruthine Miller who sang "The Green Cathedrae." She was accompanied by Ruth Martin.

HONOR STUDENT LIST IS REVISED

According to announcement from the office of the Registrar, the honor group for this year's senior class has been revised. Robert Zimmerman, with an average of 3.0879, is second, but since he attended Westminster only 2½ years is not eligible for salutatory honors.

Virginia Reeher is valedictorian; Michael Kocheran, salutatorian; but the honor list reads as follows: First, Virginia Reeher; second, Robert Zimmerman; third, Michael Kocheran; fourth, Louise Adams; fifth, Margaret Sherbondy; sixth, William Beall; seventh, Frank Douds; eighth, Richard Fuller.

Ninth, Paul Gamble; tenth, Elliott Eellar; eleventh, Benjamin Gelfand; twelfth, Florence Groth; thirteenth, Doris Goff; fourteenth, Frances Parker; fifteenth, Dorothy Thompson; sixteenth, Ruth Hastings; seventeenth,, Harriet Buchholz.

BIOLOGY DEPT. GETS RARE BOOK

A set of the second edition of Carl Linnaeous' "Species Planatarum", published in Latin in 1762 and 1763, has been acquired by the college for the department of biology, Dr. B. E. Quick announces.

This edition was released from the Harvard library as a duplicate set, and is in unusually good condition. The edition is of exceptional interest in that it is a basic publication by the "father of botany" and establisher of the binomical system.

'Y" GROUPS LEAD CHAPEL SERVICE

DOROTHY SELLAR IS CHAIRMAN OF SERVICE

The Sabbath evening chapel ervice last week was conducted by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C.A. cabinets, with eight students and the double quartet taking part. Dorothy Sellar, Brookline, Mass., acted as chairman of the meeting.

Thomas McClure had the opening prayer, and Jane Black read the scripture lesson. The men's double quartet featured with, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Remarks were made by Paul Keenan, Annabelle Stevenson, Wilbur Christy, and Isabelle Kildoo.

Keenan spoke on "Peter, the Man," pointing out that the impulsive, rough, and daring disciple typified youth.

Miss Stevenson spoke on "Friendship", indicating friendship to fellow students, to parents, and to God as three distinct types.

Christy told of seeking the answer to the question—What Are the Requirements for Christian Living?" Miss Kildoo told of encouragement found in prayer and in the scriptures.

The service was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

MRS. McCONAGHA TO INTERVIEW STUDENTS OVER WKBN ON MAY 10

Mrs. Mary C. McConagha, assistant professor of speech, has worked up a campus interview for the sixth radio program of the college over WKBN, Youngstown, on Tuesday, May 10 . Mrs. McConagha will use five students from her advanced speech classes, and the interview will be concerned with campus chatter, students activities, and campus life.

DR. COPELAND SPEAKS ON ADVERTISING LIFE IN CHAPEL PROGRAMS

Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church of New Castle, was guest speaker at chapel service Wednesday, April, 27. "It Pays to Advertise" was the theme of Dr. Copeland's talk. He gave several examples in which he would have us look for the beautiful in life and be optimistic. Dr. Copeland pointed out that we are constantly advertising our college by our actions and appearance, and cited President Hoover as one of the modern colleges' truest allies by the complimentary way he speaks of them in his talks and address.

Dr. Copeland was the sixth of a series of speakers in daily chapel service.

WILLIAM M. BARR SPEAKS AT UNION VESPER SERVICE

The Rev. W. M. Barr, D.D., pastor of the United Presbyterian congregation, Delancey, New York, was the guest preacher at the union vesper service, held at 4 o'clock in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church, abbath, May 1.

Dr. Barr is visiting at the home of Dr. H. E. Barr, '94, New Wilmington, Pa., who has been ill for some time. He is a Westminster graduate of the clas of 1888.

SPECIAL CHAPEL

Today, tomorrow, and Thursday there will be a special morning chapel service at 8:45. The Carnegie Foundation exams require special instructions, and all students are required to take the examinations and to be present at the special chapel services.

PERSONNEL OFFICE HAS LITHOGRAPH OF OLD WESTMINSTER

PHOTO OF 1867 PERIOD IS IN PERSONNEL OFFICE

A unique lithograph of Westminster Collegiate Institute", printed in Pittsburgh during the 1860-1867 period, is now in the Personnel office. The lithograph, owned by Thomas R. Jones, '98, was donated by him to the college.

The picture, done in colors, shows the main college building, two small buildings, home on Market street, a water fountain on the campus, a merry-go-round for student exercise, and stage coaches cluttering up the roads.

While the perspective and proportions, especially those depicting the location of Furnace hill, are a bit askew, the lithograph is a good one. The dress of the students of the time is also interesting.

This picture is one of a number which will be framed and placed in the Men's Lounge, Old Main Memorial. Photos of former presidents and professors, and old-time views of the campus will be included in the collection.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION PLANS FOUR-COUNTY MEET AT AMBRIDGE

Librarians from Mercer, Lawrence, Beaver, and Butler counties will attend the four-county library association meeting, to be held in Ambridge, May 6.

According to Miss Mildred Ailman the program includes several features of unusual interest.

One of the most interesting features of the morning session will be a round table discussion of work with the foreign-born, led by Miss Susan Himmelwright, of the Jones Memorial library, Aliquippa.

Miss Alice M. Sterling, head of the New Castle public libraries will speak on, "The Challenge of 1932."

After lunch, the librarians will visit the Great House, and other Economite landmarks in Ambridge.

Echoes from the American Library Association meeting, held in New Orleans last week, will be given by Miss Frances H. Kelley, principal of the Carnegie Library school, Pittsburgh.

Miss Mildred Ailman, former president of the association, will give a talk on "Outstanding Books of the Year."

SENIORS BOOK SILVER SLIPPER ORCHESTRA FOR SPRING DANCE

Louis Hazen, president of the senior class, announces the appointment of the committee in charge of the Senior dance to be held Saturday, May 28, in the gymnasium. Robert Weingartner, New Castle, is head of the committee and his assistants are: Blodwen Davis, New Castle; Fred Blaha, New Castle; Dorothy McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y.; Amy Jean Young, New Castle; and David Findlay, Ben Avon.

The decorations are to be in conjunction with a nature theme in keeping with May day.

Negotiations have been completed with Eddie Edwards and his Silver Slipper orchestra has been secured to play. The Silver Slipper has been a feature of the National Broadcasting chain. Eddie Edwards got his start in the Silver Slipper night Club in New York. From here he went to the Paramount Grill. He has played for the 400 club, and for Reisenweber's gayest of Broadway's, night clubs. His orchestra has also been prominent as a Victor recording orchestra.

The dance will be a college function.

War Based On Fear, President Tells Women

PSYCHOLOGY OF WAR IS SUBJECT OF TALK

"We must live, work and pray for an abiding World Peace," said Dr. Robert Galbreath, president of Westminster, as he made his initial appearance before the members of the Woman's Club in the Highland church, New Castle, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. T. F. Stryker introduced the speaker of the afternoon, who gave a most interesting address on "World Peace" telling of many personal experiences during the World War. He also spoke of his contact with the different peoples of different nations on his trip abroad last summer and his summing up of the attitudes of the nations was that no nation and none of the people of the nations desire another war, although, he said conditions pointed to imminence of another devilish, diabolical cataclysm, which, if it comes, would be even worse than the last war, which was full of terrors and horrors.

He said the psychology of war was built on the psychology of fear, and that nations entered into war more for fear of what might happen if they stayed out than for any love of the warfare.

He said the policy of war is to kll and destroy and the basis of abiding world peace would come through the Christian religion, when all men learn they are all the sons of one God.

He enumerated the calamites that would befall the world should another war take place, and he said the only way to avoid this catcylsm would be to live, work and pray for a brotherhood of all nations and an abiding world peace.

MOST BOYS FROWN ON "BLIND DATES'

"In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love." It is around this time of the year that co-eds and their fellow classmates lay aside their books in favor of afternoon classes of co-education and track. Besides this form of dating there is another kind into which almost every young man or woman has been inveigled. This is commonly known as "blind-dating". This subject has long been the subject of much discussion but never has any real conclusion been reached as to the benefits, if any, of such dating. For this reason, the opinions of various htudents have been secured.

"Ginny" Reeher, valedictorian of this year's senior class, believes that "variety is the spice of life." She said that although she never has had many she usually is able to find that both parties concerned have something in common. "A blind date", says Miss Reeher, "is something to which one looks forward because he may be good looking."

NOT SO GOOD

The president of the junior class, Gerald Newton, says that blind dates are all right as long as they don't prove embarrassing to either party. In ending, Mr. Newton said, "But I still don't think much of them." Gerry should be considered an authority on the subject due to the fact that he is president of Delta Nabla, honorary mathematics fraternity and, therefore, must know all about curves and angles.

Bill Staples, popular football player, when asked his opinion, said that it all depends on what you get. Staples admitted that he has been stung "all but twice". His fraternity brother, "Jinx" Hamas emphatically declared that "they're the bunk". He was able to make such a statement by reviewing his past experience.

CAMPUS PRIDE

Spring has appeared on Westminster's campus and with it a vigorous program of campus improvement. Under a carefully planned system of lanscaping, the college is setting out attractive blocks of shrubbery and trees. The corners of the campus-proper have been made extremely decorative by artistic groupings of barberry bushes and small pine trees. The grading and seeding of the stretch of campus in front of Browne Hall promises an entirely new addition to the beauty of Westminster's surroundings.

This movement to beautify Westminster's campus evidences an enthusiastic, active interest on the part of the college authorities to make Westminster a beauty spot. A word to Westminster's students may not be out of the way. To the student body belongs the duty of appreciating and preserving these elements of beauty in the campus. Their cooperation in the care of campus property is absolutely essential if Westminster is going to continue to develop a beautiful campus.

It should be obvious to students of college age that the campus is not intended to serve as a playground. Since there is an abundance of open-field space in New Wilmington, Westminster athletic enthusiasts should confine their sports to off-campus property, and show a consideration for the college campus that will allow the appearance of the campus to become a source of increasing pride and pleasure. —D. B.

SPOONERISMS

The Rev. Dr. William Spooner, Honorary Fellow of New College, Oxford, who has just died in his eighty-seventh year, was connected with the college for sixty-eight years and for twenty-one years of that period was the college warden. It was during his incumbency of that office that he one morning in chapel gave out the hymn: "Kinquering Kongs Their Titles Take," to the hardly repressed delight of the assembled undergraduates, to whom chapel services rarely brought a gleam of interest. They at once seized upon this happy slip of the warden's tongue, and news of it spread throughout the college and the university. A craze broke out among the students for manufacturing other whimsies of the kind, and as most of them were attributed to the warden they came to be known far and wide as "Spoonerisms," though Dr. Spooner himself hardly ever again made another slip like that which brought him fame. He did, indeed, now and then good-naturedly coin one, like the question, "Is it kistomary to cuss the bride?" and the other, "Do you never harbor in your bosom a half-warmed fish?" But when they tell us that at a dinner during Queen Victoria's jubilee he called for "Three cheers for our queer old dean" and a little later, at Portsmouth, went down the harbor "to visit the cattle ships and the bruisers" of the fleet, we fear that the credit should go to the ingenious young men who invent the "schoolboy howlers" which add to the gayety of the English-speaking peoples. They are too good to be accidental. Most of them, indeed, are clearly enough the work of students. One idle youth, we are told, was accused by the warden of "tasting a whole worm," another was rebuked for "fighting liars in the quadrangles," and still another was scolded for "hissing all the term's mystery lecture's

Almost every one of us catches himself now and then. like Dr. Spooner, letting his thoughts be tripped up by a hasty tongue. . .. It was the time and the place, the sheer loveliness of the preacher's "break" before a company of lively students, that conspired to make his name a household word. —Boston Evening Transcript.

Not the least of the incentives to the college to mend its ways has been the demand of its own more thoughtful students that they be given opportunities more worthy of their metal. The present generation of youth, with all its traits so disturbing to the Victorian complacency of my own, seems to me in general a superb lot and distinctly more promising than its forbears. —President Angell.

THE ART OF DISGUISE

There is only a limited number of people in the world who sympathetically understand and appreciate the numerous problems, the irritating intricacies, which plague even a master plumber in an average day. Most of us blissfully bathe without a thought of the sweat, the pains and the imprecations which lie in the background of the most ordinary bath-tub. We remove the grime of a day's toil, and pass on without a tear, without a sigh.

This is only one example of the almost cruel indifference of human beings for instance, is almost negligible, when one thinks of the blithe superciliousness with which the general reader approaches and leaves a book. How can he, so unceremoniously close down any volume and say with a shrug "Rot", or "Fair". Is this not throwing down the gauntlet to certain extremely venerable and sanctimonious deities? Have we not here evidence of a failure to worship at the larger and more incense-laden altars? Without answering these questions, and with some trepidation, I can only remind the tutored and the un-tutored alike that it is only a matter of the paths down which our own particular illusions, our own feelings for what is real, have led us.

Tomorrow in New Wilmington, some old spinster will worry about the problem of food-distribution in the Paradise to come. Last night a piano-salesman in Milwaukee was deeply pertrurbed over the showing of a certain horse at Pimlico. And today I consider it at least relatively important that the problem of literary expression can suffer further comment.

Early in the eighteenth century, all but a few writers agreed that only certain matters were worth discussing, that only certain feelings were noble enough to demand expression, and that there was little latitude in the manner of communication. Politics, mores, nature, were all relegated to rhymed couplets and measured diction. Later in the century, when the earlier methods appeared insincere, a new relationship arose. Then it was decided, and the authority was equally inexorable in its demands, that haunted castles, moody Nature, and the villain-virgin problem were important. One wept; one cherished, and from the very page there was wafted back a sweet-sour scent fragrant with pity and a vague sort of love in limbo.

Here again, after a period of uncertainty, literature and life were closely analogous. But such a perfect state of affairs could not last for long, and the nineteenth century with all of its faddishness and its decadent naivete, serves us as a criticism in caricature of universality which attempts to frame heedlessly, by arbitrary legislation, the myriad shades of consciousness.

Today, we who pride ourselves upon finding life anything but georamical, have fallen heir to these fine frenzies of our predecessors. We prefer to consider the clamorings of a wider experience diffuse, and, to an extent, anomalous. Naturally, when time-worm enigmas are discarded, new ones take their place. There is no longer any danger that literature shall become subject to a sterile universality of theme and style. The difficulties in modern writing, from the point of view of the critic, lie in another direction.

Although there have been many changes of attitude in feeling and philosophy in the early decades of this century, descriptive terms have on the whole remained the same—Romantic, Classical, Realistic, Sentimental—such words still hold imperious sway. But certaintly if more subtle meanings in vocabulary have arisen, these terms cannot mean the same to us as they did to the eighteenth century for instance. At that time, Romaticism and Classicism referred to a definite dated attitude toward experience, an attitude which was expressed through the medium of set forms.

The modern reader then, must not judge a writer so much by his style as by his fundamental perception and judgment of human values. Sometimes this is very difficult. There are writers who are stylistically impressionists, for one reason or another, and yet who avoid realism as though it were a plague. There are those who, on the surface, affect a modern preoccupation with sensuality, but who finally convey to the reader if he observes carefully, a noble indifference to the very problems discussed. John Cowper Powys in "Wolf Solent" and "A Glastonbury Romance" seems at first glance to be a morbid sensualist, just another sex enthusiast—but after one has siped his flavor over and over again, it appears that he is a rigid classicist who is original enough to practice certain very old classical theories. With the proper amount of disinterest, he is seeking through accurate detail to derive reality.

Thus the reader who pretends to be critical, and most readers make that pretension, should first dig through the terms which invariably clutter his mind, and seek the individual, who in turn will more than likely classify himself. —W. A.

Walker Brownlee agrees with the majority of his fellow students when he says, "It just depends. As a rule they're not so good, but every once in a while one is bound to find a nugget."

REFUSES COMMENT

We have among us one student who refuses to comment on the subject. Bob N. Jones, for it is he who refers us to "Kenny" Mehl, originator of the affair which was a failure from the very beginning.

The dasing young Romeo from Long Island, Walt Young, says "The suspense' is most exciting because there are just as many chances that you will receive something good as there are that you will get something bad." For this reason the popular T. U .O. pledge heartily approves of this form of dating.

WOMEN ARE VAPID

Eric Thompson, most brilliant member of the sophomore class, frankly says that he doesn't waste his time in such a way because women are "vain and vapid creatures."

Last but not least, our worthy May King, "Ding-dong" Dindinger, hates blind dates. "They're all off as far as I'm concerned" asserts the May-King, which only leads us to believe that he, too, has been stung.

McKEE SPEAKS AT KIWANIS CLUB MEET

"Relations of Economical Conditions Between the Two Countries" was the theme which Prof. C. W. McKee of Westminster college discussed before the New Castle Kiwanis Club at dinner-time in the Elks club last Wednesday, when the members observed a "United States-Canada Week" program.

McKee was introduced by C. A. Bolen. Guests were Arthur Kirkbride, New Wilmington, and H. C. Knittel, new member of the club.

Track Tryouts Called For Wednesday

INTER-CLASS MEET TO GIVE TRACKSTERS WORKOUT

All members of the football and basketball squads who have not as yet reported for the varsity track squad, do so not later than this afternoon. Track drills for weight men and runners will be held on the Upper Track Field at 4:30 each afternoon except Wednesday. Drills on Wednesday start at 4 o'clock because of the fact that tryouts are held on this day. The first tryouts for the team will be held tomorrow afternoon beginning at four o'clock. The shot put, javelin, discus, and hammer events will be first to be tried.

The varsity track team will hold its first tryout sessions tomorrow afternoon starting at 4 o'clock. Weight events will be first, with all running events starting at 4:30.

The tryouts tomorrow will be in the nature of an inter-class meet, with points to be awarded the men according to class. It is thought that the freshman class, will be on top.

Students managers and members of the squad are requested by the coach to be on hand early for the tryouts. Tomorrow's showing will determine places on the varsity team for the first dual meet of the season.

WETTICH ELECTED W. A. A. HEAD

At a meeting of W. A. A. held Tuesday evening, April 26, the annual election of officers was held. Those elected for the various offices are president, Virgil Wettick; vice-president, Jean Miller; secretary, Evelyn Judson; treasurer, Lillian Baird; and hike-leader, Mary Morrow. It was announced at the meeting that Dr. Galbreath had given his permission for W. A. A. to roller skating one night a week on the campus walks, and also to hold swimming parties in the college pool.

THREE THREE-SPORT STARS ON TRACK TEAM

Three three-sport stars are members of the varsity track team this spring. They are Harry Brownlee, captain, hurdler, and hammer thrower; Mauno Siljander, javelin thrower, broad jumper, and sprinter, and Ray Sweeney, hurdler and sprinter.

MAUNO SILJANDER

Brownlee holds letters in football, basketball, and track. Siljander also has letters in three sports. Sweeney was quarterback on the football team, won a letter in basketball, and is now trying for a letter in track.

All three men are versatile track performers, and should garner plenty of points for the Titans this year.

T. U. O. TEAM LEADS VOLLEY BALL RACE

Participants in intra-mural sports have been busy with volley-ball and archery for the past two weeks. The volley-ball games are played in the evening after dinner. To date the T. U. O. fraternity is leading the field with three games won and no losses. The Phi Pi's are running a close second with two victories and no defeats.

Most of the games to date have been exciting and full of humerous incidents. Bud Brownlee, who was Westminster's representative at the Penn Relays, had the rather dubious honor of being called a lackadaisical player by one of his fraternity brothers. Good natured joshing like that was heard throughout the game.

Jack Hulme has been busy preparing the archers for the finals to be held on Friday and Saturday. Jack claims that he has discovered a couple of embryonic William Tells. Rose and Southard have been showing exceptionally good form and are going to be two tough boys to defeat in the finals.

TITAN TRACK CAPTAIN FEARED LOST IN FLORIDA ORANGE BLIZZARD

[Editors Note] Brownlee hit town last night to emphatically deny all rumors. He claims that "Jinx" Hamas can be blaimed for the false stories circulated here.

Girls hearts were fluttering when they saw the handsome bicycle cowboy on the campus yesterday. Rumors are to the effect that he was looking for "Bud" Brownlee, Titan track captain and basketball ace.

As the story goes, the culprit was to take part in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia last Saturday but did not put in an appearance. As college officials had paid his expenses to the meet, efforts were being made to locate him. Rumors were flying thick and fast that he had jumped the hurdles in record time to take home a certain Hootstown lass as the bacon. Efforts were made to verify the reports but the writer was unsuccessful in all attempts. Messages were dispatched to Hootstown late last night and it was reported that he was training for the 100 yard dash as his prize is the champion rolling-pin tosser of Mercer county, holding the record with a 90 yard heave. Which fact gives "Bud" all the right in the world to enter the sprinter's class. Among the people broached on the subject were "Jinx" Hamas, Brownlee's partner in crime, "DingDong", the ever popular May Queen and fraternity brother, the Kap boys, who have more than ordinary interest in the affair, and Coach R. X. Graham, who said in his effervescent style that Brownlee differed from Calvin Coolidge because he DID choose to run.

Theta Upsilons, Kappa Delts, Independents are Victorious In Opening Baseball Games

With the coming of spring—Intramural girl's baseball has come to Westminster. In the first game played last Tuesday, the Theta Upsilons defeated the Sigma Kappas 24 to 17.

Snyder starred for the Theta U's with five runs while Brown and Patch each rounded the bases four times for the Sigma Kaps. At the end of the first inning the Theta U's led with the score 9 to 5. By the end of the third the Sigma Kaps were within two points of the winners. In the fourth and fifth innings the leaders rallied and brought the lead up to seven points.

the lineups:

Sigma Kappa—Martin, pitcher; Patch, catcher; C. Brown, 1st base; Newall, 2nd base; Rouse, 3rd base; Parker, right field; Davis, left field.

Wednesday the Independents defeated the Chi Omegas 14 to 13. At the end of the first inning the score was tied, each side having a total of six runs. The Chi Omegas went ahead the second inning by making six runs to none for the Independents. The next two innings the Chi Omegas went scoreless and the Independents came up to within one point of the lead. In the last inning the Independents pulled ahead to win by one point. Judson was high scorer for the Independents while Ralston made the most points for the Chi Omegas.

The lineups:

Chi Omegas—Ralston, pitcher; Fleming, catcher; Fox, 1st base; Curtis, 2nd base; Young, 3rd base; Wettich, right field; Miller, left field.

Thursday the Alpha Gamma Deltas forfeited their game to the Kappa Deltas, and yesterday they forfeited to the Omicron Mu Gammas.

FRANKLINS WIN

Irving Franklin and his Crooners yodeled their way to a one-sided victory last night over the Leyshock "Defectives" in a ball game played on the south campus.

Franklin, radio artist, gave the pitch and the game wa on to the tusne of "Kopp at the Bat." The Cronners were led to victory by the thunderous basso and long hit range of the "Campbell Butcher."

Lineups: Defectives—Simpson, c; Bloker, 1; Blaner, 3; Headlee, rf; Baird, 2; Hill, cf; Hunneke, ss; Hnter, lf; Leyschock, p. Crooners—Newton, 3; Franklin, p; Helmick, ss; Dawson, cf; Kopp, 2; Ferguson, lf; Lausberg, 1; Gyer, rf; and Southard, 1.

COMPETES IN HURDLES AND SPRINTS

Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., can't seem to get enough of sports. After playing quarterback on the football team last fall, Sweeney reported for the basketball team on which he played well.

RAY SWEENEY

Now the diminutice 140-pound star is drilling daily for a place on the varsity track team. Sweeney runs the high and low hurdles, and has done some sprinting. He should prove a valuable addition to the Titan cinder team.

MADDUCKS IS MANAGER OF TRACK TEAM

Harry Madducks ,New Castle, is student manager of the varsity track team which may swing into action this Saturday against Waynesburg on the local field.

H. MADDUCKS

Madducks has been an assistant manager for three seasons, and knows the duties of his position very well.

He is a major in business administration and is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity. Assistant managers are Charles Martin and Charles Trevaskis.

Freshmen candidates for the managerial post are still needed, Madducks says. Report any afternoon at 4:20 at the gymnasium.

LIFE SAVING

Life-saving practice, under the direction of Hulme, is being held in the gym every Thursday and Friday. The students that have completed the courses of instructions will be tested and, if they pass the tests, will be given a life saving badge.

Tennis Team Plays Geneva Here Saturday

EIGHT MATCHES LINED UP FOR CURRENT SEASON

Eight tennis matches have been scheduled and two more are tentative for the Westminster tennis team, announcement was made yesterday.

The Titan racquet team swings into action on Saturday, with Geneva furnishing the oppostion on the home courts. Captain David Findlay, Ben Avon, hopes to lead a strong team against the Covenanters.

The schedule: May 7, Geneva at home; May 10, Butler Musketeers at home; May 14, Youngstown College at Youngstown, O.; May 18, Waynesburg at Waynesburg; May 19, Bethany at Bethany; May 24, Youngstown College at home; May 26, Butler Musketeers at Butler; May 30, Geneva at Beaver Falls.

Attorney Joseph McFate, New Castle, is again coach of the Titan tennis team. McFate was captain of the conference championship team in 1926.

Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter Makes Alumni Day Drive

LARGE CROWD OF GRADS EXPECTED HERE ON JUNE 4

A message from the Pittsburgh chapter of the Alumni Association to the graduates of the district is reprinted herewith:

Heigh Ho! Tally Ho! Heave Ho!

It's about time to lift anchor and get steam up for the Westminster Commencement and Alumni Day. Sitting around reminiscing about the Good Old Days—the days when the old Sharpie toddled languidly up from the junction with a capacity load of passengers; or when John Allen's hack, with the horses' tails flying to the breeze, the oil lamps illuminating the ditches, and the mud flying hither and yon, brought the late comers in from the night train; or when you had to jump from stepping stone to avoid sinking up to your knees in mud when crossing the street; or when a girl's ankle was still something or other of a curiosity—sitting around reminiscing about those days will not get you to the grandest Commencement in Westminster's history. If you feel a fit of reminiscing coming on, come on up to Wilmington an Alumni Day, where you will be faced with some real competition.

In this era of (ahem!) prosperity, no one need be left at home. Fill up that rear deck, or that rumble seat, of that 1927 Ford or that 1924 Packard you are driving, with Westminstentes, past, present and future.

The last couple of years may have lopped off a good sized chunk of our physical values, but they cannot dim the lustre of our friendship values and our common loyalty for the old school. If you want to see how that old girl you were fond of twenty years ago looks today, if you want to traverse a few of the old paths with the one you actually married, if you want to be rejuvenated by the contact with youth, if you want fellowship with your old friends, if you want to see the new campus and buildings, if you want to geet the new President, Come! June 4.

We want to see you!

—Pittsburgh Chapter, Westminster Alumni!

ALUMNI ARE AMONG SPEAKERS AT HOME MISSION CONGRESS

Several Westminster alumni are listed as speakers on the program of the Home Mission Congress, to be held in the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday, May 20, through Monday, May 23.

Miss Ida B. Little, '96, will speak Saturday morning on "The Race Problem. Dr. W. J. Grimes, '92, will also speak Saturday morning on "The Rural Problem."

President of Cairo University To Speak at Commencement

WATSON TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Dr. R. F. Galbreath announced Friday that plans are completed for the annual commencement week activities which start on Saturday, June 4. As has been the custom for the last few years, the commencement activities will follow the week-end plan.

Dr. Charles R. Watson, president of the American University of Cairo, Egypt, will be the speaker at the commencement on Monday afternoon, June 6, in the United Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Lloyd S. Ruland, Binghamton, N. Y., will preach the Christian associations sermon on Sabbath morning, June 5. Rev. Mr. Ruland is a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1911.

The complete schedule follows: Saturday, June 4, at noon, alumni dinner in the United Presbyterian church parlors. Annual alumni meeting and election of officers will take place at 1:30, Saturday afternoon. During the afternoon will be class reunions and fellowship of alumni and former students.

In the evening, the crowning of the May Queen, the traditional "Senior Sing", and the "Peace Pow Wow" will take place on the South Terrace, Old Main Memorial.

The Christian associations sermon will be delivered on Sabbath morning, June 5, at 11o'clock in the United Presbyterian church. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by President Galbreath in the college chapel on Sabbath evening at 7:30.

On Monday, June 6, the board of trustees will meet in the main college building at 10 o'clock in the morning. The athletic council will meet in the gymnasium preceding the board meeting.

Commencement will take place at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon in the U. P. church. The academic procession will form on the South terrace at 1:30 and will move to the church promptly at 1:50.

Other activities of the commencement season will be a senior class dance in the gymnasium on Saturday, May 28, and a senior picnic to be held on the afternoon of Saturday, June 4. Graduation recitals of students in the conservatory of music will also feature the week of commencement.

Music for the Christian Associations sermon will be provided by the United Presbyterian church choir.

For the baccalaureate service, the girls' chorus, directed by Miss Florence Mae Thomas, will sing.

Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride will present a vesper organ recital in the chapel at 4 o'clock, Sabbath afternoon, June 5, as part of the commencement activities.

COLONIAL THEME ARGO DUE MAY 26, EDITOR REA SAYS

The class of 1933 Argo, following a colonial theme in honor of the George Washington bicentennial, will re ready for distribution on the campus on Thursday, May 26, Ed Rea, editor, stated yesterday.

The book, in buff and blue color combinations, will it is thought, be typical of the Westminster yearbooks of the last four years. A number of new features are included in this year's annual, the basketball section is somewhat different, the border is a "bleed" type on the outside of the page only, and the feature section contains many new kinds of photos.

Willis McGill, business manager, will announce later the exact time and place for distribution of the books. Students who have paid their Argo fee and class dues will receive their copies. Each student must call for his own book. Alumni and former students who desire copies of the book may purchase them at $4.

CONSERVATORY IS AGAIN ON STATE ACCREDITED LIST

The Westminster Conservatory is again on the accredited list of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, word from Harrisburg states. Music preparation at Westminster is accepted in any high or grammar school in the state, and is also accepted by many neighboring tates.

College Plans Broadcast On KDKA May 25

Westminster will be heard over radio station KDKA, the pioneer broadcasting station of the world, Pittsburgh, on Wednesday afternoon, May 25, President Galbreath announced Saturday.

The program, to be given from 4:15 to 4:30, has not been fully determined as yet. It will be announced in next week's Holcad.

This radio broadcast, together with six programs over WKBN, Youngstown, constitutes Westminster's latest means of reaching alumni, friends, and prospective students.

ONE-ACT PLAYS RECEIVE PRAISE OF PACKED HOUSE

The last dramatic program of the Little Theatre year, two- one-act plays produced last Thursday evening in the Little Theatre, received the plaudits of two packed houses. Undeer direction of Professor A. T. Cordray, the student players produced two dramas which were highly entertaining and well acted and staged.

"A Minuet", the first play, was highly romantic and typically French. The costumes, dim lighting effects, and acting all were excellent.

In the second play, cuttings from "Midsummer Night's Dream" which depicted Bottom and his fellows planning and then producing the Pyramus and Thisbe play, the audience was kept in almost continual laughter. Charlotte Bartlett as "Bottom," and all other in the cast were very effective and gave a fine representation of what Shakespeare had in mind.

MUSIC STUDENTS HELD RECITAL LAST THURSDAY

Students of the Conservatory presented a recital in the Conservatory May 5. The program, which was very well received, consisted of the following piano and vocal solos: "Elfin Dance"—Jensen, Elmira Schoup; "Spring Song" Liebling, Ruth Sewall; "Scotch Poem"—MacDowell, Ruthine Miller; "Wake Up",—Phillips, Ethel Denniston, accompanied by Anna Ruth Martin; "Where My Rainbow Ends" Corniche and "Message"—Speaks, Margaret Weber, accompanied by Sadie Mae Foltz.

"Sonata in C"—Mozart, Lowenne Swindler, second piano part—Grieg, Irma Wible; "Destiny"—Ellis, Charlotte Melhorn, with Charlette Kuerner as accompanist; "Spanich Dance"—Gronadas, Grace Jones; "Rustle of Spring—"Sinding, Margaret Reese.

"My Love Rode By"—Calbreath, Charlotte Kuerner, with Charlotte Melhorn accompanying; "Joy"—Harvey Gual, and "O Bring You Heartease"—Brauscombe, Ruth Martin, Mary J. Stunkard, accompanist; "Carnival"—Grieg, Edith Carson.

HOLCAD GIVEN SECOND CLASS HONOR RATING

WEEKLY IS RATED IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Second class honor rating has been given the Holcad in the annual rating by the National Scholastic Press Association, officials at the University of Minnesota wrote on Saturday.

The Holcad was given a total of 705 points out of a possible 1,000 by judges in the contest. This rating is higher than that received last year, and indicates inprovement in makeup, news style, and editorials, the report said.

Typography of headlines was the chief criticism given the Holcad by the judges. The bottom of the page needs to be "livened up" with larger headlines, in the opion of the contest officials.

Highest score was given complete coverage of all departments and all activities, and special mention was made of equal and balanced treatment given various activities of the college.

The sports page news coverage was declared excellent in that both major and minor sports receive mention, and a place is given to intramural activities.

SPEAKERS FOR COMMENCEMENT ARE U. P. MEN

Dr. Charles R. Watson, president of the American University of Cairo, Egypt, commencement speaker at Westminster this year; and the Rev. Lloyd S. Ruland, '11, the Christian associations service speaker, are both leaders in United Presbyterian church work.

Dr. Watson, a graduate of Ohio State and of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, is secretary of the board of foreign missions of the United Presbyterian church. He is the father of the American University at Cairo, and is the first and only president the university has had. Dr. Watson is one of the best-known figures in the United Presbyterian demonination, and is considered an authority on Eastern affairs.

Rev. Mr. Ruland, a graduate of Westminster with the class og 1911, received his theological training at McCormick Seminary in Chigo. He was a missionary to China until uprisings in that country in recent years, and is now pastor of a Binghamton, N. Y. church.

Student Canvass Work And Publicity are Progressing

MANY ADVERTISING METHODS ARE USED

Westminster is being made known over a wide area through the combined efforts of the Personnel Office and the Publicity Office.

A variety of advertising and publicity methods have been employed by this combined effort. New signboards on the Sharon and New Castle roads invite travelers to stop and visit the campus.

A series of radio programs over WKBN, Youngstown, have featured various activities of the college, and have brought many return cards in from listeners. A number of student prospect names have also been sent in on radio return cards. Another radio program over KDKA, Pittsburgh, will be given on May 25.

Window displays in the Pittsburgh and New Castle districts have attracted considerable attention. A beautiful new "shadow box", with a cut-out of Old Main Memorial, has been used for such a display. This exhibit, including many fine photos of the college and of college activities, is now in the Strouss-Hirshberg window in New Castle. It will later be used in Sharon, Youngstown, Cleveland, Akron, and Canton.

Direct mail pieces have included a series of beautiful illustrated folder letters, catalogs, and illustrated folders announcing radio programs. Return cards enclosed with this printed matter have brought in many requests for information, catalogs, application blanks, and interviews.

All three leading press associations, 123 daily newspapers, three church papers, and 27 weekly newspapers are on the mailing list of the the News Bureau. Daily news copy is sent out to all newspapers from Wheeling, W. Va. on the south, and from Johnston on the ast to Cleveland on the west. Photos and mats accompany many of the stories.

Advertisements have been run in newspapers and in church papers, with new layouts and new copy provided to attract the attention of parents and prospective students. Letters have been sent many student prospects from the Personnel office, a staff of stenographers having been hired periodically to handle this work.

Copies of the Holcad and of football programs have been sent all student prospects on the preferred list by the New Bureau office, and several departments have sent special letters to prospects who have written in indicating their course interests.

Fine, colored posters have been sent high schools and churches to arouse interest in the college. Copies of the Argo, All-American yearbook, have also been donated to high school libraries.

The only medium not yet used in the promotion and advertising and publicity campaign this year is the moving picture. It is possible that movies will be made at commencement to be used at alumni gatherings and in young people's societies.

PREXY SPEAKS AT CONFERENCE ON SATURDAY

The annual meeting of the liberal arts colleges of western Pennsylvania was held at Allegheny College, Meadville, on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Representatives of Westminster, Geneva, Thiel, Allegheny, and Grove City were present, as well as a number of special guests.

At the afternoon session, Dr. F. G. Hencke of Allegheny and Dr. W. B. Jones of the University of Pittsburgh spoke. A dinner was served in the evening for the college presidents and representatives present.

Two of the district's new presidents: Dr. R. F. Galbreath of Westminster, and Dr. W. P. Tolley of Allegheny, spoke at the evening meeting.

A number of faculty members from Westminster attended the special group meetings for professors of the colleges in the district, held in connection with this annual meeting of the presidents.

Nevin Gives Recital In Chapel Thurs.

AMERICAN COMPOSERS TO BE FEATURED

Gordon Balch Nevin, professor of pipe organ, will present an organ recital of works by American composers on Thursday, May 12, at 8:15 in the college chapel.

Featuring Professor Nevin's recital will be one of his own compositions, "Sketches of the City", and, by request of many students and faculty members, "Rhapsody in Blue", by George Gershwin.

Other number will include "Concert Overture in B Minor", by James Rogers; "Papillons Noir", by Harry Japson; "American Fantasie" by Victor Herbert; "Fountain Sparkling in the Sunlight", by Hugo Goodwin; and "The Mist", by Harvey Gaul.

Professor Nevin is the author of a number of books, chief among which are "First Lessons on the Organ", "A Primer of Organ Registration", "Swell Pedal Technic", "Advanced Pedal Studies", "Seventy-two Interludes", and "History of Pipe Organ Music."

The recital on May 12 will be free and will be open to the public.

DR. GALBREATH TO SPEAK AT NUMBER OF COMMENCEMENTS

President R. F. Galbreath will speak at nine different school commencements this year. Starting May 28, Dr. Galbreath will be busy with such scholastic and academic ceremonies until June 10.

In addition to the Westminster baccalaureate service on Sabbath, June 5, Dr. Galbreath will speak at Ellwood City high school's commencement on May 28; will preach the baccalaureate at Indiana State Teachers' College on May 22; will be the commencement speaker at Monaca high school on May 26; and will speak at the Farrell high school graduation ceremonies on May 31.

Other commencement addresses will be delivered at: Union Township high school, June 1; Bethel Township high school, June 2; New Castle high school, June 3; Youngstown, O., East high school, June 9; and Bessemer high school, June 10.

Y. W. LAWN FETE TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY, JUNE 4

Dorothy Grant, Evelyn Judson, and Mary Morrow have been selected as the general committee in charge of the lawn fete to be held June 4, on the Hillside terrace. The Y. W. C. A. will sponsor the affair.

Other committees in clude: Decorations—Jane Black, Betty Newell, Elaine Nagel, and Doris Shawkey; posters: Dorothy Patch and Ethel Thomas; Tables: Marian Johnston, Ruth Rowse, and Charlotte Melhorn; punch: Dorothy Cowden and Martha Holliday; candy: Betty Curtiss and Louise Studebaker; and cakes: Martha Hazlett Jean Miller and Helen Snyder.

Sixth Radio Program On Air Tonight

STUDENTS INTERVIEWED HAVE VARIED INTERESTS

Westminster's sixth radio program over station WKBN, Youngstown, O., will be presented tonight from 9:15 to 9:45. The program will feature an interview developed by Mrs. Mary C. McConagha and five members of a class in speech.

The five students, representing five different sections of the country and five separate plans for life work after gradution, are: Ernest Durrast, New York City; Louise Adams, Cairo, Egypt, Joseph Lockley, New Castle; Theodore Robins, Sharon; and Elliott Sellar, Boston, Mass.

Two of these students are sophomores, and three are seniors. They came from five different directions to Westminster, and they plan to go into careers that will take them in five separate ways. They will "air" some views on college and careers.

Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride, professor of piano will play two piano solos as part of this radio program. Miss Kirkbride will open the program with "Valse de Concert" by Levitski, and will close the program with "The Nightingale", by Albieff-Lizst.

Mrs. McConagha, a graduate of Slippery Rock State Normal, National School of Speech, and Geneva College, has taken graduate work at the University of Chicago, University of Michigan, and Columbia University. She has been assistant professor of speech at Westminster since 1923.

Browne Hall Converted to Girl's Dorm

FROSH MEN TO BE IN SUPERVISED HOUSES

Robert Audley Browne hall, dormitory for freshman men at Westminster, will be converted into a dormitory for women next fall, President Galbreath announced yesterday.

The dormitory, built in 1927 and first occupied in 1928, has housed freshman men. Slight alterations will be made, a parlor added, and some connecting doors installed in rooms to make suits so that sororties may have adjoining rooms.

Supervised houses around town will be run by the college for freshman men students, Dr. Galbreath stated. In all probability, the houses now used by sororities and leased by the college will be used for this purpose.

As plans are now outlined, the Hillside dormitory will house freshman women students. With a larger number than usual seeking admission next fall, it is though tthat the Hillside will be used almost entirely for the first-year co-eds.

Students enrollment figures now are high, theprospective list is very large, and indications are that all housing facilities will be needs to accodate the record entering class next fall.

QUARTET SINGS AT BUTLER U. P. CHURCH SABBATH

The Westminster Male Quartet sang at the morning service in the First U. P. church in Butler, May 8. Luther Braham, a member of the class of '29, who is director of music at the church, was instrumental in inviting the quartet to Btuler.

THE ALUMNUS AND HIS COLLEGE

When President Hopkins told the American Alumni Council that the alumni body of a college is the college, he put into words an idea that has been lying unexpressed in the minds of nearly all Dartmouth men..... It is rather a magnificent thought to one who is a member of a college community to fell that the college at hand is but the symbol of the interest and concern of thousands of alumni scattered over the earth. It thrills one to think that a piece of news bringing information of new achievement, progress, or deed well done will qicken the hearts of all the graduates, and it makes one realize as well the pain and chagrin that comes to these same hearts when the news of something unfavorable is reported. The success or non-success of athletic teams brings only ripples of pleasure or disappointment. Serious letters begin to pour in to college officials only when alumni believe that changes in policy or administration are concerned. And while the college is the alma mater to its undergraduates it stands perhaps in the position of a favorite child to the alumni, and each alumnus who concerns himself with an expression of opinion regards the college as a thing distinctly his own. The sum total of this individual feeling of ownership marks the college as a symbol upon which is focused the attention and regard of all the alumni.

And in saying that the college is the alumni, one quickly disposes of a number of trite phrases such as "if it wasn't for the alumni we could do this or that," or "the alumni are a great nuisance," or "the alumni care only for football tickets." One need only edit an alumni publication and read the letters which come to the office,—letters which do not find their way into the "letter column" because of requests on the part of the writers. These letters for the most part show the greatest concern in the really vital things of college—the curriculum, the health of the students, the maintenance of worthy traditions—and the tone of all letters is the tone of an anxious father solicitous for the welfare of a child.—Dartmouth Alumni Magazine.

An old Scotch preacher once said: "If a man lacks knowledge, he can get it from books; if he lacks grace, he can pray for it; but if he lacks judgement, the Lord help him"; and he might have added: "the Lord help all who are in any way associated with him."

President Emeritus Thompson of Ohio tells a story about a student who was taking an exam. He couldn't answer the last question. He thought that the professor was a pretty good friend of his, so he wrote "Only God could answer that question. Merry Christmas." The professor wrote back "God gets a hundred; you get zero. Happy New Year."

For my part I would oppose the graduation of any student from this university who had not added to his command of correct English a habit of clear and distinct articulation . To say words in a slovenly manner is, to my mind, a much worse defect than poor spelling.—R. H. Walker, Ohio Wesleyan University.

There are two classes of people, those who leave wills when they die, and those who leave bills. At the funeral of the first class there is sorrow. At the funeral of the second there is panic. When a man leaves money to a college, it proves he is more interested in heads than in headstones. A bequest to a college is the nearest you can come to finding the fountain of youth. It can be founded,—but not found! —Rollins College Record.

THESPIANS TO PRODUCE "BOOR" TONIGHT IN SHARON

The Westminster Little Theatre group will present, "The Boor", in the First Presbyterian church, Sharon, tonight, Professor A. T. Cordray announces.

Thomas Herriott, Virginia Reeher, and Wilson Miller will be in the cast.

Juniata College: Students who are found sleeping in the library are given a sleeping slip. Three slips then the student is deprived of his sleeping quarters.

Chicago University: A prize boner in a long list compiled by a professor here, was attributed to the co-ed who translated "Arma virumque cano" as "I cry for the arms of a man."

"TESTS OF LIFE" CHAPEL SUBJECT

"Weighed in the Balance and Found Wanting", was the theme of the Sabbath evening chapel service, conducted by Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

Dr. Galbreath compared the tests and examinations of college to those of real life, and pointed out that a real teacher never "fails" a student; in reality it is the student who fails the teacher. Those who fail to meet the everyday tests of life fail God, for they do not measure up to His requirements.

The hardest task given to people is to obey God,—not merely to adore Him. Civilization today is being tested, and is not measuring up to the standard set for it.

The college quartet sang, "Holy Art Thou," by Handle-Kingsmille.

MISSING NUMBERS OF MAGAZINES ARE NEEDED FOR BINDING

Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, has compiled a list of missing numbers of magazines from the college library, which are needed to complete volumes for binding.

The cooperation of students and townspeople is asked in this matter, both in returning magazines and in donating copies of missing numbers.

The magazines needed are: American Speech, October, 1931; Atlantic Monthly, December 1931; Biological bulletin, February, 1931; Bookman, February, 1931; Chemical reviews, vol. 5, No. 3; Current History, November, 1931; Journal of the American Chemical society, June 1931.

Journal of Chemical Education, February, July, and December, 1931; Industrial and Engineering Chemistry January-April, 1928, and November and December copies, 1931; Literary Digest, December 7 ,1931, and October 3, 1931; Poetry, March 1931; Quarterly Journal of Speech, February, 1931; Scribners, October 1929, October 1930; Theatre Arts Monthly, April 1931; and World's Work, June, 1931.

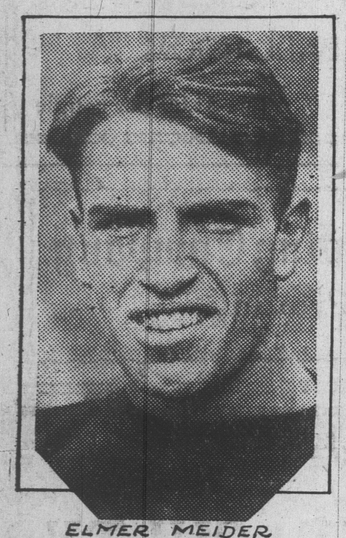
Tracksters Meet Bethany In Opening Games

Graham's Outfit Journeys to West Virginia for Contests

SATURDAY'S MEET MARKS OPENING OF LOCAL SEASON

Westminster will open its 1932 track season against Bethany College at Bethany, W. Va. on Saturday. The Titans will have an inter-class meet some time this week in order to point to the meet with the Bisons.

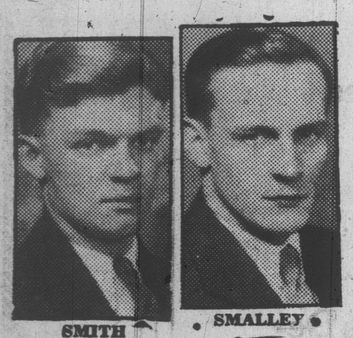
Westminster has this year more material for the running events, but seems weak in several field events. In the sprints and middle distance runs, the following men are competing: Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; Hugh McCall, Youngstown, O.; Calvin Hogg, Butler; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown; Dean Turner, Youngstown; William Byers, New Wilmington; Joseph Lockley, New Castle; Alan Van Harper, Zelienople; Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh; Leslie Simpson, Saltsburg; and John Kelso, Canonsburg.



ELMER MEIDER

In the distance runs, the following men are available: James Smalley, Elizabeth; Harold Burry, New Castle; Thomas Coles, Homestead; Wilbert Needham, North Braddock; Harold Burton, New Castle; Harrison Kennedy, Sharon; and Perry Klumph, New Wilmington.

For the hurdles, Captain Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; and Herbert Smith, New Castle, are available. The pole vault aspirants include Thomas Hutchison, New Wilmington; Leslie Simpson, Saltsburg; Herbert Smith, New Castle; and Wilbur Patterson, New Wilmington.



SMITH SMALLEY

In the weight events, Glenn Rehfus, Sandusky ,O.; Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis.; George Hollander, Freeport, N. Y.; Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; Donald Helmick, Uniontown; Alex Regdon, Kennywood; Stanley Headlee, Bergholz, O.; and William Staples, Butler, are all possibilities.

Walter young, Freeport, N. Y.; Bill Williams, Sharon; Pete Leyshock, Farrell; Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, N. Y.; Bill Douglass, Iselin; John Rush, Bergholz, O.; Robert Scarbrough, McDonald, O.; and Clem Lausberg, Tarentum, are all members of the squad and the trying out for various events.

In all probability a squad of 20 men will leave early Saturday morning for Bethany. The team will travel by bus.

Other meets on the Titan track schedule are: Geneva at Beaver Falls, Saturday, May 21; Tri-State Conference championships, Beaver Falls, Monday, May 30.

Delts Capture Volley Ball Championship

DOWN PHI PI PHI IN FIVE GAME SERIES TO CLINCH TITLE

The intra-mural volley ball tournament for the spring season was won by the Phi Phi fraternity. They emerged with a clean sheet, having four wins and no defeats. The T. U. O. fraternity was runner up, having won three games and lost one.

The games were all played on the outdoor court with students referees in charge.

The Phi Pi's clinched the spring title by their victory over the T. U. O. fraternity and played the Delts, winners of the fall tournament, for the championship of the college.

In the five game playoff, the Delts emerged victors, winning three out of the total. Phi Pi's took the first two games by 18-16, and 15-3. The final three games were taken by the Market Street club by the scores 15-12, 15-10, and 15-12.

Led by Phil Rice and Meider, the Delts outplayed their rivals starring Brown and McGill.

Lineups—Delts: Rice, Michaels, Evans, Kennedy, Siljander, Meider, and Dishong. Phi Pi: J. Brown, L. Brown, T. McClure, J. McClure, McGill, E. Smith and McBane.

ABOLISH PUNT

Abolishment of the rule permitting a punt on the kickoff in grid games has been announced by the Football Coaches Association. Coach John Lawther was quoted in last week's issue concerning his opinion of the rule. Lawther strongly opposed the plan.

APOLOGIES

The Sports Staff of the Holcad offers its apologies to Harry "Bud" Brownlee for its publishing of the erroneous story carried in last week's issue.

MARY PURVIS HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Mary Purvis

Mary Purvis, Westminster graduate of the class of '31, is completing a most successful year as a teacher and coach of girls' athletics at West Middlesex high school. Miss Purvis is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, and took an active part in girls' sports here.

ORDERS FROSH MEN TO TRACK FIELD

The following freshman men are requested to report at the Upper Track Field this afternoon at 2:30 to assist in getting the varsity track in shape:

Gregan, Harold Griffith, Hague, Harlan, Harris, Haydon, Healy, Hildebrand, G. Hildebrand, James Hill, John Hill, Hine, Hodge, Hoffman, Hofmeister, Frank Holliday, Johnston, Kellett, King, Kinney, Kinsey, Kopp, Kreaps, Kunzler, Lawton, Lewis MacDonald, McBane, McConnell, McDonough, McKee, McRae, Malsom, Manor, Morgan, Myers, Newton, Nunn, Pitzer, Rae, Rimer.

Freshman men whose names began with "A" to "G" were called out yesterday.

NINE POINTS

Nine points are necessary for the winning of a track letter, according to R. X. Graham, track coach. Three meets are scheduled and tracksters must average three points per meet.

Gridder Appears In Main Bout

FARRELL BATTLER RANKS AS TOPNOTCHER IN AMATEUR FISTIC CIRCLES

Young Patsy, classy Farrell battler and the leading 170-pound amateur in this section, will meet Alex Regdon, Titan grid and track star in the main bout of the opening amateur boxing card to be staged on May 27 at the Farrell High football field.

The Boosters had hoped to line up Kid Francis, popular New Kensington lad, but when he reported a broken arm, Patsy was secured to mix gloves with the Westminster battler.

Ten bouts are being arranged on the card, according to Matchmaker Carl Rio of Farrell. County Detective Sam Leyshock, father of Pete Leyshock, Titan grid star, will referee the bouts while Eddie Manion of Masury, Ohio will handle the bell.

TWELVE SWIMMERS TO TAKE RED CROSS TEST

Twelve men have completed the life saving course of instruction given under Jack Hulme, director of physical education. Final tests under auspices of the American Red Cross will be held Friday afternoon. Successful swimmers will be awarded the A. R. C. emblem.

TENNIS TEAM HAS TWO MATCHES ON WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Westminster's varsity tennis team has two matches this week. The Titan racquet team plays Butler Musketeers Club here this afternoon, and plays Youngstown College at Youngstown, O., on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

STAFF NOTICE

Members of the Sports Staff are requested to report to Holcad meeting Wednesday afternoon in Room 210 for issignments. People not turning in issignmenst will be dropped from the staff.

Perkins, Findlay, and Tiers Top in Exciting Matches

WIN ONE SINGLES, ONE DOUBLES MATCH

Westminster bowed to Geneva in the opening tennis matches of the season here Saturday afternoon by a 5-2 score. The Titan racquet team, although extending the Covenanters in every match, were able to win out in only one singles match and one doubles match.

WILLIS McGILL

Coach Joe McFate's team showed plenty of ability and promise in the opening contest, but also exhibited need of more practice. The men were never out of the running in any match, and the games were all hotly contested.

Perkins defeated Sakrida in the singles match, and Captain Findlay and Tiers defeated Snodgrass and Manning in the doubles match. The other matches went to Geneva.

Results:

SINGLES

Snodgrass defeated Findlay, 8-6, 7-5.

Clark defeated Tiers, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Littel defeated Campbell, 7-5, 7-5.

Perkins defeated Sakrida, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

Manning defeated McGill, 10-8, 7-5.

DOUBLES

Findlay and Tiers defeated Snodgrass and Manning, 6-2, 7-5.

Clark and Littel defeated Campbell and McGill, 6-3, 8-6.

Twilight Mushball Games Under Way This Evening

PHI PI PHI TEAM TO MEET DELTS IN INITIAL GAME OF SEASON

Twilight intra-mural mushball will open this evening when the Delts meet the Phi Pi's. Jack Hulme plans to use this as the last intra-mural sport of the year.

The games are to be played under standard mush ball rules with student umpires taking charge. The fraternity pledges are allowed to participate as representatives of their respective fraternities. The pitcher must toss the ball underhanded and the catcher is the only player allowed to use a glove.

Players are not allowed to "steal" from base to base and the runner caught with his foot off the bag before the batter hits the ball is automatically out. The ball and bats used will be the standard equipment used in city leagues.

Tues.—Delts vs. Phi Pi's
Wed.—T. U. O. vs. Eps
Thurs.—Kaps vs. Delts

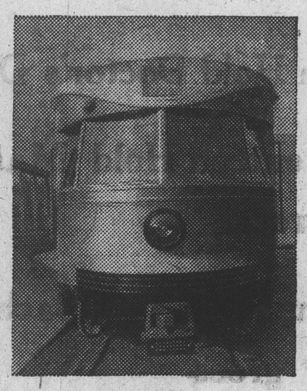
"ELECTRIC BULLETS"



THE result of exhaustive wind-tunnel tests of conventional trolley car models revealed that at speeds of 70 and 80 miles per hour, 70 per cent of the total power was consumed in overcoming air resistance. Streamlining saves approximately 20 per cent of the power.

When the Philadelphia and Western Railway Company decided to replace its cars with faster and more efficient equipment, it chose "electric bullets"—new streamlined cars—each powered by 4 G-E 100-hp. motors. The cars, constructed of aluminum alloy, with tapered noses and tails, are much lighter in weight and capable of greater operating efficiency.

In developing transportation apparatus, college-trained General Electric engineers have conducted extensive tests to improve operating conditions. On land, on sea, and in the air, to-day's equipment is safer, swifter, more dependable, and more comfortable.

Eight Faculty Members Are Graduates of Westminster

ALUMNI RETURN TO TEACH IN HOME COLLEGE

Prominent in the Westminster advertisement appearing so often in the Holcald and elsewhere, is a statement to the effect that eight of the 38 professors and instructors are graduates of Westminster.

LAWTHER.

To the average student that one statement is of particular interest. It makes the student realize that these professors have more than a passing interest in Westminster, that this interest is an innate part of their lives, and not something acquired through the associations of the past few years.

Professor Harlow Osgood, instructor in chemistry at Westminster since 1929, once occupied a chair in the very classroom where he now strides to and fro, earnestly endeavoring to clear up some knotty phase of chemistry. In his senior year at Westminster he was laboratory assistant in the chemistry department, which accounts for his being so wise in the ways of students regarding uniformity of style and content of notebooks, and mutual cooperation in the laboratory, in the interests of higher co-education.

ROBERTSON

Mr. Osgood received his B. S. degree from Westminster in 1927, and his M.A. degree from Pennsylvania State College, 1929.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, a Westminster graduate of the class of the class of 1903, has been professor of modern languages at Westminster since 1921. Formerly instructor in French and German at Muskingum college. Miss Stewart has done detailed language study in Germany and France, particularly at the Univerity of the Sorbonne, Paris; she also holds the M.A. degree from Columbia University.

Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride, professor of piano and pipe organ at Westminster 1928, is a Westminster graduate, and has spent endless practice hours in the very rooms where she now gives lessons to students in the music department. Miss Kirkbride received her A.B. degree from Westminster in 1925, and returned the next year, to complete the requirements for the bachelor of music degree. The next year, 1927 was spent in study abroad, under such famous teachers as Simon Ple, Alfred Cortot, and Beryl Rubenstein.

KIRKBRIDE

Before returning to Westminster in 1928, Miss Kirkbride was professor of piano at Juniata college.

Professor John D. Lawther, assistant professor of psychology and education, and head coach of football and basketball, received his A.B. degree from Westminster in 1919. Formerly engageed in high teaching, he came to Westminster as assistant professor in 1924. Mr. Lawther received his M. A. degree from Columbia university, and has done graduate work in the university of Chicago.

Three assistants in the department of economics and business administration are graduates of Westminster. Ross Ellis, a graduate of the class of 1929, has done graduate work at Harvard, and at present is instructor in marketing and accounting in the business department.

MCDONALD.

Arthur Kirkbride, formerly with the Spencer-Kamerer Company, Erie, Pa., is teaching a class in advertising. He is a graduate of the class of 1917. William McCormick, in charge of the Elliott Library, is a graduate of the class of 1929, and has done graduate work in Clark University.

Other Westminster graduates, connected with the administrative department of the College are: Mrs. C. B. Robertson, who has been Dean of Women since 1923; Miss Corrine Mercer, secretary to the president, and cashier; and Mr. A. A. McDonald, assistant in the personnel department.

DR. J. M. FERGUSON GIVES ADDRESS AT BELLEVUE SCHOOL

The Rev. James M. Ferguson, D. D., Bellevue, Pa., gave the commencement address at the graduating exercises of the Ben Avon Week-Day school of religion, Sabbath evening, April 24.

Dr. Ferguson is a graduate of the class of 1897.

DR. S. E. CALHOUN REVISES ALUMNI FILES OF COLLEGE

Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the alumni association, has begun the enormous task of completely reorganizing the alumni files,

All alumni files, formerly kept in the college office, have been removed to Dr. Calhoun's office, Market street, New Wilmington. New lists of alumni names have been compiled, as well as names of former students not graduates of Westminster. Names of students who have graduated since 1929 have been added to the old list, contained in the alumni register.

All names are listed alphabetically in the files. To each person a card will be sent, containing information regarding commencement activities, and blank spaces for the correct address. These cards will be returned to Dr. Calhoun. Once the required information about deaths and changes of address has been received, each alumnus is given two cards, one of which will be filed alphabetically under classes, the duplicate card being filed under district headings, such as Philadelphia, Mercer county, etc.

This reorganized material will be an invaluable aid to offices of the alumni association, and to officers of district groups.

HEAR MAURICE IN FRENCH YET?

Maurice (Maufee, to you) Chevalier (Chevallyea) (Yea!) has perhaps intrigued you in semi-English, but did you ever hear him in French? The French Club of Sharon high school is sponsoring a talking picture in French, "The Big Pond", featuring Chevalier tomorrow, in the Liberty Theatre in Sharon. There will be both a matinee (to use a French word for something it doesn't mean), and an evening performance. Westminster alumni in Sharon invite French students of the college to attend.

MRS. W. T. ANDERSON IS STILL A WORKER IN INDIAN MISSION

Mrs. W. T. Anderson, Rawalpindi, India, has recently gone to Roorkie, U. P., India, to aid Mrs. Maurice Anderson in carrying on the work of the Reformed Presbyterian mission there.

Mrs. Anderson will be remembered as the widow of the late Dr. W. T. Anderson, '88, and as the mother of the Rev. Maurice Anderson, '25, who met such a tragic death, January 17, just two days before the death of his father.

The wife of the foremost evangelist of all India, Mrs. Anderson has two daughters, Mrs. Robert Foster, '20, and Mrs. Wendell Duff, '17, engaged in mission work in India. One son, the Rev. Lowry Anderson, '22, is also a missionary, in the Sudan.

Mrs. Anderson is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1893, and is the mother of seven children, all of whom are graduates of Westminster. In view of the tragic occurences of the past few months, she has evidenced a splendid spirit in returning to mission work.

Holcad meeting will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, in Room 210. All staff members and reporters are urged to be present.

SOCIETY NOTICE

All sorority and fraternity stories should be turned in to the News Bureau, Room 212, Old Main Memorial, in advance to insure publication in the Holcad and in daily newspapers of the section. Organization report blanks have been sent each week to all fraternities and all sororities. But three have sent in reports in the last two weeks. National fraternity and sorority editors have requested the News Bureau to give a report of the co-operation of their chapters in this matter.

May Queen to Be Crowned on Sat. June 4

CEREMONY TO TAKE PLACE AT SEVEN O'CLOCK

Plans have been completed by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet for the May queen crowning ceremonies on Saturday, June 4, Isabelle Kildoo announced yesterday. The event will take place on the South terrace at 7 p. m.

KILDOO

Ruth Wagoner, elected by the vote of the student body, will be crowned as queen by Florence Groth, last year's queen.

As queen, Miss Wagoner will have as attendants: Elizabeth Macklin, Dorothy Bigham, Doris Shawkey, Kathryn McClure, Sara Elizabeth Long, and Annabel Stevenson.

GROTH

Florence Groth with be attended by senior girls: Margaret Reese, Dorothy Cameron, Marian Ferver, Margaret Sherbondy, Frances Parker, and Mary Clark.

Isabelle Kildoo is chairman of the May queen crowning ceremonies.

FERVER

Annabel Stevenson has charge of music. Evelyn Judd and Martha Hazlett are in charge of scenery. The costume committee includes Ruth Wagoner, Florence Groth, and Clara Sherwin.

May pageants of the past at Westminster have always been outstanding among outdoor college spectacles. The move this year to present a less pretentious program is in keeping with the financial program which the college will endeavor to follow next year in every phase of student activity.

D. SHAWKEY

The presence of many alumni on the campus on June 4 will add to the Y. W. C. A. sponsored queen-crowning event.

DR. GALBREATH PREACHES ON FUTURE KINGDOM

"Thy Kingdom Come", a phrase from the Lord's Prayer, was the theme of Dr. Galbreath's sermon at chapel last Sabbath evening.

Dr. Galbreath told how Jesus stressed the immensity of God's kingdom and the individual's responsibility in making this great project a reality. He told how great works such as the building of highways and conquering enemies were individual accomplishments of great value, but the building of God's kingdom was the greatest task for anyone to undertake. To each one of us there is a part in the construction of the mightiest works of all times.

Mr. Hoyte, a music student, gave a vocal solo as special music.

WILD CANARIES VISIT WESTMINSTER

Approximately 200 wild canaries visited the East Campus last Friday afternoon. The winged beauties presented a beautiful sight to students who were fortunate enough to see the pilgrimage.

Program For Commencement Is Completed

FOURTEEN EVENTS ARE ON PROGRAM

Fourteen separate events are listed on the program for the 78th. commencement at Westminster. Starting on Friday, June 3, there are activities and programs of interest to graduates and undergraduates alike.

On Friday, June 3, at 8 p. m., fraternity and sorority reunions are scheduled. Saturday, June 4 is alumni day. The alumni dinner is in the United Presbyterian church at noon. This is to be followed by the annual alumni business meeting. The unveiling of a memorial to Dr. Robert C. Ferguson will follow the alumni meeting.

Attorney Joseph McFate, '26, coach of tennis, is attempting to arrange a varsity-alumni tennis match for the late afternoon. Class reunions are scheduled for 5 p. m. Saturday. The crowning of the May Queen will take place at 7 p. m. on the South campus.

The traditional "Senior Sing" is scheduled on the South terrace, Old Main Memorial, at 7:30. The Y. W. C. A. lawn fete on the Hillside campus, will start at 8 p. m.

On Sabbath, June 5, the Christian associations sermon will be delivered in the United Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. A vesper organ recital by Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride will be given in the chapel at 4 p. m. The baccalaureate sermon, preached by Dr. Galbreath, will be in the chapel at 8 p. m.

Monday, June 6, finds the athletic council meeting in the gymnasium at 10 a. m. The board of trustees will meet in the Little Theatre at 10:30 a. m. Commencement, at which 84 seniors will receive degrees, will be held in the United Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Eastern Standard time will hold for all activities.

Three Classes Elect Girls To Campus Board

THREE CLASSES ELECT MEMBERS OF GROUP

Girls of the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes held elections for membership on the Campus Committee, co-ed governing body, last Thursday following chapel.

Juniors elected include Betty Schofield, Pittsburgh; Dorothy Bigham, Avalon; and Betty Curtis, Carnegie. The sophomore members elected are: Evelyn Judson, Rural Valley, and Ruth Russell, Youngstown, O. Lillian Baird, Carnegie, is the freshman member.

Officers will be elected for the Campus Committee in the near future.

PREXY TO SPEAK AT MISSION MEET

President R. F. Galbreath has three important speaking and preaching engagements added to his busy schedule. He preached at the Highland U. P. church, New Castle, on Sabbath. On May 23, Dr. Galbreath will address the Lawrence County Bankers' Association meeting at Wyatt Lodge, New Wilmington.

On Sabbath, May 22, Dr. Galbreath will preach the baccalaureate service at the Indiana State Teachers' College, Indiana, Pa. in the morning, and will address the Missions Congress in Pittsburgh, Pa. in the evening.

Alumni Radio Program is on WKBN Tonite

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM TO CLIMAX SERIES

Alumni of Westminster will feature the seventh Tuesday evening radio program of the college over WKBN, Youngstown, O., tonight. The program will last from 9:15 to 9:45.

Mrs. Mary C. McConagha has planned the program which will include a short talk by Dr. J. H. Swan, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1886, president of a national scientific society, and former head of chemistry departments in a number of leading universities. Dr. Swan is spending this year in research at Westminster.

Mrs. R. C. McKelvey, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. McConagha will present a short interview sketch. Mrs. McKelvey was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1906.

Attorney Robert D. Ferguson, Bellevue, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1927, and of Harvard Law School, 1931, will present a short talk.

Arthur Kirkbride, New Wilmington, a member of the college faculty and a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1917, will sing two numbers: "Major General", from Pirates of Prinzance, Gilbert and Sullivan; and "Trade Winds", from Salt Water Ballads, Masefield and Keel.

This broadcast will conclude Westminster programs over WKBN.

GORDON BALCH NEVIN PRESENTS RECITAL IN COLLEGE CHAPEL

Gordon Balch Nevin, professor of pipe organ at Westminster, presented an organ recital in the college chapel on Thursday, May 12. The program consisted of numbers of the American composers. The selections played were: "Concert Overture in B Minor", James H. Rogers; "Papillons Noirs," Harry B. Jepson; "Suite—Sketches of the City," Gordon Balch Nevin; "American Fantasia," Victor Herbert; "Fountain Sparkling in the Sunlight," Goodwin; "La Brume," Harvey B. Gaul; "Rhapsody in Blue", George Gershwin.

This recital was the last of a series presented this year by Mr. Nevin.

WHITE BIRCH TREES ON CAMPUS GIFT OF JOSEPH J. FRANCIS

The beautiful European white birch trees recently planted on the campus were given to the college by Joseph J. Francis, Perry Sewall stated yesterday. The evergreens planted were grown by Mr. Sewall.

ALUMNI LISTS SHOW A TOTAL OF 2000 LIVING GRADUATES

Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Alumni Association, announced yesterday that a check-up in his office revealed that 2,660 men and women have been graduated from Westminster since 1852. Of this number, 687 are deceased, leaving 1,973 graduates still on the lists. In addition to this group, 1,835 former students are listed. Most of the former students are from 1900 on, and all names and addresses of the former students are not known for certain.

Alumni day, Saturday, June 4, promises to be an important one for the college, Dr. Calhoun also stated. The cards sent out this week by the alumni office request information about commencement return of grads and former students. The alumni office is concerned with getting reservations for the annual dinner at noon on June 4. The annual meeting of the alumni and election of officers will follow the dinner.

Little Theatre Dramatic Season Provides Experience For Many

TOTAL OF 88 TAKE PART IN YEARS' PLAYS

A total of 88 students have taken part in the 10 plays produced under the direction of Professor A. T. Cordray, director of the Little Theatre, this year. Of this number 60 have had acting parts. The others acted as property, stage, or directing managers.

Long plays produced included "The Show-Off", three-act comedy; "Escape", John Galsworthy's dramatic study; and "The Taming of the Shrew", Shakespeare up-to-date.

Short plays included "Overtones", "The Romancers", "When the Horns Blow", "The Boor", "A Minuet", and "Pyramus and Thisbe".

In addition to these presentations in the Community House and the Little Theatre in New Wilmington, a number of plays have been produced out of town. "The Trap", short play, was produced over radio station WKBN, Youngstown, on May 3.

"The Boor", "Overtones", and "The Taming of the Shrew" were presented at Zelienople high school, Wimodausis Club in New Castle, Shakespeare Club in Mercer, Prospect Heights Club in Sharon, and Ben Franklin high school in New Castle.

Through the work o fthe class in acted drama, students gained valuable experience in directing, make-up, staging, lighting, and costuming for these plays. Most of the scenery

Class Reunions Scheduled Saturday Evening, June 4

REUNIONS WILL BE HELD TOWARD EVENING

Ten Westminster classes will hold reunions on Saturday, June 4, Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Alumni Association, states. These reunions, for the most part, will be held on Saturday evening at 5 p. m.

Chairmen of reunions are: 1927, Hugh Gamble, Sharon; 1922, Rev. J. H. McKnight, Kenmore, N. Y.; 1917, Mrs. Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington; 1912, George Mansell, Bradford; 1907, Samuel K. Cunningham, Pittsburgh.

Class of 1902 Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Pittsburgh; 1897, Rev. Dr. James Ferguson, Bellevue; 1892, Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, Youngstown, O.; 1887, Attorney Frank Hover, New Castle; 1882, Dr. Edward P. Logan, Pittsburgh.

The class of 1897, with Dr. Ferguson as president, has already planned a social affair at the home of Attorney and Mrs. Wm. McElwee. The class of 1902, with Mrs. A. L. Wible, New Wilmington, as local chairman, will also have a special gathering. Miss May McKelvey, Roy Nevile, Mrs. William McElwee, and Dr. H. H. Donaldson are on the committee in charge of arrangements.

Members of the class og 1912 will arrange a reunion following the alumni dinner. Rev. Raymond Kistler, "Teak" Conway and Mrs. G. H. Taylor constitute the committee. Bill Mansell and Bill McNaugher are on the invitation committee. G. W. Mansell is general chairman of arrangements.

President Attends New York City And Philly Meetings

COLLEGE VOTES TO DROP SPORTS GRANTS

On Monday and Tuesday, May 9 and 10, President R. F. Galbreath visited the cities of New York and Philadelphia, attending meetings of Westminster alumni in both cities and representing Westminster at a conference of representatives of the colleges and universities of the Middle Atlantic States at Columbia University.

On Monday evening, May 9, Dr. Galbreath met with a group of 50 Westminster alumni in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shrader of Philadelphia. At that gathering there were present representatives of classes from well back in the nineteenth century and also a number of those who plan to attend Westminster within the next year. The evening was spent in fellowship, renewing old friendships, and discussing the present plans and conditions at Westminster. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock. Dr. Galbreath states that Mr. and Mrs. Shrader were ideal hosts and that their beautiful home made the right setting for a pleasant evening.

The New York alumni of Westminster met in the dining room of the Schroff Building, New York City, on Tueday evening May 10 to honor Dr. Galbreath. Dr. Galbreath reports that this meeting also was well attended.

On Tuesday, May 10, representatives of the colleges and universities of the Middle Atlantic States met at Columbia university and discussed the matter of granting "athletic scholarships". An action was passed to the effect that beginning with 1933 the practice should be discontinued. There was a prolonged debate on the subject and many felt that while the smaller institutions would be compelled to fall in line, at least some of the larger institutions would continue the practice regardless.

Dr. Galbreath reports that there was a general attitude of strong disapproval of top-heavy lists of scholarships for athletes and an insistence that when granted such scholarships should be granted quite as definitely for character and scholastic ability as for athletic possibilities. The new ruling will affect drastically the practice of nearly all the colleges.

About 150 colleges and universities were represented at this meeting. Dr. Galbreath represented Westminster.

STUDENT PROSPECTS INVITED TO ATTEND SENIOR CLASS DANCE

A number of high school seniors who plan to attend Westminster next year will be invited to attend the senior class dance to be held in the Gymnasium on Saturday, May 28, Louis Hazen, president of the class, and Robert Weingartner, chairman, announced Saturday.

Invitations have been sent these student prospects and it is thought that many will accept. The senior dance, to be informal, will be the last all-college social event of the year.

PROFESSOR McKEE ADDRESSES FLORISTS

Professor C. W. McKee was the chief speaker at the banquet of florists of western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, held in the Castleton hotel, New Castle, last week. The co-ed trio, composed of Misses Macklin, Hopwood, and Edwards, with Miss Stunkard as accompanist, sang two numbers. Monas Harlan also sang.

McClure Shows Mission Field Movies At "Y"

PICTURES SHOWN OF AFRICAN HUNT TRIP

Donald McClure, a graduate of Westminster and at present a student in the Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, was present at a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held in the Little Theatre last Thursday evening. Mr. McClure presented a series of motion pictures dealing with life in Palestine, Egypt, and Africa.

Two reels of these pictures showed scenes from Jerusalem and Palestine, Egypt, and the Sudan. Mr. McClure also showed two reels of pictures dealing with a hunt he took with his father in the wilds of Africa. The pictures showed the activities of the party as they hunted lions, hippopotami, and elephants in the African jungles.

PAN HELLENIC SPORT DANCE FEATURES "TOWN TATTLERS"

Under the direction of the Pan-Hellenic Council, a sport dance will be held in the college gymnasium Saturday, May 21, from 8 until 11:30 o'clock.

The committee in charge is Florence Groth, general chairman; Olive Mills, orchestra; Ruth Rouse, decorations; Dorothy Hopwood, refreshments; and Dorothy Wilder, tickets.

The patronesses of the sororities and faculty members will act as chaperones.

Music will be furnished by Bill Le Ray's "Town Tattlers", a ten piece orchestra from Pittsburgh. Tickets may be secured from Dorothy Wilder at the assessment of one dollar per couple.

DR. GALBREATH TALKS AT C. E. UNION MEET

Two hundred and fifty Christian Endeavor members heard an address by Dr. R. F. Galbreath at the Lawrence county union meeting last week in the Reformed church, New Castle. Every society in the county was represented at the meeting.

TRAUNT READING

Referring to the remark of the Oxford don who defined education as "what remains behind when you have forgotten all that you have learned," President Hibben said: "What is it that remains behind? A mind, a tempered and skilled instrument of realizing the processes of the will, a depository of ideas gained from study, contemplation and experience, a creative power to make possible the things regarded as impossible, surmounting obstacles that are regarded as unsurmountable, a creative power, a discerning faculty separating the essentials from the unessentials in a mass of confused and chaotic facts, pentrating to the heart of a subject in any new and unfamiliar situation, a mind that is the enemy of sophistries, of loose thinkng and of hasty and ungrounded generalizations. This is what remains, this is the product of education, man 'noble in reason and infinite in faculties.'"

The high-lights of education come with truant reading. I like to toy with the idea of the mind as a roast that is cooked slowly and methodically in the oven of school. With the bestowing of a degree, the roast is presumably done. It has cooked long enough. It is ready to be served.

But it hasn't been spiced! It's edible, yes, but it isn't tempting. It needs the salt and pepper and cloves and paprika that come with wide reading. Facts aren't enough. One wants to adorn his mind with opinion and satire and whimsy and tragedy and beauty.

Reading doesn't replace living. Of course not. But it makes life vastly richer.—The Daily Maroon, Chicago.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Someone has said that a good test of the intelligence is whether or not one can remember what he was angry or worried about, the day before yesterday.

After the recent ordeal, (or shall we say experiment) of the Carnegie Foundation tests, students at Westminster came to the sobering conclusion that intelligence tests are nothing to be trifled with, in a playful mood. Rather ,they are something worthy of serious consideration, of careful thought.

Even though the average person fails to see the sense of exhaustive studies of this sort, even though he may think the term I. Q. means I Quit, rather than Intelligence Quotient, he "submits" very meekly to tests of this sort, and tries to do his best under the existing conditions of speed and strain.

Certainly it happened that way at Westminster. Facuty members were unanimous in their praise of the co-operation shown by the students in carrying out this project.

The results, of course, were interesting, but not infallible. No fair evaluation can be made until results have been compared with other schools, but it is probable that the tests will only confirm the opinion already held, that high-powered cars are best for speed, but that slower-moving freight often arrives at the same destination with less danger of accident.

SPRING CLEANING

Nature, the great teacher, has a big lesson in store for those who want to learn. She has cleaned the cobwebs from all her corners and has brought forth everything in its cleanest and most polished form.

Who of us would admit defeat by Nature? Not one of those who really want to live and grow.

So now is the time to clean the murky places in your mind; to see things in a big way and to prepare for great things.

The smallest animal cleans its house in preparation for the summer festivities and the future's store. Are we so much smaller than these that we shall not prepare by cleaning ourselves in the purity of the season sent by One who realizes that we—who dare call ourselves young—need rejuvenation? I wonder how small and how big we are?

DRAMATIC EXPERIENCE

and many of the properties were made by the students.

For the "Show-Off", produced Oct. 29, Professor Cordray used nine students in the cast, nine others on the production crew, and four in charge of tickets, ushering, and house duties. On Nov. 23, when two one-act plays, "Overtones" and "The Romancers" were played, 14 student players were used and five students assisted in directing.

Two one-act plays produced on Dec. 14: "When the Horns Blow", and "The Boor", included 10 student actors and two student directors. "Escape", Galsworthy's great play, produced January 14, gave student players an opportunity to act, and four students assisted in staging and directing.

CORDRAY

The junior class play, "The Taming of the Shrew", staged April 15, had 21 student players in the cast, five students on the production crew, and five on the house committee. Two one-act plays: "A Minuet" and "Pyramus and Thisbe", produced May 5, included nine students in the casts.

Students who took part in or assisted in three or more productions during the year were: Wilson Miller, 5; Betty Griffith, 5; Dorothy McGeoch, 4; Thomas Herriott, 4; Virginia Reeher, 3; Helen McCuen, 3.

Students who directed or assisted in directing dramatic productions during the year were: Helen Baerman, Paul Gamble, Thomas Herriott, Wilson Miller, Howard Bay, Pearl McClimans, Ellen Cottrell, Robert Galbreath, Forrest Eakin, Virginia Welch, Betty Curtis, Charles Cochran and Gerald Newton.

Such a pretentious dramatic program was made possible, Professor Cordray states, only through the cooperation of students, faculty, the New Wilmington school board, and the artist and lecture courses of the college.

PATRONS DONATE BOOKS TO LIBRARY

Several new books have been donated to the college library this month, according to Miss Mildred A. Ailman, librarian.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lininger, Sharon, Pa., have donated six books dealing with various phases of Pennsylvania history. They are: A Record of the Pennsylvania Volunteers in the Spanish-American War; Causes of the Great War, by Charles Morris; Pennsylvania at the World's Fair; Historical Sketches of Carlisle and Northern Pennsylvania, by Theodore B. Klein; and memorials to Matthew Stanley Quay, and to Alexander K. Craig, prominent in Pennsylvania legislative history.

Dr. S. A. Kirkbride has given to the library a three volume set of Dictionary of Authors by Alibone, containing many biographies not included in the more recent reference books. Another valuable book is an autobiography of Joseph G. Butler, Recollections of Men and Events. This book was donated by Mr. Henry A. Butler, Youngstown, Ohio, and contains historical matter of particular interest to residents in the vicinity of Youngstown.

Joseph Butler will be remembered as the founder of the Butler Art Institute, Youngstown, O. His discussion of President McKinley should be of particular interest to the older residents of New Wilmington who still take pride in pointing out the location of McKinley's former home.

Tackle Championship Team In Quest For Honors

HAVE LITTLE TROUBLE IN SWAMPING BETHANY

Westmlnster's tracksters had little difficulty in tripping Bethany's thundering herd of Bison 109-26 in a listless dual meet in the West Virginia city yesterday.

Taking 12 first places and 13 seconds, the Titans proved too powerful for the Knight coached outfit.

Captain Brownlee topped the Titan scanti-clads by scoring 18 points and was given a close race for individual scoring honors by Bruhn, Bison ace who led his outfit with 17 points.

Smalley, Harper McCall, Burry, and Siljander copped first place positions while Patterson, Hutchison, and Simpson tied for first in the pole vault.

TRACK SUMMARY

100 Yard Dash: McCall, W., first; Siljander, W.; second; Worsencroft, B., third. Time: 10.4 seconds.

120 Yard High Hurdles: Brownlee, W., first; Sweeney, W., second; Phillips, B., third. Time: 17.2 seconds.

220 Yard Low Hurdles: Sweeney, W., first; Brownlee second; Zimmerman, B., third. Time: 27.2 seconds.

220 Yard Dash: McCall, W., first; Byers, W., second; Worsencroft, B., third. Time: 24.4 seconds.

440 Yard Dash: Harper, W., first; Leyshock, W., second; Hopkins, B., third. Time: 52 seconds.

880 Yard Dash: Burry, W., first; Leyshock, W., second, Klumph, W., third. Time 2.09 min.

Mile Run: Burry, W., first; Smalley, W., second; Coles, W., third. Time: 4.43.4 min.

Two Mile: Smalley, W., first; Zingle, B., second; Needham, B., third. Time: 11:03⅘ min.

FIELD SUMMARY

Javelin: Bruhn, B., first; Headlee, W., second; Siljander, W., third. Distance: 167′ 11″.

Shot Put: Bruhn, B., first; Fuller, W., second; Regdon, W., third. Distance: 39′ 9″.

Discus: Brownlee, W., first; Fuller, W., second; Hutchison, W., third. Distance: 123′ 1″.

Hammer: Brownlee, W., first; Fuller, W., second; Bruhn, B., third. Distance: 150′.

Pole Vault: Patterson, W., Hutchison, W., and Simpson, W., tied for first place. Height: 10′ 3″.

High Jump: Bruhn, B., first; Clark, W., second; Korb, B., third. Height: 5′ 10¾″.

Broad Jump: Siljander, W., first; Hogg, W., second; Bruhn, B., third. Distance: 21′ 2½″.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

Brownlee, 18; Burry, 10; McCall, 10; Siljander, 9; Fuller, 9; Sweeney 8; Smalley, 8; Leyshock, 6; Harper, 5; Hutchison, 4; Byers, 3; Clark, 3; Patterson, 3; Simpson, 3; Headlee, 3; Hogg, 3; Coles, 1; Klumph, 1; Needham, 1; Regdon, 1.

NINE STUDENTS WIN RED CROSS EMBLEMS

Students in Red Cross life saving methods were given their final examination Saturday by Jack Hulme, swimming instructor. The students were put through a month's drill on different types of carries, resuscitations, and holds. Nine boys were able to fulfil the requirements necessary and they will be awarded membership cards and emblems suitable for wear on their bathing suits.

Glenn Shaffer, Phil Rice, Bob Cann, J. Smith, Switzer, McBane, Hodge, Criss, and Wylie were the successful candidates for membership.

Shaffer, Rice and Cann, all upperclassmen, gave splendid exhibitions while taking the test.

Proof of the excellent work done by the swimming instructors is shown by the fact that all other aspirants are members of the Freshmen class, receiving their first year of swimming under capable instruction.

SATURDAY'S MEET DETERMINES TITAN'S STATUS

Coach R. X. Graham's proteges will meet a real test Saturday when they journey to Beaver Falls to enjoy a dual meet with the Geneva track squad.

Geneva, always supporting a powerful outfit, has a most formidable looking aggregation again this year. Geneva has captured the Tri-State Conference track championship for five out of the past six years, Westminster taking one title during that time.

The Falls outfit boasts of one of the best high jumper in collegiate ranks in one Howard Spencer, colored athlete, who clears the bar consistently well over six feet.

Aultman and Ransom are clearing twelve foot in the vaulting events and the trackmen will give Brownlee and his gang plenty to worry about.

VISITS HERE

Chet Claypool, diminuitive basketball star of Marietta College, Marietta, O., was a visitor on the Westminster campus Saturday morning. Claypool is rated by Ohio Conference authorities to be one of the fastest moving basketball players to ever appear on the Marietta floor squad.

Independents Take Diamond Championship

DOROTHY SELLAR

Hillside Independents, composed of non-sorority girls, won the intramural indoor baseball tournament last Thursday by defeating the heretofore victorious Kappa Delta outfit by a 10-7 tally.

The Indies clinched the title by winning two and claiming one forfeited game, while the Lodge girls were victorious in one and was awarded one by forfeit, dropping only the titular match. King and Sellars were the opposing hurlers with King only allowing seven runs to be scored against her team. Sellars pitched a good brand of ball but erratic filding led to the Delt machine's downfall. Mill played good ball for the victors. Lineups:

Three Westminster co-eds passed examinations this Spring permitting them to wear the A. R. C. Senior Lifesaving emblem. They are Helen Whieldon, Helen McLaughry, and Mildred Ralston.

Temple U. Swim Instructor Gets Advancement

WILL ENTER WRIGLEY MARATHON IN CANADA

Dorothy B. Stunkard, '29, instructor in swimming at Temple University, has been elected a teacher of swimming and life-saving at the national Red Cross Swimming Institute to be held at Camp Brooklyn, Narrowsburg, N. Y., this summer.

Miss Stunkard, who entered Westminster as a non-swimmer and who was taught swimming and life-saving by Jack Hulme, passed the senior Red Cross examination in her sophomore year, and passed the examiner's test in her senior year. She was elected instructor in swimming at Temple upon graduation.

Miss Stunkard will assist Charles B. Scully, director of the American Red Cross life-saving division this summer. She has spent two summers in such work at Camp Seacrest, New Jersey.

Following the Red Cross camp, Miss Stunkard will enter the Wrigley marathon swimming championship for women to be held at Toronto, Canada. An excellent long-distance swimmer, she will stand a good chance of being among the leaders in this classic contest.

Racqueteers Have Real Test of Skill in Matches

WIN TWO SINGLES AND ONE DOUBLES MATCH

Westminster lost its second Tri-State Conference tennis match here Friday afternoon when it dropped four matches to three to the Bethany Bisons.

Tiers won his singles match for the Titans, as did McGill, and Campbell and McGill won in the doubles matches. The play of the Titan racquet team was better than in the first match of the season against Geneva, and there is every indication that the courtmen will come out on top in this week's games.

SINGLES

Dallas, Bethany, defeated Capt. Findlay, Westminster, 6-4, 6-4.

Tiers, Westminster, defeated Eldridge, Bethany, 6-2, 6-0.

Brand, Bethany, defeated Campbell, Westminster, 6-0, 2-6, 6-3.

Martin, Bethany, defeated Perkins, Westminster, 6-1, 6-3.

McGill, Westminster, defeated Wright, Bethany, 7-5, 7-5.

DOUBLES

Dallas and Brand defeated Findlay and Tiers, 6-3, 6-3.

Campbell and McGill defeated Martin and Eldridge, 6-1, 6-3.

TACKLE YOUNGSTOWN, WAYNESBURG AND BETHANY ON TRIP

Westminster's netters will spead a busy week playing three matches on consecutive afternoons away from home.

This afternoon they will meet the Youngstown College racqueteers in a match at Youngstown. On Wednesday they play Waynesburg, and on Thursday they will conclude their trip by playing a return match with Bethany.

TITAN TENNIS TEAM DEVELOPING SLOWLY, COACH McFATE SAYS

Attorney Joseph McFate, '26, coach of varsity tennis, believes that the Titan tennis squad is developing slowly, and that the team, with plenty of power, will break into the winning column against conference rivals this week.

In the first game against Geneva, the team showed power but a need of practice. Against Bethany, the play of all members of the team was improved considerably.

Against Waynesburg and Bethany on tomorrow and Thursday, the Titan team is expected to win both matches.

Last year Westminster tied with Geneva for the conference championship. Geneva looks like the strongest team in the league this season.

Mr. Myers, pastor elect of the Hickory United Presbyterian church, was winner of one of the scholarship awards in the department of church history.

The Rev. Frank McClure Caughey, '11, formerly instructor in Bible at Westminster, and the Rev. Charles T. Littell, '23, students in the graduate school, earned the degree of master of theology.

The commencement address was given by Dr. John McNaugher, president of the seminary. Dr. McNaugher is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1880.

A. A. U. W. ENTERTAINS SENIOR GIRLS AT TEA

Senior girls of Grove City and Westminster college were entertained at a tea given Saturday afternoon, May 7, at the Hillside, by the New Wilmington branch of the A. A. U. W. This organization is composed of members from Mercer, Grove City New Castle and New Wilmington.

The guests were received by Mrs. C. B. Robertson, Dean of Women at Westminster, Mrs. Lois Corey Thompson, Dean of Women at Grove City college, and by Mrs. J. N. Swan, president of the New Wilmington branch of the A. A. U. W.

A delightful program of music was presented by Mrs. Rankin johnston, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Alan B. Davis; violin solos were played by Mrs. T. C. Jenkins, accompanied by Mrs. C. F. Horton. Miss Eleanor Pollock, of Grove City college, gave a reading from "Elizabeth the Queen."

Mrs. Margaret McLaughry, vice president of the A. A. U. W. explained the advantages of joining the A. A. U. W. soon after their graduation from college.

SCIENCE TEACHERS ATTEND MEETING OF W. P. E. C. CONFERENCE

Dr. B. E. Quick, head of the biology department, accompanied by three students from his department, attended the outdoor meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Education Conference, held at State Teacher's college, Slippery Rock, Saturday, May 14. Dr. R. A. Waldron, science professor at Slippery Rock, and new president of the association, acted as host to the science group.

Interesting features of the week end conference were hikes over the Nature Trail, a visit to the new science buildings of Grove City college, and a trip to Mercer Bog, where both pitcher plant and sundew abound. Specimens of these interesting insect-eating plants are now on display in the biology laboratory, Saturday evening, there was a science lecture by Dr. Waldron, followed by a party for the visiting students and teachers.

Dr. B. E. Quick, George Winters, Charles Martin and Harry Dobkin attended from Westminster. Mr. John Edmund Shott, '19, principal in the Oakmont school, and Miss Virginia McCormick, '29, science teacher in the New Wilmington high school also attended the conference.

The State Teacher's college will again be host to a group of science teachers when the Pennsylvania Association for Advancement of Science holds its meeting there, in August.

DR. HERBERT E. BARR IS ILL AT HIS HOME IN NEW WILMINGTON

Dr. Herbert E. Barr has been seriously ill at his home in New Wilmington for several weeks.

Dr. Barr is a New Wilmington physician, and a graduate of the class of 1894. The Rev. William M. Barr, '88, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Delancie, New York, has been visiting his brother, and his father, Dr. J. S. Barr the oldest living missionary in the United Presbyterian church.

MOTHER OF STUDENT DIES IN NEW CASTLE

Mrs. Rebecca Robison Lapish, Mahoningtown, Pa., died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Saturday, May 7, after a prolonged illness.

She is survived by a daughter, Helen Lapish, a member of the junior class at Westminster; by Mrs. W. F. Byers, New Wilmington; and by two brothers, the Rev. John Robison of Port Royal, and Mr. Dale Robison, Mahoningtown.

REV. J. H. BREADEN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Word has been received of the recent death of the Rev. John Hall Breaden at his home in Pomona, California.

The Rev. Breaden was 82 years old at the time of his death, and has served long pastorates at West Sunbury, and Wurtemburg, Pa. He is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1874.

CROWELL WILL AGAIN BE COACH AT MERCER HIGH

William Crowell, Mercer, Pa., has again been elected as athletic coach at Mercer high school.

Mr. Crowell has been coach of athletics at Mercer for the past two years, during which time he has given Mercer its best football squad in the history of the school, the 1931 team winning Class B honors in the county.

While at Westminster, Mr. Crowell was a three-letter man, winning distinction in football, track and basketball. Playing center on the varsity basketball team, he will be remembered as one of the most famous of Westminster's Towering Titans.

Two college freshmen or sophomores, wanting summer work with opportunity for advancement as well as meeting finances for return to college in Fall. Phone New Castle 9038, Friday, 1-5 P. M. for appointment.

ALUMNI!

College Contemplates Own Electric Light Power Plant

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEING PLANNED

Many improvements have been made and are being made on the Westminster campus, Professor Baldwin Sears, business manager, announces. Extensive grading operations, started recently, will be continued through the summer months.

Thirty elms have been planted, and 500 evergreen trees of various kinds have been placed or transferred. These will eventually be located on the main campus.

The college has under advisement the building of hard-surfaced tennis courts to replace the temporary clay courts south of the gymnasium.

Plans for the installation of an electric light power plant to produce current for campus buildings are also being considered. Negotiations in this connection are well under way, Mr. Sears stated yesterday.

The power plant will have either a steam turbine generator or a Diesel engine type geared directly to a Westinghouse generator.

An investigation on the part of college officials has disclosed the possibilities of saving of from two to three thousand dollars a year by generating current for college use rather than purchasing current.

Other improvements in college buildings, including painting, paperings, and repairs, will be made during the vacation period.

COMMENCEMENT MAY BE HELD ON SOUTH CAMPUS

OUTDOOR PROGRAM TO DEPEND UPON WEATHER

Westminster's 78th commencement program may be held outdoors, President R. F. Galbreath indicated last Friday. With weather permitting, the services may be held on the campus facing the South terrace of Old Main Memorial.

In the event that the outdoor commencement plan works out, the senior class will probably be seated on the South terrace, and the audience will be seated on benches on the campus.

The academic procession will then form at the chapel front, will move around the Market street front of the building, and will then move to the South terrace where the exercises will be held.

DR. GALBREATH WILL ADDRESS ERIE MEETING

Many Westminster alumni from the Erie district plan to attend the alumni banquet to be held in Erie, Tuesday evening May 24. Professor Carl W. McNary, '10, principal of the Erie Academy, heads the committee in charge of arrangements.

Dr. R. F.Galbreath will attend the group meeting, and will address the alumni. Several alumni from New Wilmington also plan to attend the affair.

FACULTY CLUB HOLDS DINNER IN YOUNGSTOWN

Faculty members enjoyed a semi-formal dinner Monday evening, May 16, at Wycliffe Manor, Youngstown. Professor J. G. Moorhead was in charge of the affair. He was assisted by Miss Marjorie Brown and Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Election of officers followed the Faculty Club dinner. The new officers are: Professor J. G. Moorhead, president; Miss Florence White, vice president; and Miss Corrine Mercer, secretary-treasurer.

Senior Dance will be held at the college gym ,Saturday, May 28, 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. The Silver Slipper orchestra will play.

$25,000 Sum Given College

INCOME TO ASSIST WORTHY STUDENTS

The sum of $25,000 has been received by Westminster, Dr. R. F. Galbreath states, as the result of the will of the late John Alldred, Pittsburgh, who died April 10, 1931.

By the provisions of the will, this sum was left as an endowment to the college, the income from which is to be used to assist worthy students receive a college education. Executors, the Union Trust Co., of Pittsburgh, and Jay Yohe, St. Louis, Mo., settled the estate last week and sent the gift to the college.

The New Wilmington Presbyterian church, of which the Rev. W .F. Byers is pastor, has also donated a free-will offering to the college within the last month.

PERSONNEL HEAD HAS HAD VARIED SCHOOL CAREER

HAS HAD EXECUTIVE POSITIONS IN MANY SCHOOLS

William A. Johns, director of personnel at Westminster since January 8, has had wide experience in the field of education and in educational counseling. In addition to his administrative work in college and universities, Mr. Johns has been counselor in education for 21 different institutions.

WM. A. JOHNS

Mr. Johns, whose home is in Hudson, O., holds the master of science degree from the University of Kentucky. He has held executive positions in Cleveland, O., and other cities, and has had considerable business experience.

He was principal of the Galion, O., schools for some time following his graduation from college. Later he became dean of the school of vocational education at Tusculum college. He then became director of promotion and assistant to the president at Carlton college, Northfield, Minn.

Later he was vice-president of Evansville college, and then became business manager of Muskingum college. Mr. Johns has directed several large financial campaigns for colleges and universities.

He came to Westminster following work in his own educational counselor service in Cleveland, O. While operating this service, he served more than 20 eastern and southern colleges.

A man of wide experience and creative imagination in school and college work, and with contacts with the best families in five states contiguous to Ohio and Pennsylvania,

President Galbreath's Letter To Alumni Urges Attendance at Commencement

My dear Fellow Alumni, former Students and Friends:–

Commencement at Westminster comes this year June 4-6. We are planning big things for it – not big in the way of show and formality, but big in happy fellowship. We are hoping to see hundreds of friends together again, many of whom have not met for years. We want to bring to many hearts the thrill of dear old friendships renewed.

For many of the best friends of our lives are the friends of college days. We want to turn the keys of the College over to our alumni for those days. You have a contribution that will help greatly. It is this – your presence on the campus. Come anticipating one of the best times of your life and be prepared to help others have an equally good time.

DR. R. F. GALBREATH

At a time when there is so much to discourage, and when men are counting their losses, it seems particularly opportune to realize anew those values we have not lost – our friends and friendships.

This is not just a formal invitation. It is a letter from the heart of Old Westminster to her scattered children. It is also a letter from my own heart, for I most earnestly want your presence for this my first commencement as President of the College we love. It will be a matter of encouragement and joy to have you with us for these days.

If you want accommodations arranged for you, write A. A. McDonald, care of the College. He will see that you are comfortably located.

Bring the family along. It will add much if hundreds of alumni bring their boys and girls.

I shall anticipate meeting you on our campus June 4-6.

Cordially yours,

ROBERT F. GALBREATH
President.

P. S. Please note the unusual features on our program – the memorial to Dr. Ferguson. This alone will draw many back to Westminster, for we all loved him.

R.F.G.

SUMMER SCHOOL WORK MUST BE APPROVED HERE

Students who are expecting to take work in summer schools this summer should submit a full schedule of such work to the Registrar before the close of the present semester, announcement was made in chapel yesterday. Advanced credit at Westminster through summer term work can be had only through this method.

Where it is desired to carry more than the equivalent of one semester hour for each week of the summer session, a petition must be filled out and submitted to the Dean. Permission from the Dean's office is the only guarantee of credit in such a case.

DR. SWINDLER IS MADE PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION

Dr. J. A. Swindler, head of the department of physics and registrar at Westminster, was last Saturday elected chairman of the Association of College Physics Teachers of Western Pennsylvania. The organization meeting, held at the University of Pittsburgh was attended by Dr. Swindler and by Dr. John G. Moorhead.

Dr. A. G. Worthing, University of Pittsburgh, was elected secretary of the organization. This new organization will eventually become a sectional branch of the National Association of College Physics teachers.

Dr. Swindler is a member of Sigma Xi, American Physical Society, American Association of College Registrars, and is a Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

DR. MacDONALD WILL ADDRESS COUNTY GROUP

Dr. James A. McDonald, pastor of the South United Presbyterian church, Youngstown, will address both the morning and evening sessions of the Lawrence County Sabbath School convention, to be held in the Westfield Presbyterian church, Thursday, June 9.

Dr. MacDonald is acting moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church, and will preach the moderator's sermon at the meeting of the General Assembly, to be held in Beaver, Pa., Wednesday, May 25.

Pledge Seven To Journalism Honorary Frat

TO BE INITIATED TOMORROW NIGHT

Seven Westminster journalists have been pledged to Tau Gamma Delta, honorary journalistic fraternity. The neophytes will be initiated tomorrow evening.

Those honored are: Harold Polonus, Sharon, sports editor of the Holcad; Willis McGill, New Wilmington, business manager of the Argo; Edward Rea, New Castle, editor of the Argo; Otto Pearsall, New Castlee, art editor and staff member of the Argo.

David Gephart, Elizabeth, assistant manager of the Argo; Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh, editor of the handbook and a reporter on the Holcad staff; and William Rea, McDonald, departmental editor of the Argo.

TEACHER DIES IN KANSAS HOME

Word has been received of the death of Miss Nannie B. Hunter, at her home in Garnett, Kansas, March 29.

Miss Hunter was thesole survivor of her family, and one of the two surviving members of her college class, the class of 1867. She was for many years a resident of New Wilmington, where her father kept a book store for the convenience of college students.

For years a teacher and a librarian, Miss Hunter rendered a real service in her work with the children who came under her influence.

RESTRICT HONOR POINTS TO THOSE EARNED ON CAMPUS

Announcement was made yesterday that only honor points gained at Westminster are counted toward a degree. Points are not given for work done elsewhere, either in summer school or in regular term. This means that the number of honor points must equal the number of hours in work carried on the campus here ,regardless of work done elsewhere.

Registration For Next Year Started Yesterday Afternoon

Alumnus Flays Anti-Drys In Chapel Talk

CLAIMS PROHIBITION LAW SHOULD BE HONORED

Attorney William McElwee, assemblyman of the second Lawrence county district, flayed the anti-dry campaign in an address before the students and faculty of Westminster at the daily chapel service last Tuesday morning.

Speaking on the value and meaning and background of the 18th. amendment, Attorney McElwee said, "Physically, mentally, and morally, booze is bad."

The speaker started by indicating that the subject of temperance is a wide one, including work, food, exercise ,reading, confining activities, and almost every human endeavor. Temperance, he showed, need not be concerned with intoxicating liquors only.

"Temperance is moderation in the use of things which please," Attorney McElwee said by way of definition. "We all recognize," he continued, "that temperance is a good thing."

Total abstinance, he showed, is a step nearer the ideal goal. "There are two kings of abstinence," he said. "Abstinence of things harmful to self, and abstinence of things harmful to others are the two phases of abstaining."

"But," McElwee continued, "Temperance and total abstinence are not prohibition. Prohibition comes in when I say, 'Thou shalt not'."

Hitting at theanti-dry folks, McElwee said that it never was right to do certain things. These acts, catalogued in the Ten Commandments, were not new when placed on the tablets of stone. They are as old as the human race, the speaker showed.

Excellent examples and analogies were employed by the speaker to show that enforcement of the prohibition law is essential and right and that enforcement of other laws for the betterment of the race have always been questioned by a few with personal interests and greed at heart.

KDKA Radio Program On Air Tomorrow

YOUTH'S PROBLEMS FOR TODAY TO BE TOLD

Westminster's radio program over station KDKA, tomorrow afternoon from 4:15 to 4:30 (Daylight Saving Time), will feature a talk by President Robert F. Galbreath on "Youth's Problem for Today".

Dr. Galbreath's talk will occupy eight minutes of the quarter hour on the program. The Westminster varsity quartet, composed of Homer Dishong, Thomas Grenfell, Scott McMunn, and William Frack, will sing "The Largo" as the opening number. Paul McKnight will be accompanist.

Professor Alan B. Davis will sing a solo as the closing part of the program.

MINUS HONOR POINTS NOT SUBTRACTED FROM TOTAL, REGISTRAR SAYS

At the present time, and for all students graduating in the future, minus honor points will not be substracted, Dr. J. A. Swindler, registrar, states. Only plus honor points will be counted in determining the status for graduation.

SOPHS TO REGISTER TODAY JUNIORS THURSDAY

Registration of members of the first three classes of the college for next fall's courses started yesterday afternoon when freshmen were were enrolled from 3 to 5 o'clock. Registration will continue this afternoon and Thursday.

Sophomores will register this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, and juniors will be enrolled on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 4:30.

Dr. J. A. Swindler, register, announces that cards will be signed in the offices of the departmental heads from 4 to 5 each afternoon designated except where a different schedule is posted by the departments.

All cards should be signed by all departments in which a student registers, and the cards should be returned to the office of the dean or the registrar on or before Friday, May 27.

Registration this spring will facilitate matters for both student and instructor next fall. Changes in registration will follow the usual procedure then, the registrar states.

Prexy Talks On Peace At County Meet

MUST DESTROY WAR HE TELLS LEAGUE

"We as nations", challeneged President R. F. Galbreath in a stirring peace talk in New Castle last Tuesday night, "must destroy war or eventually be destroyed by it."

Dr. Galbreath was speaking before the Lawrence County Women's League for Peace at its "World Good-Will Day" program held in the senior high school auditorium.

"If ever the war clouds do break again", predicted Dr. Galbreath, "they will break with a devastating and destructive fury, the like of which the world has never known. Truly, we will be writing our own death warrent in the blood of our sacrified sons."

Dr. Galbreath quickly made his point understood when he declared that "today we have more secrets for taking life that we have for saving life."

Ghastly horrors, war-time experiences of his own in France, contributed to the speaker's discourse. The almost unspeakable perils and tragedies which the World War soldiers faced were also told.

ORGANIZE KARUX CLUB ON CAMPUS

Dr. and Mrs. John Orr will entertain the members of the Karux Club at dinner in their home Thursday evening, May 26.

The Karux Club, an organization of the pre-ministerial students of the college, was organized last month under the direction of Dr. Orr. For some time it has been felt that there was a need for some organization of the pre-ministerial students of the college. On April 7, Dr. Orr called a meeting of these students to discuss this problem and it was voted to establish a permanent organization to be known as the Karux Club.

The club holds regular meetings on the first Tuesday of each month, and other meetings at the discretion of the president. The officers of the organization are Calvin Rose, president, and Wilbur Christy, secretary. Dr. Orr is the sponsor of the club.

SPEECH COURSES

The following courses, not listed on the printed schedule, will be offered by Miss Ellen Cottrell: Speech 17, voice and diction, 3 hours, probably 11:15, M.W.F. Speech 13, technique and rehearsal, two lab periods, M. W. afternoon.

THE KARUX CLUB

Organization of men of the campus interested in the Christian ministry has been effected. This organization, the Karux Club, is a worthy one, and should be an excellent means of fellowship for the men who plan to enter the gospel ministry. It is not "just another campus organization", as so many are apt to be, but is a group with a purpose. And since the purpose is the highest, it is an organization with the ideals of Westminster and its founders at its heart.

SCHOLARS AND ATHLETES

Declaring athletes ineligible seems, on the surface, a cruel thing. The campus spreads rumors of all kinds. The ineligible athlete airs "grievances". But the facts are that unless a man passes his work or is passing his work, he should not be allowed to represent the college. Recent rulings in the case of varsity track men are, we hope, the beginning of a strict adherence in the future to the line and letter of eligibility rules.

SPRING REGISTRATION

Registration of students at the college this spring instead of next fall is an excellent move. Given a summer away from courses and graduation requirements, students often find themselves confused at fall registration. Spring enrollment also aids departments in arranging class rooms and courses. The new plan is, therefore, good for students and faculty alike.

THE WORKING STUDENT

Maintaining that "the myth that any able-bodied man can support himself and at the same time realize the full advantages of a college education must be destroyed," the Harvard Crimson proposes that the university henceforth deny admission to all applicants who must earn all expenses in college.

If there was ever a warped viewpoint this is it. It is the whole-loaf-or-none philosophy applied to education, and translated into terms of education it argues that it is better not to go to college at all than to forego some of the extra-curricular attractions.

None will quarrel with the Crimson on the point that other things being equal the student sans financial worries can get more out of college than the boy or girl who mut earn while learning. But is that a reason why the latter should be denied educational opportunities?

Many men and women have worked their way through school and emerged as fully educated as the richest students. President Hoover financed his own education. So did Emory Buckner, successful New York lawyer, who at the same time supported a family. Those who value an education by its earning power, will cite the young man who operated a sight-seeing bus while at Harvard and became a multi-millionaire within 10 years after graduation.

Self-supporting students probably miss no more classes than the fully subsidized and they apparently get in as many study hours. They do lose the value of some extra-curricular activities, but that is at least partially compensated for by their outside work.—New Castle News.

A. A. McDONALD IS RESERVING ROOMS FOR COMMENCEMENT

HAS BEEN ON STAFF FOR LAST 10 YEARS

A. A. McDonald, graduate manager of athletics from 1923 to this year, has been for a number of years connected with student canvass. Mr. McDonald, now an assistant in the personnel office, is devoting most of his time to this phase of the college work, the position of graduate manager having been abandoned.

A. A. McDONALD

"Andy", as he is know to many, was, during his student days in 1903 and 1904, student manager of athletic teams. He has been active in Rotary and in alumni affairs since 1923, and probably knows by name more almuni than anyone connected with the college.

He has been assisting Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the alumni association; and is doing special work for the administration.

For a number of years he was secretary of the athletic council of the college, served a term as president of Tri1State Confernce, was secretary of the conference for one year, and has been judge of elections in New Wilmington. He is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

Mr. McDonald has charge of rooming arrangements for commencement this year, and will accomodate any alumni who write in requesting rooming quarters for the June 4-6 period.

TWO ALUMNAE ARE REELECTED FOR YEAR AT BESSEMER

Hazel McClelland and Helen Reese, graduates of Westminster, have been reelected to the faculty of the Bessemer high school for the coming year. Miss McClelland, who teaches science and Latin, is a member of the class of 1930; and Miss Reese, a graduate in 1929, teaches mathematics. Joseph H. Martin, who received his Mus. B. degree last year, will again be in charge of music.

PERSONNEL HEAD

Mr. Johns fits in admirably at Westminster as the first full-time personnel director.

Results of the student canvass and college promotion campaign of this year are very encouraging, as would be expected from the past history of Mr. Johns' activities in such work at other institutions.

MOTHER OF ALUMNA DIES IN NEW CONCORD

Mr. Margaret McClaren Sharp, widow of the Rev. J. J. Sharp, died Thursday, May 12, at her home in New Concord, Ohio.

INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL ADOPTS NEW CONSTITUTION

Members of the Pan-Hellenic council have recently adopted a revised constitution, which stresses the importance of more severe rushing rules.

Rushing will be extended over a two weeks period, but will not be permitted before the dates are officially announced by the inter-sorority council.

Rushing expenses must be itemized and registered with the Pan-Hellenic treasurer and the annual fees of each sorority will be filed with the dean of women as a reference for Freshmen women.

Any girl breaking her pledge to one sorority is not eligible for membership in another social organization for one calendar year. She will also be deprived of all social privileges in any sorority until the expiration of a three-months period.

Deferred rushing and a five dollar fine will be the penalty for infringement of any Pan-Hellenic rule.

QUARTET SINGS IN ELLWOOD CITY

Under the direction of Professor Davis, several dates for the college male quartet have been arranged.

Tonight the quartet will sing in the Presbyterian church at Ellwood City. Lowenne Swindler will give several violin solos. Edgar Shaffer, trumpeter, and Paul McKnight, pianist will play several selections.

The quartet sang, Sabbath, May 22 at the Tabernacle United Presbyterian church in Youngstown. Professor Davis gave a recital last night in the United Presbyterian church at Mount Washington.

GIRL'S GLEE CLUB WILL BROADCAST OVER WKBN

On Thursday evening, May 26, the Girl's Glee Club, under direction of Miss Thomas, will broadcast a program over station WKBN, Youngstown . Sadie Mae Foltz will accompany the Glee Club.

Professor Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Davis, will sing several selections. Professor Freeman will play several piano selections.

GENERAL CONCERT TO COMPLETE WEEK OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

"Music Festival Week" will come to a close on Wednesday evening May 25, with a general concert of chorus, orchestra, and pipe organ selections by music conservatory students.

During the past week student recitals have been presented by Doris Shawkey, Sadie Mae Foltz, Margaret Weber, Monas Harlan, Dorothy Watkins, and Lois McGill.

GENEVA OVERWHELMS TITANS 89-46

Titans Garner Only Three Firsts In Lop-Sided Game

SERVICES OF SMALLEY AND HARPER MISSED

Geneva's powerful track and field outfit proved much too strong for the Titan cindermen Saturday afternoon when the two teams met at the Beaver Falls stadium. When the final race has been completed, the score stood 89-46 with the Convenanters holding the winning margin.

Lacking the force of Smalley, Harpes, and Headlee, the Titan outfit was able to garner only three first places, taking the mile, high hurdles and broad jump. Seven second places were scored for the Westminster outfit and four thirds were listed. Hutchison, freshman pole vaulter, tied with Cliff Aultman in the altitude event for a second while Clark matched up Ranson for a split count on the high jump bar.

McCall and Brust ran a dead heat to take second in the 220 yard dash. Spencer broke the Falls stadium record for the low hurdles, clipping off the distance in 12.8 seconds. The former record stood at 12.9.

The outstanding feature of the meet was the work of Howard Spencer, colored star from Genevatown, who won the high jump event with a jump of 6 foot 2 inches. Spencer, an aspirant for the American Olmpic team, cleared the bar to take this event without doffing his sweat suit.

Brownlee, Titan captain, garnered a first in the high hurdles and second places in the low hurdles, discus, and hammer. Burry ranked second on the Titan scoring column with eight points, winning the mile and placing second in the 880 event.

TRACK SUMMARY

100 yard dash: Thomas, G., first; Sauer, G., Second; Evans, G., third. Time: 10 sec.

220 yard dash: Thomas, G., first; McCall, W., and Brust, G., tied for second. Time: 22.4.

440 yard dash: Thomas, G., first; Sauer, G., second; Evans, G., third. Time. 52.2.

880 yard dash: Wulton, G., first; Burry, W., second; Sheppard, G., third. Time: 2:03.4.

Mile: Burry, W., first; Coles, W., second; Davis, G., third. Time: 4:39.5.

Two Mile: Wray, G., first; Davis, G., second; Coles, W., third. Time: 10:29.4.

120 High Hurdles: Brownlee, W., first; Evans, G., second; Dunn, G., third. Time: 15.2.

120 Low Hurdles: Spencer, G., first; Brownlee., second; Dunn, G., third. Time: 12.8. (New record.).

FIELD SUMMARY

Shot: Rupp, G., first; Fuller, W., second; Regdon, W., third. Distance: 40′ 1½″.

Discus: Rupp, G., first; Brownlee, W., second; Fuller, W., third. Distance: 131′ 6″.

Hammer: Rupp, G., first; Brownlee, W., second; Peitch, G., third. Distance: 143′ 2″.

Javelin: Beggs, G., first; Ranson, G., second; Regdon, W., third. Distance: 192′ 8½″.

Broad Jump: Siljander, W., first; Byers, W., second; Dunn G., third. Distance: 20′ 5¼″.

High Jump: Spencer, G., first; Clark, W., and Ranson, G., tied for second. Height: 6′ 2″.

Pole Vault: Ranson, G., first; Hutchison, W., and Aultman, G., tied for second. Height: 11′ 9″.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

Brownlee, 14; Burry, 8; Siljander, 5; Fuller, 3; Coles, 4; Byers, 3; Regdon, 2; Clark, 2; Hutchison, 2, and McCall 2.

INELIGIBLE

SMALLEY

Declared ineligible by a rule supposedly dead, James Smalley, track ace, will not be in uniform for Westminster on Decoration Day in the Tri-State Conference.

After gaining laurels for the school for four years in track and cross-country officials barred him from all future athletic contests because of too many low grades while in high school.

Tennis Team Splits In Four Meets On Road Trip Last Week

TITAN-ANTICS

Westminster's "sacred cow" was led forth from the barn last week when James Smalley, Titan long distance ace, Headlee, freshman javelin star, and Klumph, distance man, were declared ineligible for varsity competition.

Authorities pulled forth an official document drawn up in the days of Romulus and Remus which stated that no athlete could take part in varsity sports or other extra-curricular activities, if he was in school on probation.

Things as they appear in a "nut shell" seem to mean that Smalley, after having taken part in varsity athletics for his entire four years at this institution, will not be allowed to run for Westminster because of historical law grades received while in high school.

Where this ruling ever came from after its natural death of non-enforcement in the days of Louis XIV, no one seems to be able to say. However, it is known that the discovery of the rule came at a very inopportune time for the track squad. The men affected will lose a semester of varsity competition because they took part in the Bethany meet last Monday.

The rule, which to our knowledge, has never been read to the student body or has been enforced up to this time reminds us of some of the ancient "Blue Laws" of Pennsyltucky.

All in all, it's a fine kettle of fish!

* * *

With but one more issue of the Holcad staring us in the face, perhaps it would be most appropriate for this writer to say that this rule should be abrogated immediately. .The rule is dead and should be dead, since the rule appearing on record in recent bulletins states that the 10 hour and 10 honor point system shall govern extra-curricular activities. Let Dead Dogs be Dead Dogs!

AMEN

W.A.A. Holds Formal Dinner

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY LOCAL GROUP

The Women's Athletic Association formal dinner was held at Wyatt's Lodge last Thursday evening at 6:30. Evelyn Judson presided, and two sophomores: Helen Whieldon, and Helen McLaughry, were initiated. Each spoke on "Why I Want to be a Members of W.A.A."

Annual reports of the secretary and the treasurer were given by Martha Johnston and Fern Fox. The newly elected officers were formally installed. They are: Virgilm Wettich, president; Jean Miller, vice-president; Evelyn Judson, secretary; Lillian Baird, treasurer; and hike supervisor, Mary Morrow.

Letters were awarded all who gained at least 100 points in baseball games. Winners of such awards were: Mildred Ralston, Lillian Baird, Fern Fox, Anna Mae Leyshon, Patricia Jones, Lola Sewall, and Evelyn Judson.

W.A.A. pennants were awarded the following senior members: Emma Koegler, Jean Young, and Elaine Buzza. Mrs. R. F. Galbreath was a special guest at the banquet.

ENGAGEMENT OF NEW WILMINGTON GIRL ANNOUNCED

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Rose, 193 Beechwood road, New Wilmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel, to Edward E. Grotefend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grotefend, New Castle.

Miss Rose is a graduate of the class of 1923, and is at present teaching in the Ben Franklin Junior high school, New Castle. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

The engagement will terminate in an early summer wedding.

DR. GALBREATH RECEIVES BOOK ON INDIAN WARS

President Galbreath has recently received a copy of Indian Wars of Pennsylvannia, presented to him by the author, C. Hale Sipes, prominent attorney of Btuler.

In view of the Indian traditions back of New Wilmington history, Dr. Galbreath may later place the book on reserve in the college library.

Attorney Sipes is now working on material for two other books, The Pennsylvania-German Pioneers of Western Pennsylvania, and a History of Fort Ligonier, which he hopes to publish sometime in the near future.

ECONOMICS CLASS IN PRODUCTION VISITS SHENANGO POTTERY

As a climax to a series to trips to manufacturing concerns in the immediate district, a group of students and instructors of the Business department were guests of the Shenango Pottery of New Castle, Wednesday morning, May 11.

Faculty members in charge of the visiting group were Professor McKee, department head, Mr. Ronald Jones and Mr. Ross Ellis.

The group was conducted through the plant by Mr. Cleal, a former resident of this town, now connected with the New Castle firm.

Starting with the crushing of the raw product, kaoline, the students followed the process through the many stages of manufacture until confronted with the finished products—beautiful sets of dishes, designed for, and ready for shipment to concerns in all parts of the world.

The visitors were interested observers of the process whereby masses of plastic clay are hand-worked until soft, and shaped enough to be placed in molds, where, through the application of centrifugal force they were made to resemble some article of table ware.

Through the baking and glazing stages to the polishing of the ware, effected through the medium of crushed china, proved an interesting and valuable study of straight-line production to the future industrialists.

From a study of the huge bake ovens with their intricate apparatus for the measure of temperatures, the group was ushered to the department where these products receive their beautifying designs. Girls seated at long tables were busy with paints and brushesfi running lines on the procelain ware soon to make its debut in society. Patterns were being transposed from master copies printed on silken good cut into squares for the purpose. Later these were to be etched and painted to form a permanent design on some of the higher priced ware. It was pointed out that all of these steps of manufacture had their place in the production program.

Some of the orders made up were for Wilson college in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania, the diners on trains of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroad systems, and a few for the larger restaurants in New York.

After viewing thes orders made up for shipment the students were taken into the main offices and shown ways and means of making up pay-rolls, and handling other managerial affairs pertaining to practical business methods. They were then escorted to an elaborate display room, where they viewed the finished products. The arrival of a Seavy staff photographer added the finishing touches to a profitable morning.

STATE LAW BOOKS DONATED TO LIBRARY

Attorney William McElwee, assemblyman from the second Lawrence county district, and a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1897, has donated to the college library a copy of Laws of Pennsylvania, Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, reports. The volume covers the statutes of the commonwealth up to the current year.

Attorney McElwee has also given three handbooks of special laws to the library. These include: Game Laws, 1931-32; Laws of the Department of Forests and Waters, 1931-32; and Penna. Fish Laws, 1931-32.

Miss Ailman also announces the donation of a number of issues of the Holcad for the years 1916-17 by Dr. Hugh Hart, '19.

Alumni Association Makes 247 Reservations For Dinner

TEN CLASS REUNIONS SCHEDULED FOR AFTERNOON

Unprecedented interest of alumni in the activities of commencement week has been shown by the large number of reservations made for the Alumni Dinner, to be held at 12 o'clock, Saturday, June 4, in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church.

A program of unusual interest has been prepared by the committee in charge of the dinner, consisting of Mrs. A. A. McDonald, J. G. Patterson, and Miss Caroline Jones, of New Wilmington. As in other years, the guests will be seated by classes, and a roll call will be taken. More definite plans have not yet been announced by the committee on class organization, composed of Earl Black, Miss Emily Johnston, and Mrs. Lauren Thompson.

After the fellowship of the alumni dinner, there will follow the business meeting and the election of officers. At this meeting Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Association, will preside. Other officers of the organization are: Prof. W. D. Gamble, Sharon, vice president; Miss May McKelvey, New Wilmington, secretary; H. T.Getty, treasurer; and Robert W. Dixon, Pittsburgh, auditor. The unveiling of a memorial to Dr. R. G. Ferguson will follow the alumni meeting.

Ten class reunions are also scheduled for the afternoon, at 5 o'clock. Another event of interest will be the varsity-alumni tennis match, arranged by Joseph McFate.

CLARA SHERWIN TO SPEND NEXT YEAR IN FOREIGN STUDY

Miss Clara Sherwin, '34, has been accepted as a member of the Foreign Study Group of the University of Delaware and expects to sail in July to spend her junior year studying in France.

The Delaware Foreign Study plan, inaugurated in 1923, provides for one year's supervised study abroad for undergraduate students, with full credit toward the American baccalaureate degree. The year, including the time required for ocean passage, is approximately a calendar year. It is divided into two periods, a ten-week summer term, from August to October, at Tours, under the direction of the University of Poitiers, and the regular academic session of eight months, November to July, in Paris at the University of Paris, and the Ecolo Libre des Sciences Politiques. The list of subjects includes literature, history, geography, economics, and other branches.

The tutorial system of instruction is used in order to give the student the advantage of individual conferences and supervision. The students live in private French homes and have many opportunities of social intercourse with the French people and their week-ends and vacations are well filled with a program of excursions to various points of interest.

This plan is intended for those who are especially interested in France and the French language, whether for business, professional or purely cultural purposes. But students interested in many other lines find a thorough knowledge of some foreign language very useful.

The Foreign Study Plan is of special interest to Westminster friends and alumni because the originator and first director of this group was an alumnus of Westminster, Raymond Kirkbride, of the class of 1913, who died in 1929.

During the war he enlisted in the army and was seen to France in 1918. After the Armistice he was sent to Grenoble to study in the university where he remained four months. During this time he came to know was inspired with the idea which later developed into the Delaware plan. As he was a teacher at the University of Delaware after the war, the plan was developed under the supervision of that university. During the nine years that the Foreign Study plan has been operating, 87 American colleges and universities have participated by sending one or more students to France. This will be the second time that a student has gone from Westminster. The plan has been extended this year to include study in German with the headquarters of the Germon group at Munich in Germany.

APPRECIATION!

Dr. R. F. Galbreath wishes to express a sincere note of appreciation to Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the Westminster Alumni Association.

Dr. Calhoun has given a tremendous amount of time and effort to the work of the association, with the best interests of the college always at heart. His latest project, that of revising the alumni files, is a difficult undertaking and when completed, will be invaluable to the association.

Realizing the enormity of his task, Westminster's president wishes to express his appreciation, and the appreciation of the entire college, to one who has worked faithfully and long.

DR. J. R. NEALE IS PASTOR OF COLLEGE CHURCH

The Rev. Dr. J. Ralph Neale, a leader in young people's work in the United Presbyterian denomination, is pastor of the college church. A graduate of Muskingum with the class of 1910, Dr. Neale received his theological training at the Xenia seminary, from which he was graduated in 1914. He received the doctor of divinity degree from Muskingum in 1930.

Dr. Neale was pastor in Piqua, O., from 1914 to 1919; served as a chaplain with the Y. M. C. A. in France during 1918-19; and has been pastor of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church since 1920. He was a member of the Sherwood Eddy seminary through Europe in 1928, and is a member of the national committee on young people's work. He is on the board of Muskingum college.

REV. J. RALPH NEALE

Dr. Neale is aiding the college in handling the news items for Westminster in the church papers, the United Presbyterian and the Presbyterian Banner.

A mesh purse lost at Hillside the night of the Senior reception will be returned to its owner upon identification. Make inquiries at Hillside.

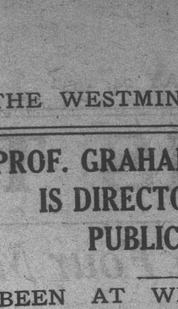
Two college freshmen or sophomores, wanting summer work with opportunity for advancement as well as meeting finances for return to college in Fall. Phone New Castle 9038, Friday, 1-5 P. M. for appointment.

PROF. GRAHAM IS DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY BUREAU

BEEN AT WESTMINSTER FOR LAST 7 YEARS

Robert X. Graham, assistant professor in English and coach of track and cross country, is director of the Westminster News Bureau. Professor Graham, a graduate of Colgate University in 1925, holds the M.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Coming to Westminster in 1925, Professor Graham became an instructor in English and journalism. In 1927 he organized the News Bureau, which now supplies more than 100 daily newspapers and many weekly papers with news stories, photograps, and mats.



GRAHAM

Professor Graham has written much of the copy for college bulletins printed and has managed the publicity and advertising for two financial drives, one for a college, and one for a community chest campaign.

Professor Graham has written much of the copy for college bulletins printed pieces used in promotion and advertising, advertisements for church papers and daily newspapers, and has served as advisor to the Holcad and Argo staffs for seven years.

He has had newspaper experience as a feature writer, editorial writer, columnist, and sports reporter, and has managed the publicity and advertising for two financial drives, one for a college, and one for a community chest campaign.

While at Colgate, Professor Graham was editor of the literary magazine, editor of the handbook, columnist and associate editor of the newspaper, associate editor of the yearbook, and associate editor of the humorous magazine.

He has contributed articles to professional and fraternal magazines and periodicals, and while in college wrote two poems which were accorded honorable mention in the College Anthology of Verse. He was Boy Scout page editor of The Continent, Presbyterian magazine, for two years; and was for one year on the staff of Boys' Magazine.

He is a member of the National Editorial Association, National Association of College Teachers of Journalism, Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism fraternity, and Kappa Delta Rho.

DR. LOVE RETURNS FOR ACTIVITIES OF COMMENCEMENT

Dr. R. J. Love, for twelve years Professor of Bible at Westminster, has expressed his intention of returning for the activities of the commencement season.

Weakened by ill health, Dr. Love last spring gave up his work at Westminster and spent the year on his estate in Lockhart, Florida.

LOVE

A graduate of Westminster with the class of 1885, Dr. Love received the Ph.D. degree from Westminster in 1894, and his D.D. degree in 1928. He is well-known for his study of the Bible and is the author of several important books and phamphlets on various phases of the Bible.

JUDGE CHAMBERS '00, ON MEMORIAL PROGRAM

Judge James A. Chambers, '00, will deliver the annual Memorial day address in Mercer on May 30. The services will be held at the Mercer courthouse in the afternoon.

ALUMNI EXPRESS INTEREST IN PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

Many letters have been received from Westminster alumni and former students, expressing interest in the commencement activities, and expressing their regret because of their inability to attend.

Among such letters recently received by Dr. Galbreath were those of Mr. F. L. Hoskins, Jr., Sandusky, Ohio; the Rev. Raymon Kistler, '12, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Rochester, New York; and a letter from the Rev. A. H. Harsha, '74, Junction City, Kansas.

Special Edition | NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1932. | Mid-Summer

Missionary Conference Here August 5th to 12th

Delegates May Enroll Up To August Fifth

STRONG LEADERSHIP IS ATTRACTING MANY

United Presbyterians from the Middle Atlantic and other states will be gathering here for their largest missionary conference, known as the New Wilmington Missionary Conference, on Friday August 5. The gathering this year, under managership of William T. Turnbull, '30, Elizabeth, and Donald McClure, '28, Blairsville, students in the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, will last until August 12.

For 27 years the New Wilmington Conference on the Westminster campus has attracted large groups of missionaries and from 300 to 500 young people. A large group is expected to enjoy the fine program of widely-known speakers and the extensive program of sports and social events this year.

Dr. Paul W. Harrison, medical missionary to the nomad tribes of Central Arabia, will be one of the chief speakers. Since his return to this country on furlough, Dr. Harrison has been in demand as a popular lecturer and leader in missionary endeavor.

Israel Latif, formerly an Indian prince and now a professor of psychology in the Forman Christian College, Lahore, India, who recently received his Ph. D. degree from Princeton University, will be another of the speakers. He will describe political and economic conditions in India.

Other leaders will be Miss Emma Dean Anderson of India, Dr. Mills J. Taylor of the Foreign Board, Miss Anna A. Milligan of the Foreign Board, and Dr. R. F. Galbreath president of Westminster. The Rev. J. Calvin Reid Butler, will have charge of the girls' Bible hour; and the Rev. T. Clifford Strangeway, Philadelphia, will lead the boys' Bible hour. One hour every morning will be given to Dr. Claire E. Hawthorne, Washington, D. C., who will direct the spiritual life meetings.

V. BOYD

Members of the Westminster College faculty will also be in direct and constant leadership during the conference. The entire equipment of the college is turned over for the use of the delegates both for meetings and for residence.

Samuel C. Weir will have charge of the boys' camp. Miss Virginia Boyd, Wilkinsburg, is social chairman; and John McClure, Blairsville, is dining room manager.

J. McCLURE

Delegates will include young people and adults interested in the leadership training in young people's Sabbath school, and general church activities. The first session opens on the evening of August 5, and the conference closes on Friday, August 12.

Registration of delegates will be accepted up to August 5. Address: William T. Turnbull, New Wilmington, Pa.

E. N. BROWN WINS M. A. DEGREE AT OBERLIN COLLEGE

Edward N. Brown, New Wilmington, a graduate of Westminster with the class of '27, was awarded the M. A. degree at the 99th commencement at Oberlin College last month. Brown received his degree in chemistry. He spent one year at Westminster in post-graduate work following success as a commercial chemist.

June Graduates Get Positions

SIX TO ENTER THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Many graduates of Westminster in June have already made definite plans for next year. A large group of members of the 1932 class plan to take graduate work, while many others have received positions for next year.

William Alderdice plans to take graduate work in English at Yale. Fred Blaha will enter the Harvard business school. Wayne Davison and Elliott Sellar will enter the University of Pennsylvania medical school.

SIX TO SEMINARY

Five members of the class will enter the Pittsburgh-Xenia theological seminary. They are: Charles Fulton, Scott McMunn, John McClure, Walker Brownlee, and Charles McCormick. David Hunter will enter the Princeton seminary.

Michael Kocheran will enter Harvard law school. Paul Gamble plans to take graduate work in English and play writing at the University of North Carolina. William Ordish will enter the University of Michigan law school.

Edward Dunlap will study medicine at Western Reserve. Virginia Boyd will enter the social service school at Union Seminary. Ben Gelfand, who will teach at Farrell, is taking graduate work at the University of Denver this summer. Thomas Uber will study medicine at Cornell.

ELEVEN TO TEACH

Those who have been elected to teaching positions are: Louise Adams, Girls' school, Cairo, Egypt; Dorothy Cameron, Lisbon, O., high school; Mary Clarke, New Wilmington high school; Harry Michaels, Turtle Creek Union high school; Margaret Sherbondy, Sharon high school; Virginia Reeher, Etna high school.

Ada Short, Wheatland grammar school; Marvin Clark, Knox high school; Ben Gelfand, Farrell high school; Richard Fuller, Greensboro high school.

Phillip Rice has been given a position with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., in Akron, O. He will play for the Wingfoot court team. Andrew A. McDonald, Jr., has been given a position in the Murphy Stores in Erie. Florence Groth plans to enter business in Cleveland, O.

DOCTOR TO LOCATE IN NEW WILMINGTON

Dr. John Herriott Boyd, '26, a resident here, plans to return to New Wilmington where he will locate, early in September.

He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh medical school and has spent the past year as an interne in the University Medical Center hospital. He also spent a year as junior interne at Columbia hospital, Wilkinsburg, and was also located at the Jameson Memorial hospital in New Castle for a summer.

Many Freshmen Are Enrolled

If student enrollment at Westminster for the coming year may be taken as a criterion, the country is starting on its way out of the financial stress of the last two years. Encouraging registration of freshmen at this date would indicate that another large entering class will be on hand for orientation on September 13.

Freshman enrollments already accepted by the registrar are from four states other than Pennsylvania. States represented are Michigan, Connecticut, New York, and Ohio.

More than 1,000 other high school and preparatory school graduates have written the college that they are interested in entering Westminster this fall. From this number, throughout August, the balance of the large freshman class will come.

While it is true that students who register before August 10 usually secure better room reservations, there are a number of desirable suites and rooms still available, college officials state.

U.P. Colleges Appeal For Cooperation

The five United Presbyterian colleges: Monmouth, Muskingum, Tarkio, Sterling, and Westminster, are through their presidents, appealing to the United Presbyterian church and denomination to advise students to attend one of the church schools.

The organization of the committee, which includes Thomas H. McMichael, D.D., president of Monmouth; Robert N. Montgomery, D.D., president of Muskingum; M. Earl Collins, acting president of Tarkio; Ross T. Campbell, D.D., president of Sterling; and Robert F. Galbreath, D.D., president of Westminster, will be a movement to win the support and loyalty of pastors, parents, Sabbath school teachers, leaders of Y. P.C.U. societies, and young people of the church.

The presidents of the five colleges feel that there is more than a sense of duty connected with such an appeal. The colleges have all the facilities and equipment and curricula of other institutions. Standards are equally high. Student activities and organizations are as well organized. More than this, each of the five United Presbyterian institutions fosters religious training and worship which the young men and women of the denomination need and desire.

PROF. OSGOOD IS GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE FOR YEAR

Harlow Osgood, Butler, assistant professor of Chemistry at Westminster, has been granted a year's leave of absence, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president, announces. Professor Osgood will spend the year in graduate study at Cornell University where he has been given a graduate fellowship.

Professor Osgood was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1927. He received the master of science degree from Penn State College in 1929. Since 1929, he has been on the faculty at Westminster. During the 1931 summer term. Osgood studied at Cornell.

Appointment of an instructor to take Osgood's place for one year will be announced soon, Dr. Galbreath states.

Leonard W. Braham, '17, county farm adviser, Joliet, Ill., is spending his vacation in New Wilmington.

Dr. O. J. Walker, Youngstown, O., ill for some time, is better and is again taking care of his practice.

ALUMNI NOTICE

Dut to change in plans, the inauguration of Dr. Galbreath as president will probably be October 8 or 22. Watch for definite announcement of this in the daily press and in your mails soon.

COLLEGE NIGHT IS PLANNED FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 6

Instead of the traditional "Westminster Night" at the New Wilmington Missionary Conference, Saturday, August 6 will be observed this year as "College Night". A program of interest to students and alumni of all five United Presbyterian colleges will be worked out.

It is hoped that alumni and students of Monmouth, Muskingum, Tarkio, and Sterling will, together with Westminster alumni and students, sing their alma maters, give their college yells, and enjoy the fellowship of the evening, intermingling with the groups representing sister schools.

Westminster is acting as host for this event with the hope of making its sister colleges conscious of her good will and to be reassured of theirs.

The committee in charge of the program for the evening includes Miss Virginia Boyd, Miss Corinne Mercer, Miss Caroline Jones, and A. A. McDonald. Dr. R. F. Galbreath will make the address of welcome. Following this, the college groups of the five United Presbyterian schools will sing. Refreshments will be served after the program.

MISS TURNER IS APPOINTED WOMEN'S DEAN

OFFICE TO BE IN BROWNE HALL

Miss Mary E. Turner, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1900, has been appointed dean of women at Westminster, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president, announces.

Miss Turner was educated at Wilkinsburg high school, at Westminster, and took graduate work at Teachers' College, Columbia University. As dean of women, Miss Turner will have her office in Browne Hall, a suite having been arranged for the purpose on the first floor, with a doorway cut from the entrance hall at the left.

Miss Turner is a member of the American Association of University Women, the College Club of Pittsburgh, the Women's Club of Wilkinsburg, the Y. W. C. A., and the Westminster Women's Club.

Mrs. C. B. Robertson will be residence director of the Hillside dormitory, where upper-class girls will be housed. Freshman girls will reside at Browne hall, but both upper-class and freshman girls will find the office of the dean of women in Browne hall where they may go for information or advice at any time.

ALUMNI VISIT OFFICE DURING SUMMER MONTHS

A large number of graduates and former students have visited in the office of the Westminster College Alumni Association within the last two months. Dr. S. E. Calhoun announces.

Among the recent visitors were: Samuel Stewart, McKeesport, '30; Dr. Ralph McKelvey, Pittsburgh, '07; Dr. J. Richard Brandon, Canton, O., '19; and Dr. Morgan Barnes, former professor of the college who is now president of a preparatory school in California.

Westminster Enjoys Banner Year In Every Department

ENROLLMENT INCREASES; COLLEGE GETS GIFTS

Ending the 1931-32 college year in excellent financial condition, and with the spirit on the campus the best in years, Westminster is thankful for the success and good fortune enjoyed despite the inroads of financial stress in all walks of life.

Enrollment for the 1930-31 year was 467, while the enrollment for the 1931-32 year reached the total of 556. With large numbers of freshmen enrolling now for the 1932-33 year which starts September 13, indications are that the coming year's enrollment will also be high.

Special achievements during the year included the winning of the Tri-State Conference and Pittsburgh district basketball championships, the winning of the Tri-State Conference cross country championship, the winning of another first prize by the junior class yearbook, the debut of musical and dramatic groups on eight radio programs, and acting and directing experience for 88 students in Little Theatre plays.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath assumed charge as president in February, succeeding Dr. Charles Freeman who was acting president from February 1931. With Dr. Galbreath's coming, a new spirit permeated the campus, and, building on the foundation made by Dr. Freeman, Dr. Galbreath has made much progress in every line in the short time he has been here.

Gifts to the college since October include $2,200 by Dr. Samuel Elliott, a sum of $25,000 by the will of John Alldred of Pittsburgh, a memorial stone to Dr. Ferguson by the class of 1907, a special offering by the Presbyterian church of New Wilmington, a gift of $1,000 by Samuel N. Warden of the class of 1884, another gift of $1,500 by Dr. Samuel Elliott, memorial trees for the campus by the class of 1928 and by Joseph Francis and others, two beautiful tea service sets for the girls' dormitories by W. C. George of the board of trustees, an intra-mural loving cup by the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, numerous books to the college library by Dr. Galbreath and Dean Russell, and others, and a third gift by Dr. Elliott of $500.

Faculty honors won included: Professor Ben Euwema promoted to department head in English, Dr. John Moorhead wrote article for the Physical Review, Dr. E. B. Russell made a charter member of the State Historical Society, Dr. J. A. Swindler made president of the college teachers of physics association, Professor A. T. Cordray made head of the new department of speech and dramatic arts, Miss Mildred Ailman selected as speaker at library convention, the appearance on radio programs of seven professors.

Recitals by Professors Kirkbride, Nevin, Freeman, Thomas, and Davis of the Conservatory, the granting of the degree of doctor of laws to Dr. Galbreath by Waynesburg college, and the publication of articles in trade and professional journals by Professor R. X. Graham.

William A. Johns was appointed director of personnel in January. Other new faculty appointments during the year included: Arthur Kirkbride, instructor in economics; Ronald Jones, instructor in economics; Mrs. Bertha Bay, assistant professor in economics; Baldwin Sears, business manager; Mrs. A. T. Cordray, instructor in English; Miss Nandeen Love, instructor in physical education; Herschel V. Beasley, assistant professor in chemistry.

John D. Lawther, reelected director of athletics and assistant professor of psychology; Dr. John Orr, promoted to head of the department of Bible; and Dr. E. B. Russell, made acting dean.

Arbor Day was celebrated on the campus, when classes planted memorial trees. More than 600 trees,

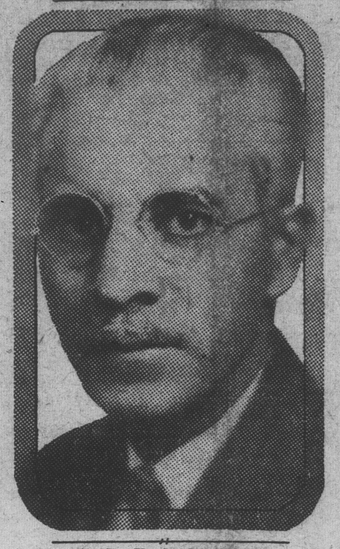
Eighth President



DR. R. F. GALBREATH

To Inaugurate Dr. Galbreath In October

According to plans being formulated by a committee of the Westminster board of trustees, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath will be formally inaugurated as the eighth president of the college in October.

The definite date for the inauguration has not been set, but it is thought that it will be either Saturday, October 8, or Saturday, October 22. If this plan is followed, the entire day will be devoted to the services of the inauguration.

It is hoped that alumni will return for this important event on the college calendar. Academic representatives will be invited from schools and colleges in all the eastern and Middle western states.

In all probability, United States Senator David A. Reed will be the principal speaker at the inauguration. Senator Reed will wire his decision within a few days.

VIEWBOOK EDITION OF BULLETIN IS VERY ATTRACTIVE

The July-September issue of the Westminster College Bulletin, edited by Prof. R. X. Graham, publicity director, came off the press early this month.

This issue of the bulletin, known as a viewbook, contains 36 pages. The book is printed on white paper in a green duotone ink. The cover, a green leathette, has silver printing and decorative lines.

The book, planned as a supplement to the college catalog, contains 18 pictures, information of interest to student prospects, and four-year outlines for the various courses offered by the college.

MISSES AILMAN AND WHITE GIVE PARTY AT STATE COLLEGE

Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, and Miss Florence White, assistant professor of modern languages, entertained 16 Westminster alumni and former students at Penn State last week at Miss Ailman's home on West Fairmount street. Both Miss Ailman and Miss White are taking graduate work at State this summer.

DR. A. H. HARSHAW DIES IN KANSAS

The Rev. Dr. Andrew H. Harshaw died June 22 at Junction City, Kansas, where he was pastor emeritus of the Presbyterian church. Dr. Harshaw was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1874.

THE CHURCH AND ITS COLLEGES

Five good colleges are maintained by the Board of Education of the United Presbyterian Church. These five schools: Monmouth, Tarkio, Muskingum, Sterling, and Westminster, should receive the support of pastors, directors of young peoples' work, alumni, and all members of the denomination.

Located in Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Kansas, and Pennsylvania, the five church colleges are near enough to any United Presbyterian communities so that distance is no factor. The curricula of all five schools are wide in scope, so that the training desired can be found at any one.

Each of the five schools has buildings and equipment of value. The several faculties are well trained. Student organizations are active.

But more than all these things, these church schools provide that religious background and training without which education is meaningless and aimless. Young people of the denomination should not desert the five United Presbyterian colleges in favor of the large universities and state institutions. The colleges have a place for you, and your place is in one of the colleges.

We are not at all untrue to governments of commonwealths when we say that a young man or a young woman may, in a large university, become a bachelor or a master and be as ignorant of the ineffable, the moral and spiritual truth which it represents and the fundamental principles of religion, their nature and value to society, as if educated in a non-Christian country. Who is to supply this lack, if not the Christian college?

To answer the call of the world today and adequately and efficently to perform its tasks without the guidance of the religious motive, without training in an atmosphere thoroughly congenial to a sound religious faith and vital with the religious spirit is a futile gesture and one which is destined for sure failure.

THE MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

Again Old Westminster is glad to welcome the delegates and leaders of the New Wilmington Missionary Conference. This annual gathering, bringing together three hundred or more young people of the United Presbyterian denomination, has been the means of reaching the far corners of the world with the Christian gospel.

Friendships formed at the Conference have lasted through the years. Inspiration and training received here have made life a joyous, purposeful experience. The church has benefited by the leadership here fostered. Conference leaders have, through their association with the young people, been encouraged in their work.

Westminster prays that this year's gathering shall be as large and as successful in its aims and ideals as the conferences of other years. The facilities of the college are at the disposal of the Conference. The staff of the college stands ready to do anything it can to help.

INAUGURATION PLANS

October will witness the formal inauguration of Robert Ferguson Galbreath, D.D. LL.D., as the eighth president of Westminster. Dr. Galbreath, a graduate of the college with the class of 1907, has been president since February, and in that short time has won a place in the hearts of students, faculty members, alumni, townspeople, and the general public.

The fact that, in 80 years of brilliant history, the college has had but seven other leaders is indicative of the loyalty of alumni and friends to those who have been appointed to direct the college. The enthusiasm shown on Alumni Day, June 4, would indicate that Dr. Galbreath has already won the wholehearted support of all who are interested in Westminster.

Representatives of many colleges and universities will be on hand for the inauguration. Alumni plan to return for the great event. It will be another gala day in Westminster's history, and one which few will want to miss.

Local alumni chapters, the Alumni Association, and the College Office will work to get all alumni back to the campus for the ceremony. Aid these organizations by talking of the inauguration to alumni and former students in your community.

Holcadabra

As one reviews the columns and attempts at columns in daily papers, he is impressed by two things: the lack of originality, and the fluctuation of quality . We are grateful to F.P.A. (Franklin P. Adams) for a word in his "Conning Tower". Adams, after a vacation in Europe, reviews the work of "Jake Falstaff" (Herman Fetzer of the Cleveland Press), who was a pinch hitter for Adams:

"Contrary to the general impression, it is harder to write a column for a month than it is for a year, or for ten years. The feeling that you have only a few days to strut your belles-lettres in causes a hardening of the columnar arteries; a columnist, to our notion, ought to have the leeway of feeling that even if he is Something Terrible for a week or a month, nothing horrible will happen. It is a single hair that divides trying too hard from not trying at all; the relaxation point is hard to find, and harder to maintain."

COLLEGE MEN

College men are of three kinds: (1) Those who couldn't be as dumb as they look; (2) those who couldn't look as dumb as they are; (3) and last, but not least, those who are intelligent enough to grant for the sake of argument that a woman is always right.

* * * *

This is the time of year when many people go away for a change and come back without any.

* * * *

COLOR NOTE

At one time a student by the name of "Red" Black roomed at Browne hall and studied Spanish under Miss White. That should make freshmen green with envy.

HUMOR AND BRAINS

* * * *

There is a belief among many that humor and brains are incompatible. Humor, they claim, is a gift, As if, in the long run, with ancestry playing a large part, brains were not a gift!

There are others who claim that seriousness and dignity are carriages of the body and expression assumed by dumb people to cover up some defect of the mind. Perhaps the middle ground is best.

But Don Marquis, in his "When the Turtles Sing," has a character about whom he says, ".... and his mind was full of curls and quirks." That has always had a pleasant appeal. His mind, note carefully, was full of curls and quirks. Whether or not humor is an indication of brains or lack of brains, it is an indication that its possessor is human.

THE FLIPANT PAGES

Sophisticates, which is to say the sophomores in life, have a way of feeling proud of flip reading lists that causes considerable uneasiness among the conservatives. If ever that lost art, conversation, comes around to contemporary things, the sophisticates quote from Vanity Fair, The New Yorker, Life, Judge, College Humor, or one of the more or less questionable periodicals purporting to be edited for the movie-lovers or ex-soldiers who want wartime jokes perpetuated in booklet form appearing once a month.

It is seldom that the dialogue of a banquet table or a road-house table contains reference to the contents of The Living Age, Harpers, Forum, Review of Reviews, and the host of other excellent publications which deal with current problems, world affairs, personal interests. If we were not, due to lack of sufficient years, so young in viewpoint, we might decry, deplore, and lament this fact. As it is, we merely mention it.

And having mentioned it, we might add that there is a place for everything. There is a place to be serious, to talk shop, to get "high hat," to be intelligent; and there is a place to be gay, to talk and act frivolously, to banter and joke. But once in a blue moon every person should spend five or ten minutes discussing the lasting things of life.

VISIT WASHINGTON

Professor and Mrs. Ben Euwema, Professor and Mrs. A. T. Cordray, and Mrs. Hugh Hart are spending some time in Washington, D.C. While there, Professor Euwema is doing work on his doctor's thesis at the Congressional Library.

Attorney and Mrs. Walter W. Braham, New Castle, are spending their vacation at Chautauqua, N. Y.

MARGARET REED MADE INSTRUCTOR IN ECONOMICS

Miss Margaret Reed, Butler, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1930, has been appointed an instructor in the department of economics and business administration for the coming year, Professor C. W. McKee announces.

Miss Reed was salutatorian of her class and was graduated with honors, receiving the bachelor of arts degree. Since her graduation, she has been an instructor at the Butler high school. She has taken graduate work during the summer terms, this year studying at Penn State.

While in college, Miss Reed was active in journalism. She was a member of the Holcad and handbook staffs and was a member of Psi Nu, journalism sorority. She was also active in musical organizations, class and Little Theatre plays, the Y.W. C. A., the Bible class, and student governing boards. Miss Reed is a membed of Sigma Kappa sorority.

Miss Reed will probably have charge of classes in business English and will direct the Elliott library for the economics department.

DONALD CAMERON IS ELECTED TO MUSIC FACULTY

Donald O. Cameron, Johnstown, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1931, has been appointed professor of violin, theory, orchestra, and band instruments in the Westminster Conservatory for the coming year, Alan B. Davis, director, announces.

DONALD O. CAMERON

Cameron, who holds the Mus. B. degree from Westminster, takes the place of Professor E. C. Murray, resigned. During the summer of 1931, the college year 1931-32, and this summer, Cameron has been at Penn State College where he will receive the master of education degree in August. While at Penn State, Cameron directed the Summer School orchestra and was active in musical organizations.

At Westminster he was a member of Phi Pi Phi fraternity, student leader of the band, a member of the chapel choir, student conductor of the orchestra, and a member of the string quartette.

Students contemplating college are invited to visit the Westminster campus, where college officials will take them on a tour of the buildings.

CONFERENCE WAS STARTED IN 1906

In 1906, four years after the General Assembly had practically given our church heart failure by endorsing the requests from India and Egypt for 480 new missionaries, the Foreign Board, under the leadership of Dr. Chas. R. Watson, came to an important decision. Seeing the changed lives coming from the Silver Bay Missionary Education Conference—meeting at the same Silver Bay which this year entertains the National Y. P. C. U. Convention—these leaders decided that our church needed a like institution to better develop the missionary interest in the young people. Dr. R. M. Russell, president of Westminster, made a generous offer of the whole college plant, and plans for the first Conference took definite shape. Three objectives were set:

1. To enlist lives in definite service for the Master.
2. To awaken the interest and enlist the prayers of the church.
3. To secure gifts of money and other useful equipment.

Life surrender and a sympathetic appreciation of missions were thus in view. At the same time, rest and entertainment were provided, making each afternoon "pass like magic", as one has expressed it.

But has the Conference hewn true to the mark? For one thing, has social emphasis obscured the spiritual side? New Wilmington is justly famed for its good times, and Virginia Boyd, Sara Brown and Abner Work will see that they are not lacking this summer! The corn roast, treasure hunt, tennis, volley-ball, badminton, mush ball and swimming in New Wilmington's new out-door pool will have their inning each afternoon. Yet inseparable as they are from a mental picture of the Conference, these good times are not the chief objective. They are incidental. Primary still is spiritual growth through Christian fellowship and leadership.

It is actually rumored that young people have shied at the Conference, thinking it to be a machine for manufacturing missionaries! Our church is not needing new missionaries today—in fact it cannot use them. What is does need is a realization that every Christian should be a missionary or he has not fully confessed Christ.

Neither is the Conference crowd "moneyed," so the third original objective has been lost sight of. The Conference today is not trying to make money—as witness the reduced rates this summer—but merely to pay its own way. Yet in its 27th year the Conference answers the same need and is guided by the same spirit which brought it into being. Young people still need to establish the personal relationship with their Master which finds voice in this year's verse: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

COLLEGE POSTERS PLACED IN SCHOOLS, CHURCES, RESORTS

Two thousand large Westminster posters, planned by the director of publicity, have been placed in churches, libraries, summer camps, schools, and Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. buildings within the last two weeks.

The posters, printed in burned orange and green-black duotone ink, include pictures of the main college buildings, a map showing the location of the college, and a picture of President Galbreath.

Information on athletics, student organizations, academic standing, degrees, courses, and faculty are contained on the poster. This poster supplements direct mail, radio, billboards, window displays, newspaper and magazine advertising, publicity in the daily and weekly press, bulletins and booklets, and illustrated letters in bringing the college to the attention of students.

The posters have been placed from Lakeside and Cedar Point, Ohio, through Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Warren, and Youngstown; in the Erie section; in greater Pittsburgh and suburban towns; and as far east as Johnstown.

Among the common delusions is one that a college professor knows everything. This belief is so widespread that even some college professors believe it. On this assumption we have the spectacle of a chemistry professor who knows nothing of any faith, though believing in one of them, airing his views on the philosophy of religion. We have a professor of divinity whose only science is that of so altering a sermon that it can be delivered on the following week without being found out, laying down dogmatically that science is inefficient and that evolution is a fable.—The McGill Daily.

COLLEGE ENDS BANNER YEAR

including many evergreens were planted on the campus during the spring, and grading and landscaping started during the spring has been continued. Improvements have been made during the year in most of the college buildings, and extensive repairs, redecorating, and improvements will be made in the Hillside yet this summer.

Intra-mural sports programs attracted more students than ever before. More than 75 per cent of the men students participated in games and contests. Women students, following their year's program, presented a gymnasium exhibition.

Fine numbers on the lecture course, musicals and recitals and concerts, an unusually large number of special chapel speakers, 10 dramatic productions by students, a music week festival by students in the Conservatory, three class dances, and the usual number of fraternity and sorority dinners and parties all helped to make the year an enjoyable one socially.

MANY GRADUATES GETS POSITIONS

Robert Weingartner is in the florist business in New Castle. Harry Madducks plans to enter business after he returns from officers' training camp. Ernest Durrast will continue to manage the Tavern at New Wilmington. Meredith Irons may enter law school at Pitt, Frank Douds also plans to study law at Pitt.

Dorothy McGeoch will teach at Cambridge, N. Y. Martha Drake will teach at Sharon. Gertrude Hastings is married. Douglas Anderson will take graduate work at Yale or Harvard.

Thus one-half of the graduates have already made definite plans for next year. It is possible that others have been given positions, but no information was available at press time.

PEARL HOAGLAND IS APPOINTED TO PSYCHOLOGY POST

Miss Pearl Hoagland, Mercer, has been elected an instructor in psychology at Westminster for next year, Professor J. A. Shott, head of the department, announces.

Miss Hoagland, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1931, spent last year as statistician in the office of the superintendent of schools at Homestead. Last summer she took graduate work in psychology at the University of Iowa, and she is again enrolled at Iowa this summer. Last winter she took graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh. She has taken experimental psychology, statistics, and advanced psychology, and has completed most of her work toward the M. A. degree.

PEARL HOAGLAND

While in college, Miss Hoagland was student assistant in psychology and education. She was a member of Kappa Delta sorority, a member of the mathematics fraternity, and a member of the honorary journalistic sorority.

Miss Hoagland was a member of the Holcad staff for four years, serving as reporter, associate editor, and alumni editor. She was snapshot editor of the yearbook, and associate editor of the handbook.

In addition to these activities, she was a member of class athletic teams, a member of debating teams, a member of musical organizations, and a member of important student committees.

Football Schedule Includes Contests With Nine Colleges

With three games listed for the home field, the Westminster football team will settle down to hard training, September 1, in preparation for the most difficult road schedule in years. Coach John Lawther has booked some of the hardest outfits ever to appear on the Titan card, and he hopes to finish the season with a creditable showing.

Meeting George Washington at Washington, D. C., the Titans will find the going hard against "big time" opposition. Duquesne will reopen athletic relationships with Westminster after several years, and will be down on Forbes Field ready to tear things apart at the opening whistle. This contest will be the first game of the season for both schools, and will give football fans an opportunity to see the Titan chances under the bright lights. Heretofore, the Lawther boys, have never appeared in a night game, and this contest should prove to be a worthwhile experiment for the locals.

St. Bonaventures will entertain Titans at Olean, N. Y., in the first game of the Irish-Presby relationship. The Oleanites have always had a powerful aggregation and promise the Titans an interesting afternoon in the Empire state. Muskingum will open up their doors to Westminster at New Concord, O., for the re-establishment of athletic activities. This game will be the first played by the "sister schools of the U. P. church" since 1902.

Relationships between the schools were ended after the Titans and Muskies had played two 0-0 games in two days. The first game on Friday November 1, and the second game of the doubleheader being staged on Saturday.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Sept. 16—Duquesne University, Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Night game.
Sept. 24—Slippery Rock, Home
Oct. 1—Geo. Washington, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 15—Grove City, Grove City.

PHIL RICE GIVEN POSITION WITH GOODYEAR TIRES

Phillip Rice, Duquesne, captain and star guard on the championship Westminster basketball team last year, and an outstanding court performer in the district for four years, has been given a position with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., in

PHILLIP RICE

Akron, O. Rice is one of four outstanding men in the entire country selected by the personnel department of the company for training in factory management.

The position carries with it a period of training, following which an executive position may be offered if ability warrants it. In addition to his work in the plants at Akron, Rice will play on the Akron Wingfoot basketball team which represents the company.

Declared by coaches and critics to be the perfect guard, Rice maintained his ability through four years and seemed to improve as games became harder. Coach John Lawther believed Rice to be "the two best guards in the district." Rice is a member of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity . He was active in intramural athletics of all kinds. He was graduated in June with the bachelor of arts degree.

LETTER AWARDS MAILED OUT TO THIRTY TITANS

NINE MEN AWARDED LETTERS IN TRACK

Certificates were mailed 30 Westminster athletes last month in recognition of their winning varsity letters during the 1931-32 year. The only man to receive three certificates: for football, basketball, and track, was Mauno "Whitey" Siljander, Pittsburgh. Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., received letters in basketball and track, and barely missed winning one in football. Harry "Bud" Brownlee won letters in basketball and track, but was not a member of the grid team.

RAY SWEENEY

Letters sent included nine awarded for varsity track. Men who won track letters were: Captain Harry Brownlee, Lock Haven; Harold Burry, New Castle; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis.; Hugh McCall, Youngstown, O., Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O.; Thomas Coles, Homestead; Thomas Hutchison, New Wilmington; and Student Manager Harry Madducks ,New Castle.

MAUNO SILJANDER

"RED' 'AND "DELE" GO GOOFY OVER GOLF, 'TIS SAID

"Bill" Crowell, athletic coach at Mercer High, and Ken Delahunty, mentor at Sandy Lake High, former teammates in basketball at Westminster, have taken to golf in a big way, seldom missing a day on the links.

And they have many interesting sidelights to tell. Each purchased some 200 wooden tees recently and, after a week of play, Crowell found he had nearly 270 while Delahunty's supply was nearly exhausted.

The matter was explained to friends when Delahunty admitted that he didn't suppose a golfer was supposed to stop and pick up the tee while Crowell knew better and was getting Ken's after nearly every drive.

SIXTEEN GAMES LISTED ON COURT SCHEDULE FOR '33

Sixteen basketball games have been scheduled for the Westminster basketball team for next winter. The card, a very hard one, includes seven home games and nine contests away.

New opponents listed are Glenville State, St. Thomas, and St. Johns. The regular two-game series with each Tri-State Conference school and Allegheny is maintained.

With Captain Phil Rice, All-Conference guard; Harry Brownlee, leading scorer in the country and All-Conference center; and Mike Kocheran, All-Conference forward lost to this year's team, Coach John Lawther and his Titans will have to play inspired ball to maintain the championship a year average of the last six seasons.

The schedule:

Jan. 13, Grove City, away.
Jan. 17, Waynesburg, home.
Jan. 19, Geneva, away.
Jan. 21, Allegheny, away
Jan. 28, Thiel, home.
Feb. 1, Thiel, away.
Feb. 6, Bethany, home
Feb. 10, Allegheny, home
Feb. 14, Geneva, home.
Feb. 17, Glenville, home.
Feb. 21, Bethany, away.
Feb. 22, Waynesburg, away.
Feb. 28, St. Thomas, Scranton.
March 1, Long Island A.C., away.
March 3, St. Johns, Brooklyn.
March, 7, Grove City, home

ARROWSMITH OF ERIE WILL REPORT FOR FOOTBALL TEAM

Westminster's football stock may go up a bit as a result of the enrollment for the fall of Bob Arrowsmith, Erie East quarterback. Arrowsmith was awarded a scholarship at Westminster for his fine academic work at the Erie plant.

He comes from a family of gridders, being the sixth brother to wear the East high colors on the football field. While at the Lake City school, Arrowsmith was president of his class, a leader in all branches of sports, and stood among the highest honor students in the school.

Arrowsmith will have a job to take the signal calling post from Ray Sweeney, sophomore flash, who is the most likely "barker" at the present time. Sweeney, as a yearling, won letters in basketball and track and barely missed his grid letter.

J. C. LEONARD IS HONOR GRADUATE AT YALE COMMENCEMENT

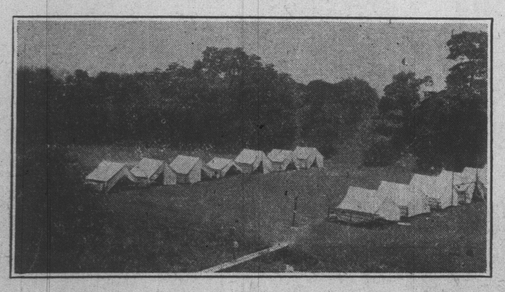
Dr. John C. Leonard, New Castle, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1924, was graduated from theYale university school of medicine cum laude on June 22. Dr. Leonard will serve his internship at the Lakeside University hospital, Cleveland, O.

REV. JAMES GUTHRIE MADE PASTOR OF TWO CHURCHES IN DISTRICT

Rev. James Guthrie, a graduate of the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary this year ,has been made pastor of the East Brook and Neshannock United Presbyterian churches. Rev. Guthrie was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1929. He is the son of the Rev. W. E. Guthrie of Connoquenessing.

Youth ends when thesons of classmates start coming to college. One means to be bright and cordial, but receiving thes young gentlemen is quite as depressing as finding tucked away in the attic an old belt that in days gone by used to go all the way 'round.—Wesleyan University Alumnus.

CAMP SUEGIN FOR BOYS



TITAN COACH

JOHN D LAWTHER

Professor John D. Lawther, director of athletics and head coach of football and basketball, will gather his small football squad in camp here Sept. 1.

JACK HULME IS AT OLYMPIAD

Jack Hulme, popular gymnasium director, swimming coach ,and team trainer at Westminster, left early this month by bus for California where he will see the Olympic games.

Hulme is particularly interested in the Olympic swimming and diving contests, and has a reserved seat for all these aquatic events. He is a well-known Red Cross examiner, life guard, and camp director, and since taking over his duties at Westminster seven years ago has taught many students to swim, has developed a number of life guards, and has passed more than 50 students in the senior life-saving tests.

Jack will return in plenty of time for the opening of the football training camp on September 1, where his duties as team trainer make him indispensable.

Among all the accomplishments of youth there is none preferable to a decent and agreeable behavior among men, a modest freedom of speech, a soft and elegant manner of address, a graceful and lovely deportment, a cheerful gravity and good humor, with a mind appearing ever serene under the ruffling accidents of human life.—Isaac Watts.

Twenty-one Grid Candidates To Report To Lawther Sept. 1

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM HAS THREE MEETS FOR FALL

Westminster's hill and dale running team will have three dual meets during the fall months. The schedule for the harriers has all races away from home. With Captain Thomas Coles and Wilbur Needham as the only veterans available, the team will have to be recruited from the freshman class.

The schedule:

Oct. 15, West Virginia at Morgantown.
Nov. 5, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.
Nov. 12, Geneva at Beaver Falls.

COLLEGE GRID IS RESURFACED

The Westminster College football field was completely resurfaced, graded, and seeded early in June, John D. Lawther, director of athletics, states.

The playing field was in poor shape during the spring drills held by the Titan gridders, and officials started work on improving the grid as soon as college vacation started.

The surface of the playing field was plowed, the ground thoroughly raked, and stadium grass mixture was planted. A water pipe line to furnish water for the new sprinklers purchased by the college has been run from the gymnasium to the field.

While the fall training camp opening is only one month in the future, it is thought that the field will be in good shape by the time the m... report.

BROWNLEE AND BURRY SCORE IN A. A. U. EVENTS

Harold Burry and "Bud" Brownlee, Titan track stars garnered first places in the annual Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. meet, held early in the summer at the Pitt stadium.

Burry, carrying the colors of the college, topped the mile event, taking first place with a time of 4:35.1. Brownlee, competing for the Union A. C., walked off with the 120-yard high hurdle first place, taking his leaps in 15.3 seconds.

CONFERENCE TABERNACLE TENT

Dr. Alumni Association Dues Being Paid, Calhoun States

MEMBERSHIPS NOW EXCEED OTHER YEARS'

Paid up memberships in the Westminster College Alumni Association are greater than at this same time in other years, Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president, reports. More than 100 alumni and former students have already sent in their dues for the coming year, and indications are that many more plan to do so within the near future.

Following the excellent showing of alumni and former students at the Alumni Day on June 4, enthusiasm has continued, and the Alumni Office receives each week letters from many who attended, all speaking of the fine spirit which prevailed and the large number of grads who returned.

The Alumni Office, in checking all addresses of graduates and former students, has sent post-cards to more than 3,000. Many of these have been returned.

It is interesting in this connection to note the large number which have been returned from foreign countries, where many alumni are engaged in medical, religious, and educational work in missions. Egypt, India, China, Japan, Hawaii, and the Phillippines are represented.

ART COURSES ARE ADDED TO CURRICULUM

Westminster college is offering art courses for the first time this year under Harold J. Brennaman, a graduate of Carnegie institute with the class of 1932.

The new courses are history of art, still life drawing, and elementary design. History of art will trace man's production in the arts from earliest times and its purpose is ... provide for each student a ... basis for an understanding o... temporary art.

The Committee in charge of arranging the reunion included Bill Mansell, W. H. McNaugher, L. H. Conway, and Clara W. Taylor. Songs, a roll call, signing of names, memorial service to deceased members, and fellowship together marked the reunion.

The class of 1887 were guests of Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry at the Overlook on June 4. Nine members of the class were present for the reunion at which Rev. McCalmont read a history of the class, and Walter Lindsay read a poem which he composed. Members of the class enjoyed the fellowship in the beauty of the Overlook, and spoke highly of the hospitality of Dr. McLaughry, their classmate.

Hugh Gamble, chairman of the 1927 class reunion, reports that eight members of his group gathered in the U. P. church parlors on June 4, for an hour of fellowship, no business meeting was held for election of officers.

1907 REUNION

The largest class reunion was held by the class of 1907. This class, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Patterson on Vine street, had 44 present at one of the most enthusiastic class reunions ever seen at Westminster.

The committee in charge of the 1907 reunion included Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Mrs. A. A. McDonald, Mrs. S. B. Elliott, and Mrs. J. G. Patterson. S. K. Cunningham, Pittsburgh, acted as chairman of the day.

Officers elected at the reunion were: Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president; Attorney Herbert Patterson, vice-president; and S. K. Cunningham, secretary-treasurer.

S. K. CUNNINGHAM

The class of 1897 held its reunion at the home of Attorney and Mrs. William McElwee. Twenty-one were present at this reunion, which was also one of enthusiasm and good fellowship.

Dr. W. D. Gamble, Sharon, is spending the month of August on vacation.

CLASS OF 1887 POEM

"How the subject theme may gong;
Let time and chance determine;
Perhaps it may turn out a song;
Perhaps turn out a sermon."

* * * * * * *

I'm not so sure I can invoke
My muse, to ready rhyme;
When last her famous voice awoke,
We all were in our prime;
And now we must admit the truth,
That age is creeping on, forsooth.

Oft have the decades come and gone,
How swift the years have passed!
Though far removed from rosy dawn,
The twilight falls at last;
It cannot be so long an age
Since Eighty Seven left the stage!

It seems but only yesterday,
Replete with mirth and joy,
We roamed the campus, bright and gay,—
Each careless girl and boy:
But now, alas! we cannot fail
To see that age is on our trail.

The "Powers that be" have been withdrawn,
And others take their place;
Alas! 'tis true, all, – all are gone,–
Not one familiar face:
Ah! could we lure them back, I trow,
We would not be so heedless now.

One shining form appears in view,
From out the gleaming past;–
The old has given way to new,–
But he remained – the last:
Although no longer now he reigns,
He chief within our hearts remains.

The genial Doctor still we greet,
Of countenance benign,
He learned his meekness at the feet
Of Him who is Divine.
Sauviter in modo, he
Was just as fortiter in re.

And as the other forms appear,
We greet them one by one;
They are the shades of yesteryear,
And now their task is done—
Although they are not mentioned here,
We give them tribute of a tear.

The hour-glass is turned back again,
We scorn Time's rapid flight;
We've never known the cares of men,
We're boys and girls tonight:
Who says that we are growing grey?
He lies! It never snows in May.

Begone! the ravages of Time,–
The dull impress of age!
For Eighty Seven's in her prime
As when she was the rage.
Though years have come and gone since then,
For this one night we're young again.

But though we greet old scenes once more,
And memory waves us on;
All vanished are the thrills of yore,
Our youthful fervor's gone.
Alas! we're forced to realize,–
We now see through maturer eyes.

We may pretend and make believe,
That Youth we still can clasp;
Alas! there can be no reprieve
From time's relentless grasp.
The Reaper Grim comes on apace,
And soon we shall have run our race.
And some of us are far away,
And some are wafted o'er;
And, till the dawn of the Perfect Day,
We may unite no more.
As, one by one, we cross the bar,
May each one find the gates ajar!

We love Westminster's Classic Halls;
We love our class the best;
And when the final trumpet calls
The Assembly of the Blest,–
May he who reigns in highest Heaven
Greet one and all of Eighty Seven!

At Labrador

ELLIOTT SELLAR

Elliott Sellar, Brookline, Mass., a graduate of Westminster on June 6 with the degree of bachelor of science, has been selected as a laboratory assistant to Dr. Grenfell, noted Labrador physician and humanitarian, for the summer.

Sellar, tenth honor student in his class, was a member of varsity debate teams, was an officer in the Y. M. C. A., and majored in chemistry and biology. He will enter medical school in September at the University of Pennsylvania.

JUNE GRADUATE IS MADE INSTRUCTOR AT WHEATLAND

Miss Ada Short, a graduate of Westminster on June 6 with the bachelor of arts degree, will teach in her home town grammar school at Wheatland, Pa., this coming year.

MARION REEHER WEDS R. A. WILSON

Miss Marion A. Reeher, New Castle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Reeher, County Line street, became the bride of Rev. Robert A. Wilson, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, of Tilden, Ill., in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh late in June. The Rev. Dr. S. J. Scott performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Wilson was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1926, and has been an instructor in the Connellsville high school since then. Rev. Mr. Wilson was graduated from Monmouth College and the Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary.

They are under appointment to the India Mission of the Presbyterian church, and will leave for the foreign field in September.

ROSE-GROTEFEND WEDDING IS HELD IN NEW WILMINGTON

Miss Ethel Marie Rose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry J. Rose, New Wilmington, was married to Edward E. Grotefend of New Castle, at the home of the bride in New Wilmington. The bride's father officiated at the ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother, the Rev. Parker E. Rose. Elizabeth Rose, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; and Ralph Grotefend, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Grotefend was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1923, and has been an instructor at the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle, for the past few years.

RUTH CHALMERS, EX-'16 IS MARRIED IN NEW YORK

The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas M. Chalmers, New York City, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Deborah, ex-'16, to the Rev. Frederick Alfred Aston at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York City, on Thursday, July 14. After attending Westminster, Mrs. Aston went to Barnard College from which she was graduated. Her New York address is 2654 Marion avenue.

ELIZABETH EDEBURN TO BE MARRIED ON JULY 30 AT KINSMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Edeburn, Sharon, have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Charles O. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Benson, Dayton, O., on Saturday, July 30. The ceremony will take place in the Colonial Tea Room, Kinsman, O.

WEINGARTNER IS VETERAN IN STATE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In attendance at all four special sessions of the state legislature of Pennsylvania in the last quarter century, State Senator George T. Weingartner, New Castle, a member of the Westminster Board of Trustees, is one of the veteran members of the body. In 1902, he was a member of the lower house, and since has been a member of the upper house. He completed his service at Harrisburg with the last special session, voluntarily retiring from state office.

ALUMNAE TRAVEL THROUGH EUROPE

Jean Boyd and Lilly Braham, graduates of Westminster with the class of 1930, are spending the summer touring Europe. They are devoting most of their time to travels in Italy, France, and Switzerland. Both young ladies have, for the past year, been teaching at the American Girls' College in Cairo, Egypt.

GETS POSITION IN MURPHY CO. STORES

Andrew A. McDonald, Jr., of New Wilmington, a graduate of Westminster with this year's class, has been given a position with the Murphy Stores in Erie. McDonald will be trained in the managerial duties of the company so as to be able to assume charge of one of the stores later on. He majored in business administration, receiving the B.B.A. degree.

THE WESTMINSTER HOLCAD

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, SEPT. 27, 1932. — No. 1

Student Enrollment Nears Six Hundred Mark

More Than 250 In Frosh Class

Registration Is Largest In The History Of The College

Enrollment for the first semester of the college year 1932-33 shows a 12% increase over last year. With approximately 17 registrations still incomplete, the college office announces that Westminster now has a total of 594 students.

For the year 1930-31 the enrollment was 467, while in 1931-32 it reaced 566. In spite of the business depression prevalent everywhere during the last three years, Westminster's enrollment shows a decided increase each year.

Including both feshmen and transfers from other colleges and universities there are 263 new students this year.

ART COURSES ARE ADDED TO CURRICULUM

Westminster college is offering art courses for the first time this year under Harold J. Brennaman, a graduate of Carnegie institute with the class of 1932.

The new courses are history of art, still life drawing, and elementary design. History of art will trace man's production in the arts from earliest times and its purpose is to provide for each student a critical basis for an understanding of contemporary art.

A basic course in representation of still life objects is scheduled as still life drawing and is intended to emphasize composition and principles of representation.

Elementary design promises to be as popular a course as any which is being offered by Prof. Brenneman. It is worthwhile in that it emphasizes the principles of pictorial and decorative value, and full color.

BOOK CLUB WILL BE REORGANIZED BY MISS M. AILMAN

Miss Mildred Ailman, college librarian, extends an invitation to everyone who likes to read to join the Westminster Book Club. The club offers books to suit every taste, fiction, drama, poetry, popular science, travel, and biography.

The club was organized several years ago for the purpose of supplying its members with good literature, both fiction and non-fiction, at a nominal cost of two dollars per year. Anyone in college is eligible for membership.

A selection of new books is made by the club each year and then they are purchased with proceeds from the membership fees. At the end of each year all books having been kept for the use of the club during that period of time are then retired to the general library shelves.

Fiction books left over from last year and still at the disposal of club members are such as: Cronan's "Hatters Castle", Robinson's "Matthias at the Door", Morley's "Swiss Family Manhattan," Barnes' "Years of Grace", and "Wild Orchid" by a Nobel prize author.

Chase's "Mexico" and Adams' "Epic of America" are two popular non-fiction books.

FROSH NOTICE

Freshmen competitors for the editorial staff of the Holcad meet at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, in Room 214. Sophomores who wish to do Holcad work may report also.

The regular Holcad staff members will meet in Room 214 at 2:30 p. m.. Wednesday, and receive assignments.

FROSH CAVORT IN ANNUAL STUNT DAY

Eleven Acts Prove Ability of First-Year Class Comedians

Last Saturday at 10:30 a. m. eleven groups of freshmen men and women presented their annual circus on the athletic field.

More than 200 newcomers to Westminster strutted their stuff. The limits of personalities mimiced were from President Hoover to Mickey McGuire. Inanimate objects had no limit. But not only did the freshmen do stunts—the New Castle fire chief turned photographer for the occasion!

The circus was in eleven acts. Five groups of men and six of women, each sponsored by a representative from one of each of the fraternities and sororities of the college, provided the stunts. The plans and proceedings were under the supervision of the Tribunal.

A pantomime, "Goldilocks and the Three Almost Bares" was presented by Orville Dawson's group. The old story was made quite modern by the blondness of Goldilocks and the ultra-modern garb of Papa, Mamma and Baybe Bares.

Helen Farnsworth's girls gave a baby parade. One of the babies unfortunately had wheel barrow trouble. Unfortunately also, the judge's decision was not so popular with all the babies.

A grand march led by Bunky Hill, Jr. introduced the presidential campaign staged by Tom Smith's frosh group. Roosevelt told the world, "A vote for me is a vote for beer". Hoover was dry but then again not.

A military wedding by Charlotte Melhorn's group resulted in an out-of-proportion pair being joined to-

DR. FREEMAN IS AGAIN DEAN

Dr. Charles W. Freeman has again resumed his duties as dean of the college after serving as president during the period between the resignation of Dr. Charles R. Wallace and the election of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath.

Dr. Freeman became dean in 1907 and continued for 25 years until he was appointed acting president in 1931. During the time of his presidency Dr. E. B. Russell filled the capacity of dean in addition to his duties as head of the department of history.

For a period in the years of 1916-16, Dr. Freeman held positions of both president and dean. This was just before the United States entered the World War and the enrollment was small, the total number of students being between 225 and 250. Since Dr. Freeman came to Westminster in 1894 he has had only one leave of absence which was in 1921-22. He has served under four presidents.

Dr. Freeman is a graduate of Allegheny college with the class of 1891 and did graduate work at John Hopkins and Chicago universities. He recently received an LL.D. degree.

TO BE INAUGURATED OCTOBER 8

Robert Ferguson Galbreath, D.D., LL.D., alumnus, pastor, World War veteran, civic leader, European traveler, who will be formally inaugurated as the eighth president of Westminster on Saturday, October 8.

DRAMATIC PROGRAM MARKS "WHO'S WHO"

Y.W.C.A. And Y.M.C.A. Sponsor All-College Social Gatherings

Westminster's third annual freshman "Who's Who", held on Tuesday evening September 13, in the college gymnasium and sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A., was conducted in the form of a track meet with the freshmen divided into eight teams representing the eight colleges in this district.

Among the events in this track meet were: a peanut relay, a javelin throw with feathers, and a newspaper race with each group urging its contestants on with college cheers. After the winning team had been announced, refreshments were served by the girls of the Y.W.C.A.

The committee in charge included Elmer Meider, Matthew Gilliland, Wilbur Christy, Dorothy Sellar, and Jane Black.

Freshmen found the calendar for their first week of school almost completely filled with social events. On Monday evening, September 12, they attended the "Freshman Sing" held in the gymnasium where Prof. Alan B. Davis led them in singing college songs. Herman Donley, college cheerleader, also led the frosh in a number of the college cheers.

Miss Mary E. Turner, dean of women, and Mrs. C. B .Robertson, resident proctor of the Hillside, were in charge of a party given in Browne Hall Wednesday evening September 14, for the freshman girls. Special guests at this party were the faculty women and the wives of faculty members. A special meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held for freshmen men in the recital hall of the Conservatory on Wednesday evening.

The junior girls arranged a program for the freshman girls on Thursday evening and the senior girls were hostesses to them at a ham fry held Friday evening, Sep-

APPOINT STAFF EDITORS FOR ARGO

McMinn Is Made Editor Of Yearbook Staff For Year

Prof. R. X. Graham, faculty advisor of student publications recently announceed that Paul McMinn, Brockton, N. Y., has been appointed editor of the 1934 Argo, junior class annual publication. Mr. McMinn, a member of the junior class and Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity, succeeds Edward Rea, editor of the 1933 yearbook sponsored by the present senior class.

Other major appointments were made as follows: associate editor, Ruth Russell, Youngstown, O., business manager, Charles Branfield, Masury, O.; and advertising manager, Kenneth Mehl, Sharon.

Professor Graham stated that further appointments of staff members will be made in the near future. In the meantime work on the next edition of the Westminster Argo will proceed without further delay.

Kenneth Mehl, with the assistance of Virginia Kerins, senior, will also be in charge of securing advertisements for the football programs which are to be on sale at the first home football game.

NEVIN SUCCEEDS NEWTON AS SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

Gordon Nevin was elected president of the senior class at a meeting held immediately following chapel Tuesday morning, September 20.

Mr. Nevin, a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity, succeeds Gerald Newton, former class president and other nominee for office at the recent election.

Other elected officers are as follows: vice-president, Herbert Smith; secretary, Mary Jane Stunkard; and treasurer, Willis McGill.

LECTURE COURSE NUMBERS LISTED

Prof. Ben Euwema, head of the English department, announces that Mr. V. L. Granville, noted dramatist and lecturer, will make his appearance on Wednesday, October 26, as first of the many notable speakers engaged for the Westminster lecture course program during the college year 1932-33.

He will present a costume recital illustrating brief parts from twelve plays depicting dramatic history from ancient times down to the present day. Mr. Granville gave a fine performance here two years ago and consequently his second appearance promises to be favorably accepted.

There are other interesting lecturers scheduled for this season among whom are such as Julian Huxley, noted biologist from King's college, London, who will speak on "Science and Human Nature", and Charles E. Lofgren, personnel officer on the Byrd expedition, who will appear on January 5.

Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, for many years curator of New York Zoological Park, will lecture March 3 on the subject "The Fight to Live." "Three Wheeling Through Africa" will be the title of a speech to be delivered by Jim Wilson, explorer extraordinary, so called because of his method of touring through many parts of Africa on a bicycle.

On April 7 Elliot James' scientific demonstration of experiments with liquid air will be the concluding feature of the lecture course. Altogether the season's program promises to be both interesting and informative.

FROSH GIRLS' NOTICE!

Every freshman woman must wear galoshes, carry a suitcase, and an umbrella all day on Wednesday, October 12, instead of in the afternoon of that day, as stated in freshmen rules.

Ceremonies To Start At Eleven In The Morning

Alumni, Delegates, Friends To Return For Ceremonies Of Day

The inauguration of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath as the eighth president of Westminster will take place Saturday, October 8 in ceremonies starting at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Following reception of representatives, guests, and alumni, a dinner will be served either in the Hillside or in the United Presbyterian church. The inaugural ceremonies will be held on the South terrace and the south campus, with public address system loud speakers installed.

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, Pittsburgh, will be the principal speaker of the afternoon. Dr. Weir Ketler, president of Grove City College, will speak on behalf of the neighboring institutions. Other speakers will represent the Westminster board, the alumni, the faculty, and the student body.

Following the inaugural ceremonies, a special football game with California State Teachers College will be played on the home field at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The plans for the evening are not as yet complete, but it is thought that there will be some sort of social affair for the student body in the gymnasium.

Invitations have been mailed all alumni and former students to return for this outstanding event. Representatives of colleges and universities in the East and Middle West will be present.

HIGH HONORS WON BY FORTY STUDENTS

Honor Points Are Basis For Selection to Honor Roll

Dr. E. B. Russell, dean of Westminster, has announced that 48 students made sufficiently high grades and enough honor points last year to become honor students.

Those obtaining 100 or more honor points with no grade less than two were: Edgar Allshouse, Theresa Burgoon, Wilbur Christy, Jane Downie, Robert N. Jones, Emily Parker, and Eric Thompson.

Students making 90 or more honor points with no grade less than two were: Julius Bloom, Caroline Daverio, Martha Holliday, Patricia Jones, Alton Kloss, Henry Lawton, Paul McKnight, Glenn Momeyer, Mildred Ralston, Herbert Smith, and Edward Winslow.

Eighty or more honor points with no grade under two were made by: Alfred Barnes, Elizabeth Boal, Dorothy Bingham, Robert Galbreath, E. Jane Gilmore, Calvin Hogg, Edwin Rea, James South, Louise Studebaker, and Helen Whieldon.

Lillian Baird and Mary Jane Stunkard made 100 or more honor points with no grade under one.

Marguerite Averill and Sadie Mae Foltz made 90 or more honor points with no grade below one.

Those making 80 or more honor points with no grade under one were, Theodore Antonopolos, Virginia Crooks, Leona Gould, Martha Hazlett, Jean Miller, Martha Morrow, Margaret Reese, Harriette Robinson, Lola Sewall, James South, Thomas Smith, and Sadie Weissberger.

Frank Baldwin and Ethel Thomas made 50 or more honor points during the second semester with no grade below two. Dorothy Cowden and Edwin Rae made 40 or more honor points with no grade below two during the second semester.

DR. R. F .GALBREATH

On Saturday, October 8, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath will be inaugurated formally as the eighth president of Old Westminster. Alumnus of the college, Dr. Galbreath has, since he took over the executive duties in February, won the enthusiastic support of students, faculty, alumni, townspeople, and trustees.

Alumni and former students, parents of students, friends of the college can all show this enthusiasm and appreciation by being present for the inaugural ceremonies on October 8. With ceremonies starting at 11 o'clock in the morning and running into the evening, every visitor, guest, alumnus, and former student will find the day well spent.

All are invited. A student body of 600 will be on hand to welcome you. See you on October 8?

ENTHUSIASM AND RESULTS

At a certain well-known small college in the East there has been of late years a marked decrease in school spirit. An atmosphere of pseudo-sophistication began to permeate the campus. "Pep" meetings, inter-class rivalry, all expressions of enthusiasm were more or less out-moded, relegated to a place with traditions of by-gone days. The man who so far forgot himself as to cheer vociferously at a football game, immediately found himself the center of attraction and the butt of varied wise-cracks. True, the cheering section still responded half-heartedly to the exhortations of the cheer-leaders, but their cheers scarcely carried past the sidelines.

With the advent of this era of sophistication came a reaction in sports, and in inter-scholastic competition of all types. Opponents usually beaten by large margins turned in winning scores. The home players went at their work without enthusiasm, despite the earnest efforts of th coaches. College morale was undermined on all sides, and it was not long before the Alumni began their usual line and cry for more winning teams, for more school spirit. All in all, affairs were in a sorry state.

The connection between enthusiasm and results is clearly illustrated by the foregoing story. Trite as the statement may seem, it is plainly evident that an enthusiastic student body imparts its spirit to its representatives on athletic teams and in other fields of college endeavor.

Westminster has the reputation of being an enthusiastic school. May she long retain that reputation!

COMPOSERS WANTED

It is generally recognized that the average college graduate remembers little or nothing of nothing of the mass of fact and information gleaned from textbook and lecture. Latin and analytical geometry serve merely as a cultural background for the learning process that must be undergone in after life.

Among the many things a college man does remember are his experiences while at school, the traditions of the school, and the school songs. While the last-mentioned souvenir is not, perhaps, the most important of the lot, nevertheless it has its importance, an importance which is doubled if the songs are unique and original.

There is an opportunity at Westminster for some budding composer to achieve immortality by writing new and original songs which are not sung to plagiarized tunes. If encouragement is encouragement is necessary, the music department might offer a suitable prize.

"CABBAGES AND KINGS"

"The time has come," the walrus said.....

Whether the popularity of the newly instituted department of fine arts is a pure case of "ars gratia artis" or not, is a moot question. What with the paucity of male students in the courses, the depresson, and the Irish ancestry of the chef a'artistes, one rather has his doubts. However, to paraphrase the historian J. A. Symonds, "When the struggle for exictence is ended, the three chief motive forces of civilization, namely cupidity, curiosity, and love of beauty, begin to come in", and Irishmen are noted for their blarney.

To the reader who does not hesitate to read a book several years off the press, Of Human Bondage, by W. Somerset Maugham, should prove interesting. Maugham's style is pleasing. And the book, like so many of the more appealing modern novels, is purely English.

The story concerns a young Englishman who is born with a clubfoot and an insatiable avidity for learning one thing well and then dropping it for something else. He studies art, business, and women ,but soon discovers that reality does not come up to the standard set by ideal, whereupon he discards all three, becomes a surgeon, and marries a woman he does not love.

The book is recommended for those who feel the urge to change vocations every year or two. It is a sure cure, too, for those who think that life is cruel, for they will find, with Philip, that life is meaningless, a fact which robs it of its cruelty.

David Mortin, America's foremost writer of beautiful sonnets, has three weaknesses which are usually known only by his senior classes in modern poetry at the college where he teaches.

He likes Edna St. Vincent Millay—her personality keeps him awake nights; he heartily endorses the adjective "divine" in connection with Greta Garbo; and he has a habit of making even his lectures— rhythmical and poetical, a habit which tends to soothe his student into a deep and peaceful sleep. Anyone with a knowledge of these weaknesses can get an "A" on his final exam by writing about Millay, including Greta in the paper somewhere, and writing in blank verse—if he asks "Dave" for an A.

We heard a good one on Silent Cal Coolidge the other day. It seems that he was over in Amherst one afternoon and on his way back to Northampton stopped to pick up a local college lad who was bumming his way to Smith College. The swain, much impressed, clambered into the tonneau with Cal, and the chauffuer proceeded toward Northampton. Three of the eight miles sped swiftly by before either spoke. Then Coolidge said, "Do you always go without a hat?" Silence fell again, to last unbroken throughout the trip. Cal disembarked at his office and told the chauffeur to take the boy to his destination. As the chauffeur drew up before one of the Smith houses, he turned to the boy and said, "Say, buddy; when the boss asked you about your hat why didn't you ask him if he ever bought a new one."

Ever since Lincoln issued the Proclamation of Emancipation and thereby made the general public emancipation— conscious, we've heard a lot of talk about emancipation n one field or another. We've been emancipated from the saloon, from Jimmy Walker, from the Yellow Peril, and if the nudist colonies increase in popularity, we shall soon be emancipated from our pants. Try as hard as we may however, we can never achieve that supreme state of emancipation suggested by Edna St. Vincent Millay in her little verse—

"My candle burns at both ends.
It will not last the night.
But ah, my foes, and oh, my friends,
It gives a lovely light."

TWELVE INSTRUCTORS ADDED TO FACULTY

Westminster's faculty has been enlarged this year to include 12 new members; two of these instructors are offering new courses and the others are enlarging the departments in which they are teaching.

Mary E. Turner, newly appointed dean of women at Westminster, is also residence director of Freshmen girls at Browne Hall. Dr. H. P. Davis, a graduate of Cornell university and an assistant in the department of chemistry, is replacing Prof. Harlow Osgood who was granted a year's leave of absence to continue his graduate study at the University of Cornell.

Harold J. Brennan, of the newly instituted art department, is recently of Carnegie Tech. A vacancy in the mathematics department resulting from the resignation of Mrs. Ben Euwema, has been filled by Foster B. Stulen.

Arthur Kirkbride and Ronald Jones, former assistants in the business department, have been appointed full time instructors. Miss Margaret Reed, Butler, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1930, is in charge of classes in business English and is directing the Elliott library for the economics department.

Gordon Balch Nevin, internationally known organist and composer, has been appointed professor of organ and composition. The music department has is its new instructor in violin, Donald Cameron, a Westminster alumnus who received his degree of master of education at Penn State.

Two other Westminster graduates have been admitted to the faculty of their alma mater, namely, Pearl Hoagland, '31, and Ruth McConnell, '29. Miss Hoagland, former statistician in the office of the superintendent of schools in Homestead and graduate student of the University of Iowa, has been elected as an instructor in psychology. Miss Mc. Connell is an issistant instructor in the English department replacing Marjorie Brown who did not return to Westminster this year.

President Galbreath has also appointed Lynn McCuskey as a tutor of delinquent students, a position unprecedented on Westminster's faculty.

New Books Added To Library Through Gifts

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Elliott, local patron and friend of Westminster, has once again displayed his generosity by donating a set of history books to the Elliott library.

Dr. Elliott's gifts to Westminster have already mounted into thousands of dollars in value. His continued interest in the college, particularly the Elliott library and the department of economics and business administration, has lent enthusiasm to the work of faculty members and officials.

A valuable collection of 150 chemistry books has also been donated to the general college library by Dr. Swan, alumnus of Westminster and chemistry research worker here during the past year.

Mrs. Conway recently made a gift of a valuable set of books to the general library and Miss Elizabeth Hannah, former teacher at the college, has offered some volumes from her personal library.

As yet the new books have not been catalogued in detail and further announcement will be made concerning the contents of the new volumes.

Extension Courses For Teachers Are Offered

Prof. J. A. Shott, head of the department of psychology and education, has recently announced that three courses never previously taught at Westminster are being offered to prospective teachers, namely, educational measurements, school administration, and educational sociology.

In addition to these three courses teachers may register for any classes which meet on Saturday and may, through extension work, receive credit for a whole semester's work by attending Saturday morning classes only.

Enrollment in these new courses took place Saturday morning September 17, but registration is still open to all persons desiring to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

CANADIAN AUTHORITY ON LIQUOR QUESTION TO ADDRESS COLLEGE

Ben H. Spence, journalist and speaker of Toronto, Canada, will address a Westminster student and faculty assembly on October 6 as an authority on Canadian and international aspects of the liquor problem.

As a speaker Mr. Spence is keen, interesting, witty, and forceful. Dealing objectively with facts confronting him he has appealed to students and thoughtful persons connected with over 148 colleges and universities of the United States.

After a recent address at Kansas State college, Manhattan, the president, A. A. Holtz, made the following comment: "He batted 1000%. Students and faculty who came to sneer soon found themselves interested. He is sane, scientific, and has an immense amount of data and statistics which he assembles in a very interesting and educational manner."

Ben H. Spence, as an authority on the Canadian systems of liquor control is conducting his series of addresses in an educational manner and under the ouspices of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association.

Mr. Spence will be ready for students or faculty conferences during his brief visit in New Wilmington.

YOU'D BETTER DO THIS FROSH! DON'T YOU DARE DO THAT

"What a girl" and "what a man" freshman have been clamped down upon and are walking the straight and narrow for awhile. Their dress, modes, and mannerisms have been censored by the upperclassmen who wish to see their tender charges off on the proper start.

So the future campus queen promenades in low-heeled shoes, black cotton hose, blue berets, red ribbons, and pigtails. But this is just a taste, for she looks forward to a week of "no cosmetics", and another when dates will be taboo. Galoshes, umbrellas, and satchels also threaten to impede her campus activities.

Even the football hero is sporting a green windsor tie, a dink, and something new in hosiery (one black and one white sock). It will be tough on him when "no dates" goes into effect.

And are the frosh ever polite! Fact is, they're even afraid to eat, drink, or sleep without the consent of upperclassmen.

TOWN INNS POST NEW COLLEGE RULE

"Smoking and Card-playing by College Women Not Permitted On These Premises"

Two or three of the above signs are to be found in almost every eating place up town. Co-operation has been shown on the part of all managers of student habitues in enforcing this new ruling.

These posters were published as the result of the efforts of the college officials to control the laxity which was prevalent in former years.

Modernistic Males Manage Mansion In Marvelous Manner

Ten male celebrities have established something new in co-operative living—a penthouse, situated over the post office.

With all modern conveniences to make housekeeping easy, and all luxuries, such as radios and roof gardens, these fellows live a life of ease.

Of course there's dusting, dishwashing, and a few beds to make—but what is that in the lives of eleven husky he-men?

WOMEN STUDENTS OCCUPY THREE NEW COLLEGE RESIDENCES

Browne Hall and two co-operative houses are being used, in addition to Hillside this year, as residence for 174 women students at Westminster college.

Eighty freshman girls are living at Browne Hall under the supervision of Mary E .Turner, the new dean of women.

Mrs. C. B. Robertson, acting dean in her charge.
at Hillside, has 72 upperclass women

The remaining 22 girls have formed a co-operative plan of living in the Minteer and McKelvey houses where Mrs. David Ritchie acts as chaperone.

The benefit of a college education comes to light through the Chicagoan who executed a football tackle on a hold-up man and turned him over to the police.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Two Majors Offered By Education Department

Two new majors in the department of Psychology and education are being offered this year as announced last week by Prof. J. A. Shott, head of the department.

The first major being offered is in philosophy and psychology, which will be composed of studies in philosophy, psychology, logic, and principles of education. This course of study will be especially beneficial to pre-ministerial students.

Psychology and education is the other major offered and is a foundation for teachers studying administration in education. Emphasis will be given to the field of education.

Thirty hours of accepted work in the courses offered by the department will constitute a major.

TITANS DROP OPENER, WIN SECOND FRAY

Dukes Prove Too Powerful, Slippery Rock Easy Foe

Layden Men Given Surprise By Undeveloped Titan Power

By Mish

Westminster again opened relaended a few minutes later, after the day night, September 16. It was the first contest of the season for the Titans, and as they were not used to playing on a lighted field, and were up against tough opposition, they showed up quite well, being defeated by only 20 points. As new rules were being tried out in actual competition, the game was slow and many times it was halted while the boys tried to straighten things out. out.

Although the Dukes showed a lot of power on their drives for touchdowns, the Titans rose up in all their might and many took the ball on downs.

One touchdown in the last of the second quarter, another in the third, and one in the fourth completed the scoring.

Late in the opening period, Zaninelli punted out of bounds on Westminster's four yard line. Scarbrough kicked from behind his goal line to Sullivan on the Titan 40. He promptly brought it back to the 28. Two line plays failed and DeLuca tossed a pass into the right hand corner of the field to Pawlina and it was a touchdown. Sullivan's kick for the extra point was true, making it 7-0, Duquesne.

Within a few minutes after the third period opened, two Westminster penalties and a Sullivan to Pawlina pass, good for 21 yards, gave the Dukes the ball on the Titan 18. Pawlina and DeLuca made it first down and Zaninelli bumped across for the second touchdown. Sullivan's kick was wide and the score was 13-0 in favor of Duquesne.

The last score came through the efforts of McDonald, who ripped off long gains and finally tossed a pass to Abele which was ruled completed on the 15, when a Westminster player interfered. Sullivan's toss to Pawlina directly in front of the goalposts and a five yard run brought the score. Sullivan kicked for the twentieth point.

Westminster threatened the Dukes in the last few minutes of the game when Wilhelm intercepted the Duke pass and set sail from his own 20 to the Hilltop 26 before he was tossed out of bounds. A 17 yard pass put the ball on the Duke 11. The game ended a few minutes later after the Titans had attempted to score on passes.

PATTERSON LEADS SUBS IN 6-0 VICTORY OVER SANDY LAKE HI

Led by "Wib" Patterson, Westminster's Yanigans, composed of fourth and fifth string men, defeated Sandy Lake High School 6-0. Patterson scored late in the game on a spinner for 15 yards and the only touchdown of the fracas.

Sandy Lake, coached by Ken Delahunty, former Titan star showed power in the early stages of the game and displayed real offensive work.

Chambers, White and Patterson played good ball in the backfield while Hoose led in line play.

GRIDDER INJURED

Clem Lausberg suffered a severe cut above the right eye Tuesday in football scrimmage. Two clamps were necessary to close the wound.

Leyshock-Hunneke Wingmen Show Up Well In 20-0 Win

By Chuck Trevaskis

Scoring touchdowns in three periods by three different methods, Coach John Lawther's Westminster football team defeated a scrappy Slippery Rock Teachers' College eleven here Saturday Sept. 24 by a 20-0 score.

The Teachers had been in training only one week, and showed signs of fatigue, but were, especially in the first half, a constant threat. Westminster, with the advantage of three weeks' training and one game experience, grew stronger as the game progrossed.

Henry "Swede" Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I., lad shifted from end to halfback, was the star for the Titans. The "Swede' 'threw a pass to Leystock for one touchdown, intercepted a Teacher pass and raced for a score, and booted two placements between the bars for points after touchdown. Bob Scarbough, McDonald, O., sopomore fullback, talliéd the other Titan marker with a line plunge.

Neither team was able to score in the opening quarter, although Westminster twice took the ball within the Slippery Rock 10-yard line but was unable to score. In the first instance, Franklin, Titan center, recovered a Teacher fumble on the Slippery Rock 10-yard line. Alter punted to Siljander after four Titan thrusts were no good. Siljander took the ball on the Slippery Rock 37 and ran it out of bounds on the 28. From here, Arrowsmith, Hunneke, Young, and Scarbrough took the ball to the Slippery Rock two-yard line where Scarbrough fumbled on the next play.

Siljander took Alter's punt on the 35 and ran it back to the Slippery Rock 25. Ketterer went in for Scarbrough in the Titan backfield as the first quarter ended. Arrowsmith and Ketterer carried the ball to the 20-yard line, and on the next play Hunneke eluded three tacklers and tossed a 20 yard pass to Leyshock who eluded two tacklers and scored the first touchdown. With Sweeney holding the ball, Hunneke booted a placement for the extra point.

In the third quarter, Westminster negotiated its second touchdown by straight football. Hunneke was roughed as he punted, and Slippery Rock was penalized 15. This placed the ball on Teacher 25-yard line. From here Scarbrough and Arrowsmith, who relieved Sweeney, pounded through the Teacher line to the 15, but lost the ball.

Siljander soon took a punt by Alter on the 45 and ran it out of bounds on the 30. Arrowsmith passed to Staples for three yards. Scarbrough made seven through the line. Hunneke picked up two. Siljander made four, placing the ball on the six-yard line. From here Scarbrough took it over in three tries. Hunneke place-kicked the extra point with Arrowsmith holding the ball.

In the fourth quarter, after Slippery Rock was pushed to its two-yard line where Westminster lost the ball on downs, Benz punted to Siljander who returned the ball to the 41-yard line. Scarbrough punted to Benz who was tackled on the 15. At this point, Benz attempted a forward pass which Hunneke intercepted on the 30 and took over the goal line. Hunneke's placement for extra point was wide.

Toward the end of the last period, Freed, Teacher back, intercepted Hunneke's pass on the Teacher 40 and ran to the Titan 5-yard line. In four tries, Weitzel, Slippery Rock fullback, made three yards, and the game ended. Final score: Westminster 20, Slippery Rock 0.

Another Grid Game Added To Schedule

California State Teachers College To Be Played Here On October 8

Another football game has been added to the Westminster football schedule, the Athletic Council announces. This contest, with California State Teachers College, will be played on the Titan field on Saturday, Oct. 8.

The game will be a feature of the inauguration of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath as eighth president of the college. Inauguration ceremonies will start at 11 o'clock in the morning, Saturday, Oct. 8, and will run until about 3:50 in the afternoon. The fooball game will start at 4 o'clock.

TITAN CAPTAIN

Glenn Rehfus, Sandusky, O., the only senior on the Westminster football squad, in captain for the second season. Rehfus, a tackle, was a life guard on Lake Erie during the summer.

Titans Meet Strong Foe In Geo. Washington U.

Locals Leave By Bus Thursday For Night Game in Capitol City Friday

Washington D. C. will play host Friday night to the Westminster Titans, when they invade that city for a grid game with George Washington University. The game had originally been scheduled for Saturday but was moved up due to a mixup in contracts.

The Titans have recovered in good shape from the Slippery Rock embroglio and most of the boys have shaken off the cold epidemic which hit the squad last week.

Not much is known of the athletic status of the Hatchets except that they defeated the powerful Washington-Lee grid team by an 18-0 score, last Saturday, which gives Lawther and his proteges plenty to worry about.

Siljander-Leyshock

The Titan outfit will probably start the end men, Siljander and Leyshock, who are about the sweetest pair that have appeared in the Titan uniform in the several years that this writer has been roaming the campus. Leyshock, a center in high school days, was shifted to end this year and has proved to be one of the major surprises of the early season performances.

Bloker at Center

Dishong and Rehfus, both Seniors, will hold down the tackle positions while Rose and Hollander, the Long Island contributions to the Titan stronghold, will fill the guard places. Bloker of Sandusky, Ohio will probably get the call over Franklin, another Island boy, at the center position. Bloker has played bang-up ball in both games this season and should go well against the Mack Farrington coached team. Franklin will be used as a reserve because of his difficulty to see under the lights.

Arrowsmith will be at the reins behind the line with Staples and Hunneke occupying the half back positions and Scarbrough doing his duty as a fullback. Sweeney, Ketterer, and Andrews will probably see action as subs for the regular backfield men.

The team, numbering 22 men, with coaches, managers, and newspaper reporters will leave for Capitol City early Thursday morning by bus and will spend the night in Fredericksburg, Maryland. They will continue their journey Friday morning and will rest the remainder of the day in preparation for the fracas. Returning, the team will leave Saturday morning and will arrive home early Sunday morning.

ISLANDERS SHAPE UP WELL

Irving Franklin and George Hollander, both hailing from Long Island have been shaping up well on the Titan line this year. Both lads show worlds of improvement over last years form and should show opponents some real line play.

Harriers Show Promise Of Fair Season

Needham and Godleski Are Only Upperclassmen On Roster

With only one veteran back, the Westminster Cross Country team does not have such a bright outlook for this season. However, from all present indications, the boys should show up very well next year.

Wilbur "Red" Needham, North Braddock boy is the only veteran, while Stevan Godleski, former Saltsburg High track man is the only other upperclassman reporting. The remainder of the squad consists of five freshmen, who look very promising for future seasons.

Y. M. C. A. SPONSORS TENNIS TOURNEY

Through the kindness of Dr. Black, who has consented to give awards to the winners of the single and double matches, the Y. M. C. A. is sponsoring a tennis tournament for college men.

Although the singles are closed, there is still a chance for those who wish to participate in the doubles to enter.

With only a few of the beginning matches played, the outstanding contestants are: Winston Johnston, Elmer Meider, Harrison Kennedy, Jeff Sowash, Ed Smith, and Hugh McCall.

Titan Opponents Win In Opening Contests

Among Westminster's future opponents, all but two won in opening grid games.

Geneva defeated Davis Elkins, Thiel defeated Morris Harvey, Grove City defeated Glenville, Waynesburg defeated Muskingum, and George Washington defeated Washington and Lee.

St. Bonaventure tied with Hanhatton, and Muskingum lost to Waynesburg.

This week Geneva plays Tech and Grove City takes on Duquesne . The outcome of these two contests will be watched with interest.

Various Professions Are Chosen by June Graduates

ELEVEN SECURE POSITIONS AS TEACHERS

Many graduates of the class of 1932 have secured teaching appointments in high schools throughout the state. Others still are doing graduate work in their major course of study, while a few have entered professional schools in law or medicine.

Six members of the class have shown their preference for the ministry. Of this group, five have entered the Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary. They are: Charles Fulton, Scott McMunn, Walker Brownlee, Charles McCormick and John McClure. David Hunter has entered the Princeton seminary.

Graduates who secured teaching positions are: Louise Adams, Girls' school, Cairo, Egypt; Dorothy Cameron, Lisbon, Ohio, high school; Mary Clarke, New Wilmington grade school; Harry Michaels, Turtle Creek high; Margaret Sherbondy, Sharon high school; Virginia Reeher, Etna high school.

Ben Gelfand, Farrell high school; Marvin Clark, Knox high school; Ada Short, Wheatland grade school; Richard Fuller, Greensboro high school; Dorothy McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y., high school.

Graduate work was chosen by William Alderdice, Paul Gamble, and Douglass Anderson. Mr. Alderdice has decided to do graduate work in English at Yale. Paul Gamble is attending the University of North Carolina where he is taking work in English and play-writing. Douglas Anderson will do graduate work at Harvard.

Meredith Irons and Frank Douds are studying law at Pitt, Michael Kocheran has entered Harvard law school, and William Ordish, the law school at the University of Michigan.

Four member of last year's class will take up the study of medicine. Edward Dunlap will continue his studies at Western Reserve. Thomas Uber has entered medical school at Cornell. Wayne Davison and Elliott Sellar have entered the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Various lines of work have appealed to the other members of the class. Virginia Boyd, active in Y. W. C. A. organizations, has entered the social service school at Union Seminary, New York. Philip Rice is now employed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio. Mr. Rice also plans to play with the Wingfoot Court team. Florence Groth is in business in Cleveland. Andrew MacDonald, Jr., is employed by the Murphy stores in Erie, Harry Madducks was in an officer's training camp during the summer. Robert Weingartner is devoting his time to his florist shop in New Castle. Ernest Durrast continues as manager of The Tavern in New Wilmington. Blodwen Davis has been elected substitute teacher in New Castle.

Other members of the class have doubtless made plans for the year, but no accurate information concerning their activities is available.

ALUMNUS PASSES STATE BAR TEST

Mr. William Brooks Reed, Poland, Ohio, graduate of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, has successfully passed the Pennsylvania state bar examination in Philadelphia, it was announced last week.

Mr. Reed was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1928. Since his graduation from the University of Pennsylvania he has been studying law in New Castle.

HERMAN KING IS ARGYLE PASTOR

The Rev. Herman O. King, Pittsburgh Pa., a graduate of the Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary with the class of 1932, has been called to the United Presbyterian congregation, Argyle, New York. He took up work in his new field early in August.

The Rev. King is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1928, and formerly served as business manager of the New Wilmington Missionary Conference.

GROUP OF ALUMNI AID IN PLANS FOR INAUGURATION DAY

Much interest is being shown by the alumni in the various events of Inauguration Day, Saturday, October 8.

A committee of alumni has been appointed, which will cooperate with the inaugural committee in all the ceremonies of the day. In addition to the representatives from the faculty, the board of trustees, and the student body, Mr. Reid Kennedy, '89, prominent Pittsburgh business man, will speak in the interests of the alumni.

Attorney William McElwee, '97, New Wilmington, heads the alumni branch of the inaugural committee. Other members are: Dr. J. A. MacDonald, '98, Youngstown; Mrs. James A. Stranahan, Jr., '05, Mercer; Attorney Walter Braham, '15, New Castle; and Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, '87, New Wilmington. Dr. Galbreath, a member of the class of 1907, is also a member of the group.

NOTED CHEMIST RESUMES WORK IN MISSISSIPPI

Dr. John Nesbitt Swan, nationally known chemist, and contributor to scientific publications, has resumed work as head of the chemistry department of the University of Mississippi.

Dr. Swan is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1886, and is active in alumni organizations. He has held teaching positions in Tarkio, Monmouth, and Westminster colleges, and was head of the chemistry department at the University of Mississippi, from 1915 until 1931. Last year Dr. Swan did research work at Westminster.

Dr. Swan is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Pharmacal Association, is councilor of chemical research work, and is a frequent contributor to chemical and religious journals.

INSTRUCTOR IN CHEMISTRY DOES GRADUATE WORK

Leave of absence for one year has been granted to Professor Harlow Osgood, assistant professor of chemistry at Westminster last year. During the year, Mr. Osgood will do graduate work at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, where he has been given a graduate fellowship.

Mr. Osgood is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1927, and has been a member of the faculty here since 1929.

BEN GELFAND IS HONORED BY SCIENCE GROUP

Mr. Ben Gelfand, Farrell, Pa., a graduate of the class of 1932, has recently received word that he has been admitted to membership in the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Membership in the association is a signal honor, seldom given before extensive graduate work has been completed.

While at Westminster, Mr. Gelfand majored in chemistry, took extensive work in the biology department. During his senior year he served as laboratory assistant in the Chemistry department.

Mr. Gelfand has done graduate work in the summer session of the University of Colorado, leading toward a Master of Science degree in physiological chemistry. Next year he plans to do research work in the medical school of the University of Colorado.

MARRIAGE OF HAZEL HOBAUGH IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Mary Hobaugh, New Castle, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Hazel M. Hobaugh, to Elmer E. Rieger, Meridian, Pa., Saturday, September 3.

The young couple will make their home in Butler, where Mr. Rieger is employed by the Butler Savings & Trust Company. Mrs. Rieger is a former student of Westminster college.

LETTER FROM ALUMNI PRESIDENT

Westminster, from all indications, will have her best year at of spirit which is for the better. A fine class of students has enofspirit which is for the better. A fine class of students has enrolled and each alumnus who helped to bring this about is to be congratulated. If you did not help, promise yourself that you will double your efforts next year to help in every way? You will find plenty to do. If you do not know what to do just write to Dr. Galbreath, and I am sure he will have some work for you that will result in a great amount of pleasure for yourself and good for the school.

The Holcad will be mailed to some 3,400 alumni and former students this year. You will then be able to know more about the old school. You should receive the paper every two weeks as it will be issued every other week and not every week as before. If you do not recieve your copy, you should send in your correct address to us and we will see that you are placed on the corrected mailing list. It is a big task, but if you will help and be patient, we will do our best.

Send in news for the paper. It will be greatly appreciated. The sending of this paper to each one is not made possible by the amount and number of dues that are paid by us, but by the action of the president, Dr. Galbreath, and the student staff, so may I ask each one to take care of this small matter of $2.00, your dues to the Alumni Association, checks made payable to the treasurer of the Westminster College Alumni Association, and we will thus be able to help in this undertaking.

—DR. S. E. CALHOUN, Pres.
Alumni Association

J. M. GUTHRIE ELECTED PASTOR AT EASTBROOK

The Rev. James M. Guthrie, Connoquenessing, Pa., has recently been secured as pastor of the United Presbyterian congregation, Eastbrook, Pa.

Mr. Guthrie is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1929, and of Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological seminary with the class of 1932.

gether by a delicate rubber tube. Evidently the minister enjoyed the wedding more than anyone else.

Jim Kinney's freshmen venuses gave a colorful bathing beauty contest which was terminated by the active protestations of Graucho.

The May court provided an orange for the queen and a maypole for the rest of the procession, so everybody was happy.

A chariot race that made everyone hold his breath and watch his feet was staged by "Ad" Kinsey's boys. Marcellus defeated Ben Hur by managing to fall further forward at each upset and to keep his reign on the unrully horses. Ben Hur was all right as a chariot driver, but it isn't the mode for a chariot driver to be estranged from his horses.

Lillian Baird's production of an "Our Gang" comedy was next on the program. If this was a comedy, Mickey McGuire did not give the secret away. Here is a spectator's comment: "She looks like Mickey McGuire, no foolin'." The resemblance included the black derby and the corn cob pipe. Mickey won the athletic contest from Junior Hemingway by three foul tricks to two.

"The Bank Robbery" was short and scenic. The bank fell so naturally on being blackjacked that it called for the sympathies of the audience. Jim Ferney's lads put this on.

Slippery Rock was buried by a grey-looking group of pallbearers who probably represented the Blue and White. This production was under the sponsorship of Isabelle McGregor.

The stunts were terminated by Ruth Martin's "School Days". Ye old time mistress was not the best critic of spelling but she did appreciate good apples and good songs.

A. A. U. W. BEGINS PROGRAMS OVER STATION K. D. K. A.

Members of the New Wilmington branch of the American Association of University Women will be interested in the series of radio programs to be given by the Pittsburgh branch, over station KDKA.

The first program was given Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21, from 2:30 to 2:45 o'clock. Mrs. Evelyn Gardiner Saudek discussed the plans of the Pittsburgh Branch for the ensuing year and explained what the A. A .U. W. means, and what the organization is doing both locally and nationally to aid the cause of higher education of women.

The second talk in the series of radio programs, under the supervision of Mrs. Evelyn Gardiner Saudek, publicity chairman of the Pittsburgh Branch, was given on Tuesday afternoon Sept. 27, at the same hour. Mrs. Mary H. Becker of London, England was the speaker. Mrs. Becker told of the work of the British Federation of University Women. Mrs. J. Howard Dice, international relations chairman of the Pittsburgh Branch, is responsible for bringing Mrs. Becker to Pittsburgh, while she is touring the United States.

Prof. H. J. Brennan Announces Program Of Art Department

Rare Books And Color Reprints To Feature Frequent Exhibits

Prof. Harold J. Brennan is planning his 1932-33 program of the art department in such a way as to make contact with every member of the Westminster faculty and student body.

By means of exhibitions, provisions in the library for magazines and books on art, and lectures, an effort will be made to create a catholic interest in this cultural study of art.

Prof. Brennan is making arrangements to bring two good speakers to the campus during the first semester. These lecturers, whose names have not as yet been revealed, will address the college assembly with a dynamic force and interest characteristic of technicians in the arts.

Westminster's art department will send out an exhibition of color reprints of works by old masters and more contemporary artists to high schools in the neighborhood of Westminster sometime during the coming school term. These prints composing the exhibit are to be shown to the student body of the college before being sent out on circuit.

In the near future there will also be an exhibition of first editions of rare old books from the collection of Prof. Alexander Kostellow, Carnegie Tech.

With a view toward determining whether there is sufficient interest to merit a second semester course in ceramics, a display of pottery will be shown about the middle of November. Sometime before the Christmas holidays, Prof. Brennan hopes to stage an exhibit in jewelry and metal craft.

In all probability, a course in home decoration will be offered second semester. Prof. Brennan will attempt to provide a practical rather than a theoretical approach to the subject of modern home decoration.

Before the adjournment of classes in the spring, there will be an exhibition of work by students in the department.

Officers Of Y.W.C.A. Conduct Successful Drive For Members

Y. W. C. A. has completed its annual membership drive, which was launched September 28 and concluded October 5. The campaign, under the direction of Dorothy Sellar, president, was very successful. The goal, one hundred per cent membership, was almost attained.

The new members were initiated at a special candle-light service, held in the chapel, at 5:30 Wednesday evening. Following this ceremony, a banquet for all members was held in the United Presbyterian church.

Y. W. C. A. is planning many social activities for the year, among which are a Halloween party and special programs for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Frosh Class Is Largest, Most Intelligent

QUANTITY, QUALITY, AND INTELLIGENCE ALL- MARK -THE -RECORD FRESHMAN CLASS AT WESTMINSTER THIS YEAR. WITH 256 FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS ENROLLED, THE LARGEST FROSH CLASS IN THE 81 YEARS' HISTORY OF WESTMINSTER, OFFICIALS OF THE COLLEGE DETERMINED TO FIND OUT THE INTELLIGENCE, FINANCIAL STANDING, AND BACKGROUNDS OF THE FIRST-YEAR GROUP.

That business conditions are improving and that there is an optimistic outlook among bankers, business men, and the general public is evinced by the record freshman class at Westminster College this year.

Not only is the class, numbering 256 students, the largest first-year class in the history of the college, but only 15 freshmen applied for student loans. Small loans were given these 15 only.

More than this, the parents of 36 students are engaged in businesses owned by themselves; seven parents are bankers; six are salesmen; five are accountants; two are in advertising; seven are life insurance salesmen; four are realtors; two are sales managers; two are business executives; two are store managers; and one is a business manager.

Other parents of the first-year students are: ministers, 11; farmers, 14; lawyers, 4; doctors, 9; plant foremen, 13; dentists, 3; civil engineers, 4; professors, 6; undertakers, 3; contractors, 7; clerks, 7.

Other occupations of parents of freshmen are: Government work, tax collector, highway inspector, treasurer, traffic manager, newspaper publisher, linotype operator, interior decorator, chemist, editor, druggist, railroad superintendent, construction engineer, and justice of the peace.

Not only is the freshman class one of high quality with regard to back-

Book Club Attracts Many New Members

Miss Ailman, college librarian, has announced that the Westminster (1932-33) book club already has a rapidly increasing enrollment.

Many books are now at the disposal of the members, and new volumes are constantly being added.

Some of those on order are: "Mark Twain's America" by Bernard de Voto; "Peking Picnic" by Ann Bridge; "The Inheritance", a family saga, by Phyllis Bentley; "Magnolia Street", a story of the Jews and Gentiles, by Lows Golding; and "Brothers" by L. A. G. Strong.

In addition to organizing the book club, Miss Ailman has been instructing freshmen English classes in the use of the library.

Meider Is Re-elected Junior Class Leader

Juniors re-elected Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh, as president of his class at a meeting of the class held Tuesday morning, following chapel.

Other elected officers are: vice-president, Hugh McCall, Youngstown, O.; secretary, Jane Baker, Pittsburgh; treasurer, Thomas McClure, Blairsville; and representatives on the student council, Jean Miller, Bradford, and Cromwell Ketterer, Rochester.

Homecoming Program Planned For Oct. 29

Homecoming day at Westminster will take place on Saturday, October 29. In the afternoon the Waynesburg eleven is scheduled for a clash with the Titan squad and a close struggle is anticipated.

The bleachers will present an attractive panorama with the combination of blue freshman berets and dinks and the yellow chrysanthemums worn by the alumni.

All campus fraternities are planning dinners and entertainment for their alumni members.

It is customary to hold a short chapel service in the morning for the alumni and it is probable Dr. Galbreath will continue this practice.

Robert Ferguson Galbreath, D.D., L.L.D., will be formally inaugurated as the eighth president of Westminster College in ceremonies which start Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The entire day will be taken up with inauguration services. The afternoon service, starting at 2 o'clock, will last until 4. A football game between Westminster and California State Teachers College will start at 4. A party for students will be held in the gymnasium in the evening.

The morning service, starting at 10:50, will be held in the college chapel. The afternoon service, weather permitting, will be held on the South campus, starting at 2 o'clock. The football game, to be played on the college grid, will start at 4. The student party will begin at 8:15.

COMMITTEES IN CHARGE

Committees in charge of arrangements include faculty, students, and alumni. The faculty group is: Dr. J. A. Swindler, Dr. E. B. Russell, Dr. G. H. Taylor, and Miss Elizabeth Stewart. Mr. A. A. McDonald is in general charge of tickets, invitations, seating and other details.

Members of the student committee are: Wilson Miller, Leechburg, chairman; Herbert Smith, New Castle; and Kathryn McClure, New Wilmington. Student heralds are Willis McGill, New Wilmington, and Gerald Newton, New Wilmington.

The alumni committee includes: Attorney William McElwee, New Wilmington, chairman; Rev. Dr. J. A. MacDonald, Youngstown, O.; Mrs. J. A. Stranahan, Mercer; Attorney Walter Braham, New Castle; Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, New Wilmington; and Dr. S. E. Calhoun, president of the alumni association, ex-officio. Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Pittsburgh, president of the board of trustees, is chairman of the general committee of the board.

MORNING SERVICE

Dean Charles Freeman will preside at the morning program to be held in the chapel. Gordon Balch Nevin, professor of pipe organ will be at the organ. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Dr. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian church.

Three Dramas Announced By Prof. Cordray

Professor A. T. Cordray, supervisor of dramatics at Westminster college, announces three one-act plays to be presented in the Little Theatre, on Friday, October 28.

The three plays to be produced are: "On the Shelf", by Christopher Morley; "The Wasp", by Essex Dane; and "Long Distance", by William Haslitt Upson.

The program arranged is a varied one and offers three distinct types of plays. "On the Shelf" is a fantasy in which the scene takes place on a library shelf. The actors represent the principal characters of various novels in the background.

"The Wasp", a melodrama ,takes place during a Russian revolt, a few hours after the execution. The action centers around the Commissioner of Police, who attempts to evade the Revolutionists.

"Long Distance" is a comedy concerning a young farm hand who loses an engagement ring in the internal regions of an earthworn tractor. The entire story takes place via telephone.

DEAN MARY E. TURNER TO SPONSOR ALL SOCIAL ACTIVITIES FOR COMING YEAR

Parties Are Planned For Each Saturday Evening

Dancing and student gatherings at the gymnasium every Saturday evening, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m., have featured among the social affairs since the beginning of the school year.

MARY E. TURNER

Dean Mary E. Turner, who is in charge of all social activities, planned the entertainment and made arrangements for the music.

The first dance was held on September 24. Bill Travers' orchestra, New Castle, provided music for about fifty couples to dance. The chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman and Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell.

On October 1, the students gathered in the gymnasium and danced to the music of an orthophonic victrola. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Swindler acted as chaperones.

Arrangements have been completed for an all-college dance scheduled for October 8. Bill Twaddle's orchestra has been engaged for the occasion. Professor and Mrs. Ben Euwema have been invited to chaperone the party.

During the evening each student contributes a small amount toward defraying the expense of the orchestra, but there is no door charge. According to present plans Dean Turner expects to provide for some sort of all-college function to be held every Saturday evening.

This is Miss Turner's first year as dean of women at Westminster. She is a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1900, did graduate work at Columbia University, is a member of A. A. U. W., College Club of Pittsburgh, Women's Club of Wilkinsburg, the Y. W. C. A., and the Westminster Women's Club.

EIGHT IN EIGHTY-ONE

Eight presidents in eighty-one fruitful years. That is Westminster's story. Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath becomes, today, the eighth leader.

Dr. Galbreath, in office since last February, has seen steady progress since he assumed office. He has seen the student body increase from 556 to 609. He has seen a better spirit among students. He has noted a new inspiration in classroom and extra-curricular activity.

More than this, he has helped to inspire these changes for the good. He has, through his humble, human, kindly counsel, won the hearts of students, faculty, townspeople. He has indeed been herald of the new era even while pessimists were decrying, bewailing, and cringing.

It is not foolish to predict, then, that, with times improving rapidly, and with prospects of increasing improvement, Westminster under Dr. Galbreath will go far along the road to success.

Delegates, friends, guests, alumni, former students, we greet you and thank you for being present at the inauguration of Dr. Galbreath. We are proud of him, and we feel certain, the educational world will be proud of him and his college through the work he and his staff have been doing and will continue to do.

GOOD WORK

The personnel department and all members of the college staff who remained in New Wilmington during the summer on student canvass are to be congratulated.

In times which are marked by gradual recovery from financial distress, it would indeed be something of an accomplishment to get 256 freshmen. But when these freshmen come with intellectual and financial backgrounds such as this year's first-year class has, then the achievement is little short of remarkable.

To the sidewalk critics who shouted that a strenuous advertising campaign was costing too much money, the results shout so loud that nothing of the hue and cry of August can now be heard. Some few who doubted the wisdom of large promotion, now are heard to state that they knew that was the only way to do it. A few who had absolutely nothing to do with the success of the campaign are now coming forward willing to claim credit.

This is a natural situation. But the situation of more than 600 students at Westminster is for the town and the college unique. It was brought about by far-sighted plans, by hard work, by intelligent campaigning on the part of the personnel department.

IN 1924

BEAT GROVE CITY!

That is the battle cry at Westminster as the time approaches for the annual Grove City football game.

Travel back to 1924. Westminster defeated Grove City by a 7-0 score at Grove City. That was the last Titan victory in the decade over the Grovers.

Always a strong team, always well coached, always noted for their hard, clean playing, the Grovers constitute one of the best rivals in Titan athletics.

This year, with a sophomore team Coach Lawther will again find that his team is the underdog. But fighting Westminster spirit can help to win that game October 15 at Grove City.

Students should plan to be present for the game. There will be a special Westminster section. Cheer leaders should be there. Alumni should not miss the game. Westminster is out to win this one!

ARGO CO-OPERATION

For five years Westminster yearbooks have won first prize among college annuals in the country. Last year's Argo was also accorded All-American place. This is the only college yearbook which has been given first rating five times in succession.

In order to produce a prize book, the staff must have the co-operation of students and faculty. Pictures form the greatest portion of the contents of the book. A Photograph of each student is needed, and photos of faculty members are also needed.

After three announcements last week, but two faculty members reported to have their photographs taken. A number of students also missed appointments. The photographer will be here on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Plan to get your photograph taken at your first opportunity, and thus help the staff get the book started.

A POET RUNS OUT OF SUBJECT MATTER

There's rimes appeared for countless years
On silv'ry moons and maiden's tears,
On Dixieland and Mother;
On Wooded vales and columbine,
And bounding waves and ruddy wine,
And this and that and t'other.

Yea, verily, the tuneful bards
Have scribbled verse in endless yards
On woe and also bliss.
In fact, to me it sometimes seems
They've worn out all the likely themes
And left me things like this! —Jimmie.

WHO WRITES THE HOLCAD, AND HOW!

"GINNY" KERINS: Editor. Jack (or Jill) of all trades. Hails from Farrell. Can hold an editorial board meeting while dashing from a sorority affair to other extra-curricular duties. Likes Marmalade, College Humor, feature stories, dormitory regulations, and football games.

"HAP" POLONUS: Sports editor. Hails from Sharon, and hails everything and everyone going by on wheels, including members of the Penthouse, Rho Darnit Rho, and the Commuters' Club. Is official mailer of Holcad, wears knickers with three patches, sings alto and soprano, and likes cabbage, red ties, Youngstown brunette, kippered earrings, and he isn't a Greek.

"HAT" ROBINSON: Assistant managing editor. Claims New York state as her home and Newburgh as her stamping ground. Can stamp out forest fires, permits for out-of-town visits by Hillside residents, and straight "A" grades in a number of courses. Likes Mercer fairs, double column headlines, no trump, and picnics.

HELEN McCORMICK: Society editor. Still water runs deep. The only noise she makes is on the typewriter, and she writes her copy by longhand. Likes books, courses, studies, and straight "A" grades.

LOVE POEM

With love the verse of many bards
You always find is laden;
Their writing teems with tender themes
Indited to a maiden;
They sing of love abidst the bowers
And love that meets adverses;
On love that burns and love that yearns
They jingle yards of verses.
So, if I never sing of love,
Don't think I'm misanthropic;—
'Twould be a crime to waste my time
On such a wornout topic! —JIMMIE

50 Colleges Represnted At Inauguration

Dr. Weir C. Ketler, president of Grove City College, will speak on "Some Problems of the Liberal Arts College." Dr. Thomas Stockham Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will speak on "Coordinating the Work of the Liberal Arts College With That of the Professional School."

Music will be provided by the student trio and by Professor Nevin at the organ.

Dinner for delegates and guests will be served at the Hillside and at Browne hall at 12:30.

AFTERNOON PROGRAM

At 1:30 in the afternoon, delegates, faculty, and students will assemble to form the academic procession. The student band, directed by Professor Donald Cameron, will play for the procession. Weather permitting the procession will move to the South campus. Here will be provided seats for 2,000. The speakers and guests will be seated on the South terrace. Public address loud speakers will be installed for the outdoor program. In the event that weather will not permit the outdoor service, the program will be held in the gymnasium.

Dr. H. H. Donaldson, president of the board of trustees, will preside at the afternoon service. Music will be provided by professor E. H. Freeman, pianist; by the girls' chorus, directed by Miss Florence Mae Thomas, New Castle, professor of public school music; by Professor Alan B. Davis, baritone, director of the Conservatory; and by Miss Margaret Reed, soprano.

Speakers of the afternoon will be Dr. W. O. Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State University; Hugh Thompson Kerr, D.D., pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh; Dr. H. H. Donaldson, president of the board; and Dr. Robert F. Galbreath. Rev. Dr. E. G. McGoun, Pittsburgh, will offer the invocation.

COLLEGE DELEGATES

Colleges and universities which have already designated their delegates to the inauguration include: Columbia University, Washington and Jefferson College, Allegheny College, Auburn Theological Seminary, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Kenyon College, Western Theological Seminary, Denison University, New York University, Muskigum College, Bethany College, Wheaton College, Wittenburg College, Baldwin-Wallace College.

University of Iowa, Geneva College, Western College, Capitol University, Monmouth College, Susquehanna University, College of Wooster, Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, Pennsylvania College for Women, Ursinus College, Smith College, Westminster College of Utah, Indiana State Teachers College, Grove City College, John Hopkins University, Ashland College, Seton Hill College, Goucher College, Tarkio College, Sterling College, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Waynesburg College.

Thiel College, Hiram College, Wilson College, Lehigh University, Ohio State University, Cathage College, Maryville College.

COMPROMISE

By Eleanor Graham

(Miss Graham is a graduate of Westminster College, having been the valedictorian of the class of '30. This poem was printed in "Good Housekeeping".)—Editor.

The goodly folk are lovely:
They go to church and pray;
They live such saintly, careful lives;
They do some good each day.
The goodly folk are lovely—
I've heard the good folk say.

The wicked folk are lovely:
They never have a care;
They have such fun in wickedness;
Their consciences are bare.
The wicked folk are lovely—
The wicked folk declare.

And you and I go right along—
Oh, could it be that we are wrong?
There's just one thing for us to do:
Let's say that we are lovely, too!

FROSH CLASS IS OF HIGH QUALITY

ground and finance, but this year's group rates higher mentally than last year's entering class.

Tabulations from the Thurstone psychological examination, published by the American Council on Education for official use in accredited colleges only, show that the median of this year's freshman class is 169 plus as compared with 143 for last year's freshmen.

Of the 256 frosh, 95 are working toward the bachelor of arts degree; 42 for the bachelor of science degree; 12 for degrees in music; 54 for bachelor of business administration degrees; and 12 for secretarial certificates Forty-one are undecided about degrees.

The parents of 25 freshmen attended Westminster. Thirteen parents attended Grove City College. Other institutions attended by parents are: Slippery Rock, eight; University of Pittsburgh, seven; business college, six; Carnegie Tech, four; Ohio State, four; University of Michigan, three; Muskingum, three; Waynesburg, three; Ohio Wesleyan, three; Geneva, two; Penn state, two; Clarion, two; Dennison University, two; Princeton, two; Oberlin, two.

Other schools attended by parents are: Harvard, Notre Dame, Ripon, Glasgow Tech (Scotland), Cliff College (England), Syracuse, Allegheny, Beloit, University of Illinois, University of Penna., Ohio Northern, Bucknell, Purdue, University of Cincinnati, Beaver, and Indiana State Teachers College.

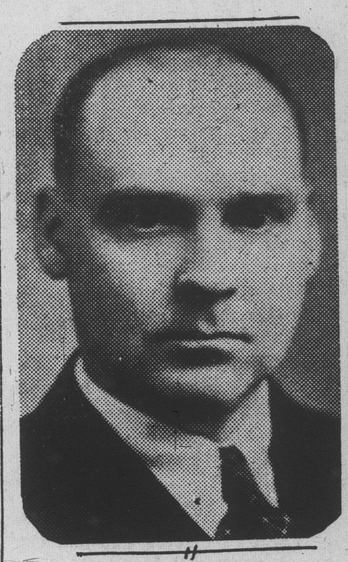
Thus 112 parents attended colleges and universities.

This year's class has already made a favorable impression on faculty members who report good classroom work on the part of the first-year students. Directors of the various student activities: band, publications, dramatics, glee club, and athletics, also report enthusiasm and interest on the part of the freshmen.

DR. H. L. DAVIS ADDED TO FACULTY

Westminster's science department has added the name of Herbert L. Davis, Ph.D., to its staff of chemistry professors this year.

Dr. Davis was a graduate of Dickinson college in the class of '21 and received his Ph.D. from Cornell university in '27. He taught at Dickinson from 1921-25, spent a year doing graduate work at Cornell, and returned to Dickinson in '27.



DR. H. L. DAVIS

Dr. Davis, a native of Caderville, N. J., moved his home to New Wilmington at the time of his appointment to the Westminster faculty. He is replacing Prof. Harlow Osgood who has been granted a year's leave of absence to do graduate work at the University of Cornell.

Titans Point To Grove City Game October 15

Geo. Washington Defeats Titans 24-0 At Washington

Team Makes Frederick, Md. Headquarters On Trip

RAY SWEENEY

WESTMINSTER LOST ITS SECOND FOOTBALL GAME OF THE SEASON AT WASHINGTON, D. C., ON FRIDAY, SEPT. 31 AT THE HANDS OF THE POWERFUL GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY TEAM. THE FINAL SCORE WAS 24-0.

Except in the first quarter, when a series of passes gave the Titans three first downs, the Westminster offense did not click against the fast-charging Colonial line. All 23 players who made the trip saw action in the game. Ray Sweeney diminutive quarterback played bang up ball for the locals.

In the first quarter, George Washington lost little time in scoring its first touchdown. A fumble by Arrowsmith following the initial kick-off gave the Colonials the ball in Titan territory. Fenlon, spark-plug of the Washington attack, raced around right end for 10-yards and the score. Kriemelmeyer missed the kick, and the sports writers missed the spelling of his name !

A few minutes before this, after advancing the ball from midfield, Fenlon had fumbled on the Titan 5-yard line, so his score wiped out this early error.

George Washington scored its second touchdown in the first quarter when Parrish, fleet Colonial back, took a punt from Scarbrough and raced 35 yards to the Titan 25. Fenlon made 22 on an end run. From here, Kriemelmeyer smashed the center of the line for the touchdown, and the scribes groaned as they attempted to spell his name.

The second quarter saw the Colonials score their third touchdown. Carter conducted a tour from one end of the field to the Titan 10-yard line, at which point he promptly fumbled, thus losing his distinction as a ball carter. Siljander jumped on the ball, and Sweeney punted to midfield. Felon carried the ball to the Titan 35. Here Carter carted it once more to the seven. Carter crossed up the secondary on the next play and raced around the right end for the score. George Washington continued its brilliant record at extra point garnering by missing the try.

The third quarter, with Titan reserves in action, was scoreless. The Westminster substitutes battled in fine fashion ,and held the Colonials for downs on the 15-yard line and again on the seven.

In the last quarter, George Washington scored again, to the glee of two youthful sports scribes who sat in the press box and who have never seen a football game outside of the District of Columbia. A fifty-yard march, led by McKinnis, took the ball to the 10-yard mark. From here, McKinnis scored on an end run.

The lineups:

George Washington		Westminster
Mulvey	L.E.	Leyshock
B. Parrish	L.T.	Dishong
Stewart	L.G.	Rose
Dike	C.	Bloker
Hickman	R.G.	Hollander
Slaird	R.T.	Rehfus
Chambers	R.E.	Siljander
Fenlon	Q.B.	Arrowsmith
Strayer	L.H.	Hunneke
F. Parrish	R.H.	Sweeney
Kriemelmeyer	F.B.	Staples

Substitutes—Scarbrough, Franklin, Straw, Burry, Ketterer, Brown, Lubuono, Wilhelm, Andrews, Patt, Turner, Young.

Referee: Morse; Umpire, Brewer; Linesman, OMeara.

LAWTHER SHIFTS LINEUP FOR GAME WITH CALIFORNIA

Coach John D Lawther of Westminster plans to make several shifts in the Titan lineup for the game with California State Teachers' College here on Saturday. The contest will not start until about 4 o'clock due to the inauguration of Dr. R. F. Galbreath as president.

Lawther may start Harold Burry, New Castle sophomore, track and cross country star, at a guard post. He may also use Bill Staples, Butler, at fullback, and shift Bob Arrowsmith, Erie, to right halfback. These men played the best ball against George Washington at Washington, D. C. last Friday night.

The Titans emerged from the hard George Washington University game at Washington, D. C. in fine physical shape. The George Washington team was large and powerful, but the 23 Titan players who saw action in the contest did not receive any injuries.

DISHONG - TACKLE

Westminster made Frederick, Md., its headquarters on the Washington trip. The team visited the Barbara Fritchie home in Frederick, and also visited Hood College, attending chapel Friday morning at this girls' school. The contest Friday night was played in Griffith stadium, Washington Senators' baseball park.

California will probably use nine veterans and two freshmen in the starting lineup, W. H. Steers, athletic director, states. Captain Hazelbaker at quarterback, and Patterson at fullback will be the two big California threats.

The probable lineups:

Westminster		California
Leyshock	L.E.	Bridge
Dishong	L.T.	McManus
Rose	L.G.	Hornbake
Franklin	C.	Price
Burry	R.G.	Underwood
Rehfus (C)	R.T.	Shrader
Siljander	R.E.	Rutherford
Sweeney	Q.B.	Hazelbaker
Young	L.H.	Peters
Arrowsmith	R.H.	Moreno
Staples	F.B.	Patterson

Referee: J. M. Holmes; Umpire, Dr. E. A. Stahl; Linesman, Dr. George McLaren. Game starts at 4 o'clock.

BETHANY COLLEGE TRIES NEW ATHLETIC POLICY

Bethany College has instituted a strictly amateur program this Fall by charging no admission to athletic contests. Officials at the school claim that they are not training race horses for people to pay money to see but are of the belief that over-emphasis has been placed upon collegiate athletics.

The success of the plan is being watched with a great deal of interest by sport followers and other collegiate institutions.

Harriers Race At West Virginia Next Saturday

THE WESTMINSTER CROSS COUNTRY TEAM MEETS WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY AT MORGANTOWN, W. VA., ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15. ON OCTOBER 22, GENEVA WILL BE MET AT BEAVER FALLS.

W. A. A. Plans Full Year Of Activities

Westminster Women's Athletic Association under the direction of Miss Vergil Wettich, president, and Miss Nandeen Love, advisor, is prepared for a full year of college activity.

W. A. A. is now sponsoring a tennis tournament for all college girls, the victor's award to be given by Prof. C. W. McKee.

Hockey practices are being held on Monday and Wednesday afternoons under the direction of Miss Anna Mae Leyshon, hockey chairman. Class teams are to be chosen at the close of the season.

Weekly roller-skating parties and bi-weekly swimming parties have been planned for the benefit of all the girls in school.

Long-distance hikes are also a principal part of the association's schedule for thecoming school term.

This being only the second year of W. A. A. existence at Westminster, the members are looking forward to an eventful year.

STUDENT SECTION

THE STUDENT SECTION AT HOME FOOTBALL GAMES IS ON THE SOUTH SIDE OF THE FIELD, FROM THE GOAL LINE TO THE THIRTY-FIVE, AND FROM THE THIRTY-FIVE TO THE GOAL LINE. THE CENTER OF THE SOUTH BLEACHERS IS RESERVED FOR HOLDERS OF SEASON TICKETS.

THE WEST BLEACHERS ARE FOR VISITORS, AND, FOR THE CALIFORNIA GAME, ARE FOR ACADEMIC DELEGATES. THESE ARE RESERVED.

STUDENT TICKETS MUST BE PRESENTED AT THE GATE. STUDENT TICKETS ARE NOT TRANSFERABLE. STUDENT TICKETS WHICH ARE LOST CAN NOT BE REPLACED.

PEP MEETING

Friday night, Oct. 7, a pep meeting was held in the gymnasium at which time Jack Hulme gave out track and tennis awards to lettermen of last year's teams. Cheerleader Donley and his assistants were in charge.

GROVERS BOAST ANOTHER STRONG GRID OUTFIT

WESTMINSTER-GROVE CITY RIVALRY OF MANY YEARS WILL BE RENEWED AT GROVE CITY ON SATURDAY, OCT. 15 WHEN THE TITANS AND THE GROVERS MEET IN THEIR ANNUAL FOOTBALL GAME.

Not since 1924 has Westminster defeated Grove City. Coach Bill Amos has another good team. The outcome of Saturday's game, then, is a toss-up, the team willing to fight the hardest coming out as victor, for both are about even.

With all versity men available, Coach John Lawther should be able to put a much stronger team on the field this year than he did against the Grovers last year when the Crimson won out by a 14-0 score.

With the substitutes improving each day, the reserve strength of the Titans is better than usual. This should be a determining factor in the contest.

A special Westminster student section will be reserved at Grove City for the game. Students who attend need ask only for seats in the Westminster section.

JUNIORS NAME DOUGLASS ON ATHLETIC COUNCIL

William Douglass, a member of the Junior class was unanimously elected class representative in the Athletic Council, at a meeting of the class, held yesterday.

Douglass is a member of the basketball team and is affiliated with Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

He was a member of the great 1931 team coached by Lawrence "Pops" Harrison. Last Fall he followed Harrison to the University of Iowa but returned at semester to play on the championship quintet of last season coached by John Lawther.

FORMER NITTANY GRID LEADER ENROLLED AT WESTMINSTER

"Jack" Martin, Sharon, former Penn State grid captain, and a graduate of that institution with the class of '31, is a special student at Westminster. Martin is taking education requirements for a teaching certificate.

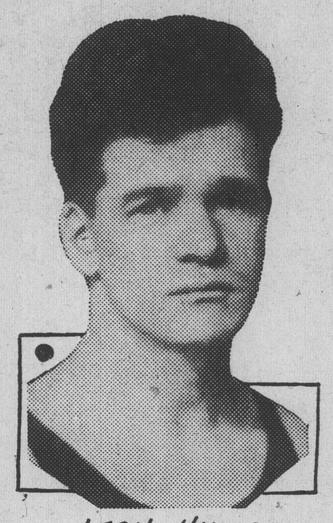
Jack Hulme Tells Many Interesting Experiences At Tenth Olympic Games

Jack Hulme, popular swimming instructor, tells of many interesting experiences in connection with his trip to the Olympics during July.

Jack reports that the Olympics was one of the most interesting experiences he has ever had. To him the most interesting event was the men's fancy diving; but the hundred yard dash, won by Eddie Tolan, seemed to appeal to the general run of spectators.

Jack feels that Japan was the outstanding nation in the swimming competition, and that it will be quite a power to reckon with in the next Olympiad. Their well-organized system of training athletes was a large contributing factor to their success.

In the diving events, however, the



JACK HULME

United States proved itself superior to the others in the field; but in water-polo Hungary excelled.

The outstanding women swimmers at the meet were Helen Madison, Eleanor Holmes, Eleanor Kight, and Josephine McKim, the latter two of Homestead. The diving stars were Georgia Coleman, Dorothy Poynton, and Kathleen Rawls.

Jack witnessed every swimming event, and in his mind, the United States was outstanding in the women's competition.

In making his trip to Los Angeles, Jack chose to go by bus, which he says is the only way to make such a journey. The route which he traveled was a central one, and so enabled him to see many points of interest on the way.

HARRIERS MEET PITT SATURDAY

THE WESTMINSTER COLLEGE VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM WILL OPEN ITS SEASON AGAINST THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH SATURDAY MORNING AT 11 O'CLOCK WHEN THE TWO HARRIER OUTFITS RACE OVER THE FIVE MILE SCHENLEY PARK COURSE.

Coach Graham of the Westminster hill and dale outfit has selected Wilbert Needham, North Braddock; Noble Bowers, Duquesne; Clarence Manor, New Castle; James Regester, Duquesne; Harvey Snyder, Bellevue; Wallace Heiges, Wheatland; Steven Godleski, Saltsburg. These seven men won the honor of representing the Titans by winning in the trial races this week.

Due to the fact that Tom Coles, Homestead lad who was elected Westminster captain, did not return to college this fall, Wilbert Needham, North Braddock, is acting captain. The team is composed of freshmen and sophomores.

The Titan cross country schedule is: Oct. 8, Pitt at Pittsburgh; Oct. 15, West Virginia at Morgantown; Oct. 22, Geneva at Beaver Falls; Oct. 29, Grove City at home; Nov. 5, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Tennis Tournament Is Progressing; Prizes Are To Be Given Winners

The tennis tournament, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A., has been run off to the semi-finals and quarter-finals. Due to wet weather some of the matches have been delayed but, with suitable playing conditions, the matches should be finished within the next week.

Thirty-two men were entered in the single matches. Of these, all have been eliminated except Ted Robins and Win Johnson, in the quarter-finals, and Meider, McCall and Kennedy in the semi-finals. Of the eight original entries in the doubles, Kennedy and Meider, H. Smith and Kirkbride, Manor and Offutt, and McClure and Sowash remain. winners of the tournament. Dr. Harwinners of the tournament Dr. Harold Black, of the Westminster faculty, will present the awards to the winners.

The matches are being played on the Phi Pi Phi and the college courts.

Ted Blaner Has Narrow Escape In Auto Accident

Ted Blaner, Sharon, Westminster basketball star and well known Sharon and New Castle golfer escaped serious injury and possible death Saturday evening, when the car in which he was a passenger was wrecked and the driver A. Bernard Conerty, 28, of Sharon was fatally injured.

Blaner, who was on his way to college, was shaken up but was not injured.

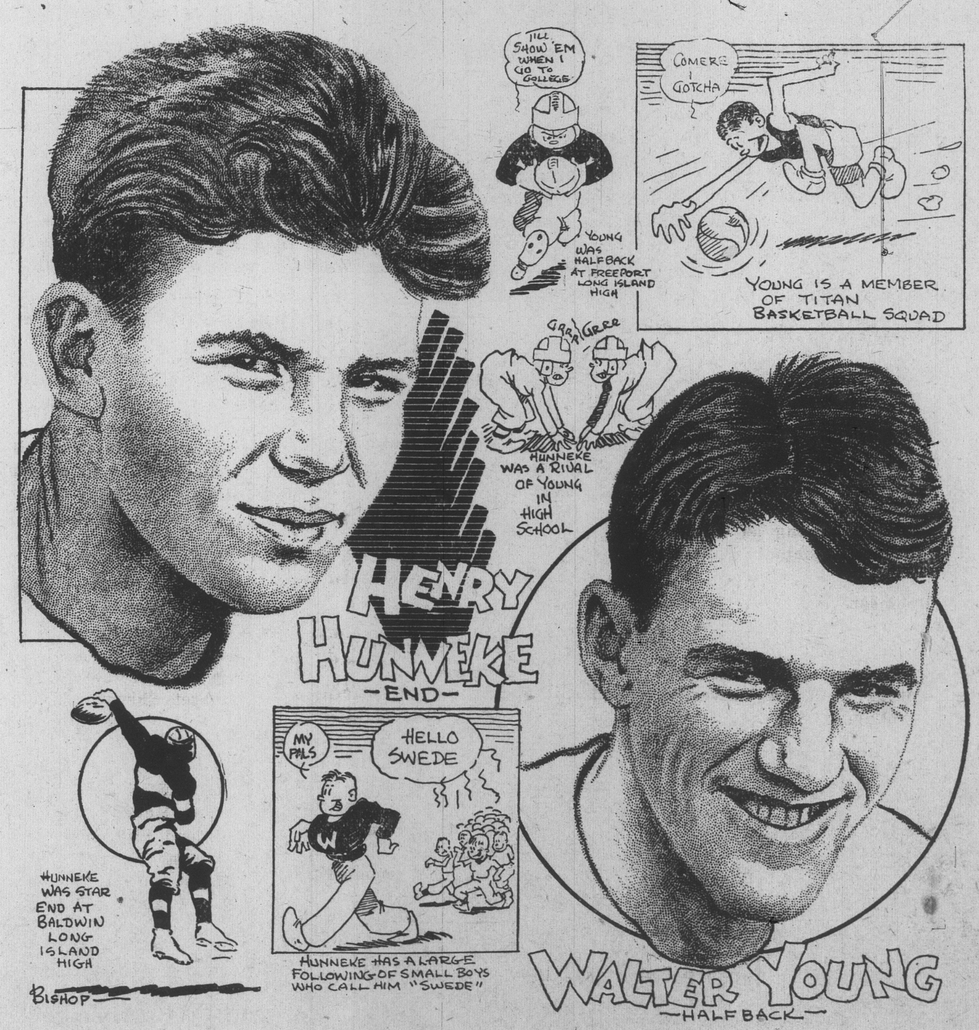
Hungry Humans Hum "Hurry"

Who says there's a depression? The appetite of the college youth apparently has never realized the fact. According to the proprietors of the "hangouts", that much condemned topic of conversation is all over. At this point serious doubts may be entertained as to whether there ever has been a depression, for people will get hungry. Business is "scrumptious" this year, bigger and better than ever.

When do we eat? Well, nearly any time. The grand dash on Sunday seems to occur at about ten-thirty a m. but during the week any time is meal time. What do we eat? Isaly's best seller is ice cream, in various shapes and forms. Weaver's is apparently frequented for that all satisfying delicacy also, while the College Inn seems to do its most rushing business in home made pastries.

And just listen to this! It's not always the gentleman who pays. The all-observant proprietors claim that it's a tossup as to whether girls require more nourishment when they "stag it" or when they "date". At any rate, one very cautious gentleman said in a most conciliatory tone, "The girls are very good spenders, and we have no complaints against the college young people."

HIGH SCHOOL RIVALS



"Swede Hunneke, former Baldwin, L. I., high school star; and "Walt" Young, former Freeport, L. I., star, were football rivals in high school. Young played halfback on the championship, undefeated Freeport team. The only team to score on Freeport was Baldwin. The fellow who scored was Hunneke. Now "Swede" and "Walt" are rivals for halfback berths at Westminster.

New Instructor of English Tells of Experience in West

CONTRASTS MEXICAN PUPILS WITH AMERICANS

For some time, Miss Elizabeth McConnell, new instructor in the English department, has been observing the birds fly southward, doubtless wishing she could go along. For the past five years, she has been spending her summer vacation at her home in Mercer, and the winter months in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she had a teaching position in the high school.

A graduate of the class of 1924, Miss McConnell returns to Westminster with the background of varied teaching experience and travel. For two years after graduation she taught in the Mercer high school, going to New Mexico in 1927.

She obtained her master's degree in English from Columbia University in 1930, and has done graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh, and the University of New Mexico.

When she first began teaching at Westminster, Miss McConnell said she felt more like an outsider than an alumna, for the new buildings made such a tremendous difference. The Science Hall, the Hillside, and the Conservatory she finds much the same. A member of Chi Omega sorority, Miss McConnell was one of ten girls who organized the first local chapter, and she likes to keep in touch with alumni activities of the college.

Pennsylvania she considers her home, though much of her time has been spent in New Mexico. The Southwest is a nice place to live, she thinks, as long as she knows she can get home to Pennsylvania. There is something about the vivid colorings of autumn leaves, the outline of wooded hills silhouetted against the sky, that seems so refreshing to her. After the flat monotony of desert scenery, and the tang of autumn weather peps one up, after the lazy warmth of New Mexico winters.

Situated in the midst of Indian reservations and Mexican villages, not too far from the Grand Canyon and the Painted Desert, Albuquerque presents ideal situations for travel. A short distance away are the famous Carlsbad Caverns. Nearby is historic old Santa Fe, once the palatial abode of the Spanish governor. Natives will eagerly point out places visited by Lew Wallace, famous governor and adventurer. Artists' Colonies and Dannish groups of authors make Santa Fe and Albuquerque their home, while delving into the weather of tradition, and investigating the records of legendary herves.

Mary Austin's stories of the Navajo Indians were written in this very region, and her book, "The Green Bough", Miss McConnell says, gives as accurate a picture of the life and legends of the native inhabitants as one can find anywhere.

Albuquerque contains a large school where children of Navajo, Hopi, Pueblo, and other Indian tribes may secure an education equal to that of other children in the country. Shop work, home economics, music, art, and dramatics are offered, in the effort to create ambitions for better home conditions. Mexican and Indian children are like other children, some bright and some dull, but all very active, in spite of the climate. Music, dramatics and dancing make a big appeal to them.

Indian girls, Miss McConnell says, are extremely graceful dancers, and seem perfectly at ease on the dance floor. It is disappointing, however, to see them revert to type so quickly, once they are outside of the school environment. Much of the knowledge of occupations is retained, and to some extent, modern methods of housekeeping and modern dress. But old tribal dances and festivals are never given up, no matter how much the modern youth knows about the saxaphone, and the latest song hits. Because of her contact with Indian pupils in the schools, Miss McConnell has witnessed many of these festivals and dances. The Indian people do not resent the presence of outsiders, as long as no pictures are taken.

Mexican and Indian children make very satisfactory pupils, Miss McConnell thinks. Of course, there is a difference in attitude, and quickness of reaction, partly due to the southern climate, but she has found Mexican and Indian children just as ambitious to get through high school, and just as anxious to go on to colleges and universities as the average person is. They are particularly facile in their rapid interchange of languages, speaking in their native tongue when they do not care to have the teacher know what they are saying. Spanish comes rather difficult to them, after speaking a mixture of dialects.

After grading Freshmen English themes, Miss McConnell has decided that original composition is even harder for them than for the average American. Like the rest of us, they disregard the wealth of folklore and legend around them, and try to write of love in New York, rather than writing of romance glimpsed through the casement window facing on the back alley.

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, OCT. 25, 1932. — No. 3

Alumni Homecoming Day Is Saturday, Oct., 29

Thousands At Inauguration Of Dr. Galbreath October 8

Excelent Program Marks Event; Weather Is Perfect

Dr. Galbreath was inaugurated as the eighth executive of Westminster in beautiful outdoor services here Saturday Oct. 8 with a crowd of 3,600 present. The entire day was devoted to events of the inauguration, but the inaugural services proper took place on the South campus from 2 until 4:30 in the afternoon.

College presidents, academic representatives, dignitaries of church, state, and the professions, members of the board of trustees, alumni and former students, faculty, student body, and the general public gathered to honor Dr. Galbreath in the largest inauguration Westminster has ever seen, and only the eighth one in 81 years.

Morning Program

The morning program, held in the college chapel at 10:50, was presided over by Dean Charles Freeman. Organ music by Professor Gordon Balch Nevin of the Conservatory, announcements of the day's program, and two addresses comprised this program.

The invocation was made by the Rev. Dr. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian Church. Dr. Weir C. Ketler, president of Grove City College, spoke on "Some Problems of the Liberal Arts College." Dr. Thomas Stockham Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, spoke on "Coordinating the Work of the Liberal Arts College with that of the Technical School.

Dinner was served academic representatives, faculty, and guests in the Hillside dining room and in Robert Audley Browne hall commons at 12:30.

Inauguration Service

The academic procession, consisting of the college faculty, board of trustees, academic representatives of other colleges and universities, and the speakers, formed in Old Main Memorial at 1:30. The procession moved to Market street, thence up the campus walk to the South terrace. Music for the procession was furnished by the Westminster student band under the direction of Professor Donald Cameron.

The Rev. Dr. E. C. McCown, Pittsburgh, offered the invocation at 2 o'clock, and Dr. H. H. Donaldson, Pittsburgh, president of the board of trustees, presided.

Professor Alan B. Davis, baritone,

Dramatic History Will Be Enacted By Noted Lecturer

Mr. V. L. Granville, noted dramatist and lecturer, will be the first speaker on the 1932-33 lecture course program. He will present "Dramatic Interludes" at 8:15 p. m. in the Community House Wednesday, October 26.

Mr. Granville will relate the history of the drama by taking selections from several plays and dramatizing them in costume.

With dramatic exerts from "Job", "Esculus", Roman comedies, early Renaissance plays, "Shakespeare", and modern dramas, the lecturer will trace the history of the drama from ancient biblical times to the present day.

All make-up and costuming will take place on stage.

Lecture course tickets will be distributed to students in Room 213 on Monday afternoon from 1:30 until 3:30 and on Tuesday morning between 11:15 and 12:00 o'clock.

GROUP HONORS MOTHER AND DAD

An aged couple, with faces wreathed in smiles of happiness and pride, took seats in the rear of the assemblage gathered on South Terrace for the inaugural ceremonies of Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster.

Dr. H. H. Donaldson, chairman of the board of trustees, announced that the mother and father of Westminster's new president were in the audience. Upon the requests to rise from their seats, the two old people remained standing for a minute and then quietly sat down while the crowd felt a tingle of the same pride that possessed the two old people upon such an occasion.

Davis To Sponsor Organization of New Science Club

Faculty And Majors In Department Eligible

Dr. Herbert Davis professor in chemistry, announces that plans are being made for the organization of a science club in the school.

The purpose of such a club in the college fs: to stimulate the interest of the students in the sciences, to develop a sense for the interrelation of the various fields of science, to show its practical value, and to sponsor scientific activities on the campus.

The club will include the faculty members and major students in the departments of biology, chemistry, and physics; as well as all other members of the faculty and student body, who care to participate in its activities.

There will not be a great degree of organization in the club. A president and a secretary-treasurer will probably be elected from the student members, and no dues or assessments will be charged.

Bi-monthly meetings are being planned, at which times papers or reports, prepared by faculty members or students, on some particular branch of science, will be read. An effort will be made in arranging these programs to keep within the scope of those less familiar with the sciences.

Argo Again Wins All-America Prize

Is Fifth Yearbook In Succession So Honored

Westminster's yearbook, the Argo, for the fifth successive time has won the national contest for college annuals, according to word received here from the University of Minnesota, sponsor of the contest.

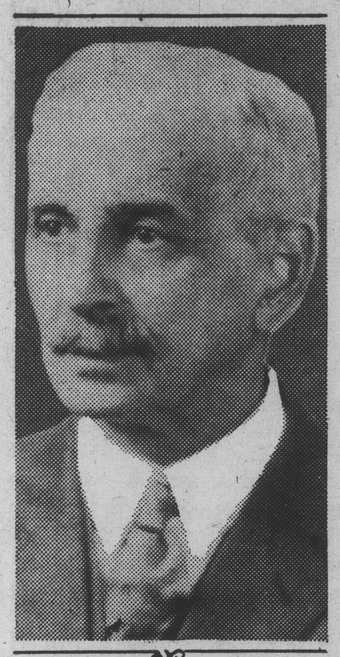
The volume, which followed a colonial theme in commemoration of the George Washington bi-centennial observance, was edited by Edward Rea, New Castle, with Willis McGill, New Wilmington, as business manager; Elizabeth Boland, Sharon, advertising manager, and Ruth Kutscher, Bellevue, associate editor.

The yearbook is the only annual among Pennsylvania colleges to win an award during the last four years.

Prof. Shott Is Honored At Inauguration

Thirty Years' Service Is Recognized With Degree

A feature of the inauguration of Dr. Robert F. Galbreath as the eighth president of Westminster College Saturday aftenroon was the presentation of the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy to Professor J.



DR. J. A. SHOTT

A. Shott, head of the department of psychology and education, and director of teacher training at Westminster.

Dr. J. A. Swindler, registrar, presented Prof. Shott to President Galbreath for the degree, stating that the board of trustees had, in recognition of his service, achievements and contributions to education recommended that he be given the degree.

The presentation of the degree to him recognizes 30 years of service to Westminster and to the hundreds of alumni who hold responsible teaching positions throughout the country.

TEA DANCE PROVES NOVEL SOCIAL AFFAIR AT COLLEGE GYM

Bryans' orchestra, Bessemer, furnished music for a tea dance held in the college gymnasium on Friday afternoon, October 21, between the hours of three and five o'clock, as the first in a series of similar social affairs sponsored by the Westminster Girls' Glee club.

Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Dean Mary E. Turner, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Freeman acted as chaperons.

Virginia Welch, general chairman, was assisted by the following committeemen: Mary Jane Stunkard and Charlotte Melhorn, decorations; Elizabeth Macklin, orchestra; Jane Baker, refreshments; and Margaret Reese, tickets.

Enrollment Per Cent Increase At Westminster Leads Country

General Trend Has Been Toward Decrease

While the general trend of college and university enrollments this fall has been toward decrease, a few institutions have increased enrollment.

Westminster, with 607 students this fall as compared with 527 last fall, or an increase of 15.3 per cent, leads the country in this respect. Other coeducational colleges which show an increase are Allegheny, University of California, and Colby.

The perecentage of co-educational college showing an increase for the first semester of this year over that of last year is 9, while 81 percent of the coed schools report decreased enrollment.

Not only is Westminster's increase of 15.3 per cent the greatest among coeducational schools, but it is also highest of the three classes of schools: coeducational, men's colleges, and women's colleges.

Forty per cent of men's colleges show an increase in enrollment this fall; while 45 per cent of women's colleges show increased enrollment.

The greatest decrease in enrollment among coed schools is 13.6 per cent; among men's schools, 12.5 per cent; and among women's schools, 8.4 per cent.

Nevin Gives Organ Recital in Chapel

Seven Numbers Played By Conservatory Professor

Gordon Balch Nevin, nationally known organist and composer, and professor of organ at Westminster, gave an organ recital in the college chapel Thursday evening, October 20.

Professor Nevin's program included seven number with a wide range of types and appeals of organ music. A Prelude in E-minor by Gaston M. Dethier, opened the recital. Other numbers were: "Intermezzo", by A. Walter Kramer; Sonata, No. 2, in C-minor-major, by F. Mendelssohn; "Melody for the Bells of Berghall Church", by Jean Sibelius; "Juba", by Dr. Nathaniel Dett; "Midwinter" and "To a Wild Rose", by Edward MacDowell; and "Pomp and Circumstance", by Sir Edward Elgar.

Professor Nevin, a part-time instructor in music at Westminster last year, was this year appointed full-time professor of organ. He has more than 150 organ compositions to his credit, and has written many songs, piano compositions, and choral works.

DEAN OF WOMEN SPEAKS BEFORE NEW CASTLE CLUB

Miss Mary E. Turner, Dean of Women at Westminster, was the guest speaker at the Current Events Club luncheon, held in the Castleton hotel, New Castle, Monday, October 10. During her talk, Miss Turner gave interesting little sidelights on the life of college students, particuarly college women.

Miss Turner is an alumna of the college, and was graduated with the class of 1900. She has also done extensive graduate work at Columbia University.

Elliott Library Receives Books

Seven volumes of "The Encyclopedia of Social Sciences" by Seligman and Johnson are the contribution of Chi Omega sorority to the Elliott library.

Gridiron Game And Harrier Meet Feature Sat. Afternoon

Through the medium of the Holcad, Westminster extends to all alumni and friends of the college, an earnest invitation to participate in the annual Homecoming celebration, to be held Saturday, October 29. Planned, as always, on the basis of college tradition and development ,the program promises unusual entertainment and fellowship for all who hold the best interests of the college at heart.

A program of nine or ten events has been planned for grads and former students, and there will be something of interest for everyone throughout the day.

On Friday evening, October 28, the Little Theatre group under direction of Professor A. T. Cordray will present three one-act plays in the Little Theatre. These plays are: "On the Shelf", by Christopher Morley; "The Wasp", by Essex Dane; and "Long Distance", by William H. Upton. Two showings of these three plays will be given, so that all may have an opportunity of seeing them.

Followings the plays, there will be a bon-fire and pep meeting held on the athletic field to prepare students and alumni for the important football game with Waynesburg.

On Saturday morning at 10:30 there will be a girls' hockey match on the new hockey field under direction of Miss Nandeen Love. Fraternity and sorority luncheons will be held at noon in fraternity houses and dormitories.

A student-alumni parade, with a prize for the best group, will form at 1 o'clock. The student band, directed by Professor Donald O. Cameron, will lead the parade.

At 1:15, the Grove City and Westminster cross country teams will race over the Fayette five-mile course. This harrier race will finish near the football field just before the football game kickoff.

The feature of the afternoon will be the football game with Waynesburg College, touted as champions of the Tri-State Conference this season. The Yellowjackets will provide one of the hardest games on the Titan schedule, and alumni and friends will be assured of seeing one of the best Titan teams in a decade stack up against the best district small-college eleven.

Alumni dinners will be held at fraternity houses and in dormitories at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. At 8 o'clock there will be a reception in Robert Audley Browne hall. From 9 until 11, the student-alumni dance party will be held in the college gymnasium.

The committee in charge of arrangements, appointed by President Robert F .Galbreath, includes: Dr. S. E. Calhoun, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Corinne Mercer, A. A. McDonald, Miss Annabel Stevenson, and Gerald Newton.

Plans Complete For Annual Y. M. C. A. Membership Drive

Y. M. C. A's regular fall membership campaign began at a regular meeting of the association held on Wednesday evening, October 12, in the Little Theater.

This campaign is directed primarily toward securing the membership of all freshmen men and of all new students who entered school this fall. Upperclassmen who did not accept pledges for the support of the Y. M. C. A. in the campaign held last March will also have an opportunity to contribute.

Wilbur Christy led in the discussion of the topic "My relation to Christ and what it makes me do."

Following the meeting Wilbur Christy, president of the Y. M. C. A., appointed eight teams of men who will be in charge of interviewing each freshman personally in the interest of the Y. M. C. A.

HAIL, TITANS!

Seven to Nothing!

That score, a replica of one made in 1924, marked 'the forty-sixth football game between Westminster and Grove City on October 15. And the Titans had the seven, and the Grovers had nothing!

Since 1892 these two old rivals have met on the gridiron. Through the years, Westminster has won 18 games, Grove City has won 25 games, and three contests have ended in ties. Grove City has scored 363 points in these 46 contests, while Westminster has scored 320 points.

But this last game, an exhibition of spirit and fight on the part of the whole Westminster team, a sterling game played by a great Titan line which held the Crimson at bay and smashed holes through the Grover line for the Titan backs, an "iron man" stand by twelve Westminster players who stood up through sixty minutes of hard play....this game was the most pleasing to alumni, students, and friends.

It was the first victory over Grove City since 1924, but not the only one for the eight years to come. To Coach Lawther, Captain Rehfus, the Titan line, and the backfield, hail!

HOMECOMING DAY

The spirit of returning is one of the most profoundly beautiful influences that help to mould the wayward life of man. Perhaps it is even the most beautiful, the most deeply significant. The very waywardness may be its work, since only out of departure can any return come to pass, since strife and restlessness alone can bring forth rest.

The philosophies say that God projected creation away from Himself in order that it it might hunger and thirst to get back to him; and certainly the whole course of our human life bears out this theory.

Commencements, also, serve a great purpose if they but project alumni far enough away from the campus so that the real values of the college are seen through the distance. Then it is that the graduate and former student realizes the beauty and peace and grandeur of Old Westminster, which qualities escaped him often in the rush of college days.

And so Homecoming day was established that alumni might return, chum again with their classmates and friends of college days, and inspire their work-a-day lives with some of the zeal and enthusiasm of campus life.

Saturday, October 29 is Alumni Homecoming at Westminster. Many are planning to be present. It might be that the soul of you cannot afford to miss the day and all it will mean.

THE "OBLIGATION"

All the things we hope for in the future must take their root in our educational institutions. We must depend largely upon the endowed colleges and universities for the standards of education in America. Our State institutions are overburdened with numbers; their support from taxation is unable to keep pace with educational demand; they cannot initiate the new, fundamental things that are necessary for the maintenance and advancement of standards. The inspiration and lifting up of public opinion which in turn will support the state universities on all these questions must receive contributions from the independent colleges.

This expenditure of money should be returned for the education of those who follow us. Unless we do so we have prejudiced the opportunities that have been given us. If we could inculcate this spirit of obligation amongst the men who have left our universities the financial problems of our colleges and universities would be solved.

We have an obligation to our individual Alma Mater of at least a minimum equal to the amount that the institution has expended upon us. That obligation is even greater because we each incurred it at a time when we could not then individully afford to repay. It was an advance to each of us on honor that we should support the institution that has enabled us to take greater and more important positions in the world, to do more effective work than we could have otherwise accomplished.—President Hoover.

SPORTS

Let us get straight on sports. If we continue to play along as we have been doing, the result must be the building up of even more hypocrisy. There are millions of devotees of sports in this country, and we hope their number will increase, but we hope also that they will play games for the fun they get out of them and not for some ulterior motive.

We are enthusiastically in support of professional sports. We enjoy professional baseball, horse racing, prize fighting and even wrestling. But wherever money or its equivalent is the sole reason for competition we feel that we must be stupid unless we recognize the fact that we are sitting in on a business deal. To avoid indictment on the ground that we have generalized too much, we make the reservation that the difference between professionalism and amateurism is the difference between work and play. We expect to be paid when we work; we expect to pay when we play.

——We are not going to waste any sympathy on the boys who work their way through college; they would high-hat us or throw a brickbat at us if we did. Our interest is in the confusion of thought which cannot see the difference between doing something athletically because it is a pleasant thing to do and another policy which says that "because nature has given me a strong pair of legs, a deep chest, or some other physical asset I must capitalize them instead of the gray matter God placed in my skull." The tragedy of the moment is that so many superb youngsters are the victims of their elders—men who are prepared to sacrifice them on the altar of personal ambition. In sports competitors give of their best, their last breath, their very heartbeats, until the cinders of the track blind their eyes; they ought to give for something more than money.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

CLUTTERED VESTS

The American people are essentially a race of joiners. When an American decries an exisiting condition, he says: "There should be a law against that." And, subsequently, there usually is. It's the same way with clubs. When two or more Americans find that they agree upon something, they say: "Let's start a club."....

On the University campus alone there are in the neighborhood of two hundred clubs, each claiming a membership of from six to three hundred. Some, of course, do not bother with the formality of having meetings, some do not have pins, and some are not officially recognized.

It has been estimated that one who sets out as a freshman to collect club jewelry through the simple process of joining could, in the course of four years, obtain anywhere from four to forty-four pins—depending upon his ability as a handshaker.

A good number of the club exisiting on the campus have useful purposes and are valuable organizations. These include the major honorary fraternities, professional fraternities, and a limited number of activity honoraries.

But for the numerous clubs into which membership is easily gained—there are many—which meet.... to promote social activities which are unnecessary, there is no excuse. They are dead weight upon an already overloaded campus.

Superfluity is easily reached in any line when enthusiasm reaches a certain point, but in the matter of organizing clubs.... the habit persists, until the point has been reached where it becomes ludicrous.—Washington Daily.

Dr. Kerr Decries Secular Tendencies In Education

The task of each generation is to transmit the values which it has cherished to the coming generation. True values must be conserved and transferred from father to child, from teacher to scholar, from prophet to people. This is what education means, and this same principle underlies all true religious education. The Magna Charta of Judaism written into Hebrew law reads, "Hear, O Israel: Jehovah our God is one Jehovah: and thou shalt love Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be upon thy heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for frontlets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the doorposts of thy house, and upon thy gates."

When Isreal was true to the divine requirement, the religion of Judaism became a reality to each succeeding generation and what measure of abiding religious influence is possessed by modern Judaism is because of loyalty to this law. Every generation must reproduce itself. Truth must be reborn in every age. The church whose seed is not in itself will die. One sees this constantly in history. If it were not for the recruits it wins from evangelical Christianity, Unitarianism could not produce its own leadership. The Christian Science cult, for example, has been fed from other churches, and it remains to be seen whether it can reproduce itself in its own children. A true church is creative, reproductive, self-propagating.

When self-propagation cannot be achieved there is dissolution. When there is a violent break with the past there is revolution. This is what has happened in China. China has for a generation been so enamored of western civilization that it has thrown away, like an outworn garment, its art its literature, its culture, its old religious faiths. Something has been gained but much has been lost. Reverence and faith even when misplaced are better than blantant atheism and unrelieved secularism. The same is seen in Russia. The generations that went before failed to transmit accredited values to the coming generation. Many so-called accredited values ought not to have been transmitted.

The same is true with us. Often cherished ideals have only conventional value. There is much that each passing generation should slough off. There are opinions, habits, policies, doctrines that ought to go into the discard and it is the duty of every age to see to it that error is not conserved. But this is not to admit that revolution is the wise path to take. Revolution may become necessary when what is required cannot be achieved by education. Education involves the transfer of value from age to age. Each generation is under obligation to transmit inherited values, tested and purified in its own experience to its own children and youth. In Russia there were many cruel wrongs and gross superstitions that cried out from a soil soaked with blood, but in the mad rush to break with the past things that had been brought forth by the sacrifice of men and the gift of good were swept away. There was a better way. It was the way of education, of guidance, of seed sowing.

This transfer of values has always been difficult. The death of nations and institutions testifies to this fact. A generation becomes careless, indifferent, defiant, saying in its heart, "After me the deluge." Fine things have been lost because of callous indifference. Just as we sometimes see lovely old homesteads dismantled and the things prized by parents cast out as rubbish by their children, so on a larger scale we have seen the same thing happen in religion, in education, in politics. The same danger threatens our government as threatens the Church.

For this reason every generation has been sceptical concerning its success in making the transfer. Because of the difficulties we indulge our fears. We take counsel of the worst. We are suspicious that those who come after us will not sustain our standards. Such an attitude is of the nature of a failure of faith but it has characterized every generation in history. We think for example of Jonthan Edwards,as belonging to a golden age and yet an understanding of his life and age would be rewarding. He complained bitterly of the ways of his time and did not hesitate to bring a scathing indictment against the younger generation that he himself helped to mould. He brought three charges against them. He charged them with reading immoral literature, with frequenting road houses, and with what was then called night-walking. We could easily duplicate these charges by slight verbal changes. In the end Jonathan Edwards, although there were other issues involved, was voted out of his Church at Northampton by a vote of 200 to 19 and denied the privilege of preaching in the town, by the civil authorities. One can find limitless testimony to this sense of defeat. Here is a letter written in 1657. The language belongs to that period and so do the names of the recipient and the writer. The letter was written from Reverend Ezekial Rogers in Massachusetts to Reverend Zachariah Symmes in Charlestown:

Dear Brother:

Though I have not done my errand in the other paper, yet, methinks I am not satisfied to leave you so suddenly, so barely. Let us hear from you, I pray you. Doth your ministry go on comfortably? Find you fruit of your labors? Are new converts brought in?

Do your children and family grow more Godly? I find greatest trouble and grief about the rising generation. Young people are little stirred here, but they strengthen one another in evil, by example, by counsel.

Much ado I have with my family. Hard to get a servant that is glad of catechizing or family duties. I had a rare blessing of servants in Yorkshire, and those I brought over were a blessing, but the young brood doth much afflict me.

Even the children of the Godly here and elsewhere make a woeful proof, so that I tremble to think what will become of this glorious work we have begun. When the ancients shall be gathered unto their fathers, I fear grace and blessing will die with them, if the Lord do not show some sign of displeasure even in our day....Oh! that I might see some signs of good to the generations following, to send me away rejoicing!

Thus I could weary you and myself and my left hand (the right had been injured) but I break off suddenly.

Oh. good brother, I thank God I am near home and you too are not far off. Oh! the embraces wherewith Christ shall embrace us.

Your affectionate brother,
Ezekial Rogers.

This type of literature can be multiplied for each generation has had its own gray and dark lines to throw around the doing of youth.

There is no doubt that we are passing through one of those periods in history when old values are being tested in the fire and when the younger generation have taken it upon themselves to prove all things for themselves. The door into a new world has been opened in our day. Geology has extended the time boundaries. Astronomy has lifted the space frontier. Psychology has lined human emotions and instincts with those of the jungle and of the plain. Philosophy has lost the thread of moral purpose, and has surrendered to clever writers the interpretation of life. Puritanism has been routed and a new freedom has come to youth, which has been blinding and bewildering. The conception of relativity in science has been applied to ethics with the result that absolute standards have been discarded and justification can be found for every course of conduct. The words of Robert Service, the Canadian poet, reach us. He tells of a young masculine angel, who tired of golden streets, came down to earth to mingle with the sons of men. Instead of the sons of men he discovered one of the daughters of men and when he drew back from the path she would take he said, "This is wrong." the poet says;

"Then sweetly she mocked his scruples, and softly she him beguiled:
'You, who are verily man among men, speak with the tongue of a child.
We have outlived the old standards; we have burst, like an over-tight throng.
The ancient, outworn, Puritanic traditions of Right and Wrong'."

Those who mourn over what they call the moral flabbiness of the rising generation claim to find justification for the indictment in apparent secular tendencies in modern education. The gap between the old faith and the new knowledge they say is largely the result of the inflence of modern secular education. Education too often has placed the emphasis upon a humanistic, man-centered, God-forsaking philosophy of life. On the table of a young man who was passing through the dark hours of his first bereavement, the visiting minister noted these books, "The Revolt of Modern Youth" by Lindsay; "Why We Behave Like Human Beings", by Dorsey; Bertrand Russells' "Philosophy"; "The Book of Marriage" by Keyserling; "The Story of Oriental Philosophy" by Adams-Beck; "Robespierre" by Billac; "Frued's "Lay Analysis"; "Pedigree Dogs". There was not one book to which a distressed soul could turn. Such a reading list is symptomatic. It reveals the intellectual aspiration of the younger generation and its hunger after the new knowledge.

Titans Meet Waynesburg Homecoming Day

HARRIERS FACE GROVERS SATURDAY

Lawthermen Defeat Grove City Outfit 7-0, First Win Since 1924

Undefeated Jacket Squad Promises Exciting Afternoon

Coach Frank Wolf's great Waynesburg College football team will feature the alumni homecoming day celebration at Westminster College Saturday.

The Yellowjackets boast one of the two best teams in the Tri-State Conference race, so the job which John Lawther and his Titans have will not be an easy one.

Last year, with a number of Jacket stars ill and injured, Westminster battled the Waynesburg team, only to lose by a 7-6 score. Saturday's game should find the Jackets in the best shape, while the Titans will be recovering from the hard St. Bonaventure contest.

Against such stars as "Rab" Currie, Ross, Conroy, Rollason, and Butterworth, Lawther will pit his sophomore Titans who, thus far have shown considerable improvement over last year, but will still be the underdogs in the homecoming battle.

Before the contest, the Grove City and Westminster cross country teams will race over the Fayette five-mile course, finishing near the grid just before the kickoff. A parade of students and alumni, led by the Westminster band, will form at 1 o'clock to march to the football field.

FROSH FRANTICALLY FURIOUSLY FUNNY

Westminster's class of '36 showed its true blue and refused a court martial call issued October 13 by the esteemed Upperclass Tribunal. The "raking over" for disobedience didn't make much of an impression on the girls who had already decided that three weeks of "silly" regulations were enough for any such "blase" group!

Retiring to the Little Theatre after much discussion in the "dark" and "over the carpet", the tribunal continued proceedings in private. Due to the lateness of the hour, only a few offenders were called to answer charges. Typically dementia cases and prevalent hysteria concluded the general upheaval with a compromise effected after several days deliberation.

Terms of the treaty were as follows: (1) All regulations would continue for one week, ending October 21; (2) Freshmen would continue wearing berets until the beginning of Thanksgiving vacation.

But then "all's well that ends swell" and what are a few rebellious freshmen in this maelstrom of campus capers?

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS PROGRAMS ARE VARIED

Due to rainy weather, many of the scheduled intra-mural meets have been postponed. Jack Hulme has arranged for the volleyball tournament to be carried on in the gymnasium and all games will be run off according to the schedule. Any fraternity not appearing will forfeit the game to their opponents.

In the horseshoe pitching league the Delts have won two to place themself in first place. Newton and Kinsey were the big guns in defeating the Phi Pis and the T. U. O. Volley ball is led by the Eps and the Phi Pis, each having one victory.

Due to the irregular issuing of the Holcad it has been impossible to publish a schedule for these sports but each fraternity will be furnished with a list telling who and when they play. All games will take place down at the gymnasium at four at the gymnasium at four o'clock. In caseof rain horseshoes will have to be postponed but volley ball wlil be played on the basketball court.

McCALL DOWNS MEIDER TO COP TENNIS HONORS IN Y. M. C. A. TOURNEY

Hugh McCall, junior, defeated Elmer Meider, also of the junior class, in the finals of the Y. M. C .A. tennis tournament last Wednesday, taking the first two sets 10-8 and 7-5.

McCall dropped only one set throughout the play, that being in the opening game.

His score throughout the tourney is as follows: McCall-Ward, 6-4 7-5,9-7; McCall-Smith, 6-4, 6 love; McCall-Manor, 6-4, 6-2; McCall-Robins, 6-4, 7-5; McCall-Meider, 10-8, 7-5.

He will be given a suitable trophy presented by the "Y" and donated by Dr. Harold Black of the faculty.

McCall is a member of the varsity track team, vice president of the Junior class, and a member of the T. U .O and Rho D. Rho fraternities.

Titans Face St. Bonnies In Olean

Westminster College gridders, following the hard Grove City game on Saturday, started drills for the contest with St. Bonaventure at Olean, N. Y., on Saturday.

Coach John Lawther took a squad of 24 players to Olean to meet the Bonnies. The team left New Wilmington early Friday morning, and made Bradford the headquarters, staying there Friday night.

While the St. Bonaventure contest is a major one on the Titan card, it does not mean as much to Titan followers as the Waynesburg, Thiel, Muskingum, and Geneva games yet to be played.

The Titans have featured homecoming contests of rival schools in other years, but this year the Westminster games are set on homecoming days for Grove City, Muskingum, and St. Bonaventure.

Because this issue of the Holcad was rushed through the press several days before date appearing on Masthead a report of this fray will be contained in the next issue.

LEAD TITANS IN VICTORY

Ray Sweeney, diminuative quarterback, and Bill Staples, fullback, led the Titans to their first victory against the Grove City College grid teams since 1924. Sweeney by several nice runs placed the pigskin in scoring position for Staples, who crashed through the line for the only tally of the fracas.

Locals Take Inauguration Day Fray From Teachers

California State Teachers' College proved a stubborn foe for Coach John Lawther's Westminster College football game here Saturday, but the Titans rallied in the second half and won by a 13-0 score after the two teams had played on even terms throughout the first two quarters.

The game, a feature of the inauguration of Dr. R. F. Galbreath as president of the college, did not start until 4 o'clock. The first two quarters were 12 minutes each, and the last two periods were 10 minutes each.

FIRST HALF SCORELESS

The first half resolved itself into a punting duel with neither team holding much of an advantage. Almost all the play was between the rival 30-yard lines, and neither team made much of a scoring threat. Most of the thrills of these opening periods came from fumbles on the part of both teams.

Patterson, California fullback, once punted out of bounds on the Titan two-yard line in the first quarter, but Sweeney immediately punted the ball down the field, the Teachers lost eight yards on three tries, and Captain Hazelbaker of California punted out of bounds on the Titan 12.

From this point, Young, Staples, Scarbrough, and Sweeney carried the ball down the field 29 yards, the Titans lost five for taking too much time, and Sweeney punted to the California 30 as the first period ended.

TEACHERS THREATEN

At the start of the second quarter, California advanced the ball eight yards before Patterson punted out of bounds on the Titan 22. But Westminster was guilty of clipping from behind on the play, so the ball was placed on the Titan 12 in Westminster's possession.

Arrowsmith and Scarbrough were able to make only 9½ yards in three tries, and Scarbrough punted to midfield. California picked up four yards in three attempts, Patterson punted to Sijlander on the Titan 12, and Whitey carried it to the 16. Four more exchanges gained little for either side.

With the ball in Westminster's possession on the Titan 47, Patterson intercepted Arrowsmith's pass and ran to the Titan 25. Three tries at the line netted two yards, and Moreno's pass to Bridge was knocked down. Staples and Arrowsmith gained three as the half ended.

TITANS SCORE ON PASS

Patterson kicked off to Sweeney who carried the ball from the 15 to the 35. An exchange of punts gave Westminster the ball on the Titan 25. From here, Sweeney, Scarbrough, Staples, and Arrowsmith carried the ball to midfield, and Arrowsmith tossed a pass from midfield to Sweeney on the 26. Sweeney raced the remaining yards for the score. Siljander's placement for extra point was good.

A few minutes later, with the ball on the Titan 30, California was penalized 15. From the 45, Sweeney, Arrowsmith, Staples, and Siljander advanced the ball 18 yards as the third period ended.

At the start of the fourth quarter, Scarbrough, Arrowsmith, Staples, and Sweeney carried the ball to the California 20. From here, Arrowsmith raced around end behind perfect interference for the score. Siljander's placement for extra point was low.

The Titans made nine first downs to three by California, completed two out of four passes to five out of 14 for the Teachers, and were penalized 25 yards as compared with 35 for California.

Westminster fumbled five times during the game but recovered four of the fumbles, three for gains. California fumbled twice and recovered both times.

Staples Plunges Over For Lone Tally In Last Half

An inspired Westminster College football team, after playing coutious ball for two quarters, completely bewildered Grove City College Saturday Oct. 15 in the third and fourth quarters, smashed the vaunted Grove line to bits, and on straight football battered a 7-0 victory, the first in eight years over the crimson. The game was played at Grove City.

Bill Staples, Butler lad, scored for the Titans toward the end of the third period, and Whitey Siljander place-kicked the extra point. The cleancut victory was for different from the 1924 upset, when Westminster won a 7-0 score despite the fact that Grove City had 20 first downs to one for the Titans. This time Westminster had 13 first downs to five for Grove City, and even the most rabid Grover fans agree that the Titans could have tallied at least one more touchdown had they chose.

A record Grove City homecoming day crowd, enlarged by a convention of school teachers, watched a rather listless first half in which the rivals sounded each other out by puting on first and second down. Once in the first half the Grovers took the ball to the Titan seven-yard mark, but the Westminster line, which played a great game all afternoon without a single substitution, stiffened, and Sweeney booted the ball out of danger.

In all, 20 punts marked the first half, with Sweeney kicking for Westminster, and Koma doing the punting for the Grovers.

As the second quarter started, Koma punted out of bounds on the Titan 17. Sweeney immediately punted to the 46, and Gross returned the ball to the Titan 44. From here, Koma tossed a pass to Gross which carried the ball to the Titan 15. Alexander was stopped at the line. Gross made three. Koma tossed a lateral to Thomas good for five. Alexander was stopped at the line. Westminster took the ball on downs on its own seven.

Sweeney punted, and a few minutes later Staples intercepted Koma's pass on the 36. Sweeney punted, and after Grover failures to dent the line, Koma punted to the Titan 40. Sweeney romped through tackle for 10. Staples made five. Sweeney picked up three, and then punted over the goal line.

Koma immediately punted to Siljander on the Grover 48. Staples ripped through tackle for 18, placing the ball on the Grover 30. Hunneke, who replaced Arrowsmith, made two. Sweeney made three. Sweeney added another. Sweeney's pass to Staples was no good, and the Grovers took the ball on their own 24. On two tries, Grove City made three yards, and Koma punted out of bounds on the Titan 42. From here Westminster opened up another drive which was stopped by the whistle for the end of the first half.

TITANS SCORE

Arrowsmith was back at left half in place of Hunneke as the second half started. The same 11 men who started for the Titans were again in the game. Koma kicked off to Sweeney on the Titan 10, and the diminutive quarter carried the ball to the 39 before he was stopped. Sweeney carried the ball to midfield.

Staples went out of bounds on the Grover 48. Siljander fumbled and recovered on the Grover 46. Sweeney's pass to Arrowsmith was no good. Sweeney punted to the Grover 22, but the Grovers were penalized 15 for clipping. Beres gained five, Koma added two, and then Koma punted to Siljander on the Titan 35. Sweeney punted to Smith who fumbled on the Grover 40 and Dishong recovered for the Titans.

From here the Titans pounded down the field to the Grover five-yard mark where the ball was lost on downs. Staples, Sweeney, and Arrowsmith did the ball carrying on this march.

The Titans were not to be denied, however, for Siljander took Koma's kick on the Titan 46. Staples reeled off nine through tackle, Sweeney made it first down on the 36, and then Sweeney skirted end to make a first down on the Grover 16. McCoy, Grover tackle, was ousted for slugging, and the Grovers were penalized half the distance to the goal line. With the ball on the eight-yard line, Arrowsmith made three, and Sweeney added four. Grove City was off side and penalized one-half yard. From the one-half yard, Staples ponded through for the touchdown. With Sweeney holding the ball, Siljander picked a perfect placement for the extra point.

In six plays the third period was over, the Titans leading by a 7-0 score.

FOURTH PERIOD

The Grovers threatened for a few minutes in the fourth period when, after kicking to Smith on the Grover 18 and after Koma returned the punt to the Titan 42, Arrowsmith carried the ball to the Grover 38, Staples made one, and Sweeney picked up nine, Bache, Grover center, intercepted Sweeney's pass on the Grover 26 and ran it to the 38. Koma made nine yards, and the Titans called time out. A minute later, however, Franklin, Titan center, intercepted Koma's pass on the Grover 46, and the Titans started another drive toward the Crimson goal line.

Sweeney made four, Staples added two, and Sweeney carried the ball five for a first down. Arrowsmith was stopped at the line. Sweeney romped to the 28 for a first down. Arrowsmith carried the ball to the Grover 27 as the game ended.

Westminster's offensive showing was due to the sterling work of Scarbrough and Leyshock at end, Rose and Hollander at guard, Captain Rehfus and Dishong at tackle, and Franklin at center. These linemen played the entire game, opened up wide holes in the Grover line for the Titan ball carriers, and at every juncture played smart defensive and offensive ball.

The lineups:

Westminster	7		Grove City	0
Leyshock	L.E.		Beres
Dishong	L.T.		Foti
Rose	L.G.		Critchfield
Franklin	C.		Bache
Hollander	R.G.		Caulfield
Rehfus (C)	R.T.		McCoy
Scarbrough	R.E.		Tomko
Sweeney	Q.B.		Thomas
Arrowsmith	L.H.		Alexander
Siljander	R.H.		Gross
Staples	F.B.		Koma

Nice Work!

Score by periods:

Westminster	0	0	7	0	—7

Scoring: Touchdown, Staples (line buck); Try for point, Siljander (placement).

Substitutions: Westminster: Hunneke for Arrowsmith, Arrowsmith for Hunneke. Grove City: Place for Critchfield, Smith for Gross, Patterson for Plance, Almquist for McCoy, Soich for Beres, Gross for Smith.

HILL AND DALE TEAM FACES GROVE CITY ON HOMECOMING DAY

The Westminster cross country team has two more meets this season. On Saturday, October 29, the the harriers will race Grove City over the local Fayette five-mile course. On Saturday, November 5, the Titan hill and dale runners will race Carnegie Tech over the Schenley Park course in Pittsburgh.

The Titan harrier schedule this year has included meets with University of Pittsburgh, West Virginia University, and Geneva College.

With the exception of Acting Captain Wilbert Needham, all members of the harrier squad are first-year distance runners. Manor, a sophomore, is running for the first time and shows promise of developing. Gerstner, a frosh from Philadelphia, also looks good. Others who will develop in another season are Bowers, H. Snyder, Regester, Dagget, and George.

Alumni Are Members of State Escort of Honor For Hoover

WEINGARTNER AND QUINBY GREET PRESIDENT

Several alumni were privileged to be members of the Pennsylvania Escort of Honor for President Hoover, Saturday afternoon, October 15, while the nation's chief executive was enroute from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

Nearly ten thousand people gathered in the city park near the Baltimore & Ohio station, New Castle to greet the President while his special train made a brief stop in the city.

State Senator George T. Weingartner, Chairman of the Republican County committee introduced the President to the vast crowds waiting for a brief glimpse of the nation's leader. Speaking through the microphone of an amplifying system, President Hoover spoke a few brief words of appreciation for the tremendous ovation accorded him, and the interest evidenced by the presence of so many quiet, respectful spectators. Mrs. Hoover was on the rear platform of the special train, and graciously thanked the crowds for their interest and for the floral tributes given by the city florists.

Major Charles Mayne officially welcomed the President to the City, and expressed hopes of a Republican victory in the coming election. Mr. Fred LU. Rentz, of the New Castle News, also was privileged to say a few words of greeting to Mr. and Mrs. Hoover before the train started on its way to Youngstown.

A number of Pennsylvania men who had joined the party at McKeesport and Connellsville left the train at New Castle and returned to their homes. Among them were Gen. Edward Martin, State Chairman of the Republican party; William H. Coleman, Allegheny County Chairman; Senator James J. Coyne; Congressman Swick; Senator George Weingartner; and Robert Weingartner, '32.

Paul Quinby, '32, Sharon, Mercer county auditor, was also a member of the Pennsylvania Escort of Honor, appointed by Gen. Martin, and was a member of the group escorting the President from Connelsville to Youngstown.

In the opinion of Robert Weingartner and Paul Quimby, it was the train ride abroad the President's special, and not the privilege of taking part in the brief receptions in New Castle and Youngstown that made the day one to be long remembered. While on the train, Republican leaders presented them to Mrs. Hoover and the President, and a few minutes was spent in conversation with the First Lady of the Land. Attorney Willima McElwee, '97, New Wilmington, was a member of the committee arranging for the brief stop in New Castle.

A REQUEST

ALUMNI: If you know of former students of Westminster College living in your district, will you please see that accurate information concerning their name, address, and occupation is sent to the Alumni Office, Market street, New Wilmington.

Dr. Calhoun, president of the Alumni Association, has spent an enormous amount of time in an effort to secure definite information about former students, as well as alumni. Due to changes of address and occupation, and because of transfers to other institutions, some of this information is not available. Your co-operation in this matter is essential, if the alumni files are to be completed.

RUSSELL APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF ANNUAL PAN-HELLENIC DANCE

Helen Weingartner, president of Pan-Hellenic council, announces that its annual dance will be held in the college gymnasium on November 19.

Ruth Russell has been named chairman of the committee in charge of the dance, and with her aides is planning a special program.

In former years the dance was held in the spring, but this year it has been arranged to make it a function of the Thanksgiving season.

Tickets for the dance will be obtained from representatives in the various sororities.

Pan-Hellenic council is also planning a tea for freshman women in the near future.

NELSON AXE DOES RESEARCH WORK

Nelson Axe, New Wilmington, is now doing some individual research work in chemistry at Westminster.

Last year, Mr. Axe, a graduate of the class of 1931, did graduate work at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, under the terms of a teaching fellowship award.

Mr. Axe served as laboratory assistant in chemistry at Westminster in his senior year.

DR. ROSS CAMPBELL ATTENDS SERVICE OF INAUGURATION

The Rev. Ross T. Campbell, D.D., president of Sterling College, Kansis, represented Sterling college in the inauguration of Dr. R. F. Galbreath, Saturday, October 8.

While in Pennsylvania, Dr. Campbell visited Sterling college graduates who are attending the Pittsburgh-Xenia theological seminary, Pittsburgh.

Dr. Campbell is a Westminster graduate, of the class of 1886.

Dr. Kerr Decries Secular Education

Against the secularization of education the Christian college lifts up its standard and enters upon a crusade for Christ and the Church. It has been a long and difficult crusade and at times there are those who think it has been a losing crusade. The early schools and colleges of America were the children of the Church. In the Charter of Harvard which was obtained in 1650 the purpose of the college is expressed in these words, "To the Advancement of all good literature, art and science. To the advancement of the English and Indian youth, in knowledge and godliness." Williams and Mary was founded in 1673. In 1660 the Assembly of Virginia voted, "That for the advance of learning, education of youth, supply of the ministry and promotion of piety there be land taken upon purchase for a college." Rev. John Blair, the first President, went to England to collect money for the purpose of founding the college and when the Attorney General raised objection he replied, "Virginians have souls to save as well as Englishmen."

The first seal of Dartmouth College, founded in 1770 carried the words, "Vox Clamatis in deserto"—A voice crying in the wilderness. On the right is a figure of Religion and on the left a figure of Justice and at the top the words in Hebrew "God Almighty." If we go back into the history of any of our colleges—Princeton, Washington and Jefferson, Ohio Wesleyan, Brown, Amherst, Williams—we will find that the original motive was a religious one.

We have only to study the drift of the secularization of education today to understand the dangers that menace our Christian heritage. For the first time in history we see in Russia the founding of a great educational system which is atheistic in its purpose but whose educational principles have been taken from our American Universities. A recent writer has pointed out that in the old New England Primer 75 per cent of the material was religious, 13 per cent was moral and 12 per cent was secular. In the Catholic education series that proportion is still retained. In the old McGuffey series, if the old Third Reader is taken as a type, 22 per cent was religious, 56 per cent moral and 22 per cent secular. If we take the Second Reader of the Natural Method series, one of the most widely used of modern readers, for little children, what is the result of the examination? It is almost reversed: 75 per cent of the material is secular, 23 per cent moral, and only 2 per cent is religious. The church continues and must continue her interest in Christian Education. The work of the Protestant denominations in Christian Education through churches, colleges, university centers, Church Schools and missionary educational institutions is of vast and far-reaching importance.

There are in the United States 624 regular four-year colleges and universities. Of this number 375 are Church controlled institutions having 29 per cent of the student body. This does not include Church controlled Junior colleges, or Theological Schools. Of the 152 Canadian Colleges and universities, 127 are church controlled and enroll 31 per cent of all students of college grade. Some sixty different denominations are at work in this field of college education.

Is this tremendous body of youth vitally interested in religion? Is the college student loyal to his faith? Is he as religious as the college student in days gone by? Before this question can be answered we must know the past. Writing in the INTER-COLLEGIAN of June 1932 Mr. Clarence Prouty Shedd makes an estimate of the condition which existed in what is often called "the good old days." "Making all possible allowances," he says, "for the ways in which ecclesiastical spectacles have distorted our view of moral and religious condition, there can be no doubt that at the beginning of the first decade of the nineteenth century materialistic and atheistic philosophies were popular, and conventional moral standards were held lightly. It became the fashion for students to scoff at the forms of religion as "the shackles of superstition." They chose the names of famous atheists as the nicknames with which they saluted one another. Churches were known as temples; infidel clubs were formed whose purpose it was to reconstruct the universe without God. While conditions in certain of the colleges, notably Yale under the leadership of President Dwight, had begun to change before 1810, on the whole it is fair to say that very few students in the colonial colleges were "professors of religion" or members of the Church during the last decade of the eighteenth and the first decade of the nineteenth centuries. At Bowdoin College in the first eight classes there was but one student who was regarded as 'hopefully pious'. But one in the first class of Williams College belonged to the church, but none in any of the higher classes. At Dartmouth in 1799 there was but a single student of the graduating class who publicly was known as a professing Christian. 'As for any promising appearances here, there are none,' writes a member of the Bowdoin Praying Society to Brown in August, 1815. 'In college there seems to be more virtulency against the truth. Our number of professors of religion is six'. Intemperance was widespread. A graduate at one of the early classes at Williams College said, "Everybody at that day drank, and so that it excited the animal spirits it mattered not what the liquor was."

"A wave of scepticism and immorality, one of the by-products of a war-torn world, swept through the colleges; secularism was dominant. There was quite as much defiance of conventional moral and religious standards as the world has witnessed since the close of the war of 1914-18. The fires lighted in France by our Revolution and rekindled by the frenzied excesses of the French Revolution let loose the passions of youth of all lands and especially of our struggling republic. For youth the glories of Utopia had arrived—ities, distinction of class, race, sex, color, religion—all were swept away. Scarcely can one picture the atmosphere of the times except as he thinks of it as a great world-wide emotional upheaval, having in it many of the characteristics of a religious awakening. Perhaps the 'religious' devotion of many Russian youths to communism or of Chinese students to national unity present a fair contemporary parallel."

We would hardly expect to read in the morning papers items like these—"February 6, 1838, President Quincy passed a half hour with me today explaining the providencial discovery of a most outrageous attempt to blow the roof off the college library. He also explained the case relative to the recent explosion in the college chapel." The reference is doubtless to the same event referred to in the Diary of Thomas W. Higginson. "What a sight chapel presented at prayers this morning. About 200 panes of glass blown out, the hands of the clock torn off and the dial stove in, the front panels of the pulpit gone, and the damask between the pillars torn away. On the wall someone had written, "A bone for Old Quin, to pick." To know the past is to appreciate the present.

Recently Dr. Raymond H. Leach, University Secretary of the Council of Church Boards of Education, made a survey of 98 representative colleges and universities in the United States to discover the religious affiliation of the student body. Ninety-eight institutions — representing 48 states—reported a total student enrollment of 253,811 with a total denominational preference of 221,-605 or 87 per cent.

These figures certainly ought to lay the ghost that haunts the minds of those who fear the worst . Repeated questionnaires have brought forth only evidence to support the finding of Dr. Leach. The Central Christian Advocate addressed an inquiry to 36,000 students in 100 widely separted institutions and to 250,000 newspapers readers in 200 widely distributed centers. The result was as follows: (1) Belief in God—Students 98 per cent—Newspapers readers 91 per cent. (2) Belief in immortality—students 90 per cent—newspapers readers, 88 per cent. (3) Belief in prayer as a means of personal relationship with God—Students 90 per cent—newspaper readers 88 per cent. (4) Belief that Jesus Christ was divine as no other man was divine—Students 88 per cent—newpaper readers 85 per cent. (5) Belief that the Bible was inspired in a sense that no other literature could be said to be inspired—students 82 per cent—newspaper readers 85 per cent. (6) Active membership in some Church—Students 75 per cent—newspaper readers 77 per cent. (7) Regular attendance at religious service—students 69 per cent: (8) Brought up in a religious home—students 95 per cent—newspaper readers 87 per cent. (9) Religion in some form is a necessary element of life for the individual and for the community—students 97 per cent—newspaper readers 87 per cent.

It should be said with emphasis that the problem of bringing the generations is not a youth problem. Our Lord announced the true principle underlying educational leadership. "Can one blind man lead another? A scholar is not above his teacher. If he is perfectly trained he will be like his teacher." Translated into modern language, these words of Jesus mean that the student cannot advance beyond his teacher. Exceptions apart, the student, when he is perfected, will be like his professor. The educational problem is not a student problem but a faculty problem. It is a problem of educational and administrative leadership. The student body will not be more religious than the faculty. Furthermore parents have no right to expect that the church or the college will provide a religious background for their boys and girls when they themselves are blind to their religious obligation in their own home. Students take out of college ,in large measure, the religious atmosphere which they bring to college. The problem of the modern Church is to build within the growing generation a Church sentiment.

Speaking in Winnipeg in 1932 Dr. Robert A Millikan, our outstanding American physicist, spoke of his own confident Christian faith and his conviction that there was a growing Christian attitude on the part of younger scientists. In analyzing the the scientific men listed in Who's Who Dr. Millikan found that while 12 per cent of the old scientists listed themselves as churchmen, that 44 per cent of the younger scientists are recorded as member of the Christian Church. Dr. Millikan added, "It is the old fellows that seem to need the watching, not the young ones."

Judge Cordoza, of the Supreme Court, speaking on "The Growth of the Law" at Columbia University said, "The builder of a bridge is not harrowed by misgivings whether the towers, piers and cables will stand the stress and strain. His business is to know. If his bridge were to fall, he would go down with it in disgrace and ruin. Yet, withal, he never has a fear. No experiment has he wrought, but a highway to carry men and women from shore to shore, to carry them secure and unafraid though the floods rage and boil below. So I cry out sometimes in rebellion, 'Why cannot I do as much, to bridge with my rules the law of the torrents of life? My bridges are experiments. I cannot span the tiniest stream in a region unexplored by judges and lawgivers before me, and go to rest in the secure belief that the span is wisely laid."

Sometimes we feel like that about our religious work. We seek to span the gulf between the present and the future, between the going and the coming generation. In the task of bridge building, however, we do not build alone, we build with the most competent, the most seriously- minded, the most Christian generation the world has ever known.

Thousands At Inauguration

sang a solo. Mrs. Davis was accompanist.

Words of welcome to the new president were given by Gordon Nevin, Monongahela, representing the students; by Dean Charles Freeman, representing the faculty; by Ex-Governor John S. Fisher, representing the board of trustees; and by Reid Kennedy, Pittsburgh, representing the alumni.

Professor E. H. Freeman gave a piano solo. Dr. J. A. Swindler registrar, presented Professor J. A. Shott, member of the Westminster faculty for 30 years, for the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy Dr. Galbreath conferred the degree, with Dean Freeman and Dr. Swind- presenting the hood.

Greetings to Westminster from sister colleges and universities were brought by Dr. William Oxley Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State University.

Miss Margaret Reed, member of the faculty, sang a solo, "He That Dwelleth." Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride was the accompanist.

Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, gave the address of the afternoon on "Religion in Education."

The girls' chorus, directed by Miss Florence Mae Thomas, New Castle, sang "All Praise to God" and "Jesus Friend of Sinners."

Inaugural Ceremony

Dr. H. H. Donaldson, president of the board, then reviewed the career of Dr. Galbreath, presented the official appointment to him as president, and promised him the support of the board in his administration.

Dr. Galbreath made his inaugural address following this ceremony. Following this, the audience sang the Westminster Hymn. Dr. Galbreath pronounced the benediction, and the recessional March, with music by the college band, began. The recession moved to Market street, thence to the West entrance of Old Main Memorial.

Approximately 75 delegates, representing 60 colleges and universities from Utah to Maine, and from Maryland to Kansas, were present. More than 1,200 alumni and former students were on hand. Seats for 2,500 were provided on the South campus, and there were many standing.

At four o'clock, before the ceremonies were completely over, the Westminster-California State football game was started at the football field. Many of those who attended the afternoon service came to the game as the second quarter was under way.

In the evening, an all-college dance was held in the gymnasium. Professor and Mrs. Ben Euwema were chaperons of the party attended by students and alumni.

VOL. 50 — NEW WILMINGTON, PENNA., TUESDAY, NOV. 8, 1932. — No. 4

SCIENCE CLUB TO SPONSOR ADDRESS BY W. D. BANCROFT

"Borderlands Of Science" Theme Of Address November 18

Announcement is made that Professor Wilder D. Bancroft of Cornell University will address the chapel assembly of Westminster College on Friday, November 18. Dr. Bancroft has for over thirty years been an outstanding leader in chemistry in this country and is of the widest international repute. His interest and activities have been varied and under the general heading of physical chemistry have included electrochemistry and electroplating, colloid chemistry, ceramics, photochemistry and photography, catalysis, and many others. At present he is especially interested in a wide application of colloid chemistry to biochemistry, working particularly on problems of insanity, and drug addiction.

Dr. Bancroft comes to Westminster under the sponsorship of the newly formed Science Club and is on a trip which will include addresses at several meetings of the American Chemical Society in various sections of the country. His subject at Westminster will be "The Borderlands of Science" and will include accounts of his varied experiences in the many fields of scientific research in which Dr. Bancroft has ben a pioneer.

Professor Bancroft graduated from Harvard in 1888, and, after a year of post-graduate study there, went to Europe where for four years he studied at various universities, receiving the Ph. D. degree from Leipzig in 1892. During these years he carried on work with several of the most eminent founders of the new branch of chemistry called "Physical Chemistry", and since his return to this country has been accepted as one of the world's brilliant leaders in that study. He has been a professor at Cornell since 1895.

Dr. Bancroft is a member of many scientific societies here and abroad. He was president of the American Chemical Society in 1910 and of the American Electrochemical Society in 1905 and in 1919. In 1896 he founded the Journal of Physical Chemistry and has ever since served as its editor. Dr. Bancroft continues an active interest in all the various lines of research mentioned above and in many others. Each year the literature of chemistry is enriched by numerous papers from his pen and from the students who come to Ithaca from all over the world to study under his direction.

LIBRARIAN AND ASSISTANT ATTEND MEET AT GENEVA

Address On "Modern Poetry" Given By Ruth Firor Of Geneva

Miss Mildred Ailman and Miss Margaret Reed of the faculty and Misses Caroline Daverio, Marian Johnston, Helen McCormick, and Dorothy Bigham, student library assistants, attended the library meet of four counties, namely Mercer, Lawrence, Butler and Beaver, which was held Friday, November 4, in the Little Theatre of McCartney library building at Geneva college, Beaver Falls.

Dr. M. M. Pearce of Geneva opened the morning session at 10 o'clock with an address of welcome to all visiting delegates. This was followed by reports from the state meeting held at State College October 13-15.

Following luncheon, the afternoon session was opened at two o'clock with a roll call. A musical program was presented and the adult and juvenile books to be featured during book week were listed.

Dr. Ruth Firor of Geneva's faculty, gave a brilliant address on "Modern Poetry". The program was concluded with greetings being extended to the assembly delegates by Miss Gertrude MacKinney of State college library.

Hoover Wins In Straw Ballot Sponsored By Holcad

Herbert Hoover won in a straw vote conducted by the Holcad, student weekly, at Westminster College on Thursday, Oct. 27. Hoover was given 308 votes of a total of 440 votes cast.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was given 76 votes, and Norman Thomas 57 votes. The balloting took place following chapel service.

JULIAN HUXLEY WILL LECTURE ON "ANTS AND MEN"

Lantern Slides To Illustrate Lecture Of British Scientist

Julian Huxley, celebrated English author and scientist, will appear on the second number of the college lecture course, Friday, November 18, in the college chapel.

Mr. Huxley, one of the most of distinguished British scientists, is a graduate of Kings' College, London, and a graduate student of foreign universities. He has been Professor of Zoology at Oxford and King's College; has organized expeditions; and has published several books on science and religion. Huxley has recently been traveling through the United States lecturing on scientific subjects.

The subject of his lecture here will be, "Ants and Men", in which he will discuss human and animal evolution. With the aid of lantern slides, he will show some of the amazing ways and actions of ants and termites, contrasting them with their human counterparts.

GLEE CLUB MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE AT SHARON CHURCH

The Girls' Glee Club will make its initial appearance of the season at the First Presbyterian Church in Sharon on Sunday evening, November 13.

The club is also making hasty arrangements for its November social function, the exact date to be announced later. The committee in charge is as follows: Lillian Baird, chairman; Dorothy Tinker, Jane Gilmore, and Patricia Jones.

DR. J. A. SWINDLER ATTENDS PHYSICS ASSOCIATION MEET

Dr. J. A. Swindler, registrar and head of the department of physics, presided at the meeting of the Association of Physics Teachers in Western Pennsylvania held October 22 at Grove City College. Dr. Swindler is chairman of the organization. Dr. J. G. Moorhead also attended the meeting.

Representatives from Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, Geneva, Grove City, Thiel, Pitt, Washington and Jefferson, Waynesburg, and Westminster were in attendance.

Four 15-minute papers were read on various phases of the teaching of physics. These papers were given by R. J. Munce, Washington and Jefferson; Charles Williamson, Carnegie Tech; A. H. Croup, Pitt; and O. H. Blackwood, Pitt.

Galbreath Accepts Many Engagements As Speaker

Dr. R. F. Galbreath is busy as usual making and keeping engagements as speaker at various religious and social gatherings.

Dr. Galbreath will address the Sharpsville Service Club on Tuesday, November 8. On Friday, November 11, he will speak before the congregation of Temple Israel, New Castle, on the theme "World Peace."

Dr. Galbreath will also preach at the morning worship service of the South United Presbyterian Church of Youngstown on Sabbath morning, November 13; and on Monday evening of the same week he will address the Women's Club of Mount Lebanon.

Masquers Plan Three-Act Play

Tentative Date Set For Dec. 6; Cast is Selected

Masquers fraternity is sponsoring the production of "Lady Windermere's Fan," the second number on the Little Theatre play course. The tentative date selected is Tuesday, Dcember 6. The play by Oscar Wilde is a social drama with considerable comic relief.

The production will probably be presented in the costumes of the 1890 period, the time at which the play was first produced.

The cast for theplay is not complete as yet but the following players are taking part: Olive Mills, Ruth Wagoner, Miss Ellen Cottrell, Pearl McClimans, Isabel Kildoo, Chauncey Goodchild, Willis McGill, Thomas Herriott, Geoffrey Sowash, Edwin Swartz, and Orville Dawson.

FORMER MEMBER OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES INITIATED INTO T.U.O.

Mr. W. C. George, East Palestine, O., was formally initiated into Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity on Saturday, October 29 at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. George, formerly a member of the Westminster Board of Trustees will have the status of a faculty advisor due to this close association with the college.

Those T. U. O. alumni and guests who took part in the ceremony were: Samuel W. McGinners, '01; John C. Nevin, '24; Luther Braham, '29; James Blackwood, '30; Wayne Nichel, '32, and Edwin Sloan, '32, of Monmouth.

NEW CASTLE STUDENT ELECTED PDESIDENT OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

John Hodge, New Castle, was elected president of the sophomore class at the first regular meeting of the class, held after chapel Tuesday, November 1.

French Club Reorganized At Meeting Held Last Night

Old and new members of Westminster's French club met in Browne Hall, Monday evening, November 7, and completed plans for reorganization. Seventy-five students were present besides the sponsors, Miss White and Miss Stewart.

The entire meeting was conducted in French, and during the evening a short program comprising selections supervised by students, was presented.

Madamoiselle Monique Mercat, french professor in Westminster college during 1930-1931, will be featured as a guest speaker on some future program.

Plans were made for an "open meeting," when the French Club will invite everyone to attend and become acquainted with their proceedure.

Throughout the coming year various types of programs will be presented by members, of the club, under the direction of Miss Stewart.

Seventy-Four Pledged by Fraternities

Three Fifths Of Freshmen Accept Bids To Five Groups

Seventy-four of the 104 freshmen at Westminster College have accepted bids to the five fraternities on the campus, Dean Charles Freeman announces. The pledging of the frosh came at the end of the "rushing" and "silent" periods, and it is possible, Dr. Freeman says, that 20 or 21 others will accept invitations to join the Greek-letter organizations.

Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity pleged: Frank Auxier, Pikeville, Ky.; Paul Barger, West Monterey; George McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y.; Harry Ward, New Castle; W. J. McLaughlin, Oakmont; John Budd, Clarion; Robert McCrumb, New Wilmington; W. Donald Wood, New Castle; James Regester, Duquesne; Louis Patt, Altoona; and Noble Bowres, McKeesport.

Epsilon Theta Pi pledged: Donald Rush, New Alexandria; Albert Koper, Irwin; Kenneth McCormack, Rimersburg; and Kenneth Seifert, Erie; John McAdams, Pittsburgh; William Harvey, Wilmerding; John Harrison, Sharon; and Thomas Rogers, New Wilmington.

Pledges of Phi Pi Phi fraternity are: Murray Bennet, Ebensburg; Robert Lake, Oakmont; Guilyn Lewis, Youngstown, O.; Ewing Moore, Youngstown, O.; John Thomas, Ebensburg; Chester Miller, Dormont; Robert Abel, Canton O.; William Daggett, Youngstown, O.; J. MRS. GALBREATH ELECTED HEAD OF CAMPUS CLUB

The initial social event of the Campus Club was held Friday afternoon, November 4, at "Eastover" the home of Mrs. Elmer Beecher Russell in the form of a tea. The meeting was in honor of the new members: Dean Mary Turner, Mrs. Gordon Balch Nevin, Mrs. Herbert Davis, Mrs. Donald Cameron, Miss Margaret Reed, Miss Ruth McConnell, Mrs. Ivan Yahn, Mrs. John Rodda, Miss Pearl Hoagland, and Miss Anna Thompson.

The decorations were a combination of yellow and bronze, enhanced by tall tapers in silver candalabra. Mrs. Robert Ferguson Galbreath and Mrs. Charles Freeman presided over the tea table. Receiving with the hostess were Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath, Mrs. Charles Freeman, Dean Mary Turner, Mrs. Charles Barr Robertson, and Mrs. James A. Swindler, chairman of the Social Committee. Mrs. John Smiley and Mrs. George Nevin were honor guests.

The committee for the tea was composed of Mrs. John Lawther, Mrs. McConagha, Mrs. Bay, Miss Florence Thomas, and Miss Mona Sowash.

Mrs. R. F. Galbreath was elected president of the organization.

ALUMNI NOTICE

This is the last issue of the Holcad which will be sent Alumni and Former Students who have NOT paid their annual dues. ARTIST COURSE PRESENTS FAMOUS IMPERIAL SINGERS

Picturesque Native Costumes Promise Interesting Variations

Announcement is made that the world renowned Welsh Imperial Singers, direct from Wales, will feature the second number on the artist course program. The concert is scheduled for Wednesday, November 9, at 8:30 p. m. in the college chapel.

An exert from the Chicago Tribune shows the attraction and interesting characteristic of the programs presented by the Welsh vocalists:

"They are a picturesque and mellow throated organization. Twelve singers, an accompanist, and a conductor, they are costumed in bright red swallowtail coats, tight trousers, puffed shirt ,black stacks; the conductor, R. Festyn Davies, varying the theme with tan coat, black knickerbockers, and stockings. Their music is sturdy, honest, vexile, and of first class quality."

FRESHMEN AND NEW WOMEN STUDENTS ARE GUESTS OF PAN-HELL

Members of the Pan-Hellenic Council entertained at tea for all freshmen women and new students at the Hillside dormitory, Thursday, November 3, from 3:30 to 5 o'clock.

Special guests were Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Dean Mary E. Turner, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, and the patronesses of each sorority on the campus.

Dorothy Sellar was chairman of the committee in charge. She was assisted by Ruth Russell and Ruth Martin.

LOCAL BRANCH OF A. A. U. W. MEETS IN BROWNE HALL

Miss Elizabeth Stewart, head of the department of modern languages at Westminster was in charge of the November meeting of the American Association of University Women, held in Browne Hall, Saturday, November 5.

Miss Jennie Monroe, Dean of the Pittsburgh Academy, brought a report of the convention of the International Association, held in Edinburgh, Sctoland, in August.

Mrs. Rankin Johnston, New Wilmington, sang two vocal selections, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Kirkbride at the piano.

ALUMNA DONATES OLD HOLCADS TO COLLEGE LIBRARY

Miss Mildred Ailman, librarian, wishes to acknowledge the receipt of a number of Holcads of former years, given by Mrs. Grier Thompson, '04, Cleveland, Ohio.

These are in booklet form, most of them published in 1903 and 1904, when the Holcad was issued once a month, in magazine form. Besides a number for the years 1903-04, there are a few published in 1902, 1906, 1913, and one in 1895. One publication of particular interest is an illustrated booklet containing a complete Lecture Course program for the year 1902, featuring speakers and actors of international importance.

Donations of this sort are always gratefully received, and aid materially in completing the library files.

Elect Five To Trustee Board Oct. 31

FALL MEETING IS HELD IN PITTSBURGH

New members of the Westminster Board of Trustees attended the annual fall meeting held at the Keystone Club, Pittsburgh, on Monday, October 31. They are: Mrs. R. C. McKelvey, Pittsburgh; Mrs. E. B. Reed, Mercer; Reverend Graves, Duxel Hills; Mr. Wm. Duff, Ben Avon; and Rev. Huber Ferguson, Washington.

Dr. Donaldson presided and Mr. McCalmont acted as secretary at the meeting. The program was a busy one including the report of the committee on scholarship, which at the request of the board has been investigating the financial basis for such grants.

The board discussed the financial outlook of the college and found much material for encouragement. Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of the college, stated that the enrollment had shown an increase greater in proportion than gains registered at any other school in the country.

Rosenberg To Play For Dance Sponsored By Tau Gamma Delta

Harold Polonus Chairman Of General Entertainment Committee

Tau Gamma Delta, honorary journalistic fraternity at Westminster, will sponsor an all-college dance in the college gymnasium Saturday evening, November 12. Ted Rosenberg and His Collegians will furnish the music for the dancing which lasts from 8 to 11 p. m.

Harold Polonus is general chairman of the affair with Willis McGill, Wilbur Christy, Robert V. Jones, William Rae, and Edwin Rea as aides.

Tickets may be purchased from the committee members or may be bought at the door.

GERSTENER LEADER AS FROSH CONDUCT Y.M.C.A. DISCUSSION

Under the direction of the Freshman Commission, the Y.M.C.A. held its largest meeting this year in the recital hall of the Conservatory, Wednesday evening, November 2. John Gerstner lead a discussion of the subject "Christ, the Necessity".

The membership drive of this organizaton, which began three weeks ago, has proven successful in securing the support of the college men for "Y" work, especially among the Freshmen.

One feature of the next meeting, as announced by Wilbur Christy, will be the presentation of the medals awarded to the winners of the tennis tournament.

BOOK CLUB VOLUMES TRANSFERRED TO LIBRARY SHELVES

At the expiration of each school year, the Westminster Book Club transfers to the shelves of the general library all volumes used by club members during that year.

Books which the club has recently put into general circulation are as follows: "Years of Grace", Barnes; "Deepening Streams", Canfield; "Mexico", Chase; "Story of Julian," Ertz; "Best Plays, 1930-31", Mantle; "The Edwardians", Sackville-West; "Wild Orchid", Undset; "Susan Spray", Kaye-Smith; and "Hatters Castle", Cromis.

Remangue's "Road Back", Galsworthy's "Maid In Waiting", Robinson's "Matthias at the Door", Aldrich's "White Bird Flying", Wilson's "Temperamental Jane", and Strong's "The Garden" are several more of the interesting books now at the disposal of the entire student body.

OUR PROBLEMS

We believe that all of our alumni are friends of Westminster, and we feel free to share both the assured accomplishments of our college and her needs.

Here are two needs pressing for solution:—

The most evident, I suppose, is the final seeding and landscaping of our campus. In the last six months the campus crew have graded and almost completed the preparing of the south west section of the main campus for seeding. By early next summer we fully expect to have a good catch of grass, forming a complete and beautiful cover for what has been for some time an unsightly part of our front campus. In addition to that work which the college fully intends to complete in the next few months, the entire campus, including Hillside, would be greatly improved by properly selected and arranged shrubbery. We have the opinion that the campus of this college can be made one of the most beautiful in the country. We expect to make it so. But the expense is just now beyond our reach. A skilled landscape gardener has made a bid of $3000, for landscaping the campus, including Hillside, furnishing the shrubbery and guaranteeing the life of every shrub to live or to be replaced.

If you see some kindly soul who would like to be a God-father to a college campus, kindly send him in to see us.

Our second problem is this:—We have an excellent band, composed of forty of our students. They play well together. They are willing to help. They would make a favorable impression in circles outside the college. They have spirit, ability, and leadership, but, they have no uniforms. We know, of course that a band is still a band even though it be without uniforms, but how much better it looks when neatly and attractively uniformed. Recent quotations inform us that we can put our band in West Point uniforms with the beautiful-flowing cape, trench cap, close-fitting vest with braid and buttons and trousers or skirt to match for $16, per person, or six hundred dollars for the band.

If these two dress-parade arrangements could be cared for we would feel we could do like the village black-smith—'look the whole world in the face'—and how happy we would be!

—Dr. Galbreath

POST MORTEM

In its first issue the Holcad heartily commended the spirit and enthusiasm evinced by the student body at early pep-meetings and get-togethers. Now the Holcad finds that it erred. Evidently those early sparks of enthusiasm were but flashes in the pan, or were the unrestrained outbursts of freshmen not yet shaped to the form of pseudo-sophistication affected by the upper classes. Brought face to face with an opportunity to show some really constructive school spirit, to aid the Administration in its efforts to make Westminster a college of colleges, the student body showed its inherent apathy toward matters involving other than its own interests.

The specific instance was this. The Administration requested each of the twelve social organizations to build a float for the Homecoming Day parade. The request was met by the cry on the part of eleven of the twelve that such floats would cost too much in time and money. May the Holcad point out that by deducting ten or twelve dollars from the amount it intends spending on its "formal", and by donating a few of the hours wasted at the bridge table and "bull session", each organization could have produced a very creditable float.

But all that is beside the point. The parade itself was a matter of minor importance; of far greater importance was the idea behind it..... to welcome the returning alumni, to show them that Westminster is a college and not merely a name, to prove to them that their support is appreciated and is achieving results, to show them that Westminster has great possibilities, and to enlist their help in making those possibilities actualities.

An apathetic student body cannot hope to leave such an impression in the minds of the alumni. Futhermore, the apathy of today will never engender the enthusiasm of tomorrow that is so essential to the future growth and welfare of the college. It is the duty of the student body to see eye to eye with the Administration, to cooperate with it in every way, to look to the future as well as to the present.

CABBAGES AND KINGS

Mental Meanderings

Whenever we stop our headlong chase after that elusive Atlanta, learning, we occasionally have time to do a bit of thinking on our own initiative—that is, if we don't fall asleep or feel the urge to wander up-town in search of Isalian refreshment. We had one of those sporadic spells of intellectual activity the other evening, and while it left us more or less exhausted mentally, neverthe-less it contributed something to our search after the good, the true, and the beautiful.

We were thinking about the vast armies of young folk who go to college each year, why they choose this or that particular school, why some prefer co-education institutions, why a lot of things. Transcending all these questions however, came the following: "Does the graduate of a strictly men's or women's college differ materially from the progeny of the co-ed establishment?"

For some time the question bothered us considerably, until we happed to recall part of a poem we had read, a poem written by a graduate of Yale. It ran as follows:

"Well, give them kisses, scatter flowers,
And whisper that you cannot stay;
We shall have clarity and hours
Which women shall not take away."

With the recollection of that excerpt our cares fell away like the sides of an over-loaded wheelbarrow. The answer to our question stood out as clearly as Jimmy Durante's nose. If a school like Yale breeds such base belittlers of womanhood, is it not evident that the success or failure of the world's greatest institution (?), marital bliss, rests solely with the co-ed school? Is it not up to the graduates of such schools, schools wherein male and female natures alike are bared to the rude gaze of public scrutiny by the all-revealing light of the eight o'clock class, to rise in righteous wrath and....."Hey, you. Let's go up to Isaly's."

Velazquez

Several days ago when we were wandering around campus without much to do, we decided to drop in on the art department and see what was going on in that field. We did so and found the department, all one of it, busy getting together a display of the works of famous artists, a display which will eventually go out to the surrounding high schools. In neat piles here and there around the room were stacked reproductions of the works of Da Vinci, Correggio, Holbein, Van Dyck, Michelangelo, and a score of other painters. As we were looking at these, our eye chanced to fall upon a painting by Velazquez, and immediately our mind recalled other paintings by him, paintings which had always seemed to fascinate us more than the works of any other artist.

For the person who looks forward each year to the coming of autumn with its rich colorings, its harmonies of dark reds, and browns, and yellows, Velazquez represents the epitome of all art. His genius as a colorist is consummate, the main trend being toward autumnal colors, rich, dark, forceful. We stood and looked at that picture a long time (it was the Lances) and felt ourselves stirred deeply, stirred by a poignant desire to wander off to Spain and see Las Hilanderas in their native setting, to peer over Velazques's shoulder as he splashed dark reds and browns on his canvas, to watch him create the amazed Vulcan and his fellow blacksmiths, to laugh with Los Borrachos.

Dr. Galbreath Explains His Platform in Address

That the liberal arts colleges may have to change curricula to meet the needs of the times was indicated by Robert F. Galbreath, D.D., LL. D., in his inauguration speech at Westminster on Saturday, October 8. Dr. Galbreath's speech in part:

Our minds and our hearts have been so richly filled this afternoon that it will not be necessary for me to say very much as I step out into my work. This event is one of great satisfaction to us today. It is made so largely by the presence of the honorable delegates from sister institutions, alumni representing many generations of college life, neighbors and friends whose presence testifies to their good will. Nor do we forget a loyal faculty, a board of trustees that gives liberally of time and strength, and a student body that is proving itself delightfully cooperative and helpful. It means much to Westminster and those intimately concerned with her life, to feel the new courage such a presence inspires.

I have sought information as to just what an inaugural address should contain. They seem to follow three general lines. The most popular is to make a statement of the platform on which the incoming president stands. The second is to discuss some great major problem of education. The third and safest is to quote harmless platitudes.

The urge toward self-preservation might well incline one to the last-named practice. However, there are times when one had rather feel the thrill of peril than the dead calm of safety.

The second is inviting and offers in such a fellowship as this the spice of danger. For I perceive that as in the Church there are radicals, fundamentalists and middle-of-the-road folk, so also in education. Liberals and conservatives in religion find agreement something more than difficult. That is equally true in education. Who would be so bold as to state the exact function and lay the definite limits to the work of a liberal arts college? An entire vocabulary is growing up in the educational world of today with its I. Q's, its comprehensive examinations, its varied types of intelligence tests, its norms and its complexes. Probably no other line of major interests carries a larger load of problems, yet unsolved. One has no difficulty in finding the major problem but one does find difficulty in finding the word that even approximates finality in most of these problems.

But the stating of a platform offers its field. This is most perilous of all. Platforms have an unpleasant habit of rising up to condemn us. Like an evil conscience, a platform made common knowledge may become a haunting thing. It may disturb peaceful days and make hideous the hours of darkness. Nevertheless, I am going to risk a very general statement of platform.

The first article is this: We shall build on the foundations laid by the fathers.

We cannot recount all that comes to mind—the Browns, Mitchells, McElrees and many others whose devotion and consecration built and maintained Westminster. But in a peculiar way the college reflects the dreams of the men who have held the post of chief executive.

The memories of most of us carry back no further than Dr. Ferguson—great man of God. How his great heart drew forth from generation after generation the best in character and purpose! How the sweet reasonableness of his soul seemed to find constant echo from the lives of those over whom he presided!

Then came Dr. Russell, dreaming of a greater Westminster, and putting all the power of a great heart and a fine mind into the task, stirring to new life the hopes and dreams of the friends of the college. He, too, made a contribution distinctively his own. That no great building rises on this campus commemorating his service seems almost a rebuke to us today.

Our admiration and respect for Dr. Wallace needs no elaborateness of expression. He, too, dreamed his dreams. Old Main Memorial, Browne Hall, the gymnasium stand as mute and abiding witnesses. The tower, lighter night by night, shines out in the darkness, a symbol of hope and high purpose.

We build on the foundations these men laid. They have labored and we are entered into their labors.

Our second purpose is this—We interpret the purpose of the college as a great service bureau with a definite obligation to society.

Not long ago there came to my desk, as I presume came to the office of every other college represented here today, a call to send a representative of the college to a gathering called by New York University for the coming November. The purpose of the conference is stated in these words: "This conference is called to secure a concentration of expert opinion on the question—What obligation towards organized society rests upon the universities of the present day? This statement follows: It is called because of the manifest need of a re-examination of this question in view of the wide-spread unrest of our time, and the conviction that such unrest involves some measure of university responsibility. The conference closes with three addresses by leading educators speaking on the subject, "The University in This Changing World."

I thing it fair to assume that the responsibilities of the college and the university are very largely synonymous. If there be any particular difference, it would be that the responsibility of the liberal arts college is more basic. Our fundamental task, as I see it, is to help men and women find a true philosophy of life. This must include all of life's relationships. It must deal with all the attitudes. In so far as our work is successful, we will be sending out men and women who will seek to live on life's highest plane as citizens, as homemakers, as workers, whether with skill of hand or eye or tongue or mind. It is not merely that we would teach men and women to think—we must teach them to think profoundly and to practical ends in all the outreach of life. Having done this, we must have seen to it that they have discovered the necessity and the satisfaction found in linking up right living with right thinking.

In the third place, we shall build for the glory of God.

No institution that relies to any extent upon the assistance from without has a right to be self-centered. We rely upon many—students, alumni, friends, neighbors, trustees, the church in general, and the United Presbyteiran church in particular. We depend upon the sympathy and good will and assistance of all these groups. But above all these, we depend on God. If our plans and purposes are His plans and purposes, we will not fail. If by patience and consecration, by waiting on His leadings and then courageously following through, we will have done the most important of all—we will have labored to the glory of God.

I have no illusions as to the greatness of the problems to be faced. On every hand they appear. There is the financial problem. Along with every other going concern of the day we face this as one of our major problems. It is not to be expected that we should escape our share of the tragic experience. It would probably be not good for our own souls were we able to escape. We are a part of the whole structure out of which our civilization is builded. We desire to enjoy the privileges and blessings of that civilization and we have no right to ask or to expect that we may escape its sufferings. We helped produce the situation, if not by deeds of commission, then certainly by deeds of omission. We will be more inclined to help build more wisely if we share the reward of our errors.

As in religion, so we discover that in education there are fundamentalists and there are radicals. As both extremes are in error in religion, so it will prove that both extremes are equally in error in education. The program of the college does not dare become static because life is not static. There must be growth and growth indicates change. We may admire the general courses that have been considered the acme of culture up to the present time, but we dare not declare that they will fit the student of tomorrow in his world. I believe we are destined to see interesting, though not necessarily radical, changes in college programs.

One final clause in this, my confession of faith. I believe in a closer inter-relation among the colleges of the class to which this institution belongs. I believe that too long we have ignored one another except for an occasional clash between athletic teams. Why wait for necessity to drive us into real cooperation, unless, indeed, that be the accomplished fact today? Why not realize the lesson so insistently taught in industry, that competition may become suicidal? We need one another. In an earlier day our fathers carried the phrase, "United we stand, divided we fall". We might well adopt it as the slogan of the institutions of higher education.

In spite of the clouds of today, I am confident of a bright tomorrow. Through cooperation, good will, courage and the help of God, we shall go forward.

Sweeney Turns In Sensational Games And Scores For Blue And White

On Saturday, October 22, at Brantner Stadium, Olean, N. Y., Sweeney the Titan quarterback was led from the field, exhausted after an afternoon in which he stole the entire show from Saint Bonaventure and Westminster. Although the Titans were defeated by a 13-7 score by the Irish of New York state, Sweeney received one of the greatest ovations ever tendered a football player at the Olean playing field. By his performance, he goes down as one of the greatest ball carriers ever to appear in the New York city.

Brilliant Game

Brilliant ball toting, exceptional punting in which every kick soared deep into enemy territory, was not sufficient for the slender, wiry Titan. He plunged over the goal line late in the final stanza for the Titan tally, later to be taken from the field exhausted. He was injured on the first play of the game, when he cut through tackle for three yards, yet he remained in the fray with a bandage partially covering his eyes.

To be defeated Saturday was no disgrace for the Titans displayed their wares in a fashion which showed much promise for the coming Tri-state frays. Saint Bonnies completed nine first downs to the Titans thirteen. Penalties against the Titans totaled forty yards while those against the Irish amounted to 25 yards.

Ganaposki kicked to Sweeney who took the ball on the 25, returning to the 39. Sweeney picked up three yards through tackle and was cut above the right eye on play. He resumed play with a bandage over his forehead. Hunneke picked up two yards. Sweeney kicked from the 44 to Laskey on the 25. The ball remained in the air for the remainder of the initial period after Siljander was replaced by Patterson when he turned an ankle.

Late in the second quarter Sweeney kicked to Laskey, who returned it from the 30 yard line to the 10 yard marker. Maxian passed to Petricelli for nine yards. Laskey on the next play skirted right end behind perfect interference for the initial tally of the game. Zayocheck was inserted into the Bonnie lineup at this point to kick but his attempt was wide.

Score Again

Zayocheck kicked to Arrowsmith on the lineup. He carried the ball from the 27 to the 32. Scarbrough picked up a yard through center. Sweeney kicked to Laskey on the 38 who returned it to the Westminster 38. Zayocheck fumbled and recovered for a five yard loss. His pass to Petricelli was grounded. At this stage of the game, Andrews was substituted for Arrowsmith and Young for Hunneke. Zayocheck was held for no gain. He then kicked out of bounds on the Westminster seven yard marker. Staples made four yards. Sweeney kicked to the forty. Shortly after, Zayocheck took a long pass and was downed on the one yard line. Lackey went over for the second Bonnie tally. Zayocheck's attempt for extra point was good. The half ended St. Bonaventure 13, Westminster 0.

ARROWSMITH

Currie, Yellowjacket Star, Scores On Disputed Touchdown

Coach John Lawther's Westminster football team put up a valiant battle to stop the winning streak of Frank Wolf's Waynesburg College Yellowjackets here Saturday, but the Jackets put over a score in the fourth period to win by a 6-0 count.

The game, alumni homecoming attraction for the Titans, drew the largest crowd of the season, and was replete with thirlls from beginning to end.

"Stop Currie" was the watchword of the Titans all week. This was not done from the 30 to the 30-yard yard lines, except on one occasion when the diminutive speedster was stopped as he neared the Titan goal line.

Currie took the ball on the four-yard line on a double lateral pass and skirted end to score.

A chart of the game shows that for three periods and the greater part of the fourth period all play was between the rivals 20 and 30-yard marks.

Westminster threatened in the first period by carrying the ball to the Jacket seven-yard mark where a lineman was guilty of holding, and the Titans drew a 15-yard penalty.

Waynesburg threatened in like manner in the third period when Currie fumbled on the Titan 11-yard line and Scarbrough recovered. Aside from these two threats, however, the game consisted in punting, with the edge going to the Jackets due to a number of short punts by Sweeney, Titan quarterback.

The real turning point of the contest came midway of the fourth period. Rollason, Waynesburg halfback, punted to Sweeney who misjudged the ball, allowed it to bounce over his head and roll to the eight-yard mark. On the first play, Sweeney punted poorly to the Titan 22. From here on five plays, Currie and Rollason carried the ball to the Titan four. On the next play, Currie took a lateral and raced over the goal line.

Rollason's placement for extra point was blocked by Rose.

The last part of the fourth period found the Titans fighting vainly to get a ball carrier out into the open, but the fast forward wall of the Jackets thwarted all such attempts.

Statistics of the game show that Waynesburg had nine first downs to Westminster's six.

The lineups:

Westminster		Waynesburg
Leyshock	L.E.	Holland
Dishong	L.T.	Wiley
Rose	L.G.	Booth
Franklin	C.	Paul
Hollander	R.G.	Brnjas
Rehfus	R.T.	Butterworth
Hunneke	R.E.	McCracken
Sweeney	Q.B.	Ross
Arrowsmith	L.H.	Currie
Scarbrough	R.H.	Rollason
Staples	F.B.	Conroy

Score by periods:

Waynesburg	0	0	0	6—6

Touchdown—Currie. Missed try for point, Rollason.

Substitutions: Westminster—Ketterer for Sweeney. Waynesburg—Carroll for Ross, Donley for Currie, Larue for Paul.

Officials: Referee, G. K. Fry; Umpire, J. J. Gannon; Linesman, F. E. Byers.

Arrowsmith, Staples, Ketterer Score In Victory Over Thiel

Coach John Lawther's Westminster College football team clicked like veterans for more than three quarters here Nov. 5, and the Titans were able to defeat Thiel College by an 18-0 score.

ARROWSMITH SCORES

The first score came early in the first quarter. Hollander kicked off to McClure, Thiel halfback who returned it from the 20 to the 32. Tomeschko made seven. McClure made a scant yard. Snyder punted to Sweeney on the Titan 30. Sweeney and Staples, on three tries, made first down on th 41. Sweeney, Arrowsmith, and Staples on three tries made a first down on the Thiel 44. Sweeney, Staples and Arrowsmith carried the ball to the one-foot mark where the ball went to Thiel on downs.

This momentary stay of Titan power was soon forgotten, however, for Snyder punted from behind his own goal line to Sweeney at midfield, and Sweeney returned the ball to the 39 out of bounds. Arrowsmith was stopped at the line, and on the next play, beind perfect interference, Arrowsmith raced the 39 yards for the score. Hunneke's placement try was blocked.

SECOND HALF

At the start of the second half the Titan offense started clicking again, and the Lawthermen made 12 first downs to two by Thiel in the third and fourth periods.

With Staples, Arrowsmith, and Sweeney carrying the ball, Westminster ripped big holes through the Lutheran line. The ball, following an exchange of punts, was on the Titan 40 in Westminster's possession. Ketterer was sent in for Arrowsmith at left half for the Titans.

Ketterer made six on the first play. Sweeney added two more. Staples went through tackle for a first down. Westminster was penalized five for offside. Staples made up the five over left tackle. Ketterer made 16 on a double pass. Staples added another first down through the line. Ketterer, on the next play, raced past the line of scrimmage with the aid of good blocking, shook off three tacklers, and outran the Thiel secondary to score from the 25-yard line. Sweeney tried an end run for the extra point, but wastackled on the one-foot mark.

At the end of the third period, Rehfus kicked off to Thiel, the ball going only a few yards. Scarbrough, Titan half, ran down the field and fell on the ball before a Thiel player could get it, and it was Westminster's ball on the Lutheran 30.

From here, Sweeney, Staples and Kettered carried the ball to the one-yard line. On the next play, Staples plunged over for the score. Hunneke's placement for extra point was low.

Westminster registered 20 first downs to six by Thiel, did not fumble during the contest, completed one of three forward attempts, and lost 75 yards on penalties.

The lineups:

Westminster 18		Thiel 0
Leyshock	L.E.	Ruehle
Dishong	L.T.	George
Rose	L.G.	Gazetos
Franklin	C.	Seiberling
Hollander	R.G.	Steltzer
Rehfus (C)	R.T.	Abrahams
Hunneke	R.E.	Lowther
Sweeney	Q.B.	Snyder
Arrowsmith	L.H.	McClure

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

by ALLENE SOMERLADE

MISS NANDEEN LOVE

Twelve Westminster girls have been invited by the Women's Athletic Association of the University of Pittsburgh to attend a Hockey Sport Day to be held in Pittsburgh on November 12.

The girls chosen by Miss Nandeen Love to compose the Westminster squad are as follows: Jane Holland, Helen Simison, Dorothy Young, and Harriette Jackson, freshmen; and Fern Fox, Anna Mae Leyshon, Arna Barr, Helen Snyder, Lillian Baird, Mary Morrow, Patricia Jones, and Virgil Wettich, sophomores.

The sports program, consisting of contests in hockey, soccer, volley ball, and swimming, will begin in Trees gymnasium at one o'clock.

In the evening the Westminster delegates, together with those from other collges, will be guests at an informal dinner and dance sponsored by the Pittsburgh university's chapter of W. A. A.

Bi-weekly Swim

Westminster Women's Athletic Association held its third bi-weekly swimming party at the college pool on November 4 from 9 until 10 p. m.

All three parties have been well attended, about 40 being present each time. Miss Nandeen Love and Miss Mildred Ailman chaperone these parties to which all college women are invited.

Women of the college appreciate this opportunity to swim, especially those who are not enrolled in the swimming classes. To provide a time and opportunity for supervised sport for every girl on the campus is the aim of the W.A.A. and bi-weekly swims do much to realize this aim.

Sophs Triumph

Sophomore girls triumphed over Freshmen girls with a score of 5-1 in a hockey game played here on Homecoming Day. Miss Nandeen Love umpired the game which was novel in that it was the first sport of its kind to feature a Westminster Homecoming Day program.

Virgil Wettich, making three points, was high scorer of the game. Freshmen wore suits of college colors, blue and white, and sophomores wore all blue suits.

Another freshman-sophomore tilt will be held Thursday afternoon, November 10.

The line-up was as follows:

Sophomores		Freshmen
Jones	C.F.	Simison
Leyshon	L.I.	Somerlade
Wettich, Cap.	R. I.	Holland, Cap.
Fox	R.W.	Rodda

Titans Meet Muskingum In New Concord Saturday

Game Opens Relations After Thirty Year Break In Athletic Activities

With a record of four defeats for the season to date, Coach John Lawther's Westminster football team journeys to New Concord, O., on Saturday to face the strong Muskingum College team.

This contest, between sister colleges of the United Presbyterian denomination, marks the renewal of grid relations after 30 years. The last time the two schools played was in 1902 when two contests were played at New Concord, both ending in scoreless ties.

Lawther will have all his men available but Mauno Siljander for the contest. In all probability a squad of 25 players will make the trip, leaving here Friday at noon and spending Friday night at Cambridge, O.

The Titans will feature the annual alumni homecoming of the Muskies, with the inauguration of Dr. Robert N. Montgomery as president taking place Friday. As a result, a large crowd will be on hand for the contest. Many Westminster students and alumni plan to attend the game, and the Westminster band may also make the trip.

Cromwell Ketterer, Rochester, and Robert Arrowsmith, Erie, will probably alternate at left halfback. Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., will again be at quarter. Bill Staples, Butler, and Robert Scarbrough, McDonald, O. will be at fullback and right halfback.

The Titan line, with Rehfus, Dishong, Franklin, Hollander, Rose, Leyshock, and Hunneke, will have Merrill Straw, East McKeesport; William Turner, Cambridge Springs; John Brown, East McKeesport; Harold Burry, New Castle; Richard Lubuono, Butler; and James Bloker, Sandusky, O., for strong replacements.

In the eight games played this season, the Lawthermen have scored 65 points to 63 for opponents. Two Tri-State Conference games have been won, and one lost. Westminster plays its final conference game against Geneva at Beaver Falls on November 19.

INTRA-MURAL NOTES

by AL VAN HARPER

Intramural volleyball and horseshoes, sponsored by the physical education department, will be brought to a close this week. The Detla Phi Sigma fraternity is leading the league in both sports. With five wins no losses they are favored to win the horseshoe tournament. "Jim" Newton, popular member of the sophomore class, is the leading pitcher of the league, his "ringers" having saved the Delt team in numerous contests. The Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity is second with two victories and one loss.

Volleyball is a far tighter race than horseshoes. The Delts are leading with four wins and one loss, with the Phi Pi Phi club a close second, having three wins and one loss. Elmer Meider and Gerald Newton are the leading lights for the leaders while Tom McClure and Herb Smith star for the Phi Pis.

Fifty contestants have been out to represent their fraternity in these two sports.

Jack Hulm is busy preparing a schedule for the intramural sport program which starts after the Thanksgiving vacation. This schedule will be announced in a later issue of the Holcad.

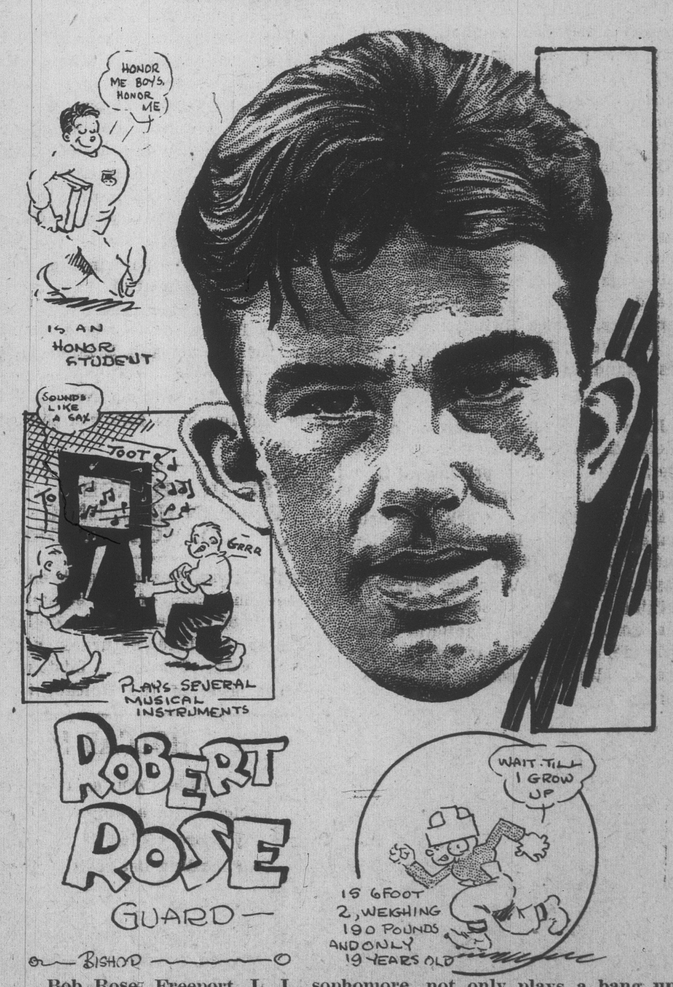
FOLLOW THE TEAM

Westminster alumni, former students, faculty members, and members of the student body should be at New Concord, O., on Saturday, November 12, to support the Westminster football team as it faces Muskingum. The game will feature the annual alumni homecoming day for Muskingum, and is the first of what we hope will be an annual series of contests with our sister college. New Concord is nine miles from Cambridge, O., and may be reached on good roads from Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Ohio towns.

TAU GAMMA DELTA FROLIC SATURDAY NIGHT

OUR SINGIN' GOVERNOR



Bob Rose, Freeport, L. I., sophomore, not only plays a bang up game at guard but can play the bass fiddle and trumpet and sing "Sonny Boy." Rose is one of the five gridders brought here by Coach Lawther when he returned from the Island to resume coaching duties at Westster.

Hundreds of Alumni Return For Events of Homecoming Day

SORORITIES HOLD LUNCHEONS FOR ALUMNAE

Westminster's annual Homecoming Day was acclaimed a complete success by the hundreds of alumni returning for the various events of the busy day.

The hockey game in the morning, the various sorority and fraternity luncheons in honor of alumni guests, the football game in the afternoon, and the gala dance in the gym, provided abundant opportunities for the renewing of friendship and exchange of reminiscences.

In the evening, from 8 o'clock until 9, a reception was held in Brown Hall for all students and alumni. Following the reception, an all-college dance was held in the gymnasium, with music furnished by Bill Twaddle's orchestra, New Castle.

Kappa Alpha Alpha

Sixteen alumnae and former members of Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority were entertained at a luncheon held at the home of Margaret McMains, New Wilmington. Mrs. Ben Euwema, sorority patroness, was present as special guest.

The luncheon was preceded by the initiation of four new members; Mary Forbes, Andes, N. Y.; Dorothy Shiffler, New Castle; Marguerite Averill, Mercer; and Mabel Masters, Mercer.

Sigma Kappa

Sigma Kappa Sorority entertained alumnae members at a luncheon held in the sorority suite at 12:00. Louise Johnston and Kathryn McCay were in charge of the affair.

Many alumnae also attended the initiation of Lois Gulick, Oil City, held on Friday evening, in the sorority suite.

Mrs. Margaret Graham, McDonald, Pa., was the special guest of the sorority for the week end.

Omicron Mu Gamma

Members of Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority, held a luncheon for alumni members on Homecoming Day, in the Conservatory Recital hall.

The committee in charge consisted of Ethel Denniston, Jane Gilmore, Arna Barr, Charlotte Melhorn, Harriet Gray, and Dorothy Hopwood.

Margaret Parks, Sharon, was initiated into the sorority Thursday evening, October 27.

Chi Omega

Alumnae members of Chi Omega sorority were guests at a dinner held in the Tavern, Saturday evening.

Matilda Chapman, New Castle, Jean Miller, Bradford, and Mildred Ralston, Freeport, constituted the committee in charge.

Kappa Delta

An initiation banquet for new members of Kappa Delta sorority was held Friday evening, October 28, in the Tavern.

The initiates are: Lillian Baird, Carnegie; Evelyn Campbell, Farrell; Ann DeMar, Sharon; Martha Hazlett, Hartstown; Evelyn Judson, Rural Valley; Elsie Mae Rickenbrode, Farrell; Bessie Struck, Farrell; and Helen Taylor, Sharon.

On Homecoming Day, the sorority held a tea dance at 4:30 in Wyatt's Lodge. Mary Lib Boland, Louise Studebaker and Helen Louise Taylor were the committee in charge.

Besides a number of alumnae who attended the affair, special guests were Mrs. James Swindler, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, Mrs. James Ayer, and Miss Nandeen Love.

Theta Upsilon

Julia Richardson, Kappa Alpha Theta transfer from Goucher college; has accepted privileges from Theta Upsilon sorority.

Mrs. Elizabeth Work Guthrie, Jeannette Welsh, Ernestine Gleckler, Ruth Bovard, Janet White, Ruth Hayes, Margaret Andrews, Margaret Shilling, Virginia Reeher, Dorothy Cameron, Margaret MacBeth, Anne McBride, and Mary Clark were Theta Upsilon alumnae back for Homecoming Day.

REV. D. E. ALTER IS SUPERVISOR OF MISSION SCHOOL

During the furlough of the regular principal, the Rev. D. Emmet Alter has been serving as supervisor of the Woodstock School for missionaries' children, Mussoorie, India. Mrs. Alter is also teaching Bible classes in the school.

The Rev. and Mrs. Alter, United Presbyterian missionaries to India, are Westminster graduates of the class of 1912.

Dear Alumni:

Have you made a new friend for Westminster this year? Have you reported his or her name to the College or Alumni office? A number have done so already.

Have you sent in the name of a good prospective student for next year? Have you told them about Westminster, our school? Two men who really wanted to help, spent several evenings studying over their city and sent in the names of nearly 100 families whom they would like to see represented at Westminster. These men surely did their part. I have thanked them individually, and wish to thank them publicly, also.

Each one of us should find great pleasure in acting on one of these suggestions. It will make a happy alumni body. Help Dr. Galbreath, the Board of Trustees, and the faculty to make Westminster what you would like to see her become.

S. E. CALHOUN,
Pres. Alumni Association

MISSIONARY NOW HEAD OF LANGUAGE SCHOOL IN INDIA

The Rev. Robert W. Cummings, former United Presbyterian missionary to India, is again head of the language school, Landour, India, where missionaries begin their language study. The Rev. Cummings is the son of Dr. Thomas F. Cummings, New York City.

The Rev. Cummings was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1913.

YOUNG LAWYER TAKES UP WORK AT ST. MARYS

After six years of service, Attorney Charles I. Houston, '26, has resigned as deputy clerk in the office of J. Wood Clark, Clerk of the United States District court. Mr. Houston, who studied law at Duquesne after graduation from Westminster, will locate in St. Mary's Pa., where he will be associated with Attorney James H. Thompson. In Pittsburgh he will be associated with Attorney Allen Christner. He has always been quite active as a member of Theta Upsilon Omega and is Vice-president of the Pittsburgh Club of the fraternity.

ALUMNI OF CHURCH COLLEGES TO HOLD GROUP MEETING

Dr. Richard Brandon, '19, Canton, Ohio, announces that the annual get-together meeting for alumni of Westminster, Muskingum, Monmouth, Tarkio and Sterling colleges, living in the Akron-Canton district will be held soon. Definite announcements as to place, time, and date will be made as soon as possible.

No Westminster alumnus in the Akron-Canton or Massilon section should fail to attend this meeting and take an active part in the plans of this live organization.

Sigma Kappa sorority held its initiation of Thelma and Eleanor Dunmire at the home of the patroness, Mrs. R. X. Graham, on Nov. 2. A party and luncheon followed the initiation.

ROWSE IN CHARGE OF PAN-HELLENIC DANCE PROGRAM

Ruth Rowse, Beaver, has been appointed chairman of the committee in charge of the annual Pen-Hellenic dance, to be held Saturday night, November 19. Through a mistake in the last issue of the Holcad, Ruth Russell was unintentionally named chairman of the affair.

Music will be furnished by the Campus Owls, popular Indiana orchestra. Chaperons for the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, and patronesses from the various sororities.

Tickets forthe dance may be secured from sorority representatives.

POPULAR COUPLE ARE MARRIED IN COLLEGE CHAPEL

The Rev. James Guthrie, Eastbrook, and Miss Martha Elizabeth Work, Dormont, Pa., were married Tuesday, October 25, in the college chapel. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father, the Rev. W. E. Guthrie, White Oak Springs, assisted by Dr. R. F. Galbreath.

Miss Elizabeth Ralston, Wilkinsburgh and James Blackwood, '30, were the attendants.

Miss Work was a graduate of the class of 1930, and is a member of Theta Upsilon sorority. Mr. Guthrie, a graduate of the class of 1929, is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity. A graduate of Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary with the class of 1932, he is now pastor of the Eastbrook and Neshannock churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie will make their home in East Brook.

PITTSBURGH GROUP OF ALUMNI MEET ON FRIDAY EVENING

Members of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Westminster College Alumni Association held their fall meeting in the New College Club House, Friday evening, November 4.

Featured on the evening's program were a talk by Dr. Galbreath, and musical numbers by Monas Harlan, tenor, and Ellwood Rushworth, violinist, accompanied by Paul McKnight at the piano.

A large group of Westminster alumni and friends were present. Local people who attended were Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, Miss Nandeen Love, Miss Corrine Mercer, Miss Grace Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McDonald, and Dr. S.E. Calhoun.

half with the exception of Siljander, who was replaced by Hunneke. Westminster's tally came after Sweeney made four yards and St. Bonaventure was penalized for unnecessary roughness on the next play.

Arrowsmith took the ball from the 50 to the 35 for a first down. The ball was brought back when a Westminster man was caught using the hands illegally on the offense. Sweeney then passed to Leyshock and the pass was ruled good when the defense interferred. The ball was placed on the 40 from another first down. Staples picked up a yard. Sweeney made three. Staples made the third down in a row. Arrowsmith made four yards. Sweeney garnered three. Sweeney's pass to Leyshock on the 22 was good for another first down. Arrowsmith carried the ball to the 15, Staples made five yards. Westminster was offside on the next play and dropped back five yards. Sweeney made one through tackle for seven. Arrowsmith skirted left end to the one yard line and a first down. Sweeney then took the ball over on a cut through tackle. Hunneke's kick was good and the score read St. Bonnies 13—Westminster 7.

Westminster's goal line was threatened by a spurt on the part of the Irish late in the game when they advanced the ball to the two yard line but were held for downs. The ball changed hands often in the final minute when Scarbrough kicked to Laskey on the 36. He fumbled and Leyshock recovered, traveling to the 44. Maxian then intercepted Arrowsmith's pass returning to the 49 as the final whistle blew.

JOE COLLEGE EXPRESSES OPINION ON STEADY DATING

And again the male element of Westminster college breaks into print—this time with their opinions on "steady dating in college." After interviewing sixteen fellows, two profs, it was found that ten favored going steady, four liked variety, and four were rather diplomatic.

Art Evans, the speedy little waiter at the College Inn, believes in liberalism in love and his motto is—Nix on the steadies." He is a member of Delta Nabla, honorary math fraternity, so you can see that he goes in for number in more ways than one.

Quoting Otto Pearsall, one of those fellows with artistic tastes, "Sure I believe in going steady; of course, it's up to those concerned, but then it might lead to bigger and better things."

Alan Van Harper, Holcad sports reporter and a member of the Titan squad has a sweet tooth. He answers, "Of course college students should go steady. Variety may be the spice of life but it certainly isn't sugar." And there's no room for argument there.

Eric Thompson, one of those students the profs dream about, thinks "going steady a perfectly glorious idea," and adds, "since no one comes to college to study anyway, it keeps them in good company."

According to Professor John Lawther, "Statistics prove that most college romances terminate in successful marriages." Our coach thinks its a good idea to keep steady company. He says, "By rubbing elbows in co-ed colleges, it gives the students opportunities to appraise each other at their real value, and they are more apt to pick out a life partner of equal intelligence and one they can easily adjust themselves to."

Jim Kinney gave one of those embarrassed chuckles and said, "Its awfully nice to have a steady girl." Wonder how he found out?

One of those enigmatic replies comes from Harold Polonus, sports editor of the Holcad. "My answer," he says, "is the same as the answer given by the man on the club house step." Figure that one out.

Lew Crill has the idea that it is very foolish to go steady. Says he, "Nobody's going to hang a ball and chain on me." And if he has the right slant, there are a lot of foolish people on this campus.

Harold Brennan, professor of art, believes—"Fellow's and girls should do everything they can to make their lives happier and more complete."

When asked his sentiments on the question, Gilbert Dindinger retorts —"Well, what do you think?"

Ray Southard a member of the Westminster basketball team believes in love at first sight—bet he's near-sighted.

"Preparing For Service" Topic Of Discussion By Karux Members

Members of Karux, honorary preministerial fraternity, met Tuesday evening, November 15, in the U. P. Church. Wilbur Christy presided and led a group discussion on "Preparing for Service."

Karux was organized last April for men who plan to enter the full-time christian ministry. At the present time its membership is close to 20. Its officers are: Calvin Rose, president; Wilbur Christy, secretary; Dr. R. F. Galbreath and Dr. John Orr, advisors.

WESTMINSTER FRENCH CLUB HOLDS SECOND MEETING THIS YEAR

Westminster's French Club held its second meeting in the recital hall of the Conservatory, Monday evening, November 21. After a brief informal program of welcome, songs were sung and games played. A French play, "An Restaurant," was presented by Elizabeth Curtis, Jane Downie, Harriette Robinson, Robert Hoos and Harry Dobkin.

Miss Stewart, assisted by Willis McGill and Geoffrey Sowash, planned the meeting.

ELLIOTT LIBRARY AGAIN RECEIVES BOOK DONATIONS

"American Nation; A History" Valuable Reference Volumes

Twenty-seven volumes of "American Nation; A History", have been presented as a gift to the Elliott Library by Dr. Samuel Elliott. The donation of these 27 volumes increases the list of valuable reference works now the property of the business library.

"American Nation; A History" was compiled by Albert Bushwell Hart. Only two volumes of this set were written by the author. The other 25 volumes were written by such noted historians as E. P. Cheyney, L. G. Thwaites, C. H. Van Tyne, and J. K. Hosmer.

These books are of special value tc history majors and students doing special work in historical research. Each book has an excellent index, making it valuable for refernce work. this series of references, like many others, he has presented to the college came from Dr. Elliott's own personal library.

"Facing Facts", compiled by 12 professors of economics at Princeton university, was a recent purchase of the business department. This book in unique in that it deals with the present economic situation, instead of past conditions. "The aim has been to present in an independant and non-partisan spirit, the various implications and alternatives open to the public choice."

SHOTT ATTENDS STATE MEETING AT HARRISBURG

Committees Present Reports Before Educational Congress

Dr. J. A. Shott, head of the department of psychology and education, represented Westminster college at Harrisburg, November 10, 11 and 12 where he attended a meeting of the Educational Congress. The congress consists of leaders of public and higher school education in Pennsylvania.

The program included, mainly, reports of committees appointed at an earlier meeting.

The investigating committees were listed under four diversions: finance, revision of school code, size of school districts, and training of teachers.

A ten year program, under the direction of the superintendent of public instruction, embracing the improvement of education in Pennsylvania, was recommended by these committees.

The committee on finance recommended that the full value of real estate should be taxied 6 mills for schools, and that the State should give such aid to each district as to provide a teacher having 30 students (for a tearm of nine months) at a salary of $1300.

The committee on the size of school districts reported that all districts containing less than 1000 people must combine to form larger chapters.

All teachers must have four years training above the high school period and the minimum salary should be the same regardless of grade or subject taught, reported the committee on training of teachers.

On Saturday, November 12, Dr. Shott attended the meeting of the Association of College Teachers of Education in Pennsylvania. This meeting considered the matter of unifying courses in education and made the recommendation that the association commission for changes in the school-code refering mainly to teachers.

The meeting was especially important because of recommendations for improvement in education to be made in the near future, that is, the repeal of the teachers salary law by the next legislature.

New Course Will Be Given By Bible Dept. In February

A two-credit course in Old Testament Prophets and Prophecy will be given by the Bible department next semester, Dr. John Orr anounces. This course will be offered at 9:50 on Wednesdays and Fridays if five or more students elect it.

MERCER RESIDENT DONATES CIVIL WAR PAPERS TO LIBRARY

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address Contained In Issue Of Period

Miss Mildred Ailman, the college librarian, announces that she has received some newspapers of the Civil War period, which are the gift of S. F. McCartney of Mercer.

The presentation is not a complete file, but includes the daily issues of the New York Tribune from April 13, 1861 to December 31, 1863.

These newspapers are very interesting and should prove to be valuable source material. Among them is an issue containing Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which was probably one of the first copies to be printed.

Bancroft Gives Interesting View Of Science World

Greatest Opportunity For Research Found In Borderlands

Faculty members and students of Westminster were afforded the unusual opportunity of hearing one of America's outstanding scientists on Friday morning, November 18, when Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft spoke during the chapel hour. His subject, "Borderlands of Science," served to introduce to his audience a comparatively recent mode of attack upon the "stone wall" of scientific research.

The lecturer was very delightfully introduced by his friend and former student, Dr. Herbert L. Davis of the faculty. By way of introduction, Dr. Davis pointed out the necessity of specialization on the part of a scientist, should he hope to progress in any one line. Hence, a specialist has come generally to mean one who "knows more and more about less and less." Dr. Bancroft, however, is the exception to the rule, for he has touched on more fields than any other present-day scientist.

Dr. Brancroft would guard against over-specialization, for, "he who wants to be a first-class specialist must know something about everything". The general tendency today is to obliterate the dividing line between the sciences. Physical chemistry has grown up between Physics and chemistry, and physical chemists in turn have become expert mathematicians.

The lecturer treated a number of topics, such as: the discovery of deep-lying oil fields with the aid of physics; the increased knowledge ob-

Student Conference To Be Attended By Westminsterites

Thomas McClure presided over the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held Wednesday evening November 16, in the recital hall of the Conservatory. The topic for discussion was, "Life's purposes."

Following the discussion Wilbur Christy, president, reminded the members of the Fall Student Conference to be held at Grove City college from Friday until Sunday, December 2-4. Dr. George Irving of New York and Dr. C. C. Ellis, president of Juniata college will be the principal speakers. All those who are planning to attend are asked to notify Wilbur Christy.

All classes cut on Saturday, December 3, for the purpose of attending the conference will be excused.

COLLEGE DANCE TO BE SPONSORED BY GIRL'S GLEE CLUB

Baird General Committee Head; Tinker In Charge Of Decorations

Lillian Baird is general chairman of an "All-College Hop" to sponsored by the Girls' Glee Club on Saturday evening, December 2.

Modern and unique decorations are being planned for by Dorothy Tinker, committee chairman, Mildred Ralston, Charlotte Kuerner, Nancy Litman, Doroth Isaho, Harriet Gray, Martha Hazlett, Charlotte Melhorn, Arna Barr, Mary Blackwood, Grace Jones, Isabelle Kildoo, and Helen Thomas.

Patricia Jones has been appointed business manager of the dance, and Elizabeth Macklin and Jane Gilmore will be in charge of obtaining an orchestra.

Galbreath Addresses Hebrew Audience At Temple Israel

Suggests Department of Peace at Armistice Gathering

.."I wonder if it is too idealistic to look forward to the day when we will have a department of peace in the government and a secretary of peace and good will at its head?", said Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, head of Westminster College, as he spoke Friday evening Nov. 11, before a large audience in Temple Israel, New Castle.

Rabbi Avery J. Grossfield, pastor of the Congregation led the evening service and special songs were sung by Misses Margaret Preston and Ruth Drescher.

Dr. Galbreath was introduced and his Armistice Day speech was of peace, rather than war. He went through the words of the prophets and psalmist and said that peace was not a new project since the World War, but had begun away back in the ages of Bible history. He took his theme from Micah and then the Psalmist and led up to the present day peace projcet.

He concluded his talk with a dream for the future; that of a department of peace for the government and a secretary of good will at its head; a man who would be a mediator between the Uinted States and other countries, who would interpret the hearts of the American people and paint us in favorable colors to the nations.

This is probably beyond our generation, he said, but if it is projected, gradually the department of war will pass out and in its place a department of peace will be established if the nations, the people, build together, whatever petty differences of belief they have.

McCALL, KENNEDY AND MEIDER HONORED AS TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Awards Made At Meeting Of Y.M.C.A. On Nov. 9

As a result of the elimination tennis tournament under the auspices of the Westminster College Y. M. C. A., Hugh McCall, Youngstown, is declared the singles champion of the campus, and Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh, and Harrison Kennedy, Sharon, the doubles champions.

McCall was given a gold medal, and Meider and Kennedy silver medals at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Nov. 9. The medals were donated by Dr. H. L. Black, head of the mathematics department.

McCall, a member of Theta Upsilon Omega, has won letters in varsity track as a sprinter, and has been a member of intra-mural basketball teams. Meider and Kennedy are members of Delta Phi Sigma fraternity. Meider played football one season, and has been a member of intra-mural, mushball, and volleyball teams. Kennedy has been a member of track and cross country squads.

FACULTY PETITION

The Westminster faculty is petitioning for a local chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

MARY E. TURNER ATTENDS MEET OF COLLEGE DEANS

Social Problems And Guidance Of College Women Discussed By Educators

Dean Mary E. Turner has returned from a convention of the Pennsylvania Association for Dean of Women, which was held in Harrisburg on November 11 and 12.

About eighty preparatory schools and colleges of Pennsylvania were represented, and many leading educators of the state were present.

The discussions which were held, dealt principally with social programs for girls, and guidance in helping them. Among the most noted speakers were Mrs. Anna Burdick, Federal agent for Industrial Education; Dean Blanchood of Swarthmore college, Dean Ancos of the University of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Edwin C. Broome, superintendent of the Philadelphia schools.

COLLEGE SPIRIT RUNS RAMPANT IN THOMPSON HOUSE

Broadway at 42nd street, on New Year's Eve, unquestionably the noisiest spot on earth, has nothing on Thompson House any evening in the week in respect to clamor. Seventeen lusty, leather-lunged freshmen—seventeen, and everyone the the owner of a musical instrument; tubas and trumpets, banjos and basses, fiddles and fifes, tap-dancers and tenors, radios, a piano—all combine nearly every evening in one, long, mad shriek of noise. The conservatory becomes a silent, sylvan retreat; a boiler factory seems quiet as the cool tomb in comparison.

Sometimes the noise faintly resembles a symphonic adaptation of "Pomp and Circumstance" without the tune—especially when the tuba is on thethird floor, the trumpet on the first, and the rest of the factory between decks. Again, a common meeting place is agreed upon, and out of the general tumult comes the faintly distinguishable strains of "Goofus", or of "God Save the King."

But suddenly, at 7:30, all clamor ceases. Snyder's strident voice is heard from the second floor—"Study hour, you guys!" The cacophony is stilled. Stroup, Rushworth, La Ruona, Abel, Barger, and Budd beat a hasty retreat to the third floor; Strauss, Brunt, Daggett, George, Langley, and Reniers scurry to the second and pounce in a body upon Snyder the joy-killer; Brown, McGeough, Carson, and Miller drag their instruments of torture into their first floor boudoirs; Yahn follows suit; and finally, the pained expressions fade from the faces of Messrs. Brennan and McCusky, and with sighs of relief they pull the cotton plugs out of their ears. Silence reigns, broken only by the scratching of heads over "tough" math problems—, silence which lasts until ten, when the uproar breaks out again in less virulent form.

Seventeen freshmen "getting in college". When they first arrived, they retired at ten and got up at six. Now they bed down at twelve or one and arise just in time to make their first class. They are semi "Greeks" now; at first they were "dei in campo," sought after by five fraternities. In a year they'll be college boys; in three years, college men; and in four years they'll be unemployed. O tempora! O mores!

RECESS

To-morrow noon will find the students and faculty members on their way to spend Thanksgiving recess either at home or with friends out-of-town. Those who are exceptionally lucky will be leaving not to return until Monday, November 28, at 4:30 p. m.

Olive Mills Plays Lady Windermere In Masquers Play

Honorary Fraternity Establishes Tradition Of Annual Production

The Masquers, honorary dramatic fraternity at Westminster, will produce Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan" before the Scottish Rite reunion group in the Cathedral at New Castle on December 2, Professor A. T. Cordray, director, announces. The college presentation of this play is scheduled for December 6 in the Community hall.

The production will probably be given in the costumes of the 1890

KILDOO

O.MILLS

period, when the play was first produced.

While the cast is not yet complete, the following students will take part in the production, Professor Cordray announces:

Olive Mills, Bellevue; Ruth Wagoner, Sharon; Ellen Cottrell, Roxbury, Mass.; Pearl McClimans, West Sunbury; Isabel Kildoo, Bellevue; Chauncey Goodchild, New Castle; Willis McGill, New Wilmington; Edwin Swartz, Hickory; Thomas Herriott, New Wilmington; Orville Dawson, Ford City; and Geoffrey Sowash, New Wilmington.

The college orchestra, under direction of Profesosr Donald O. Cameron, will play at the presentation.

Additional characters in the play, "guests at the ball", are: Charles Cochran, Mercer; Jane Chester, Sharon; Harriet Robinson, Newburgh, N. Y.; and Robert Douglass, Wilkinsburg.

Masquers hope to establish a tradition of presenting one full-length play each year with all major parts being taken by members of the fraternity . Other plays, long and short, will give opportunity for all-college participation throughout the year.

DAVIS NOTIFIED OF APPOINTMENT

Is Vice-Chairman Of District Music Association Section

Alan B. Davis, director of the Westminster conservatory of music, has been accorded two honors last week.

Professor Davis has been notified by R. G. Walters, secretary, that the Pennsylvania State Education Association, midwestern convention district, wants Davis to be vice-chairman of the music section of the organization.

Other officers of this section are: H. M. B. Lehn, Grove City, chairman; and Miss Ruth Gessler, Ford City, secretary. The first meeting of the new convention district will be held in New Castle on February 17 and 18.

Professor Davis has also been notified by the New Wilmington Missionary Conference board that he has again been elected director of music for the 1933 conference to be held in August.

Professor Davis has been director of the Westminster conservatory since 1927. He is a graduate of the Indianapolis Conservatory of Music, and has been actively engaged in musical work since 1905.

YOUTH

In the University we have been able to outlive the effects of the jazz age more rapidly than society at large. And I am ready to state my opinion today that the nine thousand young people on our campus are as a class decent and upright. I do not deny that many of them are frivolous. I do deny that many of them are vicious and immoral.

There are some very modern characteristics in their behavior, which still remind us of the post-war era. The serious minded take themselves very, very seriously. To differ with them is almost crime; to offer them advice in an affront. There is restiveness and chafing against authority; there is a resolute defiance of old customs and traditions, such, for example, as that women should not smoke; and there are decided tendencies toward modernism and nonesectarianism in religion, behaviorism in psychology, eroticism in literaturee, and a conscious attempt at liberalism through the adoption of catch-words which seem to involve a revolt against the existing order, such as racial equality, social justice, anti-militarism, and freedom of expression. They take a great prde in being frank and out-spoken in advocacy of whatever they may take up, and they show the unfailing symptom of most of those who boast of their liberalism, namely, an unsparing denunciation of the hypocrisy of all who do not agree with them on a given issue. There are none so intolerant, apparently, as liberals and radicals, who are loudest in their praises of the virtue of tolerance. But with all their extravagances, I believe our present daay students to be busier, happier, and less given to vices of the baser sort than the students of twenty-five years ago.

Take, for example, drinking. Many of our students drink. But there is vastly less drinking and less drunkenness than there was in the early 1000's. In those days, Madison was a wide-open town with sixty to eighty saloons. Drinking and drunkenness were common. Students frequented saloons and drank freely there, as well as in their fraternity and lodging houses, Today, with nine thousand students in residence as against twenty-five hundred then, I doubt that there is quantitatively as much drinking as there used to be, and I am positive that there is proportionately vastly less.

My confidence in the youngsters on our campus is almost unbounded, for I see them handling from day to day, quite aside from their studies, business enterprises which would stagger many so-called business men in the world outside..... These financial operations are carried on with both skill and integrity. There is rearly a deficit, and graft is almost unknown..... The so-called extra-curricuar activities of today are quite as superior to those of thirty years ago as are the curricular studies—Dean Goodnight, Wisconsin.

NAME YOUR PURPOSE, SIR!

Not long ago a certain learned professor of great distinction took us to task for what he was pleased to term our irreverence for scholarship and the higher learning. Our plaint had been that much of the latter was today rendered futile, when it was not plainly ridiculous, by reason of the fact that the energies of those disporting themselves therein were so often diverted into cracks and crannies that the current of the stream was entirely lost and the stream itself presently dried up.....

Our grudge, in short, lay against the absurd reverence which is still paid among the dons and doctors to the trivialities; the inconsequential minutiæ of the subject at Hand—be it science, literature, history, or mathematics. This deplorable trait is especially evident in the United States of America and is the direct, simon-pure descendant of the Gymnasium system first introduced into this country about one hundred years ago..... What works well enough in the Rhine country becomes perile and slavish on this side of the water, as the present aspect of American scholarship testifies. What, then, is the genius of the Yankee, when, gnawed by desire for knowledge, he forsakes the counting-house for the closet?

Well, there is a classic illustration of the propensities of some of his rivals which, although it does not include him, may place him by deduction. A German, an Englishman, and a Frenchman were commissioned by a scientific society (doubtless the National Geographic) to investigate the nature and habits of the African elephant and present their reports thereon. After a year they returned with their respective works. The German had a pile of manuscript which, when printed, would run into several fat tomes. He had, with methodical fidelity, catalogued everything he could find about the elephant, from his spoor to his tusks.... If there was any detail of an African elephant's innards and out'ards which that German didn't have, science hasn't discovered it yet. But, when pressed, the German was a little vague as to what the elephant looked like..... The Freshman, au contraire, offered a neat pile, the major portion of which was devoted to le petit elephant et ses amours. There wasn't much else; still, it was charmingly written, revealed close observation, and gave great delight to the author's employers.... As for the the Englishman, he submitted a curt monograph upon the elephant and his value as a beast of burden in the development of British Southwest Africa, and was presently knighted for his service to the Empire.

....It is to be feared that the American would have written with one eye on the elephant and the other rolling over his German colleague's shoulder. The result would have been that he wouldn't have got a good look at the elephant nor have obtained a fair copy of the German's notes. Both his patience and his zeal expiring, he would finally, after the manner of his favorite professor, Ph.D., have decided to "specialize", and retiring to the shade of the nearest breadfruit tree, would have composed an elegant treatise, entitled, "The Pachyderm; His Tail: A Thesis."

"But," screams our friend, the Professor, "you do not understand the purpose of American scholarship." No.?

What is the purpose of American scholarship?—The Princeton Alumni Weekly.

AUTUMN INTERLUDE

Amid the chortless of a thousand mortals
Afire with football fever,
Our hero ran like a super-man,
The pass's lone receiver.
The game was won, the season done;
Old Podunk High had conquered.
The fans climbed down and swarmed around
An hero badly battered.

A big-time school then formed a pool
And bade our hero hearken;
If he would play they'd pay his way
Thru dear old Eastmalarken.
He saw his chance and packed his pants,
And bummed his way to Jaytown.
They met him there and shaved his hair
And played him vs. Baytown.

He won the game, achieved his fame,
And joined the Delta Sigmas;
But soon he found that Profs. profound
And classes were enigmas.
The big day came, he won that game;
They gave him beaucoup money.
But despite his pout, they threw him out,
And said, "Now don't be funny."

"We brought you here and paid you dear,
To our mutual satisfaction.
Come again next Fall and play football
And we'll greet you with affection."
Each Fall for eight long years and more
Our hero did just that,
Until the West Point guys got wise
And offered five thousand flat.
Now Hero sits with a gun in his mitts,
And a wife and child at his knee;
He's forty years old, but the years haven't told
On his gridiron ability.
—Or helped his mental ability, either.

BANCROFT LECTURE

tained vitamin D, made possible by the cooperation of chemists, biologists and medical men; the importance of proteins in diseases of insanity, cancer, and infantile paralysis. Dr. Bancroft discussed the subject of light and color.

In developing his theme, the scientist said that color was divided into two classes: pigment color and structural color. The later is due to refracted light, and variation in size of water drops which may produce a variation in the light transmitted and a reverse of colors. This accounts for the striking phenomena observed in Virginia in 1831. At that time the sun-set appeared not a red-gold, but a blue-green. So great was the excitement among the negroes that a violent insurrection broke out.

With regard to color pigment it was found that there is no root pigment; variation in color is due to the presence of the dark pigment and some small element. This was illustrated by citing the commotion caused by the appearance in the museum of a blue frog, which was in reality not blue, but green. When shipped in alcohol the frog had lost the yellow element and appeared blue. Blue is the fundamental color impression. Changes in color, when they occur, are from blue to some other color. In conclusion, Dr. Bancroft said, "Do not keep battering against a stone wall, but go to the borderlands of science."

GALBREATH SPEAKS

The brotherhood of man must overflow the world, overlook the difference of color and creed if we would have peace established on this earth.

"This is a beautiful dream", Dr. Galbreath concluded, "but it is not impossible if we dream with God, who in His own good time will bring it to pass, for with Him all things are possible, for the things that destroy man God waits to destroy."

At the close of the church service the congregation and friends were invited to the assembly room of the church, where Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger were hosts at a reception held in Dr. Galbreath's honor.

CUPID PLAYS TAG

"A lot depends on the girl," according to Chuck Davision's viewpoint, and he adds, "but then I'm in no position to say."

Wonder if Bill Miller has a wee bit o' Scotch in him, anyway it's the economical side of going steady that appeals to him. He replies, "I'm no authority, but I think it's a good idea to go steady—at any rate it's a lot less expensive."

Herschel Rickard ought to go in for politics. He diplomatically answers the question with, "Well, yes—and then again, no."

One of those big silent men, who sees nothing ,hears nothing, and tells less, is Bill Staples. He says, "Sure I believe in going steady—I'm not telling why—but I know."

John Hodge, president of the sophomore class thinks steady dating is pretty silly. He goes for the social life at college and says, "You miss a lot by dating steady company." Well, you never know 'til you miss a certain Miss!

Herb Smith goes for a certain steady in a big way. "Besides," he says, "it saves a lot of trouble and guessing contests via telephone when the fellows call the girl's dorms for a date."

"What's college for anyway?" is what Harrison Kennedy wants to know. He doesn't believe in going steady—likes to meet a lot of girls—guess solitary confinement would cramp his style.

Just give a fellow the opportunity and do they love to tell what they think?—but when the girls are asked the same question they become as scarce as a cough in a Carload of Old Golds. The girls won't express themselves on the subject—but thinking it over—they aren't so dumb!

Dr. Neale Attends Meeting In Chicago

The Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the New Wilmington United Presbyterian Church, attended the quarterly meeting of the Board of Education, held in Chicago, Tuesday, November 16. As chairman of the National Committee on Young Peoples' work, Dr. Neale visited several Y. P. C. U. societies near Chicago.

INTER-SORORITY GIRLS SPONSOR SUCCESSFUL HOP

Black And White Motive Seen In Decorative Scheme

One of the most successful dances of the year was held in the college gym, Saturday night, November 19, under the sponsorship of the Pan-Hellenic Council. About 120 couples danced to the music of the Campus Owls from Indiana.

Black and white decorations were used to form a modernistic background. A large silver ball, hung from the center of the ceiling, reflected colored light on the lovely evening gowns. Sorority banners in black and white hung at intervals under the balcony.

Special guests at the dance were Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Dr. and Mrs. James Swindler, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawther, Mr. and Mrs. R. X. Graham, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Dean Mary E. Turner, Miss Florence White, and Miss Nandeen Love.

PROF. BRENNAN GIVES ILLUSTRATED TALK ON RENAISSANCE ART

Mr. Harold Brennan of the art department lectured before Professor Marshall's class in Renaissance history, Thursday, November 17. The talk was illustrated by lantern slides depicting the work of Renaissance artists.

Mr. Brennan will give another in the near future on artists of the Northern Renaissance in Italy.

SCIENTIFIC NOTE

The imagination of the reporter who apparently believed he mentioned the most useless things possible was not up to the common use of scientists. For some years I have used in regular laboratory procedures the handles of discarded tooth brushes. These handles may be dissolved in acetone or in a number of other suitable organic solvents to give a solution similar to the familiar "New Skin", in popular use for covering minor cuts and abrasions. It is akin also to the "Duco" finish on most of our automobiles and some of our furniture. The solution serves as a good glue, being unaffected by water. It is also not affected by ordinary fumes, acids, or alkalies in the laboratory and so serves to protect labels and other surfaces. So far, I know of no use for the old bristles but the handles at least can be turned to good advantage.

Freshmen In Victory Mood For Game Today

Battle Sophs In Grid Tussle This Afternoon; Strategy Boards Gloomy

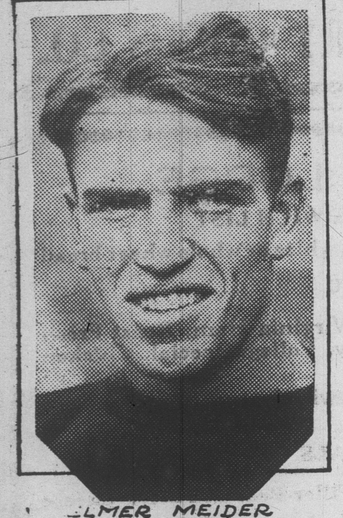
Members of Both Teams Are Optimistic Over Outcome Of Fray

Grudges and animosities between Freshmen and Sophomores will be wiped up this afternoon when teams selected from the two classes will battle on the gridiron.

Both teams seem on edge for the contest, having held practice sessions for over a week. The coaching staffs of both outfits have been working earnestly in an attempt to round their squads into shape.

BAIRD

Elmer Meider and Whitey Siljander, of the Sophomore board of strategy are not too well pleased with prospects of the afternoon. The freshman coaching staff, headed by Jack Martih, former Penn State grid captain, Leonard Baird and Hugh McCall, say that their outfit looks good enough and terrible enough for anything to happen"



ELMER MEIDER

Weights About Even

The sophomore line will outweigh the Frosh forward wall about ten pounds per man, while the Frosh ball toters will make the total poundage about even.

If the freshmen are able to break through the heavier upperclass line, then the sophomores will have difficulty, but if the sophomore backs can get started it will look bad for the "greenhorns."

The game will get underway at 2:30 with Glenn Rehfus, Jinx Hamas, and George Hollander acting as officials.

Lineups:

Eighteen Games On Cage Card

Six New Opponents Listed On Titan Court Schedule

Eighteen basketball games constitute the schedule approved by the Athletic Council last night for Coach John Lawther's outfit.

The card includes eight home games and 10 games away from home. Six new opponents are listed. They are: Illinois Wesleyan, Glenville State, St. Thomas, Long Island, John Marshall, and St. Johns of Brooklyn.

Allegheny is again on the schedule as are all five members of the Tri-State Conference.

An Eastern trip, to include four contests from Feb. 28 to March 3, features the schedule.

The schedule:

December 29—Illinois Wesleyan
January 13—at Grove City
January 17—Waynesburg
January 19—At Geneva
January 21—At Allegheny
January 28—Thiel
February 1—at Thiel

W. A. A. ACTIVITIES

by EVELYN JUDSON

W. A. A. plans to initiate 13 new members on Tuesday evening, November 22. The ceremony and supper will be held in the W. A .A. room at Hillside.

Miss Nandeen Love will be toastmistress at the supper. There will be a program of speeches as follows: Evelyn Judson, the history of W. A. A.; Jean Miller, the future of W. A. A.; and Jean Young, the value of W. A. A. to an alumna.

After the formal initiation services conducted by Virgil Wettich, W. A. A. president, new members will be welcomed by Lillian Baird. Jane Holland, freshman, will respond for the initiates.

All W. A. A. members who made the hockey team will also be awarded letters.

A puppet show will be staged to complete the evening's entertainment.

Those to be initiated are: Virginia Rumbaugh, Olive Pope, Allene Summerlade, Alta McCartney, Harriet Jackson, Harriet Gray, Nancy Litman, Dorothy Young, Helen Simison, Mary E. Morrow, Ruth Lysinger, Annabelle Rodda, and Jane Holland.

Virgil Wettich is in charge of arrangements for the initiation and her assistants are Dorothy Sellar, Martha Byers, Helen McLaughry, Lillian Baird, Mildred Ralston, and Nandeen Love.

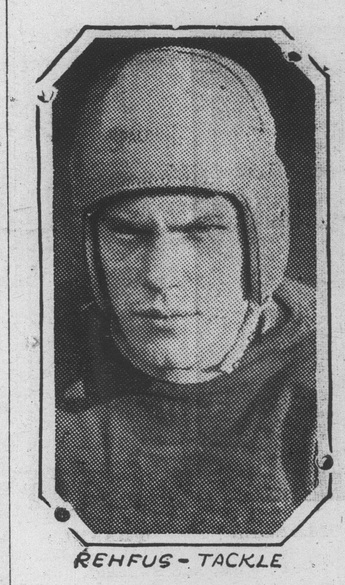
Eight Titans "Iron Men"



REHFUS - TACKLE

Eight members of Coach John Lawther's Westminster football team are truly "iron men." A survey of the records show that eight of the men played in almost all of the 40 quarters of the 10 games on this year's Titan schedule.

Captain Glen Rehfus, Sandusky, O., and Bill Staples, Butler, tackle and fullback, each played in every quarter of every game. Peter Leyshock, Farrell, end, played in 39 of the 40 quarters.

The other "iron men" are: Homer Dishong, Johnstown, tackle, 38 quarters; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., back, 37 quarters; Robert Scarbrough, McDonald, O.; back, 37 quarters; Robert Rose, Freeport, L. I., guard, 38 quarters; Robert Arrowsmith, Erie, back, 37 quarters; Irving Franklin, Freeport, L. I., center, 35 quarters; and George Hollander, Freeport, L. I., guard, 35 quarters.

EAST BRADY COACH HAS GOOD RECORD

Ben Hadly, East Pittsburgh, has made good as coach of athletics at East Brady high school. Last year, although handicapped by the lightest team in the history of the school, East Brady lost but one game, tying with New Bethlehem for the championship of Clarion county. This year, the East Brady team won five games, scoring 271 points.

Mr. Haldy transferred to Westminster from Bucknell in his junior year, and was graduated with the class of 1931. He was a member of the varsity football team and was interested in intra-mural basketball.

Fourteen Win Grid Letters

Captain Rehfus Is The Only Player To Be Lost To Team

DISHONG STRAW

Fourteen members of the Westminster football team won varsity letters for participation in the hard 10-game schedule this year. The Athletic Council, in meeting last night, granted letters to the following:

Captain Glen Rehfus, Sandusky, O.; Homer Dishong, Johnstown; Irving Franklin, Freeport, L. I.; George Hollander, Freeport, L. I.; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh; Raymond Sweeney, Youngstown, O.; Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, L. I.; William Staples, Butler; Robert Scarbrough, McDonald, O.

Robert Rose, Freeport, L. I.; Merrill Straw, Turtle Creek; Robert Arrowsmith, Erie; James Bloker, Sandusky, O.; and Peter Leyshock, Farrell. Student Manager David Gephart, Elizabeth, was also given a letter. Captain Rehfus is the only man to be lost next season.

INTRA-MURAL NOTES

by AL VAN HARPER

Following the Thanksgiving vacation the fraternity basketball teams will start practicing for the interfraternity basketball tournament. Each team will be assigned practice periods during which they will have the exclusive use of the gymnasium basketball floor.

Due to the bi-monthly editing of the Holcad the schedules will be posted on the gymnasium bulletin board. Each fraternity will be responsible for its own schedule.

Jack Hulme is planning on having two loops, one for the fraternity members and the other for the pledges Any fraternity member can play on either team, but after once playing on team "A" he cannot play on team "B" A player on team "B" can advance to team "A" but after once playing on this team can not play on team "B" again In other words a pledge, if capable, may play on the pledges team and then advance to the members team, but after once playing on the latter team, cannot play for the pledges again.

The regular intramural basketball tournament will start shortly after Christmas holidays. All games will be open to the students of the college and, as the games are better than the average high school game, many spectators are expected.

Interfraternity volleyball and horseshoe tournaments were brought to a close Wednesday of last week. Both events were won by the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity.

Volleyball was a close race between the Delts, Phi's and T. U. O's. In the closing games of the season the T. U. O. fraternity defeated the Phi Pis in a tight game, only to lose to the Delts in their next meet. Campbell and Tiers starred for the T.U.O's; McClure and McGill for the Phi Pis, and Newton and Kennedy for the Delts.

Horseshoes was also won by the Delta Phi Sigma fraternity. "Jim" Newton and Kinsey, representing the Delts, were undefated throughout the tournament. The Kaps were second with three wins and two loses.

Both volleyball and horseshoes are divided into two seasons; the fall season, just played, and the spring

Titans Defeated In Last Two Games Of Season

Long Runs Aid Geneva In Mud Battle At Beaver Falls

Howard Harpster's Geneva College football team, still smarting under the defeat suffered at the hands of Waynesburg College on November 11, raced to three touchdowns to defeat a stubborn Westminster team by a 19-0 score on Saturday, November, 19 at Beaver Falls.

Geneva played its best ball in the second half, the Titans having tallied seven first downs to three by the Covenantors in the first half.

Two specatular plays accounted for two of the Geneva scores. In the opening quarter, with but two minutes of the game played, Johnson broke through the center of the line and raced 50 yards for the score. Johnson's placement for point was good.

At the start of the second half, Hunneke, Titan end, kicked off to Jones on the Geneva 30 and the ball was carried back to the 38. From here the Covenantors made five first downs in succession to score their second touchdown, Johnson finally lugging the ball over from the one foot mark.

In this sustained march, Grahame tossed a 16-yard pass to Aultman for the one first down, Jones hit the line for another, Johnson went over center for another, Grahame threw a pass to Jones for the fourth, and Heffley carried the ball around end for the fifth, placing the ball on the Titan four.

The most spectacular play of the game came in the fourth period, just a few minutes after the quarter got under way. With the ball on the Geneva 23-yard line, Heffley raced

BLOKER, HALF 4

77 yards around the right end behind fine interference for the score.

Geneva made 10 first downs to nine for Westminster, completed five out of eight passes to four out of nine by Westminster, was penalized 45 yards to 20 yards by the Titans, and fumbled five times to the Titan's one. Four of the Geneva fumbles were recovered by Westminster as well as the one Titan fumble.

Cliff Aultman again proved to be one of the outstanding players for Geneva. This versatile star made end runs to the right side of the line almost useless. His punting and ball carrying were excellent.

For Westminster, Captain Glen Rehfus, tackle, playing his last game, was outstanding. Peter Leyshock, end, and Ray Sweeney, back, also played well, as did Bill Staples at fullback and James Bloker, who was substituted at center.

Heffley and Johnson were brilliant on both offense and defense for Geneva, while Troiana was stopped in his tracks by Leyshock on almost every play.

The lineups:

Geneva		Westminster
Aultman	L.E.	Leyshock
McKee	L.T.	Dishong
Howell	L.G.	Rose
Campbell	C.	Franklin
Gramley	R.C.	Rehfus
Cooper	R.T.	Straw
Ifft	R.E.	Hunneke
Grahame	Q.B.	Sweeney
Heffley	L.H.	Arrowsmith
Jones	R.H.	Scarbrough
Johnson	F.B.	Staples

Score by periods:

Sweeney Scores In Last Quarter; Miss Placement

SCARBROUGH LEYSHOCK

Outplaying their sister college throughout four quarters of a great game at New Concord, Saturday, Nov. 12, Westminster had to accept a 7-6 defeat at the hands of Muskingum.

The Titans played brilliantly except for one moment when a Titan pass was intercepted, the Titan secondary was caught off guard, and Muskingum scored the touchdown and kicked the extra point which later proved the margin of victory.

The game was played before a chilled homecoming crowd in Student Stadium at New Concord, the cold wind slowing up both teams in the initial quarter. The Pennsylvanians held the ball throughout most of the game, chalked up 15 first downs to four by Muskingum, and seemed to have the upper hand in every department, but the intercepted pass in the first quarter spelled defeat for the visitors.

One glance at figures on the game make the outcome seem almost impossible. The Titans held the ball for 91 of the 134 plays during the game, gained 194 yards from scrimmage and 64 by forward passes to 55 from scrimmage and minus four by passes for Muskingum, and six times were within striking distance to the Muskie goal while Muskingum never came close to the Titan goal than the 35-yard line except when the pass was intercepted and carried for a score.

But 258 yards gained by Westminster as compared with 51 yards gained by Muskingum does not offset the fete of Furbay, Muskingum right halfback. Toward the end of the first quarter, Leyshock recovered Semon's fumble on the Muskingum 37. Staples picked up two yards. Arrowsmith tossed a pass on the next play, and Furbay intercepted it on the Muskingum 38 and raced along the sidelines 62 yards for a touchdown. Melhorn's place for extra point was good.

Following the Muskingum score. Westminster kept the ball the greater part of the game and carried it down the field to the Muskie goal line in one sustained drive after another. It was not until the fourth period, however, that the Titans scored.

With the ball on their own 47, Muskingum fumbled, Frankin recovering for Westminster. Westminster was penalized 15 yards on the next play, but Arrowsmith carried it to the Titan 40. Sweeney dropped back and tossed a pass good for 21 yards to Arrowsmith on the next play. Sweeney tried another pass which was incomplete. Sweeney hit off tackle for seven. Staples crashed through tackle for six and first down on the Muskingum 24. Staples made three, Arrowsmith picked up three, and Staples crashed tackle for five and first down. Sweeney, on two tries, made four, and on the third play raced around left end behind good intereference for 12 yards and a touchdown.

With Sweeney holding, Hunneke attempted a placement for extra point. The pass from center was poor, so Sweeney handed Hunneke the ball. Hunneke attempted to run the end for extra point, but was stopped near the goal line.

Staples, Titan fullback, gained 72 yards from scrimmage in 22 tries; Arrowsmith, left half, gained 76

Instructor In Chinese School Recounts Amusing Incidents

MIRTZ TELLS OF PROBLEMS OF THE WORK

Westminster alumni are always interested in the latest word from Orvil Mirtz, '29, a teacher in the American Presbyterial Mission school, Lingnan, China. In the Hai? nan News Letter recently received from the American mission, Mr. Mirtz cleverly sketches amusing incidents and unexpected hazards which make life in China anything but dull and unexciting.

Going out for a stroll one day, Mr. Mirtz and his companions were surprised by the whine of bullets dangerously near. Fearing bandits, or worse, they looked around for shelter, and dived into a graveyard nearby. Never before, said Mr. Mirtz, had he fully appreciated the practical aspects of the Chinese custom of heaping tall mounds over their dead. The imminent danger proved to be military target practice, but what an innominous way it would have been to die, when one could choose the more spectacular method of being "bumped off" by bandits, or execution at sunrise.

One other time, while driving along a lonely road, twelve soldiers suddenly stepped from behind a clump of trees and motioned for the car to stop, leveling their rifles for added emphases. They looked mean, and acted meaner. Unable to understand their language, Mr. Mirtz was so angry at the thought of being late, that he never thought of being scared. After a tense ten minutes, the soldiers finally made it understood that the car was commandered for government purposes, and was good for a ride into the next village, for twelve uninvited guests.

Aside from his duties as instructor in the Lingnan school, Mr. Mirtz enters into the social and athletic life of the boys as much as his limited knowledge of the language will permit. There is no regular schedule of games between the different schools, but contests are played by invitation. Lingnan decides that they would like to beat Haung Hai in football, so they get out their Chinese pen, which is really a fine pointed bruch, rub their ink stick with a little water on an ink stone, and on a sheet of tissue paper they put a lot of little "chicken-tracks", starting from the upper right, and writing down in columns. This is a formal invitation for Haung Hai to come down and defeat Lingnan, if they can.

Tournaments of athletics are held also, when two or three days are spent in football, basketball and volley ball. The schools draw for their opponents, and the fun is fast and furious. Lessons are forgotten, study halls turn into pep meetings, and the teachers forget their dignity and get all excited, planning possible attacks.

Football there is largely soccer, so Mirtz prefers to direct basketball, instead. In spite of lack of previous training, and the obvious difficulties of the language, he manages to turn out a creditable team. Occasionally he consents to referee a game between his school and a rival institution. He has finally educated his own boys up to the point where they understand his terms, but when he calls a foul on the other side they look blank, and he has to demonstrate what they did that they should not have done. Needless to say, the spectators get their money's worth, and think it quite amusing to see the referee blow the whistle, and then charge into a fellow, or hack him on the arm.

Mr. Mirtz says Chinese rules are beyond him, especially when written in Chinese, and topsy-turvy at that. When he first started coaching the Lingnan team, they would dribble along, and when an opponent blocked them, they flipped the ball over his head, darted around him, and continued down the floor. The coach called it walking with the ball, and was triumphantly shown Rule 7, Section 10, in the rule book, not one word of which he could read, at the time. If any Westminster athlete has any suggestion as to how to judge such maneuvers, the puzzled coach would appreciate a letter written to Jimmy Mirtz, American Presbyterian Mission, Kiungchow, Hainan Island, China.

Members of A. A. U. W. Attend Pittsburgh Fellowship Meeting

Rrepresentatives from branch organizations of the American Association of University Women were guests of the Pittsburgh chapter, in their regular meeting, Saturday, November 19. Presidents and scholarship chairmen of the branch organizations were present as special guests, also members of the Wellesley Club of Pittsburgh.

Miss Ruth Atkinson, first vice president of the National A. A. U. W. explained the Fellowship drive now being carried on by the association.

Members of the New Wilmington branch who attended the meeting were: Miss Mildred Ailman, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Florence White, Mrs. J. G. Moorhead, Miss Mae McKelvey, Miss Nettie Sharp, and Mrs. James McLaughry.

GEORGE WINTER TO TEACH BIOLOGY IN SOUTHERN SCHOOL

George Winter, Ford City, has recently been appointed teacher of biology in the United Presbyterian mission school, Greenville, Tennessee. He will take up work there Monday, November 28.

WINTER

Mr. Winter was graduated with the class of 1932, and while in school, took his major work in biology. In his senior year he served as assistant in the biology laboratory. Since graduation, he has been doing substitute teaching in the Ford City high school.

Mr. Winter is a member of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity.

DR. J. H. BOYD DIES IN MISSION FIELD IN EGYPT

The Rev. J. Howard Boyd, D.D. for 30 years missionary in Egypt, died suddenly in Tanta, Egypt, Saturday, November 12. Dr. Boyd had not been in good health for some time, and spent the summer months in Germany, in an effort to regain his usual vigor.

Dr. Boyd was for many years a resident of New Wilmington, and was especially interested in Westminster college. Beloved by everyon who knew him, for his genial disposition, Dr. Boyd was affectionately known by young and old as "Sunny Jim." While in furlough in this country, Dr. Boyd was constantly in demand as speaker for Christian Association group meetings.

Dr. Boyd is survived by Mrs. Boyd, and daughter Jean, '29, both of whom are in Egypt; Dr. John Boyd, '26, New Wilmington physician; and by Mrs. Robert Houston, '27, Philadelphia.

Former Assistant Librarian Donates Biography Of Lee

One of the latest donations received by the college library is "Lee of Virginia", given by the author, Dr. William E. Brooks, Morgantown, West Virginia.

Dr. Brooks, for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Morgantown, is a well-known contributor to magazines. His latest work, "Lee of Virginia", gives a new evaluation of the Southern hero, and a new interpretation of the man himself.

Dr. Brooks was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1900, and was formerly assistant librarian.

NEW YORK PASTOR REPRESENTED IN BOOK OF SERMONS

The Rev. William M. Barr, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Delancy, New York, has the honor of having a sermon published in a recent collection of prize sermons, published by the Macmillan Company. Fourteen denominations are represented in the book, which consists of twenty-five sermons by preachers of unusual merit.

The Rev. Barr was graduated from Westminster with the class of 1888.

McKINNEY HEAD OF ETNA SCHOOLS

Mr. A .H. McKinney Etna, Pa., has recently been appointed principal of the Etna high school, where he has held a teaching position for several years.

Mr. McKinney is a graduate of the class of 1925.

Warren Church Extends Call To Rev. Frank Black

The Rev. Frank C. Black, Portersville, pastor of the Oak Grove congregation, has accepted a call to the United Presbyterian Church, Warren, Ohio. Work was begun in the Warren pastorate Sabbath, Nov. 20.

The Rev. Black is a Westminster graduate of the class of 1924.

Olga Gojdics Teaches Math In Farrell School

Miss Olga Gojdics, Farrel, is now teaching business mathematics in the commercial department of Farrell high school.

Miss Gojdics, a graduate of the class of 1932, received her business training in Carnegie Institute, transferring to Westminster in her senior year.

VERMONT CHURCH ISSUES CALL TO REV. PAUL GLENN

The Rev. Paul Glenn, Butler, has accepted a call to the United Presbyterian church, East Craftesbury, Vermont.

The Rev. Glenn, a Westminster alumnus of the class of '28, was graduated from Pittsburgh-Xenia seminary in 1932.

HOLLANDER FRANKLIN

yards in 23 tries; and Sweeney, quarterback, gained 50 yards in 17 attempts. These three men bore the brunt of the offense for the Titans. Sweeney tossed two passes to Staples which netted 20 yards, and threw two to Arrowsmith good for 46 yards.

On the defense, Captain Rehfus, Merrill Straw, Rose, and Leyshock all looked good, but the whole Titan line played good ball on both offense and defense.

For Muskingum, Reavely, fullback, was best, gaining 26 yards from scrimmage on eight attempts. Semon, fast left half for the Muskies, was held to a net gain of 12½ yards in nine attempts. Only one Muskie pass was good, but it lost four yards.

The Titans lost 110 yards on penalties, while Muskingum was penalized four times to lose 40 yards. Both teams fumbled twice, Westminster recovering one of its own fumbles and both of the Muskie fumbles. Both teams punted 12 times, with Sweeney, Titan quarter, holding the edge in this department. One of Sweeney's kicks traveled 68 yards.

The contest, the first of what is hoped will be an annual game between the two United Presbyterian colleges, was marked by keen rivalry. Next year's game will be played at New Wilmington, probably on Armistice day, Nov. 11.

The lineups:

Muskingum 7		Westminster 6
Himes	L.E.	Leyshock
Baisler	L.T.	Dishong

Freshmen and sophomores girls' hockey outfits battled to a3-3 tie on Thursday, Nov. 17.

The Freshmen entered this game with a spirit of determination for revenge on the sophomores who had beaten them 5-1 on Homecoming Day. The teams were evenly matched and the game was a fight to the finish.

Although an extra period of five minutes was allowed, the tie remained 3-3.

This game marked the end of a very successful season for both teams under the capable direction of Nandeen Love.

The lineup was as follows:

Sophomores		Freshmen
Wettich	C.F.	Simison
Fox	R.I.	Holland
Isaho	L.I.	Rodda
MacMillan	R.W.	Pitcher
Walk	L.W.	Rumbaugh

Gordon Balch Nevin Presents Another Splendid Recital

Gordon Balch Nevin, nationally known organist and composer, and professor of pipe organ at Westminster college, presented his second concert of the year Thursday evening, December 8, at 8:15 p. m. in the college chapel. Mr. Nevin, member of a family of well-known musicians, is perhaps the outstanding composer of pipe organ music in the country.

Mr. Nevin's program for Thursday's recital included "Finlandia" by Jean Sibelius; Kamenoi-Ostrow" by Anton Reibenstein; "Au Convent" by Alexander Borodin; "The Tragedy of a Tin Soldier" by Gordon Balch Nevin; "The Bells of St. Mary's, by A. E. Adams, a requested number; "Three Dances" from "The Nutcracker Suite" by Tschaikowsky, and "March Slav" by Tschaikowsky.

Educational Plans Of Frosh Revealed In Questionnaires

Members of the freshman class at Westminster on Dec. 5 filled out questionnaires prepared by President R. F. Galbreath dealing with information helpful in student canvass work, curricular desires of first-year students, and further educational plans of the frosh. These blanks were filled out following the chapel period.

Carol Sing Planned For Thurs. Eve

Community singing and a half-hour program of Christmas carols will be presented under the auspices of the conservatory of music Thursday evening, December 15, at 7:30 p. m., on the south terrace of Westminster college.

Professor Alan B. Davis, head of the music department, will direct the singing which will consist of selections by the Girl's Glee club, mixed choral numbers, and community singing.

The following program of Christmas carols has been planned by Professor Davis with the assistance of Miss Florence Thomas and Mr. Cameron: "Joy to the World", combined choruses of the music department; "O Holy Night", Girl's Gluee club; "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear", mixed chorus; "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", Girls' Glee club; address, President Galbreath; "Adeste Fideles", assembly; "Silent Night", a mystery number.

A sextet of wind instruments, made up of the following personel, will accompany the singing: William Stadtmiller, Edgar Shaffer, Curtiss Artman, trumphets; Williard George, James Terrence, trombones; and Comfort Shellman, french horn.

Intermittent solos will be offered throughout the program by Miss Comfort Spellman.

Plans are being made to have a lighted Christmas tree on the South terrace. The entire community is invited to join the college in celebrating the Yuletide season.

Musical Program Is Presented By Girls' Glee Club

Under the direction of Miss Florence Thomas, the Girls' Glee club of Westminster college presented a musical program at the evening service of the Croton Methodist chuch of New Castle, Sunday, December 4.

The chorus of fifty-three voices sang "Jesus Friend of Sinners" by Greig, and "All Praise to God", a Russian anthem arranged by Harvey Gaul. Miss Dorothy Watkins sang "Arise, Oh! Lord", and as an added feature, Miss Lowenne Swindler played a violin solo for the offertory.

Candlelight Service Arranged For Y.M.C.A. Christmas Program

Y. W. C. A. has arranged a Christmas candlelight service to be held in the college chapel at 4:45 p. m., Wednesday evening, December 14th. The program will be composed entirely of music. Professor Gordon Balch Nevin will play.

Students, faculty and townspeople are invited to attend.

Baritone Singer Appears Monday At Westminster

John Stein, baritone, appeared on the Westminster college artist course on Monday evening, Dec. 12.

This was the fourth number on the course, which has already included the Welch Singers and two organ recitals by Gordon Balch Nevin, professor of pipe organ.

MASQUERS GIVE PLAY AT REUNION IN NEW CASTLE

Previous to the local presentation of "Lady Windermere's Fan," it was presented Friday, December 2, at the New Castle Consistory reunion.

'Lady Windermere's Fan" is one of Oscar Wilde's best known works and under the direction of Prof. A. T. Cordray was produced with a dramatic ease bordering that of professional work.

What shall I buy? See the inexpensive gift editions displayed in the library.

PRESIDENT'S GREETING

It is early afternoon. Snow is falling slowly. The campus is almost white.

Outside my office door I hear voices of young men and women. They are happy voices, often breaking into laughter. Outside little groups, couples, individuals come and go. They move purposefully. They are busy folk.

Everywhere one is conscious of something kindly, happy, glowing in the faces about him.

Where is this spot? Westminster. What is the time? Almost Christmas. And out of this setting, I am wishing a Merry Christmas to Students, Faculty, Alumni, and Friends.

—ROBERT F. GALBREATH

Harold Brennan Gives Lecture In Chapel Assembly

"We are the masters of our taste" said Professor Brennan, new head of the art department in a talk on his specialty last Friday during the chapel hour. He went on to advocate art as an attitude that is permanent and universal and a "way that leads to heaven."

Professor Brennan is a recent graduate of Carnegie Tech. He has begun an art department which of course is today in its infancy, but hoping to develop. Brennan followed Professor Euwema as the second speaker of our faculty to address the chapel, in the regular Friday morning programs.

Despite the modern idea that artists belong in a museum, our speaker, Advanced the platform that the proper place for beauty and art is in life. Art is a spirit—an attitude. It is an outlook on life and as necessarily walks hand in hand with religion—"they are both of the same stuff". Its values are purely emotional and spiritual.

But what is art to the student? In the first place man has always need a mode of expression—Art is one of the most expressive modes. Art remains unchanged by the depressions of the world because it caters to the sould of man. "We go upward still far from the ideal, but we have gone far."

His way shows that art has advanced westward, but it seems that America has never been able to receive it. If we would believe that "the way of art leads to Heaven" we would no doubt have a renaessance here. At least, Professor Brennan recommends the spirit.

COLLEGE PAPER SEEKS CHANGE OF FREQUENCY PERMIT

The Holcad, student weekly newspaper at Westminster College since 1884, is seeking a permit to appear bi-monthly instead of weekly, C. B. White, postmaster, announces.

If the postmaster general allows the change, the publication will appear about 15 times each year instead of 29 or 30 times.

Permission from postal authorities had to be had in order to continue mailing copies to alumni subscribers as second-class matter.

Notice

French club will meet on Tues., Dec. 13, at eight o'clock in the home of Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Dr. Sam. Elliott Again Donates To Westminster

Dr. Samuel Elliott, local benefactor of Westminster, has donated an additional $500 to the college last week, Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president, announces.

This most recent gift to the college brings Dr. Elliott's donations to $12,500 in cash, books, and equipment within the last four years.

In addition to these gifts, Dr. Elliott is the donor of the fine pipe organ in the college chapel. In recognition of his services to the college, the library of the department of economics and business administration is called the Elliott library, and last year at the commencement exercises, Dr. Elliott was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

REV. W. H. WEIGLE WORKS TO RESTORE ANCIENT CHURCH

Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the president-elect, was hostess in her home on 47 East Sixty-fifth street, New York, on Wednesday afternoon, November 30, at a reception to the descendants of the early pewholders of Saint Paul's Eastchester, Mount Vernon, N. Y. The rector since 1929 is the Reverend W, Harold Weigle, a former student at Westminster college, who is working to restore the original box pews and other historic features of the old church.

Mrs. Roosevelt welcomed those present and expressed her deep desire that this ancient landmark might be restored and preserved for future generations. Mr. Curtis B. Dall, Jr., warden and son-in-law of the president-elect presided at the meeting and introduced Mr. Stephen H. P. Pell and the Rt. Rev. Arthur Selden Lloyd who spoke of their long personal associations with St. Paul's and expressed their hope that every descendant and friend interested in the early history of the church in America would see to it that this old church would be safely preserved.

The rector, the Rev. W. Harold Weigle, spoke of the great spiritual contributions which St. Paul's had made in the past, its ministry and rapidly growing parish at the present time, and the spiritual influence that St. Paul's is in a position to exert upon future generations because of its ancient traditions. The church was used as a hospital during the revolutionary war and as a court

Mills And Lockley Head Independent Student Groups

At a meeting called by Dr. Galbreath following chapel on Dec. 6, the non-fraternity and non sorority students were organized into two bodies, each for the purpose of promoting social life for its members. Approximately 50 men and 30 women attended the initial meeting at wihch officers were elected. Olive Mills and Martha Morrow were elected president and secretary respectively of the women; and Joseph Lockley and Jack Gerstner were elected by the men.

Representatives of these new organizations will be added to the inter-fraternity and inter-sorority councils. The new groups will be represented in all forms of campus activity including intra-mural sports and social functions.

Best Frosh Enrolled In Math Department Will Receive Award

Delta Nabla announces that an award will be presented by the fraternity to the freshman student having the highest academic average for the year 1932-33 and who is also enrolled in the mathematics department. The character of the award has not yet been definitely decided upon.

The only requirements are that the competitor must be a freshman and must maintain an "A" average in mathematics throughout the entire school year.

The best student's average in academic subjects will be determined by dividing the total number of honor points by the total number of hours. In case of a tie, the actual mathematics grade will determine the winner.

Galbreath Scheduled For Many Addresses In Next Few Weeks

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, has six speaking engagements scheduled for the next few weeks.

On Dec. 1, Dr. Galbreath spoke before the Oil City Lions Club at 12:15, and at 6 o'clock that same evening addressed the HiY at Oil City. The Youngstown Kiwanis Club heard Dr. Galbreath on Dec. 2.

Sunday, Dec. 4 found the Westminster leader preaching in the First U. P. Church at Mercer in the morning service. On Dec. 6 he spoke before the Ellwood City Kiwanis Club. On Dec. 16 Dr. Galbreath will be the speaker at the Geneva College faculty club meeting at Beaver Falls, and on Dec. 18 at the 11 o'clock service in the First Baptist Church, New Castle.

Kappa Delta Has Highest Average Among Sororities

Scholarship cups for fraternities and sororities ranking highest were awarded Thursday, Dec. 8, at Westminster college.

For the fraternity group, including five organizations, the average for the year was 1.290 out of a possible 3, while the non-fraternity average was 1.278. As a result, the highest ranking fraternity was given the cup. Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity led the groups with an average of 1.583. Others in order were: Phi Pi Phi, 1.551; Theta Upsilon Omega, 1.291; Kappa Phi Lambda, 1.289; and Delta Phi Sigma, 0.973.

In the sorority and non-sorority group, the girls not affiliated with organizations maintained a higher average than the sorority members. Non-sorority members had an average of 1.631 to 1.509 for sororities. As a result, the scholarship cup was awarded to the non-sorority group.

Among the sororities, Kappa Delta was highest with an average of 1.785. Others in order were: Alpha Gamma Delta, 1.731; Chi Omega, 1.556; Theta Upsilon, 1.423; Kappa Alpha Alpha, 1.218; and Sigma Kappa, 1.144.

For the third year in succession women students, both sorority and non-sorority, maintained higher averages than men students, either fraternity or non-fraternity.

Two silver loving cups were given repesentatives of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity and of the non-sorority group at the chapel service. The regulation governing these awards is that in case the fraternities or the sororities have higher averages than the non-fraternity and the non-sorority groups, the highest ranking organization among the fraternities or sororities receives the cups. If, however, the non-fraternity or the non-sorority group have higher averages than the organizations, the cups go to the unorganized students.

FINE DRAMATIC TALENT SHOWN IN MASQUERS' PLAY

"Landy Windermere's Fan", a social comedy by Oscar Wilde, was successfully presented by the Masquers fraternity under the direction of Prof. A. T. Cordray before a large audience in the community house, Tuesday evening, December 6. The play showed thorough preparation and training on the part of all who participated, and was well received.

The plot is laid in London in 1892, and deals with the reactions of Lady Windermere (Olive Mills) to the news that her husband (Willis McGill)) is paying marked attention to Mrs. Erlynne (Miss Ellen Cottrell), a newcomer in London and a woman of questionable character. Lord Darlington (Chauncey Goodchild) is Lady Windermere's lover, and the Duchess of Berwick (Ruth Wagoner), the inevitable busybody. Humor is supplied by Mr. Dumby (Geoffrey Sowash), the confirmed bachelor, Lord Augustus Lorton (Thomas Herriott), ardent wooer of Mrs. Erlynne, Mr. Cecil Graham (Orville Dawson), the cynic, and Parker (Edwin Swartz), the butler in the Windermere house. Other characters included Lady Agatha Carlisle (Charlotte Bartlett), Lady Plymdale (Pearl McClimans), Mrs. Cowper-Cowper (Helen Weingartner), Lady Stutfield (Helen Farnsworth), Sir James Royston (Charles Cochran), Mr. Hopper (Herbert Smith), Lady Jerburgh (Isabel Kildoo), Miss Graham (Harriet Robinson), Rosalie (Sara Haney), and the guests at the ball (Jane Chester, Robert Douglass, and William Turner).

Music was furnished by the college orchestra under the direction of Donald O. Cameron.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

The Holcad, believing in the future, sends heartiest greetings of the Holy Christmas season and best wishes for an optimistic and forward-looking New Year on the part of students, faculty members, alumni, members of the board of trustees, and friends. Make 1933 a year of accomplishment through renewed faith and optimism and hard work.

COLLEGIATE HONOR

When it becomes necessary for the president of a college to make a public plea for less dishonesty in the taking of exams, it would seem quite evident that the student body of that school has sunk rather low in the scale of honor.

Cheating is the outgrowth of one of two things. Either it is the result of a natural tendency on the part of the student body to be dishonest, a condition which rarely exists among the type of people who attend college, or it is the result of a lack of student interest in really getting something worthwhile out of college instead of 'just getting by.'

There are but two major ways of curing students of the "Cribbing habit", for that is what it becomes eventually. One method comes directly from the faculty, the other directly from the student body itself. The former may be carried out in any of a number of ways. Some colleges are content to proctor all exams, and at the slightest indication of dishonesty on the part of a student, to suspend or expel him; other colleges make all courses so difficult that a student cannot hope to pass unless he knows his work thoroughly. Both systems have their advantages, the one tending to make the school resemble a police station, the other to make it resemble a factory where there is time for nothing but work.

The ideal solution of the probelm is the development of a high sense of honor among the students themselves. It has been done in other colleges, and when it is properly inaugurated and securely founded, it far excels all other solutions. Of course such a solution is much slower in development than any of the others, for it is dependent upon the gradual growth of the idea that anyone who cheats on an examination, or in any way, should be ostracised, should be cast outside the pale of student fellowship.

Any organization in this college which would inaugurate such a scheme, or even drop the first fertile seeds of the idea, would be doing the college and itself a great service..

CABBAGES AND KINGS

Big Shots In Democracy

Out in the Capone stamping grounds things happen quickly. Men become angels in the twinkling of an eye; cleaning and pressing shops become mere holes in the ground in a split second; and even the wind, as it whistles in off Lake Michigan, attains a speed for greater than the speed attributed to it by poets and writers of freshman themes. But all these are as slow as the proverbial snail in comparison with the rise of the political Big Shot when he scents an opportunty to acquire a little free publicity.

Consider the case of The Big Shot, the one whose native habitat is the village mentioned above. Someone told him (we were going to say that he read it in the paper) that the Democrats had won the election. Someone else reminded him that the Democratic party was in favor of legal beer. Being a man of high intellect, he immediately put two and two together and proclaimed that HIS town would not wait for a bunch of Congressmen to legalize beer. HE knew a better method. Why not merely stop enforcing the 18th amendment? So with many a self-imposed pat on the back he did just that, never stopping for a moment to think of the money he would lose through so abrupt a stoppage of "protection money".

And people wonder why a man like Lincoln was shot! Merely because this is a land of democracy, dear people.

POETRY IN THE MODERN TEMPO

Taking our cue from the art department's bulletin board works of famous masters, we are inaugurating a series of articles on "modern poets you should be interested in if you only had the time and inclination to read them." We are forgetting about the older masters of iambic pentameters because everyone has to read them during high school or college.

Carl Sandburg is our first choice, not because he is the most outstanding of the moderns, but because his poetry is more like prose than any other poet's work we can think of off-hand, and also because he has worked out a few definitions of poetry which might well be utilized in an opening article.

A few of his definitions run as follows: "Poetry is the journal of a sea animal living on land, wanting to fly the air."....."Poetry is a phantom script telling how rainbows are made and why they go away."....."Poetry is a projection across silence of cadences arranged to break silence with definite intentions of echoes, syllables, wave lengths."....."Poetry is the harnessing of the paradox of earth cradling life and then entombing it."....."Poetry is the silence and speech between a wet struggling root of a flower and a sunlit blossom of that flower."....."Poetry is the synthesis of hyacinths and biscuits."

With his own definitions to serve as a sort of 'cave canem', you may or may not care to read the two excerpts quoted below:

Fog

The fog comes on little cat feet.
It sits looking over harbor and city on silent haunches and then moves on.

Chicago

Hog Butcher for the World,
Tool Maker, Stacker of Wheat,
Player with Railroads and the Nation's Freight Handler;
Stormy, husky, brawling,
City of the Big Shoulders;
They tell me you are wicked and I believe them, for I have seen your painted women under the gas lamps luring the farm boys.
And they tell me you are crooked and I answer: Yes, it is true I have seen the gunman kill and go free to kill again.
And they tell me you are brutal and my reply is: On the faces of women and children I have seen the marks of waton hunger.
And having answered so I turn once more to those who sneer at this my city, and I give them back the sneer and say to them:
Come and show me another city with lifted head singing so proud to be alive and coarse and strong and cunning.
Flinging magnetic curses amid the toil of piling job on job, here is a tall bold slugger set vivid against the little soft cities;
Fierce as a dog with tongue lapping for action, cunning as a savage pitted against the wilderness,
Bareheaded,
Shoveling,
Wrecking,
Planning,
Building, breaking, rebuilding.
Under the smoke, dust all over his mouth, laughing with white teeth,
Under the terrible burden of destiny laughing as a young man laughs,
Laughing as an ignorant fighter laughs who has never lost a battle,
Bragging and laughing that under his wrist is the pulse, and and under his ribs the heart of the people,
Laughing!
Laughing the stormy, husky, brawling laughter of Youth, half-naked, sweating, proud to be called Hog Butcher, Tool Maker, Stacker of Wheat, Player with Railroads and Freight Handler to the Nation.

Well, what do you think? You'll admit that there is a certain power of expression in the man, even though you may deny that his stuff is poetry.

Recess

December 16 will mark the beginning of a Christmas recess of two weeks duration for Westminster faculty and students. It will terminate at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, January 3 with classes starting again on Wednesday morning, January 4.

FRATERNITY HOUSE IS REDECORATED IN ITALIAN STYLE

Phi Pi Phi Home Is Decorated

Members and pledges of the Phi Pi Phi fraternity are enjoying a new atmosphere in their home on Waugh avenue.

The old-fashioned living room and reception hall have been remodeled into new modern rooms of a beautiful Italian style. The old heavy oak mantel has been replaced by an attractive stone and cement fireplace artistically colored in pale green and tan and bearing near the top, the crest of the Phi Pi Phi fraternity which stands out in gold and blue. Walls and ceiling have been roughed and painted to blend with the colors of the fire place. Large heavy oak beams which tend to make the ceiling appear lower have added greatly to the beauty of the rooms. The large entrances to the living room and dining room have been gracefully arched. All woodwork in the rooms have been restained and the chandeliers which formely lighted the rooms have been replaced by the latest system of indirect lighting which brings out to the fullest extent the comfort and beauty of the rooms.

The remodeling work is being done by David Wallace, '29, and Philip Packard, a former student of New York University. Both decorators are being complimented on their work. Wallace was president of Phi Pi Phi during his senior year here.

DR. QUICK PRESENTS BIOLOGICAL TALK TO SCIENCE CLUB

Dr. B. E. Quick, head of the department of biology, was speaker at the meeting of the newly organized Science Club at Westminster college on Thursday, Dec. 8, James McGeorge, New Castle, president of the organization, announces.

Dr. Quick spoke on "Opportunities for Biological Studies in Porto Rico." The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides. Dr. Quick, a graduate of the University of Michigan in 1908, with the doctor of philosophy degree from the same university in 1916, spent the year 1926 in botanical study in Porto Rico.

Dr. H. L. Davis, assistant professor of chemistry and faculty advisor of the Science club, announces the acquisition of nine new volumes by the departmental library.

Art Department Announces Plans

The Department of Art is the infant course in Westminster's curriculum; it was newly instituted this year. However a Department of Art flourished at Westminster in other years; for during the greater part of Westminster's history couses in Art and Appreciation were regularly given; the subject is not a new one for the school.

The course was re-instated this year in order to offer to students the liberalizing and creative opportunities that courses in art afford. With this point in view, it is intended that the work and influences of the Department of Art will so extend as to touch the interest of every student in the school. Courses offered will be so designed as to attract beginners; giving those whose taste leads them to a liking for this sort of work an opportunity to expand their interests. The course in History and Appreciation of Art will attempt to present the panorama of art through the ages, and is offered for the benefit of those who feel they should have a knowing acquaintance with the worlds' masterpieces. Frequent exhibitions arranged for the benefit of the entire student body will round out the program for the Department.

This year courses are being offered in Drawing, Painting, Elementary Design, Crafts and History and Appreciation of Art. Next year it is hoped that courses in Home Decoration, Pottery, Costume Design and Jewelry and Metalwork can be added. The courses will be designed to take their place in the curriculum of a liberal arts college, it is not planned that work offered will be specialized or vocational in any sense, but only intended to offer a means of activity that stimulates the imagination and cultivates the taste.

Of general interest will be the exhibitions planned, by the Department of Art for this year. Westminster will have the privilege of seeing a show of pottery, executed by students at Carnegie Institute of Technology, that recently was displayed at the Carnegie Museum galleries in Pittsburgh. Later a fine collection of Japanese Prints will be exhibited, and an opportunity extended for students to see this superlative form of Oriental Art. Other exhibitions, arranged through the facilities of the American Federation of Arts, of which Westminster is a member, will be shown from time to time during the remainder of the year. Attempts are being made to bring for exhibition some books from the collection of Alexander Hostellow, and a show of the hand bound volumes of Mrs. Roy Hunt. In addition to these showings, work done by students in the department will frequently be displayed.

It is to be hoped that the influences of the Department of Art will be felt on Westminster's campus; that many students may feel an inclination to participate in the work offered, and through these courses find an activity that will bring them not only pleasure but a larger insight into a new scheme of values that adds richness, purpose and distinction to life. Unlike most studies Art is not factual; idea and feeling are more highly prized. Thus courses in Art expand the mind by objectifying an idea, or a feeling; the personality in art, unlike other activities, does not draw in facts, but amplifies an idea. The movement is not in toward the personality, but outward from the personality to the world.

Titans Look Unimpressive For Opening Tilt

Face Strong Buhl Club Team Wednesday Night

Loss Of Three Stars From Last Year Is Felt

Titan prospects for the coming season may be looked over Wednesday night when the strong Shontz & Myers Buhl Club team entertains the locals on the newly built Sharon court. The up-valley outfit will have former Titan stars in the lineup with Hugh Gamble, Ken Delahunty, "Bud" Brownlee, Bill Crowell, and Tudor Lewis in uniform. This fray will be a warm-up fray for the Titans in preparation for the season opener with Edinboro State Teachers' college at Edinboro on Saturday.

The squad at present is far from impressive. There are no men available who are as good as the three men lost from last year's great team. What the green material will develop into is as yet a question. At all events, Westminster cannot expect to have as good a team as that of the last three seasons.

LAWTHER

When Lawther came to Westminster as head court coach in 1926, he had to start building for the future. If the candidates available now develop any, Lawther believes that it will take a year or two of seasoning before they are ready to compete in the fast Pittsburgh district league.

Of the men who have seen much varsity service, Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, forward; Mauno Siljander, Pittsburgh, guard; William Douglass, Iselin, forward; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O., forward; and John Wilhelm, Kittanning, guard, look best. There are a number of freshmen competing for positions, and some upper classmen who were not out for the team last year have been induced to report. From this group Lawther must build the 1933 team.

While the Titans are faced with the loss of the three star players of last year's great team, Grove City has its entire team of last year available. Geneva lost Ransom and Montgomery, but has a strong quad, headed by Grahame and Aultman. Waynesburg will again have the same team as last year, and is figured to be a new threat in the Conference. Allegheny, Bethany, and Thiel have all lost many good players, but Bethany figures to be stronger than last season.

Lawther's big problem seems to be replacing Brownlee at center and Rice at guard. These two key positions have as yet no outstanding claimants. Unless these positions can be filled capably, the Titans cannot hope for more than a fair season.

HEY GIRLS! HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY FOR A "BIG BREAK"

Penthouse Boys Form Pay As You Bid League For All Functions

"Taxi dancers" and "gigolos" may be looked upon with an air of disdain by members of the student body, but the "Penthouse" boys announce that they will try anything once. For they say, look what Columbus did! He built a city in Ohio.

The "Penthouse" known by every name under the sun except the title given to it at the opening of school will soon boast a shingle bearing the title "Rent a man, pick it yourself". According to word learned last night following a meeting of the inmates of the upstairs rooming club, the members of the organization are open for any and all engagements.

For instance, if Molly Smith of Browne Hall or Katie Gallagher of the Hillside wishes an escort to the Ladies' Aid Dance or the weekly meeting of the Daughters of the Grand Army of the Republic Society, they have but to call the Penthouse and an inmate will make ready to take the fair damsel wherever she cares to go—provided she pays the assessments.

Reasons advanced by the Penthouse boys show that the "depression epidemic" has hit them in the region of the wallet and that they feel sure that the girls of the college who have been wondering why they do not receive any phone calls or invitations, will give the boys a "break" as well as have the opportunity to get a "break" themselves.

The boys in making this offer realize that they will be beseiged with phone calls, so have asked that all girls with the last name initial from "A" to "M" call in the afternoon and the other girls to help keep the trunk lines to the switchboard in the local exchange open by calling after six o'clock in the evening.

The boys also stated that they can use their own discretion in their choice of acceptance and promise that they will appear on the scene with a clean shirt—if they can steal one from some other inmate.

A fine array of celebrated escorts can be found in this newly formed business including such men as Bill Staples, dear slayer; "Hook" Bloker, famous card shark; "Snozzle" Lausberg, beer baritone; "Booker T." Baird, dishwasher deluxe; "Worrywart" Evans, College Inn "hashslinger"; "Dimples" Cann, the lad with the bashful smile; "Yowser" McCall, the Hugo Bezdek of freshmen football; "Hap" Polonus, the Jambar commuter; "Whistlin'" Shoaff, Prof Cordray's "headache"; "Yodeler" Schmitt, the "sickening tenor"; and "Grandpa" Johnnie Brown.

There you are, gals! Take your pick and take your chance on getting a fellow who shaves once a week. First come, first served!

JEST IN SPORT

by JACK GERSTNER

Westminster played Athletic Budget this year to win, and they did. The great secret was that most of the games were away and expenses were at the expense of the home teams. Of course, the ideal is football at home, and not losing money.

After the 1933 schedule, Allegheny College plans to enter the district competition, and possibly compete with Waynesburg, Grove City, Thiel, Geneva, Bethany and Westminster in the Tri-State Conference. In the 1933 schedule, Allegheny has two district teams slated—Thiel and Bethany.

It is newsworthy that some 400 students signed a petition protesting the non-reduction in athletic fees considering the few home games played this past season. It is worthy of notice that after Dr. Galbreath had explained the usage of the fees and offered free admission at the Geneva game to any student thinking such fees unjust, only 19 entered free while more than 70 paid admission.

Fine Grid Sked For Next Year

Will Have Nine Or Ten Game Card

Colleges already scheduled include Grove City, Muskingum, Duquesne, Thiel, Slippery Rock, Geneva, and St. Bonaventure. The Slippery Rock, Grove, City and Muskingum games will be played at New Wilmington, while the other contests will be played away from home.

Coach John Lawther hopes to have available all members of this year's team except Captain Glen Rehfus, Sandusky, O., who will be graduated in June. The Tri-State Conference ruling concerning athletic scholarships practically eliminates freshmen, but since many of the Titans are sophomores this year, Lawther will have fair material with which to work.

Harrer's Seventy Yard Run Gives Frosh Win Over Sophs.

Frosh Snares Sophomore Pass To Race For Lone Tally

Don Harrer, freshman halfback, intercepted a forward pass and ran 50-yards fo the only touchdown of the freshman-sophomore football game, November 23, on the Westminster college field.

McRea, sophomore back, was the outstanding ball carrier. His weak-side reverses were responsible for five of the 11 first downs made by the sophs. Six times the "Meider-Siljander" coached machine was able to reach the twenty yard line, only to lose the ball on downs. Both teams were strong on the defense, but a weak running attack kept both teams away from the goal line.

The touchdown run was made in the last two minutes of play. Coaches Meider and Siljander substituted Dawson for Harris in a desperate attempt to cross the freshman scoring line. Two attempted forward passes were incomplete and on the third attempt, Harrer intercepted the ball on his own 30-yard line to run seventy yards for the score.

Manse, Shoaf, Heniors, and Harrer were outstanding for the freshman. Harrer averaged 50-yards for each time he kicked; one kick traveling 65-yards. Ferguson, Hoose, McRae and Switzer were shining lights of the sophomores.

Meider and Siljander had charge of the sophomore team and Baird, McCall, and Martin coached the

INTRA-MURAL NOTES

by AL VAN HARPER

A survey of last year's intramural sport program shows that basketball, horseshoes, volleyball, and foul shooting tournaments were held. In these four sports over 35 per cent of the men in college participated. Many men were active in all four sports. The fact that the winners of these different contests were divided among the different organizations of the school, and that no one group won over one title, shows the effectiveness of intra-mural sports in making athletics interesting for every student. The basket ball tournament was won by the Commuters in a three-game match with the Delta Phi Sigma, winners of the fraternity circle. The foul-shooting match was won by the T. U .O. fraternity. The horseshoe play by the Phi Pis, and the volley-ball tournament by the Delts.

Volunteers from the student body aided Jack Hulme with the handling of the program.

Wanted! Men Like These Stars!

For three such men as these three great stars, the Westminster mentor, John D. Lawther, would give his proverbial right arm with a set of golf clubs thrown in. Johnnie's greatest difficulty this year in his attempt to turn out another flag-winning outfit, will be to find men capable of wearing the shoes of the greatest trio, collectively, of court stars ever to wear the uniform of Westminster. We salute thee, Lawther! Win or lose!

Christmas Season Preceded By Rush of Social Activities

FRATERNITY PARTIES HELD SATURDAY EVENING

Numerous social activities herald the approach of the Christmas season at Westminster. Sororities, fraternities, and other campus organizations vie with one another in providing the usual "Christmas rush" of social events just before the holidays.

Omicron Mu Gamma, music sorority held initiation for three pledges, Thursday evening, December 8, in the Tavern. The initiates were: Grace Jones, West View; Mary Catherine Patterson, New Castle; and Dorothy Patch, New Castle. The initiation ceremonies were followed by a dinner for the new members. Mrs. Alan B. Davis, sorority patroness, was present as special guest.

The committee in charge included Margaret Reese, New Wilmington; Dorothy Hopwood, Chestnut Ridge; and Doris Shawkey, Polk.

The Campus Club, composed of faculty women and wives of faculty members, held a tea in Browne Hall lounge, Friday afternoon from 3 to 5. Hostesses were Mrs. Ben Euwema, Mrs.. John Moorhead, Miss Margaret Reed, Mrs. A. A. McDonald, Miss Mary Turner, and Mrs. Rodda.

Women residents of Hillside invited college men to a Christmas party held in the dormitory Friday evening. Larry Gallagher's orchestra, Sharon, provided music for dancing from 8 to 11.

Harriette Robinson, house president, was in charge of all plans for the evening's entertainment. Members of her committee were: Dorothy Grant; Ruth Weller, Louise Burke, Dorothy Bigham, Betty Newell, Dorothy Hopwood, and Helen Farnsworth.

Alpha Gamma Delta gave a tea at "Eastover" Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5, in honor of Miss Julia Riser, national representative. Mrs. C. B. Robertson and Dean Mary Turner, poured.

Delta Phi Sigma fraternity held an informal Christmas dance in Wyatt's Lodge Saturday evening, from 8 to 11 o'clock. Elmer Meider, Pittsburgh, is president of the fraternity and was in charge of plans for the affair.

Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity held a house party in the chapter house, Waugh avenue, Saturday night. David Gephart, Elizabeth, was chairman of the committee. Dr. and Mrs. Harold Black, and Professor and Mrs. Alan B. Davis were chaperons.

Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity also held a house party in the chapter house, Saturday evening. Gordon Nevin, Monongahela, headed the committee on arrangements.

A number of other social events have been planned for the week. Mrs. A. T. Cordray will entertain a group of faculty members in her home Tuesday evening.

Kappa Delta sorority will hold its Christmas party in the sorority suite in the Hillside, Thursday evening, December 15. The committee in charge consists of Mary Lib Boland, Sharon; Grace Kelly, West Middlesex; and Lillian Baird, Carnegie.

At this time members of the sorority will bring gifts for Christmas baskets for the needy. Mrs. J. A. Swindler and Miss Nandeen Love, will be present as special guests.

ADD TO SOCIETY ....

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority has also planned a Christmas party for Thursday night, in The Tavern. At this time the girls will contribute toys and clothing for children of needy families.

Dorothy Cowden, Youngstown, is chairman of arrangements. Mary Morrow and Charlotte Bartlett are also members of the committee.

Travis French Wins Honors At Harvard

Travis French, New Castle, is one of 34 honor students winning scholarship awards at Harvard Medical school. This is his second year at Harvard, and the award of this second scholarship indicates his high ranking in his class.

Valedictorian of the class of '31, Mr. French achieved the highest grade ever won at Westminster. He is a member of Phi Pi Phi fraternity.

Mary Clarke Is Teaching In New Wilmington School

Mary Clarke, '32, is teaching third and fourth grades in the New Wilmington public school.

Miss Clarke is a member of Theta Upsilon sorority.

National Inspector Of Sorority Entertained By New Castle Alumnae

Alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority were entertained in the home of Mrs. Frances Borland, Garfield avenue, New Castle, Wednesday evening. Miss Martha Lewis was associate hostess.

Tables of bridge were in play during the evening. Trophies were won by Hazel Bergland and Mrs. Helen Robison. Miss Julia Riser, New York City, national inspector, was present as special guest.

Tuesday evening, January 24, the alumnae group will be entertained by Ruth Meyers and Geraldine Turk.

Butler Pastor Now Revealed As Author Of Benedicte Series

Westminster alumni will be interested in "Benedicte", a new book recently published by Dr. C. C. Gamble, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, Butler. For some time, Dr. Gamble was the author of a delightful humorous series of letters appearing in The United Presbyterian, under the pen name, "Benedicte." Dealing with ministerial and church problems in a sympathetic way, these letters have been published in book form for the convenience of interested readers.

By special request Dr. Gamble has begun a new series of intimate discussions in the church paper, called Human Interest Stories.

Dr. Gamble, an alumnus of the Class of 1901, is well-known by Westminster students, and was the guest speaker during the two weeks of special services held at the college last year.

DR. McLAUGHRY SPEAKS BEFORE LOCAL A. A. U. W.

Child Guidance was the subject of discussion at the December meeting of the New Wilmington branch of the A. A. U. W., held Saturday, December 3, in the New Wilmington United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. Ralph Neale was chairman of the meeting.

Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, of the Overlook Sanitarium, spoke on "Mental Hygiene". A number of teachers and parents were present as special guests.

A tea for members of the organization followed the regular meeting.

At this meeting, parents and teachers who are interested in child guidance were invited to attend a study group sponsored by the A. A. U. W.

On the committee appointed by Mrs. James McLaughry, president, to work out a program of study are: Miss May McKelvey, chairman; Mrs. Caroline Davidson, Mrs. Hazel Wilson, Mrs. Zella Robins, Mrs. J. Ralph Neale, and Mrs. Herbert L. Davis.

The first meeting of the new group will be held on Thursday evening, January 5. Definite plans will be announced later.

Former Student Now Attends Case School Of Applied Science

Brown Donaldson, Oakmont, a former member of the class of 1934, is now a sophomore at Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio. He is majoring in physics.

Mr. Donaldson has recently been pledged to Kappa Sigma, national social fraternity.

INFORMAL TEAS ARE SPONSORED BY DEAN FOR COLLEGE WOMEN

Dean Turner has invited all upper-class women to attend the informal teas to be held in the lounge of Browne Hall from 3 to 5 o'clock on various afternoons as announced by Miss Turner. Girls whose last names begin with the initials J through M are invited to tea today. The Dean has invited small groups in order to become better acquainted with them.

A tea was held last Tuesday afternoon in Browne Hall, with girls whose last names began with the letters A through H as guests.

Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath was special guest at the tea. Allene Miller, Annabel Stevenson, and Marion Johnston were aides.

WESTMINSTER CLUB OF PITTSBURGH HOLDS CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Members of the Westminster College Women's Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas P. Trimble, '92, Howe street, Pittsburgh, Saturday, Dec. 3. A Christmas program was presented, including a group of carols sung by Mrs. George R. Robie, Aspinwall.

Miss Dorothy Cowden, Westminster student in the department of speech gave readings from the play "Bean of Bath", by Constance Darcy Mackage.

Following the program was a tea, with Mrs. H. H. Donaldson pouring. Mrs. Donaldson had as her aides Miss Laura Turner, Miss Elizabeth Gilmore, Miss Dorothy Nevin, Miss Sylvia Jameson, and Mrs. Merle Burke.

Mrs. Scott N. Watt is president of the club.
